Vets' Adm. Office Curtails Services

The Veterans' Administration has been forced to curtail its services at the colleges, so that the office on campus will be open every Monday for business formerly brought to Mr. Goud every day.

Mr. Currie, Contact Representative, will be here Tuesdays as usual. Please note that a training officer will not be here again until April 19, and thereafter every second Monday.

Mr. Goud issued the following statement this week before leaving his new post at Bangor: "I wish to extend sincere appreciation for everything that has been done for the wonderful cooperation afforded me. Good-bye and good luck!"

Mr. Goud will be replaced by a new training officer beginning April 19.

Attention

Will all students who did not have X-ray taken when the X-ray it was here in the fall please report to the Infirmary as soon as possible to make an appointment. The Infirmary would like to have the students at this campus on their X-ray lists, and there are at present a number who have not been examined. It would be appreciated if those who are in this category would make arrangements for X-rays as soon as possible.

Wedding Bells!

Cupid has again inducted one of our "Annex" sheep into his flock! Student Larry MacDonald got himself a Mrs. last Saturday night at St. Luke's Cathedral in Portland. His pretty wife is the former Miss Dorothy Whitman of Kittery, Maine.

We hope to see a lot of them at many campus affairs which are being planned for the future here at the Annex.

Good luck and happiness always, L. and Mrs. Mac.

Dr. Knopf Taken Seriously Ill

Dr. Knopf, well-liked Chemistry instructor, was taken to the Lewiston Hospital Monday morning.

It is fairly safe to assume his illness is due to his past experience in Germany. By Wednesday noon the Doctor had not been completely diagnosed; therefore, his condition is quite uncertain.

All we can do is to hope for his speedy recovery to allow his returning to the Annex soon.

Phi Delta Chapeau Holds Banquet

On Thursday of last week the illustrious club of the campus, the Phi Delta Chapeau had a meeting. The meeting was held to formulate plans for a banquet that was held Wednesday, March 24. Steak for supper and at the Hotel Eagle. There were twenty-four members present including one of the Chapeau's honor members from Biddeford, Junior Gerry.

At the meeting last Thursday it was planned to have a picnic in the near future at one of the local beaches, weather permitting. Plans also were discussed for the possibility of having some spring sports if there is any interest shown in them by the members of the club.

The club rejoiced at the reentrance of one of its members, Daniel J. Conley, who was forced for a short time to leave the club because of a service incurred disability.

President Fecteau of the club stated that the membership cards would be ready by the first of the month. Also, Fecteau asks that the students all buy a ticket to the variety show to help raise money for the ball that will be held in May by the Student Senate.

Acting Class To Present Plays

The students of the Elementary Acting class will present a full evening of one act plays on Thursday evening, April 1, in the gymnasium at 8:15. These plays are under the direction of Mrs. Hanson, and the faculty and students are cordially invited. Admission is free.

First of four plays presented will be "Allison's Lad" a 17th century conflict between Charles and the Roundheads. The cast includes: Charles W. Lewis, Jean-Paul Roberge, Andrew Messner, Lee Johnson, William Fogler, and Eugene A. Van.

A modern sea story, "Rust" will be presented. Starring in this play will be: Earl Tibbetts, Victor Maria, Robert Hutchinson, and William Vosburgh.

Third on the list of the evening's entertainment is a 6th century comedy based on the legend of Saint Suliac entitled "Father Suliac's Cabbages". Acting in this play will be: Joseph Zarbiskie, Michael Wheeler, and William Robertson.

Last but not least "The Snare and The Fowler" an 18th century drama will be presented starring Paul Violette, Emil Winter, and Sidney Folsom.

NOTE

By mistake Bob Townsend's article of last week found its way into the "Editor's Desk" space in our last issue of "The Annex" instead of the "World Events" column where it was slated to appear. The "Desk" column is reserved only for those articles which are sanctioned by the Editorial Board and have the backing of the entire "Annex" staff. As this column was written by a guest writer, the opinions expressed by its author are solely his and do not necessarily constitute those who work on the newspaper.

WORLD EVENTS ROUNDTABLE

By Charles W. Lewis

Mark Twain once said: "The American people are the best educated people in the world, but the most amazing thing about it is that they know so much that isn't true." Although he said that over 75 years ago, it holds equally as true today. In spite of tremendous advances in education, millions of our citizens still argue that "capital punishment" is a preventative measure. Never has there been a more damnable misconception! Because of that misconception, thousands upon thousands of human lives have been wasted.

Those in favor of capital punishment start off by claiming that it serves as a threat to the would-be offender. Let us look at that claim for a moment. I do not doubt for a moment but what capital punishment constitutes a threat. The question is what is that threat worth? Would not the threat of a long prison term be just as good? We must not forget that homicide is an irrational act. Therefore, the individual who commits such an act must have been irrational at the time the act was committed. It follows through to say, then, that the individual who contemplates such an act must have been

Shower Boys Cop First Prize In Variety Show

Congratulations in Order to Oz Ellis for His Professional Job as Master of Ceremonies

The Annex had one of its biggest nights of entertainment yesterday as the combined talent of the U. of M., Morse and Brunswick High Schools came through with an excellent show.

The Shower Boys, Building 17, proved themselves tops again by copping first prize for their variety act. Lee Cobb, "Gas" Gascoigne, and Robert Hutchinson were the members of the trio. Bob deserves special note for his violin accompaniment.

Second prize was taken by Miss Betty Chadbourne of Bath whose energetic rendition of "Don't Bring Me Posies" was excellent and showed a great brand of showmanship. Sid Folsom won third prize with his entertaining portrayal of "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty."

The Student Senate has again added another success to their already growing list. Ray Trabold and Co. did a fine job in getting together and presenting a show which those in attendance found to be real entertainment. The acts were well received and the traditional good time was had by all.

What was of more importance in connection with this show is that the proceeds will help in financing a bigger and better Spring formal, which the Senate has on the fire for some time in May. We hear that this affair will not only boast of a few new twists as far as formal go, but that it might also be covered by one of the well known popular magazines. Senator Dick Singer and committee have already gotten the ball rolling on what should prove to be the outstanding affair on our social calendar this year.

Take a tip from us, gang, and start thumbing through the little black book right away in search for the lucky girl whom you will escort to this dance. Keep your eyes on "The Annex" for further details.

Senate Discusses Union Drive

This week the Student Senate heard a most interesting address about the plans and the program that is being conducted in the Student Union Drive which has been under way for the past couple of years. The speakers were Mr. Crossland, the executive director of the Union Drive and Bill Hopkins, the former president of the Annex Student Senate. Both speakers stressed the importance of having a new Union Building and the benefits that would be gained from such a building by the students of the University. This building, the senators were told, will cost $900,000.

After the talk by Mr. Crossland the Senators discussed the project and then voted to support the campaign by holding a drive here on the Annex Campus. Complete plans will be drawn up immediately after the Spring Recess and will be presented to the students. This program will be under the complete supervision of the Student Senate.

As a little review, or what ever you want to call it, I would like to mention the swell job that Bill Hopkins and his co-workers did here last year. They set a goal of $21,000. Seem's kind of high doesn't it?

would probably want her life taken and would offer the age old excuse that she must be made an example of. If that isn't animal revenge, what is it?

Furthermore, it is argued that the criminal owes a debt to society. What debt to society? If he owes any debt it is owed to the people who really suffered as a result of the crime. Kill the offender and what happens? Who is going to pay for the suffering inflicted upon his family? Even a criminal has a family and friends who have feelings! The advocate of capital punishment starts off with an unpaid debt, takes the life of an offender in order to pay for that debt, and creates another debt. That doesn't make sense to me!

I am opposed to capital punishment because it is wrong and unjust before the law of any state. Man does not kill for the sake of killing—he kills because he can not help himself. Some advocates of capital punishment say that a man's life should be taken only in the case of premeditated murder. I say that there has never been a premeditated murder in any sense of psychology or of science. There are planned murders — planned, yes — but back of every murder and back of every human act there are sufficient causes to move the human machine beyond its control. Some claim that man has a free will and that he can choose between right and wrong. I say that there is no such a thing as free-will and that man cannot choose! Man is the direct product of environment and heredity, and there's not a scientist in the world that doubts it. If a man's heredity is good, he may be able to alter certain bad things in a bad environment. If his heredity is cruel to him, what possible chance has he got of altering anything in a bad environment? Absolutely none! It is up to society to help the criminal. Society cannot help the criminal if it continues its policy of retribution.

We should abolish capital punishment in all the states, modernize our corrupt penal system, and put it on a self-supporting basis. We could easily organize agricultural colonies (not gangs) and factory prisons. Pre-war Russia, in spite of Communism and the lip-service paid to her salt mines, had the best penological system in the world. In pre-war Russia the maximum term for any offense was ten years. Russian prisoners were even granted leaves of absence ranging from 14 to 30 days a year, in some prison colonies provisions were provided for residence of whole families, and unmarried prisoners were even granted the right to marry. Under such a prison system, Russia's crime rate decreased immeasurably. There is no reason why a similar system cannot work in America.

Retribution may have been justified in the barbaric past—I don't know; I wasn't living then—but now it is merely an outmoded philosophy in a modern society. No man was nearer to being right than Clarence Darrow when he said:

Prologue Offers Chance To Writers

PROLOGUE is offering a good opportunity to all student writers to break into print. If you have any talents, hidden or otherwise, along literary lines, prose and poetry both accepted, try your luck at having it published in Maine's only inter-collegiate magazine.

The next issue will come out in May. All material should be submitted within the next two or three weeks. All sorts of subjects are acceptable, fiction and non-fiction. Subject matter should be strictly of interest to students, though it does not necessarily have to deal directly with college life.

PROLOGUE was originated to fulfill the need to give young writers a chance to be published. The magazine has a wide and important distribution in New England, being sent to people in many fields of education.

Now in its preliminary stages, it will continue to grow into a better magazine with greater distribution.

The current issue of PROLOGUE is now on sale at the PX. If you plan to write for it, you should see the magazine first to get an idea of the type of material wanted and the length. This does not mean, however, that original ideas are not wanted.

Manuscripts should be submitted to Roy Nickerson, editor for the Brunswick Campus, or mailed directly to PROLOGUE, Box 521, Brunswick.

"In the end, this question of capital punishment is simply one of the humane feelings against the brutal feelings. One who likes to see suffering, out of what he thinks is a righteous indignation, or any other, will hold fast to capital punishment. One who has sympathy, imagination, kindness and understanding, will hate it and detest it as he hates and detests death!"

CAMPUS CUTIES

By Alvan Mersky

At last—all four barracks have been covered and this week's column is the last of my dreary trudging from door to door. No more blisters; no more arguments; no more threats. Ah, what peace shall now be mine!

The East Wing, upper floor, of Deyo Hall had a real queen to offer us for our last column this week. She is Cecelia Tobiasson, wife (sorry, men) of Art Tobiasson who has graced the lonely walls of room 54 with her visage. Art and Cecilia have been married since last July and now reside in Portland. It's no wonder that Art looks like a bolt of lightning streaking out of here for home every Friday afternoon.

Cecilia is 22 years old and will wear her Easter bonnet about 5 feet 6 inches from the ground as a topper for 117 lbs. of what we imagine to be pleasing proportions. She graduated from Falmouth High School in 1944, the same year that Art tearfully waved goodbye to the musty, dusty corridors of Portland High (I'm a Deering man myself).

I might be a little hasty in my predictions, but Mrs. T. should prove to be "rugged" competition for all our other "cuties" in the campus queen contest which will be coming up a few issues from now.

Hey, commuters—Last chance to get your pictures in for this column. You will have all of next week to turn yours in to the annex office, but after that the column will be conspicuously (we hope) missing from la papier until the chinery has been set up for the student, to pick, and vote your choice of campus queen for our "cuties" of the past. So you want to make an entry of a little woman, men who eat well and where, and what you want (commuters, that is.) "now's your hour". Don't forget to write your name and address on the back of the picture before turning it in.

Annex Held Winter Sports Banquet Monday

The Maine Annex held its Winter Sports Banquet here on Monday evening in the dining room of the mess hall. Guest speaker "Ted" Curtis, faculty manager of athletics and Coach of Winter Sports at the University of Maine. Crouse served as toastmaster.

Mr. Crouse opened the banquet by introducing the guests who included Sam Sezak, Mr. Ryan, Capt. Stanley, Mr. McGurie, and Mr. Coach Bob Raymond. Coach Raymond congratulated the men in their good winning for the season. He introduced Ralph Ouellette pool champ of the Annex and Art Tevastian ping-pong champ. He also introduced the championship bowling team and the members of the hockey team.

Coach "Joe" Zabilisky congratulated all men in the various activities. He thought that the Ski Team did remarkably in spite of "Snow" Curtis". Coach Zabilisky introduced Ralph Jewett and Art Decont who were elected co-captains of the basketball squad who led out the numerals to the various men on the team.

Each Staton Curtis presented Captain Bill Cummings his number who in turn gave them to his teammates. Coach Curtis wished to thank especially the work of Albert Comier the manager.

Capt. Andrews of the ROTC introduced the men at the banquet of the Annex Rifle Team that has been running. The matches consisted of correspondence matches through the mail. He also mentioned the team had split its meets with Bowdoin. Capt. Andy of the rifle team handed out awards to his team mates. "Ted" Curtis concluded the program by showing motion pictures of skiing he had taken. They included some pictures of the Annex Ski Team in action. The jumping of Bill Cummings at Dartmouth were the highlights of the movies.

The following men received awards:

Basketball: Fred Adams, Presque Isle; Ralph Jewett, Bucksport; Frank Goodie, Portland; Larry Mahaney, Fort Fairfield; Vic Woodbury, Sebago Lake; Fred Soucy, Saco; Joe Pruett, Kittery; Bob Morrill, Farmington; Charlie Small, Thomaston, Conn.; Art Dentrement, East Millinocket; Harold Plummer, Richmond; Cluny McPherson Manager, Easton.

Winter Sports: Bill Cummings, Auburn; Emil Winter, Kingfield; Paul Beaudry, Auburn; Dan Butler, Auburn; Bob Spencer, Lewiston; Bob Eastman, Fryeburg; Donald Wark, Lexington; Sterling Pierce, Bingham; Dick Knowlton, Winthrop; Barnaby McAuslan, Lewiston; Francis Lawrence, Lewiston; Harmo Thrusro nR,umford Point.

Rifle Team: Captain William S. Derby, Medford, Mass.; Vernon L. Bond, jr., Stratford, Conn.; Carl C. Pohlman, jr., Newton, Mass.; Alexander C. Leidy, Easton; Sewall B. Millett, Vanceboro.

Recognition was given the championship bowling team composed of Paul H. Peterson, New Haven, Conn.; Irving F. Smith, Gorham; Donald W. Hawes, Portland; Gerald L. Robbins, East Vassalboro; Howard A. Roberts, Dexter. Likewise pocket billiards champ Ralph J. Ouellette of East Millinocket and ping pong champ Arthur H. Tevastian of Portland were introduced.

Review Of The Basketball Season

The Maine Annex basketball team recently ended another very successful season under the able guidance of Coaches Zibilisky and Raymond. Carrying on from where last year's quintet finished, the team collected wins over four opponents before finally losing a heart-breaker to the University of Maine J. V. squad from Orono, 60-57. But the Annex bounced back to win five more in a row and looked forward to the second game with the J. V.'s in order to gain revenge for their initial set-back. Once again, however, luck favored the Orono five as they eked out a second win over the Annex, 71-70, in a scorcher from start to finish. Following this game, the squad split even in their four remaining battles. One loss, an upset, was administered by Farmington State Teachers College. The other defeat came at the hands of a powerful, undefeated Colby quintet.

Kelsey, Dentrement, and Adams took the honors in the scoring department for this season. In seven games, "Kels" poured 119 points through the nets for an average of 13 points a game. Dentrement boasted a 12-point game average through fifteen contests. And Adams found the hoop for a neat average of nearly 10 points per battle. As far as the rest of the team was concerned, big Ed Gott continually played his usual fine floor game at a guard slot, and Mahaney held down the other guard position in fine style. Ralph Jewett was another able man who was constantly a thorn in the opposition's side with his "heads-up" court play. Other men who certainly come in for their share of credit because of their fine play and fighting spirit during the season.

RIFLE TEAM ENDS SEASON

The Annex Rifle Team completed its season on March 20. Most rifle matches fired during the year were Postal Matches. In these matches each opposing team fired on its own range and the scores made were exchanged by mail. Such matches were fired against thirty (30) schools located in eighteen (18) states. In addition, two (2) shoulder to shoulder matches were fired against Bowdoin College. Of these, the Annex Team won one 1242 to 1151 and lost the return match 1242 to 1233.

Those who fired on the team throughout the season with the highest score made by each are as follows:

Name	Score
W. S. Derby	366
V. L. Bond	363
C. G. Pohlman	358
R. O. White	354
S. B. Millett	350
R. Bowker	349
C. L. Varnum	345
A. C. Leidy	343
H. Sanderson	340
R. L. Stevens	339
D. W. Small	336
R. W. Cameron	336
R. Sawyer	329
R. Kunnemund (Manager)	326

Ten rounds in each of four positions, prone, sitting, kneeling and standing were fired making a possible score of 400.

Language Club May Be Formed

A language listening room is being prepared for use by interested language students here at the Brunswick Annex. Definite action on location and facilities will be taken within the week.

Those who are interested in their foreign language studies will be afforded a place to listen to language records, obtain additional reading material, and meet with other students.

This is the first step in a plan with great possibilities. It is hoped that there will be enough students on the Campus who are taking a language for some reason other than because it is a requirement, and it is possible some sort of a language club with definite activities could be formed.

If you are interested in such a club, contact Roy Nickerson at the Maine Annex office, second floor of the Administration Building, or drop a note in the suggestion box at the P.X. When a show of strength is made, definite action may be taken.

Such activities in language studies can be most beneficial; besides having its practical purpose of aiding the student in his quest for better grades through extra use and discussion among students, it also affords an opportunity for the person interested in languages in connection with his career or travel a more perfect knowledge of that lan-

FACULTY FACTS

By Sid Folsom

While wandering through the halls of Building 30, lately, have you chanced to hear screams, hysterical sobs, and other such dramatic outbursts? If so, you have probably been the unseen audience of one of a number of one-act plays, which are currently being directed by Mrs. Beatrice Hanson. Well known to most of us, Mrs. Hanson is an instructor in Speech and Elementary Acting courses. From this, one would conclude that she must have an interest in dramatics; and such is the case.

A native of Brooks, Maine, Mrs. Hanson has always been interested in the theater. After her graduation from high school, she worked for two years as a professional director throughout the middle West. Following this, she returned to Maine, where she attended Farmington State Normal School for a time. It was there that she met Frank Hanson, now her husband and co-worker with her in the Speech department here at the Annex. After a time spent at Farmington, the two of them switched their educational attentions to the dear old U. of M. While in college, they worked together in writing a number of stage presentations, including two successful musicals, for one of which they were given an ASCAP award. After her graduation in '41 with a degree in Education, Mrs. Hanson returned to Maine for her master's degree. It was in the spring of this year, 1942, that the happy couple were married.

During the war years, while her husband was in service, Mrs. Hanson taught high school classes in English and directed extra-curricular speaking and acting in Southwest Harbor and Westbrook. In 1945 and 1946, the Hanson family was reunited in North Carolina, where Mr. Hanson was taking graduate work in theater at the University of North Carolina. It was following this, that they returned to the U. of M., this time in a teaching capacity. Last summer, Mr. Hanson played in some presentations of the Camden Hills Theater Group, for which her husband was assistant director. At present, Mrs. Hanson plans to continue teaching in her field for a while, while her husband will continue his study of the theater at Yale.

As a hobby, Mrs. Hanson is interested in writing plays and short stories, although she tells us that none of them have been exceptionally successful to date. At present, she is busy teaching her classes here at the Annex, working overtime with the young hopefuls of her Elementary Acting classes, and working on a part in the next production of the Annex branch of the Maine Masque, "The Bishop Misbehaves". Sounds like fun, doesn't it? Mrs. Hanson, we salute you. On with the show!

STUDENT SILHOUETTES

By Don Povich

When I walked into room 78 of Sietz Hall, I found Richard Butler lying in his sack. I talked to him for a few minutes and then he walked in through the door, or at least the man that came in looked like the man I was talking with. My head spun from the door to the bed and back to the door. I wondered if I had gone beserk; then it dawned on me I was looking at two of the most identical twins I have ever seen. Thus Richard and Robert Butler became our double barrel silhouette.

Dick and Bob arrived by way of the twin billed stork in Philadelphia in 1925. They stayed there for a short while then packed their twin diapers and came to the fair

State of Maine. They have lived most of their lives in Augusta.

Shortly before they finished Cony High came the Big Shoot and they joined the army. They were attached to the Army Air Corps Ground Forces and particularly Air Commandos. While in the Army they stayed together for the entire three years. They received the same rates and furloughs. When they were discharged the army lost not one but two sergeants.

Twins usually bring out many an interesting story and Bob and Dick are no exception. For instance, while in the army the boys spent a lot of time in what was known as the Pacific theater all the way from New Guinea to Japan. Once when on Okinawa Bob was injured; Dick without being told knew some how that all was not well with his brother and came from a thirty mile distance to find that he was hurt.

I suggested that they could easily go out with the same girl and she would never be the wiser, one of them (darned if I know which one) told me that his brother went out with his girl before he met her. I still can't see how the poor thing made up her mind.

If you come back to school after a heavy night or weekend, look down the road and think you see double don't jump in the nearest river; it's only the Butler boys wearing the same clothes, carrying the same books, going to the same classes at the same school where they live in the same room, and even get the same grades.

Sports Banquet

Not awarded numerals because the sport has no official sanction from the University, the following members of the Annex hockey team were also guests at the banquet: Robert J.
