Updated COVID-19 Guidance - Aug. 10, 2020

To the University of Maine System Community:

The Universities of the University of Maine System are looking forward to welcoming students to campus for the fall 2020 semester. University instruction and operations have continued throughout the pandemic and they are continuing today, often in new and different ways, to promote both safety and the ability of students, faculty and staff to be together.

As faculty and staff anticipate their return to campus, it is important to stay informed of the very latest guidance recently posted to the Together for Maine website. Updated August 10, 2020, you will find new information designed for the safety of all specifically addressing access to campus, group size limits including in-person instruction, and the use of community spaces and childcare centers.

Other important guidance included in the latest University of Maine System COVID-19 updates features the required use of face coverings and international travel including planning for Spring 2021, Study Abroad, and International Student Enrollment.

The response to COVID-19 continues to be a rapidly evolving situation even at this stage of the pandemic and this guidance is subject to change. Employees, students, and organizations are encouraged to check Together for Maine routinely for updates and for ongoing reference to existing content such as guidance on quarantine and self-isolation and access to the Safe

Return to Campus Training Guide and its accompanying materials \(ASL version\).

Thank You
