New Safe Return Information Now Available

Dear Colleagues,

Please direct your attention to the latest post on the University of Maine System's Public Health Advisory website where you will find important updated information.

In accordance with UMS employees in increasing numbers being invited to return to working on campus during the month of July, there is new guidance available detailing how such an invitation will be communicated and how to find out more about whether or not your invitation may be forthcoming.

In addition, there are advisories on ongoing safety constraints and opportunities to consult with supervisors, managers, and Human Resources as appropriate to your needs and concerns.

Finally, please look for training materials and more Safe Return guidance moving forward as we all work together for a successful start to the Fall Semester.
