"Something told the wild geese
It was time to go.
Though the fields lay golden
Something whispered, 'Snow!'"
— Rachel Field (1894-1942)

Dear Member: We appreciate your membership. Checks should be made payable to: Maine Public Radio, 1450 Lisbon Street, Lewiston, Maine 04240. Contributions are tax deductible in the U.S. only. Thank you for your generosity and support.

Airplay is a publication of Maine Public Broadcasting, 65 Texas Avenue, Bangor, ME 04401-4398. Issued four times a year. Airplay is sent to active members of Maine Public Radio. Annual basic level membership is $35, of which $4 is designated for subscription of four issues of Airplay.

POSTMASTER: Send address change to: Airplay, 65 Texas Avenue, Bangor, ME 04401-4398. Maine Public Broadcasting: 207-941-1010.
Greetings!

I WOULD LIKE TO BEGIN BY EXPRESSING MY GRATITUDE to my friend Rob Gar-diner for his years of dedicated service to Maine Public Broadcasting. Through his leadership, this organization has grown to be one of the most highly regarded in the nation.
His gift is a lasting legacy of commitment to excellence, and I wish him the very best.

I would also like to express my sincere appreciation to our generous members, corporate underwriters and the Maine Legislature for their support, which allows us to provide the high quality, noncommercial services you have come to rely on.

As the baton is passed, I am celebrating my 23rd year in public broadcasting. I would like to take a moment to tell you about my background. In a nutshell, it is:

- Local and national production for Minneapolis/St. Paul PBS
- Local and national production for Seattle PBS
- Broadcast management/marketing for New Hampshire PBS
- President of North Dakota Public Radio and Television

As I lived and worked in the various parts of the country, and especially in the Kitterery/Portsmouth area, I gained an immense appreciation for the physical beauty of the state of Maine as well as the sense of community that is obvious here. This truly is a homecoming for me. I am thrilled to be back and see this new opportunity as a perfect mixture of my favorite two elements—public broadcasting and Maine.

I was drawn to Maine Public Broadcasting by its commitment to local production. Last year, we aired 700 hours of locally produced television programming on Maine PBS. On Maine Public Radio, more than 40 percent of our broadcast time is comprised of local programming. Compared to most other markets, local service stands out as a quintessential part of our identity.

I am equally impressed with the people who make Maine Public Broadcasting a model of excellence. We have an outstanding staff, a committed management team and a prestigious board of trustees. Together they have made the organization one of which you and I can be proud.

On October 5, we will be celebrating our 40th anniversary by holding open houses at our Lewiston and Bangor facilities. I hope that you will take the time to come visit so that I can become familiar with you, your families and the communities in which you live.

In closing, I would like to thank you for the warm welcome I have received and tell you that I look forward to a long and fruitful relationship.

Mary Anne Alhadeff, President

Update on Radio Programs and Services

ELECTION 2002 — You undoubtedly know that Chellie Pingree would like to have Susan Collins’ seat in the Senate. And perhaps you’ve heard about or heard directly from one of the four gentlemen who would be your next Chief Executive in the Blaine House. But do you have all your questions answered in order to make the best choice in the voting booth? Do you know who the first and second congressional candidates are or much about them? Maine Public Radio, in partnership with the television stations of Maine PBS, has a resource that may be of help.

If you aren’t able to hear and absorb all of our special Election 2002 programming—from the debates to the one-on-one interview/call-ins to the candidate profiles—you can visit our Web site (mainepublicradio.org). Just click on the Election 2002 button. You’ll find background material, transcripts of some of our programs, audio archives of some of our programs/reports and a listing of our political programming. Also, see the Election 2002 article in this guide for more information.

Satellite Sisters — If you read this column on a regular basis, you know that Satellite Sisters is no longer in our schedule. After making the decision (based in large part on member input through the Airplay survey and member opinion form) earlier this summer to remove the program from our schedule, the program ceased production anyway due to funding issues. We were one of the first stations to “try” this new program concept. While we do know that many of you did appreciate and value the program, it never quite lived up to its promise or our expectations. It was also slow to adopt what we and other stations recommended to develop it into a better program. As of this writing, we are still examining our schedule, and after a summer of trial run programs, we will be making a decision sometime soon to replace it. We’ll keep you posted!

Maine Stage — Thanks in great part to the terrific effort by folks at the Bangor Symphony Orchestra, Kneisel Hall, Bay Chamber Concerts and others, we are now presenting a Maine Stage Evening Concert each Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. We hope to have other organizations, such as the Portland Symphony and the Arcady Music Festival join us in this lineup soon. Enjoy some of the best of what Maine has to offer by way of live classical music!

Community Calendar — Our Web-based community calendar continues to help event organizers and listeners alike. During the first month of operation, in August, we had over 400 events posted to the Web-based data base. This extremely convenient calendar allows users to search by type of event, from classical concerts to workshops to art galleries to nature hikes, or by specific venue or by date! If you haven’t yet taken a look, try it, you might find yourself doing something tomorrow you didn’t even know about today. Just click on the Community Calendar button on our Web site: mainepublicradio.org.

Jazz — We are pleased to be able to continue to offer Jazz from Lincoln Center in our Friday night lineup. This is due to a reversal of NPR’s decision to no longer distribute the program (as we reported to you this past summer). What we didn’t know at the time was that Bob Caswell, long time producer of Blues Before Sunrise, would be stepping down after many years of producing his Friday night offering. We miss Bob and wish him well. We will be deciding how to further our jazz lineup in the weeks ahead.

And last, but certainly not least: MPBC’s new President Mary Anne Alhadeff is a very welcome addition to our staff. She is a pleasure to work with. She’s also an avid listener and a great supporter of public radio! She is committed to public service, and we are enthused about working together to continue to provide you with the best radio service Maine has to offer! Thank you for your continued support in helping make it all possible.

Vice President for Radio Services
Call for Volunteers
Maine Public Radio’s Fall Membership Campaign

We need volunteers to answer phones during Maine Public Radio’s Fall membership campaign. If you would be interested in joining our team, having fun, working with a special group of people, and meeting some of the “faces behind the voices” of Maine Public Radio, please call 1-800-884-1717, and ask for the Volunteer Office.

We need volunteers in our Bangor studio:
   October 19-21
And in our Portland studio:
   October 22-25

Thank you.

Jack-O-Lanterns

The fall pumpkins that children and adults delight in carving at Halloween get their name from a character in old Irish/British folktales. As legend has it, a man named Jack played a trick on the devil and at the time of his death was barred from both heaven and hell. His curse was to wander the earth for eternity with only the light of a small lantern. The Irish traditionally carved lanterns from local vegetables—pumpkins were a happy American adaptation.

Special Event
A Fabulously Fun Family Day!
   — Saturday, October 5, 10 am-3 pm —
Celebrating 40 Years of Public Broadcasting in Maine

Get out your party hats and noise makers for what’s guaranteed to be a day of playful family fun when Maine Public Broadcasting hosts a 40th Anniversary Open House at our Bangor and Lewiston facilities on Saturday, October 5, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. A Fabulously Fun Family Day will feature Ready To Learn activities for children and special appearances by PBS Kids’ show characters.

Clifford The Big Red Dog and Caillou will be at Maine PBS in Lewiston, 1450 Lisbon Street. Arthur and Zoboomafoo will be appearing at our Bangor facility located at 65 Texas Avenue. Not interested in characters from kids’ shows? Come by anyway because we’ll also have station tours where you can chat with staff from Maine Public Radio, pick up some program goodies, learn more about digital technology, sign up for free raffles, meet Mary Anne Alhadeff, our new MPBC president, and much more!

Mark your calendar now for Saturday, October 5, and plan to join us for A Fabulously Fun Family Day! For more information, contact Audience Services at 1-800-884-1717.

Parents, Bring Your Camera!
ELECTION 2002
Comprehensive Coverage on Maine Public Radio

This is an important election year for this state. Maine will be choosing a new Governor and Legislature, a U.S. Senator and two Representatives to Congress. These people will have to solve the budget crisis, handle tax reform, health care, terrorism and other international problems. Maine Public Radio and Maine PBS have teamed up to bring you the most comprehensive, in-depth coverage of this year's election candidates and issues that you will find. It's the kind of coverage you expect. And it's a responsibility to the people of Maine that we take seriously.

At Airplay press time, the following Election 2002 specials have been scheduled on Maine Public Radio:

- Tuesday, October 1—1-2 pm: Gubernatorial call-in with Republican candidate Peter Cianchette.
- Wednesday, October 2—12:15-1 pm: Maine Public Radio Call-in.
- Monday, October 7—1-2 pm: Rebroadcast of Maine PBS First District Congressional Debate.
- Tuesday, October 8—1-2 pm: Gubernatorial call-in with Independent/Green candidate Jonathan Carter.
- Wednesday, October 9—12:15-1 pm: Maine Public Radio Call-in.
- Monday, October 14—1-2 pm: Rebroadcast of Maine PBS Second District Congressional Debate.
- Tuesday, October 15—1-2 pm: Gubernatorial call-in with Democratic candidate John Baldacci.
- Wednesday, October 16—12:15-1 pm: Maine Public Radio Call-in.
- Friday, October 18—1-2 pm: Gubernatorial call-in with Independent candidate John Michael.
- Monday, October 21—1-2 pm: Rebroadcast of Maine PBS U.S. Senate Debate.

- Wednesday, October 23—12:15-1 pm: Maine Public Radio Call-in.
- 1-2 pm: First District Congressional Debate.
- Friday, October 25—1-2 pm: Gubernatorial Debate.
- Monday, October 28—12:30-2 pm: Election 2002 Special.
- Wednesday, October 30—12:15-1 pm: Discussion and call-in with commentators and pundits on the upcoming election.

Halloween Specials

The Capitol Steps
October 31 at 12:30-1 pm

This HALLOWEEN, be sure to catch the special that's scarier than a Congressman Traficant haircut! More devilish than a Martha Stewart stock tip! It's the Capitol Steps Halloween edition of Politics Takes a Holiday! Confused about low-fat vs. low-carb? This show is both! The Steps continue their irreverent jabs at politicians, world leaders and other folks in the news, in a musical satire format. It's a half-hour of delicious skewering—a code red on the Tom Ridge scale of comedy!

Rocky Coast Radio Theater

“Nightmares on Congress Street”
October 31 at 8-10 pm

In an all new edition of “Nightmares on Congress Street,” Rocky Coast Radio Theater of Portland, Maine, presents classic tales for Halloween guaranteed to chill and thrill. Dramatizations include material from such authors as H.P. Lovecraft, Clay T. Graybeal, and Woody “no middle initial” Allen. So turn down the lights, turn up the radio, and enjoy! (This program is presented in HorrorScope.)
A WEEKLY PROGRAM THAT SHOWCASES the classical musical performances of young people is looking for talent from New England and the Maritime provinces. From the Top, which airs on Maine Public Radio on Mondays at 8 p.m., will perform a live concert April 12, 2003 in Rockport. The performance is hosted by Bay Chamber Concerts. The producers of the show are currently taking applications for auditions. The concert will be taped and broadcast on Maine Public Radio and nationally later in the spring.

From the Top is a creation of Concert Productions, Inc. in association with WGBH Radio Boston and New England Conservatory of Music and is distributed by Public Radio International. The program is heard on more than 230 stations across the country. It has been called public radio's answer to MTV and is the most popular weekly classical music program on air today. Host Christopher O'Riley is one of the country's leading concert pianists and a natural presenter of the kind of refreshing material featured on From the Top.

Applicants must be 9-18 years old and play or sing a classical repertoire. Small ensembles with no more than six performers are encouraged to apply. Applications are available on the Web site at: www.fromthetop.org; via mail or phone at: From the Top, 295 Huntington Ave., Suite 205, Boston, MA 02115; 617-437-0707.

Look for updates on the April Rockport performance of From the Top in upcoming editions of Airplay, or call Audience Services at 1-800-884-1717.

Standing Room Only

Let's Hear it for the Capitol Steps! It was an uproarious evening at Merrill Auditorium in Portland as the talented, Washington, D.C.-based troupe played to a standing-room-only audience on August 9. Hardly a politician or personage from "inside" the Beltway—or out—escaped the barbed but humorous jabs of the Capitol Steps, renowned for their distinctive satiric comedy.

MPBC's own Charles Beck, VP for Radio Services, was on hand to emcee the performance and what a great job he did. Charles could easily have been mistaken for one of the cast members as he warmed up the audience with his own brand of wit. Just before introducing the Capitol Steps, he told the audience that the show had sold out, making it a success even before the curtain rose! During a catered reception following the show, MPBC Beacon Society members, capital campaign donors, other guests, and MPBC staff mingled with the Capitol Steps cast members, enjoying the remainder of the evening.

From the Radio Attic

Listeners might have heard "The Lone Ranger," "Just Plain Bill," "Amos 'n' Andy" and, of course, the News on the popular radio model, shown here, built in 1932. Manufactured by RCA Victor Co., Inc. of Camden, NJ, the cost of this "cathedral style" radio in the 1930s was between $100-$200 (a small fortune in those days).

If a person in Bangor, Maine, had turned on this "Superheterodyne Model 121" in the mid-1930s, the standard broadcast band would allow the listener to pick up stations from 500 miles away or more, depending on the weather. Its short wave band could pick up stations even farther away when conditions were right.

Like most radios of the time, the wooden cabinet was built with no back, so that heat could escape. It also "showed off" the craftsmanship inside. This radio is in working condition and can still pick up stations from around the world—AM only; FM had not yet been invented when this was built. This model was considered to be a great improvement over earlier radios in its price range. The superheterodyne design allowed one-knob tuning and better sensitivity over earlier models. The short wave gave listeners the ability to hear radio in other parts of the world—then, an amazing technology—much like today's Internet.

The information and the radio were provided by former MPBC engineer, Steve Grey, of Enfield, Maine.
Maine Public Radio Wins Four National Awards

Maine Public Radio took first place in the feature and call-in categories at a recent award ceremony in Washington, D.C. Public Radio News Directors Incorporated (PRNDI) made the awards in the following categories:

- First Place/Soft Feature — Matthew Algeo (top photo) was awarded first place in the soft feature category for his story about a Portland man and his 40-year-old pet turtle.

- First Place/Call-in — Charlotte Renner (middle photo) received top prize for her piece on bio-terror that included a debate on what the public health response should be to an Anthrax threat.

- Second Place/Enterprise — Naomi Schalit (bottom photo) won second place for her story on a controversial plan to protect working forest lands in the north woods of Maine.

- Second Place/Daily Program — Maine Public Radio's evening news show, Maine Things Considered, took home second place in the daily program category.

PRNDI is a nonprofit national service organization encouraging professional development and training for public radio journalists. Maine Public Radio competes in Division A for PRNDI awards, which is comprised of stations such as WBUR in Boston, KQED in San Francisco and Minnesota Public Radio.
