Legislative Hearing

Two hearings have been held of the special committee appointed by Governor Milliken to investigate the University of Maine and its relation to the State. Several facts have developed. One is that the members of the committee are friends of the institution. Another is that the members of the Legislature must be convinced that the college is a state institution. The title to the University is legally vested in the state and the land is state owned. When this is understood greater financial liberality will be shown. A third factor is that a campaign of education must be started to properly inform the people of the state of the actual conditions at the University. This campaign the alumni have offered to guide and carry into being. This alone will be the most constructive activity ever attempted by the alumni of the University.

The Alumnae

Several inquiries have been received at the office of the alumni secretary to ascertain if the women graduates of the University are members of the Alumni Association. Most assuredly. We are fortunate in having among them some of the most loyal of our graduates. At the next Commencement a meeting of women will be held for the purpose of discussing alumni problems of particular interest to them.

Maine Wins Championship season is made the key note of the subject matter of this second number of THE MAINE ALUMNUS. The following editorial published in the Bangor News of November 10th will serve as our editorial expression:

"Maine college football is over for the season, the University of Maine eleven clearly demonstrating its right to the championship title by winning from Bowdoin Saturday in a game in which the University players outplayed their opponents from the start. The Bowdoin team played gamely against a superior eleven, indeed against one of the best college elevens that the state has ever produced. The Maine team has had a fine season and we regret that its schedule has not permitted it to meet more of the big teams of the country for its showing against West Point, while but in the early stages of its development, demonstrated that Maine could give any eleven a good argument, Much credit is due to the Maine coaches who have succeeded in placing on a gridiron a team that knows football, is on its toes every minute and that plays hard but clean football."

Class Secretaries
Conference Held

19 Classes Represented

The first informal conference of class secretaries was called by President A. W. Stephens of the General Alumni Association and held in Alumni Hall Saturday morning, November 8th. Nineteen classes were represented.

Mr. Stephens opened the conference with an account of the definite accomplishments of the alumni in the past few months. He referred to the raising of the salaries of the faculty due to alumni activity; the appointment of a paid alumni secretary; and the pressure brought to bear upon Governor Milliken for the reappointment of Charles S. Bickford '82 as a member of the Board of Trustees. He emphasized the need of cooperation between the class secretaries and the alumni secretary's office.

Secretary Towner briefly stated that the alumni secretary's office as one of its duties was in existence to help the class secretaries in reaching the members of their classes. He called attention to the pamphlet "Four Years After" published by the class of 1915 and to the Decennial Report of the class of 1910 in the process of preparation.

After a general discussion of alumni affairs the meeting was adjourned.

The following were in attendance:

John M Oak, '73; Albert H. Brown, '80; Chas. C. Garland, '82; L. H. Merrill, '83; Leslie W. Cutter, '84; James N. Hart, '85; Frank G. Gould, '94; Chas. P. Weston, '96; Walter L. Ellis, '98; Archer L. Grover, '99; Robert R Drummond, '95; Elmer J. Wilson, '07; Deane S. Thomas, '09; Grower T. Corning, '10; P. W. Monohon, '14; O. M. Wilbur, '15; Walter W. Webber, '16; Thelma L. Kellogg, '18; Willard C. Sisson, '19.

A drive has been commenced at Colby College to secure the remainder of the half-million endowment fund. This must be raised by June 1920 to receive the offer of $125,000 from the General Education Board. To date $400,000 has been raised.

Varsity Football Team
Wins Two Titles

Champions of Maine and of N. E. State Colleges

The undergraduate appeal for a "clean-up year" met a hearty response from the varsity football team. Not only is the 1919 varsity team the undisputed state champion aggregation, but the winner of the championship of the New England State Colleges by virtue of the victory on November 15th over New Hampshire State at Durham by the score of 7 to 3. was received at the hands of the heavy Army team at West Point. This game was the first tryout for the team after the easy preliminary games with the two Fort teams, and demonstrated the great defensive strength of our team when it held the Army men twice for downs, once on the 10 yard line and again on the 1 yard line. It was this game that showed Coach Baldwin the weakness of the team and which paved the way for the correction of these faults. That they were corrected is demonstrated by the superiority of the eleven in the four games that followed.

Individual mention of the men who starred in the season's contests would include all of the men who were awarded their letters by the Athletic Board. An abundance of backfield material gave Capt. "Cy" Stewart, Coady, Lawry, and Ray Smith, the captain-elect an opportunity to shine on the offensive. Purinton at quarterback, until he was injured in the Colby game, was an able general of the team. His successor, Ginsberg, a 130 pound Bangor boy, earned the admiration of football followers by his excellent work in the later games. Beverly at end was one of the best defensive players and ended his football career in a blaze of glory. Small at the other end, Pat Hussey, Lunge, Quinn, Hi Green and Jack Green in the line were the bulwarks which formed a stumbling block to Maine's opponents. With these men Maine presented one of the best teams ever to represent the University. An excellent offensive with good interference, mastery of the straight arm and forward passing game and the determined defensive strength already mentioned, combined with a real knowledge of the game resulted in the success of the season.

Coach James Baldwin taught his men to think upon the field and perfected them into a smooth running machine. His methods were noticeable in that they did not savor of the browbeating, exhorting and sometimes abusive language so familiar in the old time football coach. We believe that a new era in the coaching of football has been installed by the choice of Baldwin to coach the 1919 team.

A brief summary of the season by games follows:

Maine 55, Fort McKinley 0. This game was hardly more than a practice for the varsity. The soldiers lacked coaching and were pitifully weak in all departments.

Maine 82, Fort Williams 0. Fort Williams was even easier than the soldier opponents of the week previous. Wide end runs and forward passes resulted in the highest score of the season.

West Point 6, Maine 0. Outweighed to the man our eleven was only scored upon by a forward pass from the 10 yard line. Several rushes under the shadow of our goal posts were frustrated by the Maine line and the Army had to be content with one touchdown. Maine's offense had not been developed for this game.

Maine 26, Bates 17. A place kick from the 30 yard line by Davis of Bates was the first score. Off side plays by Maine and the resulting penalties put Bates in a position to score this goal. Bates worked forward passes consistently and both teams were equal in the punting. Maine made three touchdowns as a result of straight football combined with a few forward passes. Bates second touchdown was scored by Savage after a 60 yard run.

Maine 8, Colby 0. Colby made only two first downs in the game. Alto the Waterville team was a heavy aggressive looking aggregation it was hopelessly outclassed in every department of the game. Rough house tactics on the part of the Colby team were resorted to and man after man piled upon a Maine back after he was downed. The result of this game placed Maine and Bowdoin on an equal standing, each team having won over Colby and Bates.

Maine 8, Bowdoin 0. Fast and clean football featured the annual classic between the colleges. A crowd of 5000, the largest ever to witness an athletic contest on Alumni Field watched Maine defeat that grim clean fighting Bowdoin team. One forward pass and two long penalties placed Bowdoin on our 5 yard line, but the Maine line held for downs. The remainder of the game the ball was in Bowdoin’s territory. The officials of the game had been warned that they were to officiate at one of the roughest of collegiate football games and were consequently over watchful. Maine suffered the most from penalties, particularly for the improper use of the hands in charging. Had it not been for these penalties at least two extra touchdowns would have been scored. Bowdoin fully expected to defeat Maine. Her gameness in defeat won her the respect of the spectators. She was outpunted and outplayed, and because some incompetent Western official had allowed a team to score by this illegal play claimed the decision over Maine. The final ruling was that the play should be called a touchdown. The New Hampshire State team was composed of the heaviest players Maine faced during the season and exhibited a fast, slashing style of play which was not hard to diagnose but was hard to stop on account of such tremendous strength and weight.

Maine took advantage of New Hampshire’s weaknesses and held at crucial periods of the game. Four times, Connors, the N. H. fullback, tried for a field goal. Three times the ball was either blocked or deflected by the Maine forwards but the one effort in the third period from the 15 yard line went true. With eight minutes to play in the final quarter and the score 0 to 0 for New Hampshire, Maine obtained possession of the ball at midfield and a series of rushes carried it to New Hampshire’s 12 yard line where Ginsberg threw a forward pass to Beverly scoring the only touchdown. The work of Beverly at left end was extraordinary and he was the hero of the game. Because N. H. State had defeated all the State college elevens in New England the N. E. title goes to our team.

A summary of points for the season gives Maine 216 to her opponents’ 26.

Beverly, J. Green, Stewart are the seniors to be lost by graduation. The remainder of the squad are lowerclassmen.

RECORDS PROVE BATES COLLEGE MAINE’S GREATEST FOOTBALL RIVAL

An examination of the summary of football games played and the comparative scores in the state series proves interesting and highly illuminating. Victories in recent years have given Maine followers the impression that the University had wiped out the defeats of the early years. This is true with respect to Bowdoin and Colby for Maine has exceeded these two rivals in the games won and points scored. Bates, however, has a comfortable margin of games and points won. The summary is as follows:

Maine vs. Bowdoin—games won, Maine 11, Bowdoin 9, tied 2. Total points, Maine 213, Bowdoin 211.

Maine vs. Colby—games won, Maine 16, Colby 12, tied 2. Total points, Maine 300, Colby 216.

UNIVERSAL MAINE NIGHT CELEBRATION ON CAMPUS ENTHUSIASTIC. WELL ATTENDED

Friday evening, November 7th, Alumni Hall was packed to overflowing with students, faculty members, and alumni for the first Maine Night celebrated since the autumn of 1916. The wonderful love of Maine men for their Alma Mater was demonstrated at this gathering. The alumni speakers were particularly representative and aroused the undergraduate enthusiasm to its highest pitch.

Allen W. Stephens ’99, President of our General Alumni Association was the chairman of the meeting. His kindly voice introducing the speakers and his radiant personality were instantly responded to by his enthusiastic audience. Seated on the platform with Mr. Stephens were the speakers of the evening, the members of the varsity football squad and the diminutive cross country championship team only an hour returned from their victory at Waterville.

Raymond Fellows ’98 in his characteristic humorous and straight-from-the-shoulder remarks worked his audience into a gale of laughter.

H. W. Hitchings ’20 as the student representative outlined the activities of the institution during the past year.

President Aley was then welcomed on the platform. He emphasized the problems and hardships which the institution had gone through during the previous three years under war conditions, and expressed the belief of the University organizations that the dark days were over, and that the University could again resume its normal functions.

The next man to stand between the flags was Captain “Cy” Stewart, of the football team. He spoke earnestly on behalf of his men, and guaranteed that they would fight their hardest in the coming game with Bowdoin.

“Reminiscencies” was the subject assigned to A. D. T. Libby ’98. His recollections of the days when “Bull” Sawyer proved to be the greatest fullback any college before or since has ever produced were teeming with interest. Libby’s love for “old Maine” was demonstrated when he turned to the football team on the platform and exhorted them in terms of the undergraduate yell to “fight ‘em, fight ‘em, fight ‘em.”

After several band selections, G. L. Rider, director of athletics, talked of the present athletic ideals of Maine. He said, “We would rather lose the Bowdoin game by fair play than win it unfairly. This is the spirit with which we have always played, and it certainly is the only spirit." He further impressed the audience, especially the alumni, with the importance of interesting students to enter the University of Maine, not to be assisted financially but to be in a university which will prove its value to them.

J. A. McCusker '17, completed the list of speakers, displaying the rare enthusiasm which made him famous as a cheer leader a few years ago. The meeting was then adjourned to the athletic field, where an immense bonfire was blazing. The following were the speakers there: "Bull" Kriger '16, "Joc" Cleaves '12, "Billy" Bal- lou '12, "Pat" Hussey '11, "Jerry" Redon- don '19, Coach Preti of the cross-country team, "Bill" Allen '19, "Doc" Gordon '08, "Ike" Webber '16, "Johnny" Ash '11, and "Alby" Sherman '16.

After singing the Stein Song under the stars, around the embers of the bonfire, every one bent his way homeward with a greater love for Maine than ever before.

Cross Country Team
Wins State Title

The 1919 varsity cross country season must be considered a success. Although Maine was defeated in the New England run and was forced to be content with a tie for second place with Williams, they easily defeated Brown on October 24th at Orono 15 to 40, and two weeks later ran away with the State run, 27 to her nearest opponent's 51 points.

A green team wholly without varsity experience was intrusted with the upholding of Maine's enviable cross country honors. Frank Preti, the greatest cross country star Maine ever produced and second in the country in 1915 only to Johnny Overton of Yale was selected as the undergraduate coach. Offering his services without charge and daily running with the team he developed them as few coaches do. The squad lacked the big and familiarly called the "flying midget," and unheralded as a cross country runner, Preti pulled him out of the run. Coach Preti pulled him out of the run. Philbrook in eighth place was the first Maine man to finish, the others finishing in 12th, 14th, 15th, and 30th positions. The experience will do wonders for this team, the majority of whom are lower classmen.

Maine, although entered in the National Inter-Collegiate run, did not compete because the ruling prevents freshmen from competing.

The following men were awarded their "M's".

SERVICE MEN OF CLASS OF 1919 HOLD REUNION

Over 50 former members of the class of 1919 of the University of Maine, who have returned to college this fall after a year or more in the service, held a reunion and banquet at the Bangor House Friday evening, October 24th.

Led by Irving R. Donovan of Bangor as toastmaster, they showed the same old pep that characterized the class before the war called many of them to the colors. There were many bright, witty speeches which recalled the days of February 1916 when the class held its first banquet.

Donovan was back in his old time form as master of ceremonies and kept things constantly on the jump.

The speakers and their toasts were: Jack Greene, To 1919, Our Achievement; Bennett Kirk, Pushaw, February 1916; Don Coady, To Our Co-eds, Then and Now; William Jennings Furey, To the Dry Banquet; Ken Colbath, The Mission, Then and Now; Winnie MacBride, To Clean-up Year, Then and Now; Norman Plummer, To 1919, Our Future; and everybody, To Maine.

The former members of the 1919 class intend to organize a 1919 Club to revive the old Maine spirit which naturally died down to some extent during the war.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE FOR 1920 IS A PROMISING ONE

Realizing the necessity of improving the football schedule for the next year the Athletic Board at the University has recommended games with Harvard, Brown, Amherst, New Hampshire State, Boston University and the three state colleges. Negotiations are under way. New Hampshire State plays at Orono next fall under the terms of a two year contract.

Harvard agreed to play Maine on October 9th with the understanding that one of the other Maine colleges play her the same afternoon. Harvard in the early stages in the development of her football team has two equally matched elevens. To better prepare all of her varsity material she desired to play each of her two elevens against two opponents. It is needless to state that Athletic Director Rider, unanimously supported by the Athletic Board definitely refused such a proposal. After Maine refused to play under the two team idea, Harvard agreed to play on October 2nd under the usual terms of contract. Accordingly the Boston alumni will have the opportunity to see the varsity team in action on this date at Cambridge.

Bates and Colby play at Orono next fall and the Bowdoin game will be at Brunswick.

A. L. Grover '99 is chairman of the Athletic Board. A. C. Lyon '02 and James A. Gannett '08 are the faculty members. The alumni members are Harold Wood '11, Ralph Patch '11 and W. R. Ballon '12. W. D. Towner '14 is treasurer.

1920 Schedule

| Sept. 25 | Boston University at Orono |
| Oct. 2  | Harvard at Cambridge |
| Oct. 9  | N. H. State at Orono |
| Oct. 16 | R. I. State at Orono |
| Oct. 23 | Bates at Orono |
| Nov. 30 | Colby at Orono |
| Nov. 6 | Bowdoin at Brunswick |
| Nov. 13 | Brown at Providence (tentative) |

Eleven Massachusetts Agricultural College men who served during the war and were working on the campus during last summer pledged their $100 state bonus checks to raise funds for a memorial building. The building will cost $150,000.
Rapid Fire Pen Sketches of the Maine Varsity

The rest of the uni. fits O.K., but this nose guard is impossible!

It looked as though 'Doc' Courtney was out for the track team till we discovered that the teams football tugs hadn't arrived from Lewiston.

Quarterback Purin...Jr., who can warble in the deaf and dumb language may use this method of signalling in the Bowdoin game.

The hardest job that Coach Baldwin has had with the team has been to get a nose guard for Greene, the left tackle.

The University of Maine regards Baldwin as the apple of its eye.

Stanton small, make up oldtown can paddle through any kind of interference.

Mr. Ham is a wonder, not because he lost the trunks at Lewiston but because he finally found them.

Wayne Beverly has been on the team so long that they are thinking of having him registered as a trade mark.

Pat Horsley, RG, not eligible to play till it gets colder.

Universal Maine Night. Mr. George E. Seabury ’88, president of the Association, introduced. Ernest Lamb, secretary, was introduced. He outlined the work of the alumni secretary’s office and urged the necessity of each alumnus giving his financial support to the work. The dominating spirit of the evening was in what manner the alumni could do more to help the University.

Central Maine Alumni Association. Organization meeting held at the New Elks Club, Waterville, Me., Sat. Nov. 1st. Alumni Secretary Towner presented until the election of Mark Bartlett ’01 as the first president. The other officers elected were Fred Nason ’11, vice president; Carl Marr ’17, secretary and treasurer; and A. S. Page ’00 and M. F. McCarthy ’11, executive committee.

A general discussion of affairs at the University was held. A constitutional committee was appointed. Plans were made to include in membership all former U. of Maine men residing in Fairfield, Oakland, Winslow, Waterville, Skowhegan, Madison and Pittsfield. Those present were F. M. Rollins ’00; L. A. PUBLIC SQUARE IN PORTLAND NAMED AFTER MAINE STUDENT

Andrews Square is to be the future name of the area centered about the Butler Grammar School, Portland, Maine in honor of Harold T. Andrews ’18, the first Maine man to be killed in the World War.

It will be recalled that Andrews, enlisting with B Company of the 11th New York Engineers, was among the first American troops to land on foreign soil and was immediately sent to the front. On November 30th, 1917, the day of his death, he was engaged in railroad construction on the British Front. The English were taken by surprise in an attack and Andrews’ company was ordered back into the lines as they were in advance of the English army and quite near the German lines. Andrews succeeded in gaining the lines, but not content to remain inactive while the English were sorely pressed, he seized a rifle and fell into line at the side of his comrades and was probably instantly killed.

The square facing the Butler School was selected to bear the name of Andrews because of the fact that W. W. Andrews, father of the heroic Maine student, had for years been principal of this grammar school.

An interesting feature of the father-son association with the Butler School is that the alumni and alumnae of the school recently made Mr. and Mrs. Andrews a voluntary contribution of money to defray their expenses in order that the might visit the battle field grave of their son.

STUDENT SPIRIT

The most wonderful example of the spirit of the present undergraduates was illustrated on Friday afternoon, October 24th when Maine’s green cross-country team ran its first race against Brown. The entire student body was scattered along the course from Alumni Field to the top of standpipe hill, a mile and a half distant. Some twenty cheering groups were organized and every runner was greeted with the new “fight ‘em” Maine yell. Brown runner after the race commented on this exhibition of spirit and stated that each member of his team was cheered as he passed a Maine group. May the good sportsmanship of Maine men continue.

FOURTH 1915 CLASS LETTER

“Four Years After,” the fourth printed booklet of letters published by the class of 1915 made its appearance during the summer months. This series of class letters is unique and so far as is known the only publication of its kind attempted by a class graduated from the University of Maine.

A resume of its contents shows a foreword by the editor, Raymond H. Fogle, a poem by Mrs. Elizabeth Hanley Danforth, photographs of the three men who sacrificed their lives during the war, war service record of all members of the class, letters from 81 members of the class, a list of the “Permanent Groups of Two” and “Prospective Maine Men and Co-eds.”

The class is to hold its first 5-year reunion during the 1920 Commencement. A straw vote asking the question “Will you be at the reunion in 1920?” resulted in 74 replies as follows:

1915 can be counted upon to furnish the nucleus about which the next Alumni Day activities will be centered.
THE MAINE ALUMNUS

Football at Maine

The Maine Alumnus is indebted to the 1914 Prism for this series of pen sketches of the early football days at the University. The first two articles are here introduced and will be continued in subsequent issues.

The First Team

In 1890, a member of the Sophomore class at Maine who had been a student at Phillips Andover Academy, where he had played football a little, took a census and found that, out of the hundred students, near students, and one co-ed then in attendance, there were two others who pleaded guilty to having played football “some.”

A football was bought which was shown to the sophisticated two, who complained that it was the wrong shape and color, those that they had played with always having been round and black. With this material to start with, by coaxing and bullying, a small squad was gotten out that first fall. The upper-classmen were suspicious and declined to go into the game because it was dangerous.

The difficulties in lining up 22 men who had never seen a line-up and didn’t know a rule, can be more readily imagined than described. Along the side-lines, not clearly defined, stood the scoffers, pessimists, and dyspeptics, who openly guied the players in their attempts at interference and team work. A game was played with Bangor High School, which had a team led by “Hile” Fairbanks, a former member of the Phillips Exeter team, and made up of a husky bunch of youngsters, many of whom subsequently made themselves famous in the athletic annals of several colleges.

Bangor High won, 14-0.

The next fall no progress was made, but in 1892 a more systematic campaign was carried on and Wildes P. Veazie of Bangor was engaged for a short time as coach, at a modest salary. Again a game was played with Bangor High, and again Bangor High was the victor, 8-0. This game was played under the banner of the Class of 1895, as the earlier one had been under that of 1893.

The first game of a real Maine varsity team was with Colby, at Waterville, October 29, 1892, won by Colby, 12-0. If the writer’s memory serves him correctly, the members of Maine’s team in this epoch-making contest wore knit caps which they carefully put on after each scrimmage. Aside from this, they were without protection of any kind, padding, shin guards, or helmets. That the game was not without its casualties is recalled by the fact that one player lost three teeth during its progress.

A sketch of this period of small numbers, no money, but some grit, would be incomplete without acknowledgements to Lieutenant Mark L. Hersey, military instructor, for his advice and encouragement under depressing conditions.

Harry M. Smith 1893.

1896-1899

My first experience at football at Maine began in the fall of 1896 when “Bounce” Webster came and asked me to go out to practice. He wanted to know if I did not have a football suit of my own to use and said that the Association did not own more than a dozen suits. About eighteen showed up for practice the first night to be put through a course of training in accordance with the idea of “Jack” Abbott, the first real coach that Maine ever had.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF COUNCIL HOLDS SECOND MEETING

The second meeting of the Executive Committee of the Alumni Advisory Council was held in Alumni Hall on the campus on November 7th. The following were present: E. R. Berry ’04, acting chairman, Prof. G. H. Hamlin ’73, P. B. Palmer ’96, Allen W. Stephens ’99, E. J. Wilson ’07, J. A. Gannett ’08, P. W. Monohon ’14 and Sect. Towner.

Secretary Towner reported that an appeal had been made to the undergraduates to refrain from defacing the campus and the buildings upon the campus. A student chapel was held at which undergraduate and graduate students were asked to regard University property with respect and devotion. The proper spirit now appears to prevail.

President Stephens reported that Joseph F. Gould ’92 had accepted appointment as chairman of the Legislative Committee. Mr. Stephens stated that he had authorized Mr. Gould to select the members for the committee, and that one alumnus representing each county in the state would probably be so selected.

Voted: That the alumni secretary be requested to make a study of the relation of alumni advisory bodies to state institutions and report at the next meeting.

Mr. Stephens reported that he had followed the instructions of the Executive Committee by writing the Board of Trustees that the Advisory Council was in favor of moving the Law School back to Bangor.

Mr. Stephens further reported that for reasons of economy it appeared that the Law School would be continued on the campus for the collegiate year; that the Trustees had been unsuccessful in securing the services of Judge Whitehouse and others for dean; that at the present time the Law School was without a dean.

Mr. Stephens was instructed to write Dr. Alexy with reference to alumni aid after a selection is made by the Trustees. Alumni cooperation in such a case might result in securing the services of the man selected.

Voted: That the president be instructed to appoint an alumnus of the Law School to fill the vacancy in the Alumni Advisory Council created by the automatic retirement (according to the constitution) of Bernard Archibald ’07 for non-attendance at two consecutive annual meetings.

Voted: That the alumni secretary be instructed to review the activities leading to the adoption of the Loyalty Fund and make a full report on this fund at the next meeting.

Voted: That the alumni secretary make a study of endowments given to state universities and the arguments used to obtain these funds.

Voted: That the alumni secretary be requested to make a study of the attitudes of state universities throughout the country with reference to the tuition charged to out-of-state students as compared to that charged for students resident in the state.

LEGISLATIVE HEARINGS DEVELOP URGENT NEEDS OF UNIVERSITY

The special committee appointed by Governor Milliken to investigate the University of Maine and its relation to the State has held two meetings. The first was held November 5th at Augusta and the second at the University on the campus, December 4th.

The members of this committee are Hon. Frank E. Guernsey of Dover, chairman, Hon. Ora Gilpatrick of Houlton (a trustee of the University), Judge Stacy C. Lanpher and four members of the Legislative, namely, Senator William A. Walker of Skowhegan, Senator George W. Thoms of Lincoln, Rep. Charles E. Williams of Auburn, and Rep. Elmer A. Pattee of Harmony.

At the first meeting a number of members of the board of trustees, President Aley, Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, state superintendent of schools, gave their opinions as to the needs of the University.

Hon. Samuel W. Gould of Skowhegan, chairman of the board of trustees, took up the question of the ownership of the university which he said was now practically owned by the state. The land and buildings were owned by the state, the trustees who controlled the guidance of the institution are named by the governor who could remove them one and all at any time he saw fit, so that the entire control of the affairs of the institution are practically in the hands of the state. Even the bills are all audited by the state auditor as in the case of the state departments or institutions owned and controlled by the state.

Although practically owned and controlled by the state it had a separate corporate existence. It is also trustee for a number of funds and no radical change can be made in the organization of the University without in many cases seriously and legally interfering with the existence of the funds. He also spoke about the trustees working without compensation and the temporary indebtedness of $100,000.

President Aley gave a history of the establishing of the institution, the various laws of the nation and state which provided funds for its maintenance. He told of the various interlocking acts, the naming of custodians of federal funds by the state and showed how the change proposed by taking away the separate corporate entity might vitiate some of the funds. He spoke of the growth of the institution, the increased costs of maintenance, and said there was no question that increased revenue must be obtained.

He gave a short account of the efforts being made by Harvard and other colleges to increase their endowments and said the same causes existed at Maine and must be met. He explained the value of a resident trustee and the manner in which the payrolls are made up.

Dr. Thomas gave an account of the manner in which the state institutions in the west are conducted. He advocated giving the University of Maine a regular amount and believed a tax levy of some kind should be voted so that the trustees of the institution would be able to make plans for the future with some idea of what amount of money would be available to perfect them.

Hon. Fred H. Strickland of Bangor, a member of the board of trustees, told of the work done, of how by paring down every expense they had been able to save last year $18,000, from the appropriation of which $10,000 was used to raise the salaries of the deans and heads of departments. This left a balance of $8,000 on paper.

Edwin J. Haskell and William J. Looney, both of Portland, and members of the board of trustees, made remarks on the general subject of the welfare of the institution.

The second meeting in the Board Room of Alumni Hall, campus, Dec. 4th was attended by Judge Stacy C. Lanpher, acting chairman, Rep. Williams, Rep. Pattee, Senator Thoms and Hon. Ora Gilpatrick of the special committee. President Aley, Treasurer Dunn, Trustees Strickland and Haskell, Allen W. Stephens, president of the General Alumni Association, and Secretary Towner were also in attendance.

Dr. Aley stated that an attendance of 1500 was anticipated for the next year, but that the present accommodations were too small and the present student body of 1200. For the first time students in large numbers would therefore be turned away from their State University.

Among the immediate needs of the University outlined by Dr. Aley was an addition to the Mt. Vernon House to accommodate 60 additional women students.

Salaries should be increased. At the present time the rate of pay at the University, even with the increase voted last June by the trustees, is 60 to 70% that paid at the other colleges of the country. The result is that the teaching force is never permanent. Changes to secure higher pay will continue under present conditions.

It was agreed by the members of the committee at this hearing that a campaign of education throughout the state was necessary. Dr. Aley told of the alumni aid promised to make this publicity possible.

The committee was agreed that the University needed additional help from the state. One of the purposes of the committee in meeting was to determine how it could be of service to the University.

Many other phases of the University work were discussed. The lack of adequate teaching force for the present student body was emphasized. This information was turned over to the committee. The report will be made to the next legislature which convenes in January 1921.

The result of the investigation will be that the state legislature will be better informed than ever before of the condition of affairs at the University. The lack of adequate appropriations has been caused in the past by the absence of complete knowledge of the institution.

FRESHMEN IN TECHNOLOGY TAKE INTELLIGENCE TESTS

On Oct. 26 and 27 a new type of examination in the University was inaugurated, when, in the College of Technology, 220 freshmen took intelligence tests. There were six tests, covering arithmetic, algebra, geometrical construction, physics, technical information, and psychology, each requiring thirty minutes.

These tests are beginning an experiment conducted by a committee of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education. The motive is to find out by actual statistics, whether the present mode of entrance examination is entirely successful, or whether the new plan will bring more satisfactory results.

The idea of a new type of examinations is to give them to the entire freshman class in technology as soon as possible in the autumn. A large number of colleges are trying this plan, and it is estimated that 20,000 freshmen took the exams this year. The results are sent to a central bureau, where they are tabulated. During the four college years, each man's rank is sent at the end of a semester to this bureau. Eventually the statistics will prove whether the men's ranks would justify the abolition of the present type of entrance examination and the establishment of intelligence tests.

The girls at the University have adopted student government which will go into effect after the Christmas holidays. The by-laws and regulations have been accepted by President Aley and members of the faculty and were adopted unanimously by the girl students December 1st.

Voted: That the alumni secretary be requested to obtain information available with reference to state legislation affecting state universities and that such information be made available for the trustees of the University of Maine, the president of the University, and the alumni.

FACULTY NOTES

Memorial services were held Tuesday, Oct. 14th, at Machias for the late Eugene C. Donworth, a well known Machias lawyer and former instructor at the University Law school. William E. Walz, a former dean of the Law School was one of the speakers.

Word has been received by friends in Orono of the death in Amherst, Mass. on October 6, of Mrs. Maria E. Smith Fernald, the wife of Dr. Charles H. Fernald, professor of Natural History in the Maine State College in its early years. Dr. and Mrs. Fernald were at the college from 1871-1886 when the Doctor resigned to follow his chosen subject of entomology at the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst, Mass.

Dr. Raymond Pearl, formerly a member of the Experiment Staff at the University and now head of the Department of Biometry at Johns Hopkins University was a heavy loser in the Baltimore fire of November 28th. All the records which he had accumulated through more than 20 years of research and the books of his valued library impossible to replace were a total loss.

An Institution Upon the Campus

The Service to You

Before purchasing books on education or scientific subjects consult the College Store. Sold at publishers' prices.

The store carries fraternity and college jewelry, shields, pennants, etc., of equal interest to the former student. When you return to the campus plan a visit to the University Store. It is an institution of the University. The proceeds are expended for the benefit of the Athletic Association. A modern soda fountain is maintained and lunches are served during business hours.

Two Books of Interest to Every Maine Man

History of the Maine State College and the University of Maine by Dr. M. C. Fernald, former president. An accurate and readable account (450 pages) of the growth of the college portrayed by one who until his death in 1917 was in close touch with its activities. Every alumnus should own a copy. Mailed postpaid $1.50. Proceeds from the sale of this book go to Mrs. Fernald.

"Tales of Bolivar's Children" by E. E. Chase '13. Do you remember old Bolivar? If so, you'll appreciate the graphically written recital of U. of M. traditions. Mr. Chase was an ardent lover of tradition. With his pen he has very cleverly reproduced some of the typical twice told tales which have been passed down from class to class. Closing out sale at 50c a copy postpaid.
