NETWORK for CHANGE & CONTINUOUS INNOVATION

Dear Colleagues,

The University of Maine System is an institutional member of NCCI (Network for Change and Continuous Innovation) and we took advantage of a special pricing opportunity which allows for unlimited participation from our employees in their annual conference, which will be delivered virtually on July 8 and 9. That means you (or anyone on your team) can attend this conference for FREE.

You are encouraged to check out this opportunity and participate if you find it of interest.

Attendees typically come from a wide variety of roles across campus - faculty, administrators, staff; HR, OD, Project Management, Continuous Improvement, Quality, Planning, Technology, Student Affairs, Facilities and more.

In these unprecedented times, it is important to know we all have a support system - those we can rely on for insight, understand the struggles we are facing and those who will happily share successes and setbacks. The Annual Conference is an extraordinary opportunity to connect with a key support system-higher education leaders from around the globe who are navigating similar challenges.

In order to register for the conference, you must first set up your individual account on the NCCI network. For step-by-step instructions on how to create your account and then register for the conference, please see these easy-to-complete instructions.
