For Everyone

General information regarding fall 2022 programs, visitor access and protocols, visitor and event vaccination requirements, pandemic protocols and overall University operations (06/28/2022) +

Face covering requirements (05/11/2022) -

The U.S. CDC recommends wearing face coverings in indoor public settings in areas where there is substantial transmission of COVID-19. To see which counties in Maine face coverings are recommended, consult this map from U.S. CDC.

In general, face coverings are optional and welcomed across the University of Maine System, indoors and outdoors for all persons regardless of vaccination status.

Visitors are asked always to have an appropriate face covering available and to be prepared to wear it if required or requested to do so when at a University.

For more information about when face coverings may continue to be required – for example, at indoor University events that are open to the general public – please see the student or employee sections of this web site where additional face covering details are provided.
