

Maine Policy Review

Volume 19 | Issue 2

2010

Table of Contents

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.library.umaine.edu/mpr>

Recommended Citation

"Table of Contents." Maine Policy Review 19.2 (2010) : 4 -5, <https://digitalcommons.library.umaine.edu/mpr/vol19/iss2/1>.

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@UMaine.

FORUMS

TO OUR READERS 6

THE MARGARET
CHASE SMITH ESSAY

*Bite-Sized Democracy:
The Virtues of Incremental Change*

Peter Mills 8

STUDENT PERSPECTIVE

*Margaret Chase Smith
Library Student Essay Contest*

David Richards 10

Health Care Reform for a New Era

Kacie Rioux 11

THANKS TO OUR REVIEWERS 68

FORUMS

Public Collaboration in Maine: When and Why It Works

The authors present recent Maine case studies and analyze common features of effective public collaboration, a process in which people from multiple sectors (including government and non-governmental entities) work together to find solutions to problems that no single sector could resolve on its own.

Diane E. Kenty, Ann R. Gosline, Jonathan W. Reitman 14

COMMENTARY

Reinventing Maine Government: How Mainers Can Shape a Sustainable Govern- ment and a New Prosperity

Alan Caron and David Osborne argue that Maine spends more on government than either similar rural states or the national average. They recommend fundamental, structural change in state and local government to face the challenges of the twenty-first century.

Alan Caron and David Osborne 32

Cleaning House? Assessing the Impact of Maine’s Clean Elections Act on Electoral Competitiveness

Does full public financing of legislative elections make races more competitive? Richard Powell analyzes the impact of the Maine Clean Elections Act (MCEA) on house and senate elections since its passage in 2000.

Richard J. Powell 44

Putting Equity Back in Reverse Mortgages: Helping Seniors Retire with Dignity

Andrew Helman describes how state policymakers can help some seniors age in place through policies to strengthen private-sector reverse mortgages, whereby individuals who may be “house rich but cash poor” can use their home’s equity to receive income.

Andrew C. Helman 56