Professor Creamer Addresses Techs

Sunday morning the Technology Committee heard an interesting talk by Professor Walter J. Creamer, professor of Mechanical Engineering Department at Orono.

"What the University of Maine should be," was the subject of Professor Creamer's talk. It covered such topics as engineering, He told of differences in teaching methods, in the use of computers, frequency modulation, and the importance they have on his audience with the different teacher in chemistry, physics, and Raytheon and also all the graduates rate very highly in these companies.

He also made recommendation that if they are not sure what they want to do, they should consider electrical engineering. It offers the greatest field for both research and advancement.

D Cross Drive Opens On Campus

This notice will not attempt to describe the various efforts of the American Red Cross in directing the activities of the campus. It will simply be noted that the organization has been started on campus.

It is now possible to take part in a larger role through the use of the D Cross Drive. The organization will be carried on through the Administration Building. Any local home owners will be greatly interested in this good showing as an incident in the lives of the students.

Peasley Elected President Of Brunswick Campus

O'Toole, Pinkham, and Taylor Elected Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, respectively, In February 17th Voting

Student officer elections for the Brunswick campus have been completed. Paul Peasley, of Cheverus, was elected President on Monday, February 17, in a student union, and the four successful candidates have the honor of becoming the first class officer of the campus.

The newly-elected president said he would carry on the traditions of the former student body. Peasley is a new student, and he and his colleagues have been working on the campus for two years. They have carried on the traditions of the former student body, and have been working on the campus for two years.

SANTA VISITS STUDENT UNION

William Wincapaw, better known as the "Kissing Santa Claus," was the speaker at the assembly on Wednesday morning of this week. Mr. Wincapaw brought Christmas packages to all the lounging rooms in the New England building last year. Now, in his second year, he has been distributing presents all over the country, and has a total of 20,000 flying hours to his credit. He has taken three across the country and many parts of South America.

In his talk he concerned himself principally with his work in Bolivia a few years ago. He went there to investigate the causes of plane accidents in the Andes Mountains. When he reported that lack of sufficient air supply and poor equipment were the chief causes of its troubles, the airlines company which had sought his aid asked him to stay on and supervise the building of adequate airfields. That job was accomplished very quickly.

He also spoke about the Indians in that part of the world and how, by good treatment, he obtained their complete cooperation in carrying out his project. Probably the most interesting part of all, to the Zoology majors, was his experiences with the many animals and the show on cats of exhibits of the world. The mere mention of Tarantulas, Boa Constrictors, and other snakes was enough for me, to say nothing of lice, ants, and other pests.

Mr. Wincapaw ended his speech on encouraging note for seeking adventure and advancement in this land. His was an opportunity everywhere in South America. He said: "Intelligent man can make "out there if he will try his cards right."

And so the procession of fine speakers here at the Annex continues. Don't miss the next one.

SCENES AROUND THE BEAN POT

This past Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Tarantulas, of Bangor, and Mr. and Mrs. McGrure of Augusta, visited the House to take part in the revival of the "Fifty-Four" over the Brunswick Campus.

The Lambert Park Wives Club, working under the chairmanship of Mrs. Willard Martin, prepared the tempting supper that forestalled the guests assembled, the committee brought out steaming pots of home-baked accompaniments. The ladies had also prepared wonderful mince and apple pies to round out the menu.

After every course of supper was finished, the guests took advantage of the good collection of wines and danced until midnight. Students, faculty members and alumni were present at the gathering and the evening hope that more such get-togethers will be held soon.

"SANTA VISITS STUDENT UNION"
Our Boy Kilroy

By Dick Elliot

Kilroy emerged from last night's battle with the Professors Vs. the Peons mentally scarred and shaken. He participated in a game which was little more than a battle with unflinching courage and an undaunted determination to make good, but the strategy and the outcome were more than he could cope with. I saw his bent, broken body silhouetted against the late afternoon sun on that vast field of that belated broadcast, and I rushed to him to learn of his outcome. Kilroy slowly raised his head at my appearance and the look in his eyes told me that legsless portion of defeat. Kilroy was on his way to his home and I turned him to the right.

Kilroy wants very much to make a success of this next semester because he has in his mind to represent the Annex on the baseball diamond. Although he may be too small to be a starter in the major sports, he has given himself a chance to exploit his skills. He informed me that his ambition is pitching, and that he will be doing the duties of the mound when the Annex baseball team takes the field this coming spring. Kilroy’s outlook for the season is that breaks could happen to any ballclub, but Kilroy feels that he has the ability to withstand strong pitches. As the interview wore on, Kilroy was consistent in his optimistic outlook, and he is a team player. He would have pitched better at bat, listened to my advice, and thought that batter had a familiar stance. He called his catcher to him and asked him what he had learned.

The catcher curiously informed Kilroy that he had recognized the batter—the lead-off batter of the opposing team. Kilroy assured him that he would be in top form by then.

You have suffered with Kilroy these past few years here at the Annex, but you can’t say that he is a bad egg. He is a good player, and his problems have been your problems. This is the last time that Kilroy will appear in this paper in the form of a column. He has asked me to bring him to a close my weekly interview with him because he feels that he has not scholastically satisfied the expectations of his friends and instructors in this last year of his college exposition as a model student. Perhaps Kilroy hasn’t done as well as some of the students who are under a handicap, and I am sure that he has the right to do so; he has the right to listen in the spring term. In saying this, I am not wishing to belittle our home town, but I am eager to see Kilroy return to the field of the future.

Our suggestion box is open, but let’s have less and not more of the same old routine over and over again. ANNEe BASKETEERS TROUBLE HEBRON

The undefeated Annex Hoosiers walked off the Annex gym floor with another victory by defeating the Big Green from Hebron 101-69.

Faced by Jackie Anderson, the Annex men started the tune-up with Hebron 12-0. The first period score proves this by showing Maine 27 and Hebron 12. The game was still point to point at the half whistle with the score Maine 51 to Hebron's 30.

The third period was well under way when Lowell Osgood was taken out of the game because of a foul that he committed at his usual bang-up games. We were well ahead of the game, but work has been received that Lowell is okay now. The team beginning momentum and was well in the lead at the end of the third stanza, Maine 76, Hebron 51.

Pendulum reignited on the way. The spectators wanted to see a score of a hundred or better, and the men were doing their best to get it. The score was 89 for Maine and 67 for Hebron. Thirty seconds before the final whistle to be blown, Maine had 101 points and Hebron 60. Hebron pulled in the close ones, and in the second period Bob Taylor sank that all important shot on Maine 101 and Hebron 67.

A very important sparkplug in basketball man, of prac- tice injuries, but Hank Peasley is the only one under the Maine sidelines. Get well, Hank.

This office received a special communiqué from one of its correspondents to the effect that the Annex is the only undefeated basketball club in New Eng- land and up to this time. Good work, men.

All men interested in track should be at the gym next Mon- day afternoon at 2:30. Many men are already working out; Ernest Brown is on the discus; Louis O'Leary is throwing the shotput and the thirty-five pound weight; Don Harmon is also on the shotput. Randy Adams is out heading the shotput, discus, and javelin. David Cates, Raymond Hume, Webster, Bates, Murland, Red- man, Osgood, and O'Toole are out running around the campus these days limbering up for the spring meets. Both F. C. McLaughlin and Ed Howes will be seen working out over the cross- country course. The boys have some six inches in high school.

COMPOUND FRACTURE DISABILITIES PEASLEY

Thursday, Feb. 21, at afternoon basketball game, the police Presi- dent Hank Peasley suffered two compound fractures on fingers of his right hand. Hank spent two uncomfortable nights in the in- firmary but is back with us now. The injury kept him from par- ticipating in the Annex's two first farewell games, and the team missed his steady brand of ballplaying, his capture of rebounds and his ver- sailtate; he plays baseball, tennis, golf, and football, as well as basketball. In the words of Joe Zabielski, "Hank is a team player, one hundred percent.

We're sorry you're on the benches, Hank, and we sincerely hope you'll be successfully recov- ered in time to play basketball this spring.

Team 6 from Bidg. 18 edge out Team 12 from Bidg. 20 in a 30-40 thriller. The outstanding play of Bob Cratty proved to be just a little too much for the boys from Bidg. 20. Crusty sank eleven goals from the floor and made good five foul tries for a total of twenty-seven points. Smith and twenty points and Steen with twenty-two topped the scoring sheet.

In the final playoff game of the first round, Team 6 from Bidg. 25 edged out Team 13 from Bidg. 20, 80-77. This was another contest that didn't decide until the final gun. Smith and Bou- chard, with ten points each, were the high men for the winners, while Pete Mantis contributed a couple of timely foul shots. Nickles and Ginn paced the losers with nine points each.

Our boys Mike Shaefler and Warren Hammond displayed fine style for the events in which they competed at the Annual Sabine- bag Ski Carnival at Sanford, Maine, last Sunday afternoon. February 23. Shaefler took first place in both the downhill and slalom events. Hammond placed second and the two BUMS were awarded sweaters as laurels.

Jane Rupp, sister of Annex stu- dent Robert S. Rupp, was crown- ed Queen of the carnival. A meet will take place at Pleasant Mountain, Bridgton, and the Campus Ski Team will compete.

Time for another review of musical doings, the ball has started to roll in music circles in Maine, Mes Low Boy and a few others have already acquired entire or partial shares with which they intend to face the public very soon. Start, however, has headed for Hollywood with one of the big film companies, he has never had. Stan should open at the Apollo Ballroom within the month with Vido Musso back on tenter toes, the Paris (Kenton's new vocal group), June Christie, etc. The Kenton band is leasing a record a month before the summer makes its appearance. These records will feature a side devoted solely to jazz, with many instruments. The other side will feature something more commercial by the Pastel and other vocalists — similar to the Glenn Miller method of releasing, isn't it?

The Duke has done it again! He has written the musical score to Beggar's Holiday which has received very good comments from the New York critics. Mr. Ellington's twenty-six tunes which are used in the show have proved very popular. Many people think that he has the ability to write the musical score for a Broadway production. Peggy Lee and husband, Duke, are on tour. Duke will sing several sides that are worth of listening. Baby Face Neal Count on Mr. Forever Nickle, and Forever Pegani will have been released. Pegani contains good background work, especially on the vocal. Joe has now singing at the Pico Club and罐子, he is an another male vocalist to do great things before the year is out. Joe has had experience as a drummer but his baritone voice should help him in show. Capitol Records will soon be flooding the market with Joe's west coast recording.

Pegani's output is so heavy that we should not start an upward sweep, and the Duke, and the Duke. We came in to do stafford's hit, "the lady is a Tramp. The You Folks by the King Cole Trio and "the Lady is a Tramp," done by another one who is also a member of the Pegani, this is now singing at the Pico Club and another male vocalist to do great things before the year is out. Joe has had experience as a drummer but his baritone voice should help him in show. Capitol Records will soon be flooding the market with Joe's west coast recording.
