Fogler Library to reopen on August 17

Raymond H. Fogler Library will reopen to the University of Maine System on Monday, August 17, 2020. At this time, access to the building will be limited to the following:

- Faculty, staff, and students of the University of Maine System
- Staff from the University of Maine Foundation and the University of Maine Alumni Association
- UMaine retirees with a Gold Card

To protect the health of library patrons and staff, we have implemented new procedures for in-person visitors. All patrons must enter through the Union-facing entrance and exit through the doors facing the University Mall. Certain sections on the first floor and select stairwells will be limited to one-way traffic. All patrons will need a valid card to access the library.

A complete outline of health and safety procedures is available on our website and will be updated frequently throughout the semester.

While building access will be limited to University of Maine System patrons, we are committed to providing the public with continued access to our services and resources. Staff throughout the library are available to provide remote assistance, including staff in Special Collections, Government Publications, Reference, the Patent and Trademark Resource Center, and the Maine Business, Science and Technology Library.
