I have examined the reports of the Selectmen and the Treasurer and believe them to be correct.

MILDRED L. DAY.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools

Members of the School Committee, Selectmen, and Citizens:
My dear Friends.;

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to submit by tenth annual report of schools. The depression has been more severe with us in Mains than previously. It has been particularly difficult for towns like North Kennebunkport where there are few industries. However, there are many hopeful angles to encourage us. The capital outlay at Burnham School has been attended to and the extra school maintained on the estimated cost with a slight balance. The state subsidy is slightly above what it was last year. These are the bright spots in my report.

However, may I point out that your school problems have mounted each year for the past few years due to the coming of new properties into your town. These new homes point inevitably to a steadily increasing population. Indeed, the school population has doubled within a few years.

The enrollment in September for the schools of North Kennebunkport reveals this tendency of increased numbers to overflow your ability to house them. I shall present the enrollment data as it appeared early in September. There has been fluctuation in these figures in only one school. The others are nearly the same as when the study was made. North Chapel enrolled 15 pupils which was the smallest school in town on opening. The Irving school enrolled 16. This number has been reduced. The Iron Bridge school enrolled 18 pupils. This was a capacity enrollment for the space at this school. The Durell (school has a capacity enrollment of 28. The first three grades at Burnham have an enrollment of 28. The Burnham enrollment for grades four to nine is 28. You note at once that there are as many pupils in the first three grades as there are in the remaining six, grades. This ratio indicates capacity enrollment in the near future. There were enrolled in your schools in September 133 pupils. In 1926, when I took up supervision in your town there were only 140 pupils in your census between 5 and 21 years of age. Only 54 pupils were registered in your schools that year. This is a growth of 244 per cent. There are more pupils of either sex in your schools today than there were in both sexes in 1926. This may serve to indicate the unusual growth in enrollment and the corresponding problems you are asked to consider. When the enrollment data was compiled there were 63 girls in your schools and 70 boys. You will be interested in and find much detailed information in the ago distribution chart presented herewith:

Your attention at this point may properly be called to a unique development in your schools, that has this year taken place at the Burnham school. A plan for departmentalizing the teaching of the grades at Burnham school has been effected. The Committee approved the plan. The teachers were consulted and welcomed the plan and helped in the set-up. They were so heartily in favor of the project and receptive to the experiment that from th 3 beginning there has not been a single drawback of any importance. Accordingly the teachers have chosen the subjects in which each had a feeling of proficiency and personal pleasure. -The classes pass for recitation from room to room and this very mobility is both salutary and beneficial. We are able to expand somewhat the curriculum and to diversify the teaching. The teachers have reported progress beyond our first hopes and bid fair to continue. This experiment is without expense of neither time or money when compared with the older method. This is the only rural school in my Union that has this advance service.

At the present time some indications seem to point to the fact that Irving School enrollment may fall below the 1500 aggregate attendance if there should be any more pupils transfer from the school. Within a few weeks, seven pupils have been transferred from this school to schools in the nearby towns. If this school should fall below the aggregate attendance of 1500, you will have to have a vote of the town to keep it open. This is the thing to do, I think, in the event of the requisite number of attendance days being below that required by law.

Tuition costs have developed rapidly on the elementary school level due to the large families coming into your town who live in territory adjacent to the Kennebunk schools. There, were 14 pupils reported attending Alewife school belonging to North Kennebunkport. The Town House Primary reported three pupils. The Town House Grammar School has four pupils.

There are four High School pupils of North Kennebunkport attending Biddeford High School, six are attending Kennebunk High School, one is attending Kennebunkport High School and two are attending Thornton Academy. This makes a considerable tuition for those going forward to higher types of learning, but is little changed from the conditions reported last year.

All of these tuition costs are in the nature of fixed charges and as such, we have no control over them. The reports from these pupils are most favorable as far as the intellectual progress is concerned.

You voted in special meeting to open the school at Burnham and appropriated money, after your tax commitment had been made, for this purpose. The school property at Burnham was put into shape and the necessary changes made for the holding of school in the annex. It proved to be the only way that the pupils coming to this school could be accommodated.

H. C. HULL,

Superintendent of Schools.
