What is the latest guidance for visitors to university campuses and facilities?

August 30, 2021 | Visitor Information

All visitors are strongly encouraged to be fully vaccinated before visiting any university facility and should be aware that a vaccination card or proof of a recent negative COVID-19 test may be requested to access or enter certain university facilities, events, activities or to access or enter campus generally in certain circumstances. Specific requirements for visitors will be posted prominently on the appropriate university website(s). To the extent practicable, activity or venue specific requirements will generally be posted with event notices and promotional materials. Those who are not eligible by age to receive a vaccination and visitors asserting a religious objection or medical contraindication to vaccination will be allowed to present a negative COVID-19 test instead of proof of vaccination. In the event of a visitor relying on a negative COVID-19 test, it must be from within 72 hours prior to the individual’s presence on campus. Visitors with questions or concerns should check in advance with the facility, event or activity organizers regarding any specific protocols for the facility, event or activity of interest. More information is on the University of Maine System Together for Maine website.
