

The University of Maine

DigitalCommons@UMaine

Anthropology Faculty Scholarship

Anthropology

Spring 2018

2018 Film Series: Human Dimensions of Climate Change

Jennifer Bonnet

University of Maine, Fogler Library, jenbonnet@maine.edu

Cindy Isenhour

University of Maine, Department of Anthropology, cynthia.isenhour@maine.edu

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.library.umaine.edu/ant_facpub

Part of the Anthropology Commons, and the Library and Information Science Commons

Repository Citation

Bonnet, Jennifer and Isenhour, Cindy, "2018 Film Series: Human Dimensions of Climate Change" (2018). Anthropology Faculty Scholarship. 38.

https://digitalcommons.library.umaine.edu/ant_facpub/38

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@UMaine. It has been accepted for inclusion in Anthropology Faculty Scholarship by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@UMaine. For more information, please contact um.library.technical.services@maine.edu.

ALL SHOWINGS
Tuesdays, 6-8pm
Fogler Library Classroom

SPONSORED BY
Anthropology Dept., Climate Change Institute,
College of Education and Human Development,
Fogler Library, and Island Institute

the HUMAN DIMENSIONS of CLIMATE CHANGE
FILM SERIES

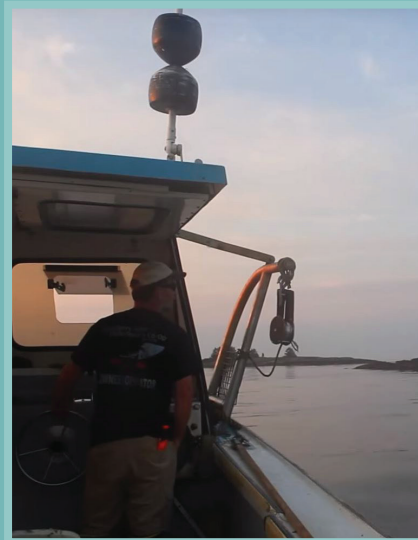

MARCH 20, 2018

Global Oneness short films
on climate change

A series of short videos about climate change and its impact on individuals, communities, and other resources on the planet.

Film showing includes a discussion led by Beth Hufnagel, Assistant Professor of Science Education.

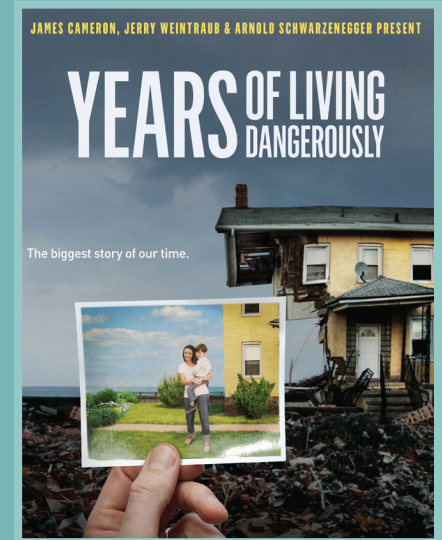

MARCH 27, 2018

Island Institute's short films
on climate change

A video series that highlights threatened fishing communities in Maine, Alaska, and Florida - and what they're doing to adapt to these inevitable changes.

Film showing includes a discussion led by Karen Burns, Chief Talent Officer at Maine's Island Institute.

APRIL 3, 2018

Years of Living Dangerously
"The Surge"

MSNBC's Chris Hayes shadows climate change skeptic, Republican Congressman Michael Grimm, in the wake of Superstorm Sandy.

Film showing includes a discussion led by Bjorn Grigholm, Research Assistant Professor in the Climate Change Institute.