DECEMBER 1984
The ambience of the season is captured by New Gloucester, Maine cabinet maker Christian Becksvoort. A child’s snow glider complete with “jingle bells” is a direct descendent of the one horse open sleigh, or “cutter,” and was a means of getting small children out of doors in cold weather and deep snow. This small version of the horse drawn cutter was popular well into the 20th century and except for an occasion antique, have all but disappeared. Master woodworker Christian Becksvoort was born in Wolfsburg, Germany in 1949 and worked with his father, also a cabinet maker, since age 12. Mr. Becksvoort graduated from the University of Maine at Orono with a degree in wildlife science in 1972 and has taught woodworking classes in Maryland, Southern Maine Vocational Technical Institute and in private classes. He is the author of In Harmony with Wood and is currently writing a book about the furniture of the early Maine Shaker communities. Mr. Becksvoort specializes in individually designed pieces such as tables, desks, beds, displays, doors and hammered dulcimers.

Holiday Melodies Make the Season Merry

by Jim Counihan

The holiday season will be especially merry this year with a large and varied offering of specials and holiday programs throughout December on MPBN Radio. Christmas and Hanukkah share the spotlight as local and nationally produced programs bring the joys of the season to the MPBN broadcast area.

Robert J. Lurtsema begins the festivities Monday, December 3 at 7:00 am., with Victoria's motet, "O Magnum Mysterium," as performed by the choir of the Church of the Advent, Boston, Massachusetts. The genial host of Morning Pro Musica continues the holiday spirit throughout December to the new year. Robert J. will feature music for Chanukah with a broadcast of highlights from Handel's "Judas Macabeus" on his program of December 18 and will feature "Hanerot Halaloo" (music for Chanukah) by Moaz Tsur December 19.

The Record Shelf, heard on Sundays in December, will offer advice to those thinking of giving record albums for Christmas. "The Record Shelf Guide to Gift Recordings" airing Sunday, December 9 at 4:00 pm., will not only entertain listeners, but inform them of the new and classic records which will brighten the holidays.

On Friday, December 14 at 8:00 pm., Bob Caswell's Blues Before Sunrise will offer a program of Christmas blues with such artists as Bessie Smith and B.B. King.

A Christmas Card From the King's Singers on Wednesday, December 19 at 8:00 pm. will put everyone in the holiday spirit. The renowned male vocal sextet from Britain joins members of the Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra in a dazzling performance of holiday music. The King's Singers offer a repertoire ranging from the music of Renaissance Spain to music and readings for a classic English Christmas.

For those who wish to hear the joys of Christmas thundered to the heavens, the ever-popular sounds of Handel's Messiah can be heard Thursday, December 20. The Portland Choral Art Society will perform the rousing and spiritually uplifting strains at 8:00 pm. on The Maine Stage.

A special installment of Prime Cuts will feature holiday music played by MPBN Radio's Rich Tozier. MPBN listeners will want to join Rich for this special segment of Prime Cuts on Friday, December 21 at 8:00 pm.

The sacred and joyous music of Ireland, Scotland, Brittany and Wales will highlight a distinctive and unique portion of Thistle & Shamrock, Saturday, December 22 at 8:00 pm. In this one-hour program Fiona Ritchie, Scottish host of the popular weekly series, leads listeners on a musical journey through the many aspects of the Celtic holiday tradition. Carols, children's songs, music of celebration and revelry and seasonal compositions interwoven with enlightening commentary provide listeners with a unique glimpse of a traditional Yuletide and new year in the Celtic lands.

From Ireland and Scotland MPBN listeners can travel to the "Windy City" for The Flea Market Christmas Special, Sunday, December 23 at 2:00 pm. Hosts Art Thieme and Larry Rand introduce Jim Post (singer guitarist); Paul Bowes (autoharp); the Oriana Singers (performing classic and Renaissance Christmas carols); Cathy Fink (performing Appalachian folk music); and O'Reilly's Irish Rogues (singing Irish Christmas carols).

One of the best loved Christmas stories of all time is Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. MPBN Radio will present a special performance of this warm holiday drama with the Kent Acting and Touring Company Sunday, December 23 at 7:00 pm. This dramatization of Dickens' classic story features musical interludes and precise sound effects that capture the flavor of the Mid-Victorian era. The script closely follows the original work with strong narrative and entertaining drama.

The result is a production which is true to the original story, yet fresh and enchanting in its retelling.

"Twas the morning before Christmas and the MPBN house will begin its Christmas Eve celebration at 10:00 am. with a special program of holiday cheer. The Elmer Isler singers, known for their expressive phrasing and luxurious tones will entertain until the noon hour. The Singers have earned widespread critical acclaim with High Fidelity magazine calling their performances..."nothing short of sensational." Listeners will want to tune in to Christmas Concert with the Elmer Isler Singers.

The Elmer Isler Singers return at 1:30 pm. to join the Dale Warland Singers in Echoes of Christmas. These two famous choral ensembles will perform selections that both entertain and inspire listeners.

Every Christmas when carolers take to the streets and choruses fill holly-boughed halls, they renew a tradition born thousands of years ago. On Christmas Eve at 7:00 pm. MPBN Radio will broadcast a one-hour special, An Anthology of the Sacred Carol, recounting the colorful and often controversial history of this cherished custom. Written and produced by Robert Montiegel, this program traces the evolution of the carol, from its origins in medieval ring dancing to its present form.

Holiday festivities continue as MPBN Radio presents A Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols. Broadcast of the famous service at King's College Chapel in Cambridge, England has become a tradition for public radio audiences throughout the country. The service combines the reading of biblical Christmas lessons with performance of traditional hymns and carols sung by the Choir of King's College Chapel. MPBN Radio will present this program at 8:00 pm.

At 10:00 pm. on Christmas Eve listeners will be treated to St. Olaf Christmas Festival Concert, a holiday special featuring the St. Olaf Choir of Minnesota performing yuletide fa-
The Miracle of Hanukkah

by Rabbi Henry J. Isaacs

[Editor's note: On the mornings of December 18 and 19, Morning Pro Musica listeners will hear the music of Hanukkah among the compositions introduced by host Robert J. Lurtsema. The month of December is marked by two great religious celebrations: Hanukkah for the Jews and Christmas for the Christians. Rabbi Henry J. Isaacs of Beth Abraham Synagogue in Bangor, Maine has contributed a brief history of the celebration of Hanukkah for Airplay readers.]

In the second century B.C.E., Syria ruled over the land of Israel. A part of the Greek Hellenistic culture, the Syrians determined to “Hellenize” the Jewish people. In the year 167 B.C.E., in the town of Modiin, they built a new altar and instituted a new sacrificial cult.

Mattathias, a Jewish Priest of Modiin, pulled down the sacriligious altar and fled to the hills with his five sons of the Hoshmonae Family. They were soon joined by other Jews called “Hasidim” (pious ones), who sought to avoid desecrations of the Jewish traditions.

Three years of guerilla warfare ensued between the Syrians and the Hasidim, led by Mattathias’ son, Judah the Maccabee. On the 25th day of the Jewish month, Kislev, three years to the day when the first pagan sacrifice had been offered, the Maccabees were victorious. Judah entered into the Temple and restored the Jewish practice of sacrifice.

The first thing to be done was to relight the candelabrum which burned continually in the Temple but the Maccabees could find only one cruse of oil still under the unbroken seal of the High Priest. Enough oil remained to light the temple candelabrum for one day only. Then a miracle occurred. For eight days the light in the Temple burned—giving the Maccabees time to purify new oil. The following year, and every year thereafter, those eight days have been set aside as holy days and celebrated with praise and thanksgiving.

To commemorate this holiday today, Jewish people light the Menorah, an eight- branched candelabrum, in their homes—one candle for each of the eight days of Hanukkah. Thus is the “Miracle of Hanukkah” publicized and remembered each year.

And thus is memorialized, as well, the struggles of the Jewish people to retain their culture, their traditions, their nation within a world which, through repression and cruelty, all too often demands their conformity. The lights of Hanukkah are symbols of joy, of thanksgiving, of the distinctiveness of Jewish culture, and of its right to exist in a pluralistic world.

Happy Holidays!
Dear Friends —

Because of AIRPLAY deadlines, I was unable to comment in the November issue about your reactions to program changes made in October.

The position of Program Manager for any entity that deals with materials provided by organizations such as NPR and PBS and the American Public Radio Network, as well as with a locally-based highly trained staff is an enviable one. But it's difficult, too, because of the desire to fulfill as many of your wishes as possible while at the same time maintaining a program schedule that is smooth-flowing and logistically feasible to produce.

The removal of The Radio Reader from the noon hour was considered a tactical error by many of you. Not wishing to perpetuate what was my misperception of Dick Estelle's popularity in that time period, we quickly reinstated his program after Midday.

We introduced Business Times at 4:30 pm., and the reaction was very mixed. Those who found that their lives are far richer by hearing Business Times are also counterbalanced fairly evenly (by the response we received) by you who prefer music at that time and have little use for a program of this nature. We did learn that very few of you rely on The Radio Reader at 7:30 pm. So, to try to accommodate as many wishes as possible, this month's schedule features Business Times at 7:00 pm. and the dramas and Focus on Art moving one-half hour later at 7:30 pm.

Our best wishes for a happy holiday season are included in a wealth of special programming this month. Through your expressions of concern for MPBN Radio's commitment to serve you, we have learned a great deal about your listening habits and about how you use MPBN Radio in your lives.

Thank you for your feedback, and I wish you all happy holidays.

DEVELOPMENT MEMO

The holidays are filled with good wishes, good food, good friends, and good times. While you are scurrying about with last minute details and checking lists twice, we’d like to add a special request.

During the past year, on these pages, we have profiled the businesses which underwrite programs on MPBN Radio. Some of these companies have been underwriters for years and others, like Ladd Tours of Falmouth, are quite new to this page. They all share one thing in common with each other and with you, however. And that is a belief in and affection for MPBN Radio.

In this time of recognition and season’s greetings, the underwriters would be glad to know that you appreciate their support of MPBN programming. Would you consider sending them your best wishes? We’ve included their names and addresses below.

The Best in Holiday Viewing
On MPBN TV

December means snow and cold, icy winds and windshields. In Maine and the Maritime Provinces December also means the finest in holiday viewing on the television stations of the Maine Public Broadcasting Network.

On December 3 at 9:00 p.m. American Playhouse presents "A Matter of Principle," starring Alan Arkin and Barbara Dana. Based on a story by John D. Weaver, "A Matter of Principle" stars Arkin as a humorously Scrooge-like father of 12 who doesn’t believe in West Virginia, allowing his daughters to leave home, or Christmas.

On Wednesday, December 5 at 9:00 p.m. MPBN TV will air The Nutcracker starring Mikhail Baryshnikov dancing the role of the Nutcracker-Prince. Baryshnikov explains the apparently limitless appeal of The Nutcracker when he says, "it is more than the spirit of Christmas. It has suspense, romance, fantasy—something for everyone."

On Friday, December 21 at 9:00 p.m. Great Performances will feature "The Bach Christmas Oratorio." To celebrate the Christmas season and Bach’s 300th birthday, Nicholas Harnden and the Concertus Musicus; the Tolzer Boys Choir; and soloists Robert Holland and Peter Schreier perform the first three cantatas making up the “Christmas Oratorio."

One week later, on Friday, December 28 at 9:00 p.m., Great Performances will offer "The Bach Christmas Oratorio: The New Year’s Cantata.” "The New Year’s Cantata," is set in the beautiful church in Waldhausen, Oberaustria.

Ringing in the New Year will be especially enjoyable when MPBN, Radio and Television offers a simulcast presentation of Great Performances: Live From Lincoln Center “New Year’s Eve Gala” with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, featuring soprano Kathleen Battle, violinist Shlomo Mintz, and pianist Emmanuel Ax.

The whole family will want to “come home to MPBN” for the holidays and partake of the finest in holiday entertainment.

MPBN TV PRESENTS “A PINE TREE CHRISTMAS”

A Pine Tree Christmas a ninety-minute “Christmas card” to the people of Maine and Canada’s Maritime Provinces comes to the television stations of the Maine Public Broadcasting Network on Saturday, December 22 at 7:00 p.m. and again on Christmas Day at 2:30 p.m.

Host Bernie Roscetti will introduce some of Maine’s finest performers of song, mime, comedy and hymns from the Blaine House in Augusta, Maine. Viewers will enjoy seeing this beautiful home decorated in Christmas splendor. Maine’s performers will be taped throughout the state in performance halls, churches, and homes. Performers include, but are not limited to: Abrahms and Anderson, Dick Curless, the Bellringers of Belfast, Michael Hughes, The Psaltery (Lillianne Labbe and Don Hinckly), King’s Revels (madrigal singers), Mike Nobel and Tim Sample.

A Pine Tree Christmas featuring some of the finest performers in the Pine Tree State, can be seen only on MPBN TV, your source for the best in holiday entertainment.

YOUR DAY ON MPBN

You can become a day sponsor on MPBN Radio by making a pledge of support in the amount of $240 or more. Just choose a day at least two months in the future and send the date with your check. We will confirm the date, and then you can sit back and wait for the day when we announce, “Today’s programming has been made possible in part by a grant from _______.” We’ll air your announcement four times during the broadcast day and mention it in AIRPLAY. Choose your birthday, your anniversary, any date that’s special to you. Contact Katherine Dolley, MPBN Radio, Box 86, Orono, ME 04473 for more details. Make it your day on MPBN.
