Basketball Team Wins State Title
Result of Season Bettered Best Previous Record—Nine Games Won and Six Lost

Winning the State Championship in basketball is not the only achievement to be treasured by the members of the 1921-1922 varsity team. The real claim to distinction comes in having won a greater percentage of games than any former Maine team and in spite of the fact that 11 of the 15 games were away from the campus.

The statistics of the games played show that Maine scored 394 points to her opponents' 366; that she won 9 out of 15 games, representing 3 wins of the 4 at home and 6 of the 11 on foreign floors. The teams which were defeated by Maine were Portland A. C., Bates, New Hampshire (twice), Boston College, Colby (twice), Clark and Rhode Island. Holy Cross administered the worst defeat of the season, Bates, Portland A. C., Wesleyan, Conn. Aggies and Brown each appending the long end of the score in other games. Capt. "Mel" Holmes '23 has been the team's leader and John McCrystle '22 the manager.

The two Colby games, one at Orono February 11 and the other at Bangor City Hall, March 4, demonstrated the superiority of the Maine five. 31 to 10 was the first score and 39 to 27 the second. The Colby team was almost wholly a freshman outfit—some alibi may be therefore offered for its decisive defeats. In the City Hall contest Maine's second and third teams were substituted in part of the periods. These two victories, with Colby's win over Bates gave Maine the state championship.

The southern New England trip was the longest ever taken by a Maine athletic team. Six games in eight days was the itinerary. Clark College was defeated February 18 at Worcester, 28 to 26. Maine led at the first half 20 to 16. After the lead had alternated from one team to the other, Hank Turner tossed in the decisive basket with one minute to play.

The TEN reasons why you should attend the 50th Anniversary Celebration are to be found in the supplement enclosed with this issue of the ALUMNUS. Read them—then return.
A delegation of Worcester alumni witnessed the game.

February 20, Wesleyan won 23 to 19. The Maine team was off form in shooting baskets. Many easy tries were missed. This alone caused the defeat.

Connecticut Aggies, February 21, got an early start, maintained their lead and won 22 to 16.

Brown University at Providence on Washington's birthday hung a 20 to 10 defeat on our team.

February 23, our team hit its stride and although tired from the hard games of the early week, defeated Rhode Island at Kingston, 23 to 18. Maine led at the half 13 to 8.

Sweet was the revenge for the overwhelming defeat of a year ago at Durham, N. H., when New Hampshire walked away with Maine. February 25, Capt. Holmes led his team into the stronghold of New Hampshire and administered a 25 to 19 drubbing. The Maine offensive was fast in the opening half, running up an 18 to 9 lead. In the final half our team played a passing game and was content to hold the New Hampshire rally in check.

Two men will be lost to the team by graduation, Noyes at center and Turner, a guard. From the second string material available their places should be filled.

The freshman team completed its schedule with a total of 394 points to their opponents' 241, winning 7 out of 10 games.

Relay Team Loses to Brown at Boston
Other Maine Colleges Win—Prospects for Outdoor Track Season Not Promising—Lack of Material in Entering Class

Coach Flack's relay team at the B. A. A. Games at the Boston Arena February 4 was defeated by Brown in the fourth fastest race of the games. Three minutes 39 4-5 seconds was the time. The distance was one mile, each man running a quarter-mile. Hayden of Brown got the lead to the first corner and bested Capt. Lawrence at the end of the first relay by five yards. The second Brown runner held this lead over Kneeland of Maine until Nutter of Brown gradually drew away from Blair, Maine's varsity half-back, who gamely tried to make up the loss at the start of his race. O'Connor ran the last relay for Maine, but the Brown man was too far in the lead. Thirty-five yards separated the two runners at the tape.

All the other Maine teams won their events. Bowdoin had very little trouble in defeating Williams, due to a severe loss when one of the Williams runners stumbled and fell at the tape. Bowdoin's time was slow in comparison with the better times of the evening. Colby simply ran away from Rhode Island in a one-sided race, making the best time of the Maine teams, 3 minutes, 42 1-5 seconds. Bates and Vermont ran an exciting race, the lead alternating between the two teams, until the last lap of the race when Archibald nosed out a win over Granger of Vermont.

Track Prospects
Coach Flack is making no predictions concerning the prospects of winning the State Meet. One of his performers of last year has become ineligible, another has elected another sport, and a third is suffering as the result of injuries received in a motor accident. His team will develop its strength in the half-mile, mile, and two-mile runs, and should be able to pick up scattering points in the field events. His principal weakness at present is in the sprints, hurdles, and broad jump. In the sprints, Pinkham, who finished third in the one hundred last year, King and Reynolds, the latter a promising freshman, will be the chief performers. In the quarter-mile Lawrence of last year's team will be available, and Blair, the freshman half-back, who also ran on the relay team. In the half-mile Kneeland and O'Connor; in the mile, Ames, who finished third last year, and Webster; in the two-mile Captain Herrick, who finished third in the half, McKee, the cross country captain-elect, and Patten will all be available and should render a good account of themselves. In the shot-put, Harry Cohen, the freshman full-back; in the discus, Bishop, who placed second last year; in the hammer, Strout, who was the winner; in the high jump, Ackley, who placed second, and Houghton, a promising freshman, complete the candidates for the team who should be able to place in the meet.

It is understood that a team will be sent to the Pennsylvania Relays at Philadelphia, April 28 and 29. The first dual meet is scheduled for May 6 with Holy Cross at Orono, the State Meet coming May 13, the New Englands at Worcester, Mass., a week later, followed by the Nationals at Boston.

In Appreciation
The following letter was received by Graduate Manager Bryant and in a measure indicates the attitude of all the teams that competed in the basketball tournament recently held at the University of Maine.

Mr. R. H. Bryant, Graduate Manager of Athletics, University of Maine, Orono, Maine.

My dear Mr. Bryant:

In behalf of the school, the team, and myself, I am writing this letter. All of us who were able to make the trip to Orono feel that a vote of thanks is due to the authorities for the excellent arrangements in regard to handling the teams and the games. The trip was so pleasant, and so enlightening to the boys, that had we failed to win a game I should have considered the time well spent. Congratulations upon the management of an extremely satisfactory tournament.

Thanking you and all associated with you for the very happy memories of the 1922 tournament, I remain,

Very cordially yours,

EARLE S. RUSSELL
Athletic Director Oak Grove Seminary, Vassalboro, Maine.

Maine Winter Carnivals Popular

Carnival on Campus Introduced as Feature of Winter Life—Governor's Trophy Won at Augusta—Students Feature in Bangor Sports

The State of Maine with its abundant natural facilities for winter sports should be the ideal winter sport state. The University of Maine, located in the midst of the open places far from town or city, should be the logical center for the outdoor winter activities of the state. In the very near future these conditions will be realized if the first annual Winter Carnival at the University is an example of the possibilities for development. Commencing Thursday evening, February 9, all attention was centered on the carnival program and until the last social function Saturday night, February 11, was concluded, but one thought prevailed in the minds of students, faculty, and visiting alumni. That one thought depicted the glory of winter sports—outdoor primarily and indoor incidentally.

The outdoor snowshoe events were the 100-yard men's dash, the inter-fraternity relay race, obstacle race, quarter and half-mile men's races, and the girls' relay race. Ski-jumping, ski-jooring, ski races, fancy skating, and hockey were the other feature events. Social functions were the glee club concert, Maine Masque performance, Carnival Ball, fraternity dances, and open houses. Fireworks and a snowball battle between the freshmen and sophomores were enjoyed by the spectators. The carnival program was arranged and carried out under the auspices of the Intramural Athletic Association. It was considered a success from every point of view and will be continued in the future as the feature of the winter life of the campus. Faculty appreciation for the occasion is shown by the fact that a day's holiday was granted.

The Augusta Winter Carnival, with the Governor Baxter trophy as the objective for all contestants, attracted a number of the Maine snowshoers and, ski enthusiasts. The result of the efforts was gratifying, for they annexed the first leg of the trophy and possession of the cup for a year. Permanent ownership necessitates the winning of the cup for three successive seasons. Bates was the runner-up in points, winning second and Colby third. Bowdoin entered no team. William R. Elliott '25, son of Wesley C. Elliott '02, was the star of the meet. He won the one and one-half mile ski race, the 220-yard ski race, and was first in the ski jumping contest. Presentation of the Baxter trophy was made by Dr. Augustus Thomas, State Superintendent of Schools.

The Bangor Winter Carnival was also participated in by a delegation from the college. Elliott was again the all-around star, finishing second in the 200-yard ski dash, winning the Maine Intercollegiate 440-yard skating race and playing on the informal Maine hockey team.

Diplomas have been awarded to 500 prisoners of the Eastern Penitentiary of Pennsylvania by the Pennsylvania State College. The diplomas were awarded for vocational courses.

A Correction

The date for the Maine Intercollegiate Track Meet published in the February ALUMNUS is incorrect. It should read:

Baseball Prospects

The varsity baseball season received a decided setback when the students returned from the spring vacation and found 10 inches of snow covering the baseball diamond. Although Willie C. Clark '00, the baseball mentor for the season, arrived on the campus March 15, he found little opportunity to size up his team other than to watch his battery candidates in their daily workouts in the dust of the indoor cage.

Some 13 of last year's varsity squad are in college. Young and Coady are the only two veterans who were lost by graduation, leaving Prescott as catcher, Jewett, Nichols and Newell as pitchers, Lunge at first, Al Johnson at second, Capt. Sargent at shortstop, Stearns at third, Rush, King and Johnson for the outfield. A year ago Maine was weak in the battery material. The present freshman class has a number of promising men who should help bolster up this weakness.

The schedule is reprinted as published in the last ALUMNUS with the exception of the final Colby game which has been shifted from Saturday, June 3, to Friday, June 2.

Mass. Governor Renders Tribute

Maine men and women wherever they are located are taking an active part in the life of their communities. That their service is appreciated can be realized by reading the following letter from the governor of Massachusetts. It is significant that the letter should be addressed to one of our alumni whose service to Massachusetts has been notable. The letter reads:

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts Executive Department State House, Boston
Channing H. Cox
Governor
21st January, 1922.
Honorable Louis C. Southard,
73 Tremont Street,
Boston, Massachusetts.

My dear Mr. Southard:

I am greatly honored by the invitation of the Boston Alumni Association of the University of Maine to attend the annual banquet on February 3d.

I remember with the greatest pleasure a previous dinner which I was permitted to attend, and I should be most happy to join with you this year, but, unfortunately, an engagement of long standing takes me to Fall River that evening, and will prevent my acceptance of your invitation.

The Alumni of the University of Maine who are living in Massachusetts have made large contributions to the well-being of the Commonwealth, and it would be a distinct satisfaction to greet them in the name of that Commonwealth in whose service they have enlisted, and to whose interest they are devoted.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) CHANNING H. COX.

University Finances

The unsatisfactory condition of the University finances a year ago created much concern among the alumni and friends of the University. At that time the University was faced by a lack of liquid funds amounting to $235,000 with which to carry on its work. You will recall that the Legislature in its wisdom appropriated but $45,000 toward the reduction of this so-called deficit. Recognizing the principle, however, that the state is in honor bound to ultimately take care of the deficit, this small appropriation was made, leaving the balance of the financial burden for the University to carry on as its trustees might see fit.

The problem the trustees faced during the summer was not easy to solve. By legislative enactment back indebtedness could not be paid off of state funds intended for the payment of current bills. Where was the money coming from then to pay off the hosts of University creditors? The situation was finally met by the trustees of the University, September 24, 1921, when they passed the following resolution:

"Whereas, for the purpose of making payment of the amounts due, as of June 30, 1921, to divers creditors on sundry open accounts, and for the further purpose of retiring a series of outstanding unpaid notes heretofore given to the Merrill Trust Company, it is deemed advisable that money should be provided by loan or loans, therefore,

"Resolved, That the President of this Board and the Treasurer of this University be and they hereby are empowered to make, issue and deliver at such times, to the order of such payees, on such terms, and in such sums as to them shall seem wise, but not less than their face value, the demand interest-bearing promissory notes of the corporation of the University of Maine to the aggregate extent of $240,000."

This resolution was read to the governor and council, November 17, 1921, and no objection being raised to the procedure the notes have been issued, the money raised and the old creditors' accounts paid in full.

That the institution has been keeping closely within the legislative appropriation is illustrated by the fact that the statement of finances for the first six months of the fiscal year shows an operating deficit of only slightly over $2000. Naturally, the trustees and all others concerned are to be complimented for their economical expenditure of University funds. On the other hand, one can easily picture the many needed repairs and necessities which have been denied every department of the University in order to make this economy possible. The 1921 Legislature demanded economy—the present governor preaches economy—and the State University is being run on the economy plan to the exclusion of many other considerations.

Judge Deering in his speech before the students at chapel (reprinted in this issue) points out one way to cancel the $240,000 note issue. Possibly there are other ways to accomplish this most desirable step. Friends of the University are hopeful that the coming Legislature will recognize the situation and apply the proper remedy.

Basketball

Close followers of athletics are much pleased with the progress the varsity basketball team has made this season under the tutelage of Coach Howard W. Flack. His coaching has emphasized the value of scientific team work and the elimination of prejudices where team work counts. Starting with the same material available a year ago, he has produced a team, that in the opinion of the writer, is at least ten points better to a game than the 1920-1921 outfit.

Former President Wilson at one time was a conductor of a column in The Princetonian, published at Princeton University in 1877, according to a delver in the files of The Princetonian of that date.

Deering Champions University Cause
His Speech at Chapel Shows Appreciative Understanding of University Needs—Recommends Immediate Payment of Deficit

Among the prominent men who have spoken to the students at chapel is Judge John P. Deering of Saco, one of the candidates for the Republican nomination for governor. Knowing the conditions at the University to be the direct result of the insufficiency of state appropriations, he has made the treatment accorded the University one of the issues of his campaign. His remarks March 21 at the chapel exercise are reprinted in part as follows:

"You are a part of a great institution in the State of Maine. There has been some discussion in times past whether or not the University of Maine was a State Institution. That pertains to certain questions which arise legally and technically, and whether or not the State of Maine, through its Legislature, furnishes to this institution certain sums of money for its repair, maintenance, and construction, is not to my mind the important question. The important question in the relation of the State of Maine to this institution is the obligation that the State owes to it for its construction and maintenance. It is not something legal and technical. It is a business proposition for the State to carry on according to its merit and importance the work of this institution. I might say that it has been carried on for the past ten years, sometimes with great indifference on the part of those who are at the head of our State Government, and sometimes, I regret to say, with some hostility amongst members of the State Government toward the progress of this institution.

"All the buildings and land on which they stand belong to the State of Maine. This institution has been built by the State, and the buildings cannot fix the steps, cannot put the plaster back on the walls. The only element that can do that is money and money is what any institution must have.

"You might say that the care and maintenance of this institution is divided into two parts, one education and one administrative. Then again, above and beyond those two things is the spirit of the college, because the spirit that the boys and girls carry in after life toward their institution where they have graduated is the greatest thing that will ever occur to any man or woman, to look back to an institution that they can call Alma Mater. It is the spirit of the thing that is going to count after you have graduated from here.

"The Board of Deans together with the Chairman of the Board of Trustees carries on this institution at the present time under some handicaps that I know about. As well as they have done and with all the great work that they have performed for which the whole State should thank them, there is one thing that is lacking. This institution should have a President. It may be able to select a President to this institution amongst the great men who are now here, but at any rate it should select a President for the Institution. Imagine a boy and a girl thinking of an institution or graduating from an institution and no person existing in that institution whom they refer to as Prexie. He should be an educator. He should be an administrator and he should not be compelled to struggle in the halls of our administrative bodies for money to carry on this institution.

"I know what has taken place in the last ten years and particularly in times of war when this institution showed above a great many others its great loyalty and devotion to our country, sending more students to the battlefield than any other college or university of its size. Soldiers came here for training and some damage was done to the physical structure of this institution.

"The finances are in the hands of the Board of Trustees and under a Treasurer and there has grown up what has been called a deficit and today that deficit is carried on by notes of the institution. Does anybody believe for a minute that the State is going to refuse to pay this indebtedness? If we assume that the State is going to pay these notes—if there is, as I have heard, a million five hundred thousand dollars in the contingent fund, why cannot that deficit be paid now and save the interest upon it? I know that some money was transferred to the Soldiers' Bonus funds. It would be similar good business to transfer the money from the contingent fund to pay the notes of the University of Maine.

"I realize that my time is nearly up, but I say to you that I have no hesitation in recommending that this deficit should be paid now and be paid in cash, and there should be somebody of the State of Maine to collaborate with somebody from this institution so that you will know in advance how much money you are to have for construction, maintenance, and teaching each year. When that is done, when educators do not have to go to the State House to get money to conduct an institution to educate boys and girls, when the buildings are put back in the condition that any business man would recommend, —when that time comes and only then will this institution be on the basis that its importance deserves."

Dr. Clarence Little Possible President

It has been a matter of public knowledge among the local friends of the University that at least one candidate for the presidency of the University of Maine was receiving favorable consideration. Dr. Clarence Little, a graduate of Harvard University in 1910, now director of the Long Island Station for Experimental Evolution, holds the center of public attention in this respect. His visit to the campus March 2 and 3, at which time he lectured on Cancer and Heredity and gave a most interesting talk to the students in chapel, was looked upon as indicative of the fact that trustees and faculty alike were looking him over with respect to his fittedness for the position.

Dr. Little has received three degrees from Harvard University: Bachelor of Arts in 1910, Master of Science in 1912, and Doctor of Science in 1914. He was secretary of the Harvard corporation from 1910 to 1912, research assistant in genetics 1911 to 1913, a research fellow in genetics at Harvard from 1913 to 1917, and assistant dean of the College of Applied Science and acting university marshal in 1916 and 1917.

While in college he was a member of the Harvard track team and was captain of the 1910 varsity team. His specialty was the shot put and broad jump.

Editor's Note—As the ALUMNUS goes to press the news is made public that Dr. Little has been elected President of the University of Maine effective April 7. It is understood that Dr. Little will assume his duties at the University prior to Commencement.

Full details of his career will be printed in the May ALUMNUS reaching you on or before May 15.

Campus News

A new local fraternity, Zeta Pi, has made its appearance. The University now boasts two local fraternities, 14 national (men's), and five national sorority chapters.

Varsity debating is receiving new impetus despite the double defeat by Colby debaters February 17. Maine defended the negative at Orono of “Resolved, That the policy of the closed shop is for the best interests of the people of the United States,” and the affirmative at Waterville.

Sigma Nu won the Intramural basketball series by defeating Phi Gamma Delta 34 to 29 in the first game and 31 to 30 in an overtime period in the final game.

The second annual Interscholastic Basketball tournament on the campus March 9, 10 and 11, was most successful. Mattanawcook Academy was the winner of the high school division and Oak Grove Academy of the preparatory school group. In the final play-off Oak Grove defeated the Lincoln boys.

The custody of the Charles A. Rice trophy cup will continue in the hands of the Phi Eta Kappa fraternity for winning the annual Intramural Track Meet, March 4. The Phi Eta's score was 29, Sigma Nu being second with 25 and Theta Chi third with 25. Theta Chi won the relay cup a few days later, with Phi Kappa Sigma nosing out Sigma Nu for second place.

Last week the campus was thronged with the farmer visitors who came to attend the 16th annual Farmers' Week. The activities included the tractor school, poultry school instruction and the wireless telephone demonstration were the features of the week.

The second season for the girls' varsity basketball team has been completed. Castine Normal lost to Maine 21-10 on the Orono floor, but obtained sweet revenge at Castine 31-21. Gorham Normal hung a 40-19 defeat on our girls and New Hampshire State continued the process 40-34. Better success is predicted for next year.

A varsity hockey team seems assured for next winter. The Athletic Board recently authorized Graduate Manager Bryant to prepare a schedule. Hockey is to be ranked as a minor sport.

Brewer Eddy, noted as an evangelist, was at the University March 17, 18 and 19 for a series of meetings under the auspices of the Maine Christian Association. The student attendance was large and the uplift to the Christian work on the campus should be noticeable as the result. Lee Vrooman '18 and Raymond Buker, the Bates track star, were among the workers during the meetings.

Scholarship Cup Donated By Skulls

Few of the prize cups offered at the University are more eagerly sought for than the Senior Skull Scholarship Cup offered originally by the 1910 Skulls and for the second time by the 1921 members of that worthy organization. The cup is awarded annually at Commencement to the fraternity with the highest scholastic standing during the previous calendar year. The first cup ran for eleven years, resulting in a tie between Sigma Nu, Phi Gamma Delta, Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Eta Kappa. In the twelfth year Phi Eta Kappa won permanent possession of the trophy.

In the first contest, the results were as follows:

- Beta Theta Pi 79.0 1909

The contest for the new cup started for the calendar year 1920. Although during this year Phi Eta Kappa with 2.06 was the highest of the four fraternities tied for possession of the first trophy, the honor of winning the first leg on the new cup went to Lambda Chi Alpha with 2.17, the highest average yet made under the new ranking system.

The new cup is a beauty and the contest for its possession should be very keen. The cup is bronze, gold lined. It is twenty-two inches high, including the pedestal, and nearly two feet across. On one side is engraved—Senior Skull Society—Scholarship Cup; on the other is engraved the names of the fraternities who win the cup yearly.

"Mr. Bunker is very highly recommended for the position. He has had extensive experience in road building, construction of sewers and other important work in line with what will be required in Bangor, and for several years has been connected with the state highway commission. He has had experience in South America and in various parts of this country. He volunteered in the Engineer Corps in the World War and was at once promoted to the rank of captain. Ex '07—Bertrand C. Larrabee is cutting quite a figure now-a-days as a salesman. His selling ability is lauded in a Boston Chamber of Commerce bulletin, as follows:

"We have always contended that B. C. Larrabee was about as good a salesman as there is in this section of the country. His starting feat of signing up 265 new members in a year for the Chamber exceeds by far the records put up by star salesmen not only in Boston but in other Chambers of Commerce.

"It has just been brought to our attention that we were quite modest in our contention. Several months ago 'B. C.' or 'Bert' according to whether or not you are a Rotarian with him, severed his connection with Cain's School and became sales manager for the Sheldon School of Salesmanship Courses. It was at once brought to his attention that there was a contest on, for courses sold throughout the country.

"He won first prize, to make a long story short. If you see him on the street ask him to show you the beautiful watch he got. If you don't know him look for a man six foot two, with a body like what a Greek god is supposed to have had, and this face on top."

To the Alumni and Students of the University of Maine

I have made a thorough investigation of the physical structure and the requirements of the University of Maine, and if nominated and elected Governor of Maine, I shall recommend the following:

The dispatch reads: "The exclusive young flapper section at the State Institute of Applied Agriculture was all aflutter with excitement today. There was much artful cocking of heads and preening of fine feathers. For in some way the news had gotten about that before the nightfall all the good flappers, just budding into henhood, were to get beautiful young husbands, with delightful backgrounds of wealth and social position. The fact, savoring of Asia, that the brides-to-be had never seen their future husbands didn't seem to bother them. Nor did the fact that each was to share her husband with 19 others. Monogamy still is unknown in the world of While Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds and Plymouth Rocks."

The ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS offered by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston for the best answer to Mr. Edison’s question, “Who Was John Hancock?”
has been awarded to Leon V. Quigley, a student at the Worcester (Mass.)
Polytechnic Institute. This answer, giving a correct, concise and comprehensive statement of the position occupied by John Hancock in American history, is printed below in full.

"Who Was John Hancock?"

JOHN HANCOCK was an American statesman and patriot. His signature is found on the oldest and most important documents of Massachusetts, and of the United States. He was the first signer of the Declaration of Independence and was the first Governor of Massachusetts.

John Hancock was born at Quincy, Massachusetts, in 1737. He graduated from Harvard College, and entering upon his uncle’s business became a successful merchant in Boston. He gained much in social power and in wealth, being meanwhile justly popular for his integrity and ability.

He was in 1765-1770 a selectman of Boston and a member of the general court. With Samuel Adams he led the Massachusetts Whigs, and only escaped capture at Lexington and Concord by virtue of the valiant fight by the Minute Men on the “Nineteenth of April in ‘75.”

John Hancock was subsequently known in various positions: as President of the Continental Congress, as Major-General of the Massachusetts military forces, as President of the Constitutional Convention. He died at Quincy, Massachusetts, October 8, 1793.

The historical position of John Hancock is unique in State and Nation. He wielded great political influence but was always liberal and public-spirited. His name is most prominent as a Whig leader during the American Revolution in such events as the Boston Massacre, the Boston Tea Party and the battles of Lexington and Concord.

John Hancock signed his name first to the Declaration of Independence. He thus risked his own “life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness” that these privileges might be obtained for others to enjoy.
To this end he “pledged his life, his fortune, and his sacred honor.”

That he was popular and efficient may be judged from the fact that he was for ten years Governor of Massachusetts, being elected annually to this office by popular vote.

Fellow Alumni and Non-Graduates:

This Commencement will be memorable in the annals of our Alma Mater because it marks the fiftieth anniversary of the graduation of her first class. We propose to fittingly celebrate this occasion; but we realize that no program which may be arranged can be successfully carried out unless a large number of "Maine’s" sons and daughters are present. COME!

Fifty years hence there will probably be another and more imposing celebration; but why wait for that? Only a comparatively few of those who take part in or witness the exercises this year can expect to see those of 1972. Better plan to enjoy the present than to take a chance on the far distant future. If you are in Orono this year on June second and third you will have the bird in your hand; besides the movie man may get you and hand you down to posterity. BE THERE.

When you read the program you will realize that our celebration is to be all home made, because all those who have to do with it wear the U. of M. trade mark--none genuine without it. Therefore your own pleasure, your loyalty to your college, and the "Maine" spirit, all combine to urge you to stand solidly behind this event and by your presence and enthusiasm make it a tremendous success. ALLONS!

Yours for MAINE,

(Signed)
