Naming of the Town

The earliest name given Portland of which we find record was "Quack." Probably this was derived from an Indian word, "Macquack" descriptively used for the entire area. Macquack, meaning "red," probably referred to the numerous iron deposits which stained the ledges and bluffs of the mainland and islands.

In 1623 Christopher Levett named the Casco Bay and Portland area "York." George Cleeves in his will called Portland "Machigony." In the original Cleeves lease, dated January 27, 1637, "all the land . . . was known as Machigone," at that time, and was directed by the General Court of Massachusetts "to be henceforth called Stogummer." The name of Stogummer was never used, so far as is known.

To add to the confusion it must be remembered that the peninsula which we now call Portland was, from the mid-seventeenth century to the time of its present name, known as "the Neck." Hence, when the town was called Casco, what is now Portland was "Casco Neck." Then, when the town was renamed Falmouth, Portland was "Falmouth Neck," and so on.

There has been some confusion as to the first time the name Portland was used. In many early records we find the phrase "coming into Portland." This was applied to the approach by sea, not to the mainland town. Portland is the name in most early records for the promontory where Portland Head Lighthouse now stands. Cushings Island was known for a time as Portland, and Portland Sound was the area between these two landmarks—hence the phrase "coming into Portland."

Late in 1785 some sixty of the citizens of the Neck petitioned the General Court of Massachusetts that the peninsula be set apart from the sprawling old town as a separate municipality, to be called Portland. There were more than 2,000 inhabitants on the Neck at the time.

The petition was granted and on July 4, 1786, the bounds of the new town were defined thus: "To begin at the middle of the creek that runs into Round Marsh, thence north-east to Back Cove Creek, thence down the middle of the Creek to Back Cove, thence across said Cove to Sandy Point, thence round by Casco Bay and Fore River to the first bounds. Together with all the Islands that now belong to the First Parish in said Falmouth."

NEW SCHOLARSHIP AIDS

SEVERAL new developments in the field of financial aid to students at the University may be of interest to alumni. For these developments represent awareness that the next few years will bring a swift reversal in the general financial situation of our students as the governmental benefits received under the G.I. Bill become available for fewer and fewer.

Centralized Activity

Last year by action of the Board of Trustees the general administration of student aid which includes campus work, scholarships, and loans, was brought together under a single head with the Placement Director being given full-time responsibility in this field. The Director now acts as secretary to the Scholarship Committee and the Loan Committee and in this capacity receives all applications for such types of aid as well as continuing to administer campus work programs. This step forward came about as the result of recommendations from various persons including Prof. Fred Lamoreau '30, chairman of the Scholarship Committee.

The advantages of this centralized plan are many. The student has one central place to which he may make application for assistance of any type. The Director of Student Aid and Placement is in a position to counsel and advise the student as to the type or types of assistance which may best serve his or her need. Overlapping and duplication of effort is avoided and a sound basis for comparative consideration of all cases is established.

New Scholarship Program

Shortly after the new centralized program went into effect the University Trustees began consideration of means to increase the opportunities for financial assistance to students. Last spring they announced that special funds to the amount of $25,000 had been allocated for student aid as a means of providing assistance to students who would be hard hit by an increase in the cost of tuition for the year 1949-50. The means by which these funds might be put to the best use was the next question for consideration. This question was placed before the Director of Student Aid and Placement and Prof. Lamoreau as chairman of the Scholarship Committee. After careful thought and full consideration of the factors involved the following proposals were made:

1) Students already awarded scholarships from regular University Scholarship Funds be reconsidered for increases in line with the increase in tuition. Where such increases appeared to be genuinely necessary they should be awarded from the extra funds accumulated in these accounts during the war and post-war years when demand for scholarship aid was light.

2) Upperclass students who had applied for scholarships but had not been included in the awards made from regular scholarship funds should be reconsidered and those appearing to need financial assistance to meet the increased cost of tuition should be granted scholarships from the new fund made available by the Trustees.

3) New applications from upperclass students who would be unable to meet the increased cost of tuition should be considered also for grants from the new fund.

4) Applications from entering freshmen of the class of 1953 would be received and carefully screened to provide new scholarship help to entering students whose financial situation, scholastic ability, and general promise made them preferred candidates.

5) The remainder of the special fund would then be made available to finance a work program on campus jobs so that needy students might earn up to $150 or $200 during the year doing useful, needed tasks not otherwise provided for in departmental budgets.

Summer Tasks

In the final allocation of the $25,000 appropriation—designed as Special Student Aid Fund—the amount of $2,000 was set aside for administrative costs, clerical salaries, and salary for Professor Lamoreau who was employed on a full-time basis during the summer to work with the Director in setting up the program and screening applicants. The balance was tentatively divided into $10,000 for scholarship aid in all categories named above, and $13,000 for a student work program.

During the summer a total of 324 applications were received and reviewed. Following the basic policies of the Scholarship Committee, members of which were consulted in as many cases as possible, applications were approved only on evidence of critical financial need, satisfactory scholarship, and general promise. From the work of the summer awards were made to a total of 116 cases—49 freshmen, 67 upperclass. The freshman awards were in addition to 17 winners of the State Secondary School Scholarship Contest.

Something unique in recent University history was inaugurated at the same time when a campus work program was set up by requests received from various departments on campus. Jobs listed included a wide variety of activities such as mounting specimens, cleaning laboratory equipment, setting up card files and book lists, lettering and making charts and graphs, repair and construction of laboratory equipment, office clerical duties, and labor on buildings and grounds. Students were assigned to these projects on the basis of proven financial need and paid for their time on an hourly rate from the Special Student Aid Fund. A total of 60 projects were received and 83 students have been assigned from all four classes.

At the time this article is written the following funds have been allocated from the Special Student Aid Fund: for scholarships to freshmen and upperclass students, $9,075.00; for payments to workers on the work program, $12,880.00; a total of $21,955.00.

Future Plans

During the process of setting up and administering the new program of student aid, attention was also given to the future. More scholarships than in the past will probably be made available for entering students so that the University may provide more attractive opportunities for outstanding secondary school students.

It should be emphasized, of course, that appropriation of the Special Student Aid Fund by the Trustees was made for the current academic year only and nothing is yet known of detailed future plans for such aid. Moreover state funds must be used for the assistance of students who are residents of the State of Maine.

As economic conditions tend to tighten up and the number of students receiving government aid under the G.I. Bill diminishes, increasing need for various types of assistance will be felt. In the next few years the situation may well be critical for many students, and additional sources of aid, such as scholarships provided by local alumni associations, can offer material help to deserving and needy persons. With the new program of centralized student aid, more efficient selection of really deserving and needy students can be made and all types of financial help, whether from alumni groups, regular scholarship funds, or special sources, can be applied where they will yield the maximum results in alleviating financial distress, and in encouraging students who show real ability.

Placement Program

Six chairmen and members of Alumni Placement Committees met on Friday, Nov. 4, with Charles Crossland '17, Director of Student and Public Relations, and the Placement Director Philip J. Brockway '31 for a discussion of the placement program for the coming year. Members present were Hazen Ayer '24 of Boston, Earl Ferren '20 of Providence, John Mahoney '27 of Worcester, Thomas Mangan '16 of Livermore Falls, Myron Peabody '16 of Springfield, and George Sullivan '18 of Springfield.

The Placement Director first pointed out the extreme need for assistance in the placement program this year arising from the large size of the graduating class. Alumni Placement Committees in the past, he pointed out, have been called upon only occasionally because the supply of jobs available for college graduates has until the present been adequate to absorb the seniors with little difficulty. Now the situation has reversed and extensive efforts on the part of each senior will be necessary to locate satisfactory opportunities.

In the general discussion which followed several important points were brought out. Among them were the following: seniors should be thoroughly informed regarding the present situation and encouraged to get busy on their own initiative; students should be made to understand the necessity of starting at the bottom to learn the business and must expect a period of three to four years of gradual progress before reaching positions of responsibility; single men have a better chance for employment than those who are married so that the latter must make greater effort in their search for jobs.

Regarding committee activities the following suggestions were made: each local committee should be encouraged to draw up for the Placement Bureau a list of companies in the area which would appear to be potential employment sources for college graduates so that the files of the Bureau would more adequately cover each area; committee members would operate largely as individuals with only occasional meetings of the entire group; introduction cards should be issued to students who plan to visit any area where a placement committee exists.

Following visits in the early fall to Pittsburgh and Cleveland, by the Placement Director, new committees were established in those two cities, bringing the present total of committees to 20 with a combined membership of around 160 persons. The Placement Bureau is at present re-checking the addresses of each committee member in preparation for printing a complete listing of all committees for the use of students and alumni. The following objectives were drawn up this fall for the guidance of committee members and represent the types of activities which it is felt alumni committees can undertake to assist the placement program:

1. To consult individually with students and alumni who are seeking employment in the area. This, it is felt, can be one of the most useful functions of the Committee members; it will include helping job-seekers to obtain interviews with potential employers, advising of possible opportunities, and recommendation to business acquaintances and friends. In many cases merely a "friendly hand" in a strange city will be in itself of immeasurable help.

2. To notify the Placement Director periodically of local employment conditions. These may include job opportunities, new businesses, expansion of old businesses, and similar information. The knowledge of local conditions which committee members have can be of great value to the Placement Director.

3. To help the Placement Director build a file of potential employers from the area. The names of companies and particularly the names of individual persons with whom the job seeker may correspond or arrange an interview make a valuable file for reference.

4. To promote whenever possible an increased interest in Maine graduates. This may be done through local alumni meetings, business acquaintances, civic and professional groups, and in other ways. In a quiet way the local committee member can be a real salesman for the product of the University.

5. To pass along to the Placement Director at any time suggestions which it is felt may make the Placement service more effective.

With 1422 students registered in the senior class for graduation in Feb. and June, the Placement Bureau anticipates up to a thousand registrations from seniors this year. When it is realized that about 800 were graduated last year and that only about 60% of these were placed by Commencement, the scope of the problem this year is apparent. Alumni Committee Members and other individual alumni in contact with business and industrial opportunities can help greatly keeping the University informed of opportunities and by giving job-hunters a friendly helping hand.

A record-setting budget of $1,160,000 has been established to provide scholarships and other financial assistance to Yale undergraduates during the 1949-50 academic year. Of this amount, $335,000 will be awarded to 323 freshmen. This represents the largest total of scholarships ever awarded to a freshman class at Yale.

Portland Alumnae

The Portland Alumnae held their October meeting on Thursday October 6 in the B.P.W. Club Room on Forest Ave. Guest speaker was Miss Marion Rogers, acting head of the Women's Physical Education Department at the University.

Meetings of this group are held on the first Thursday of each month at the B.P.W. Club Room at 8:00 p.m. Any Alumna in the Portland area desiring further information should contact Mrs. Charles Clough (Polly Cushing '41), R.F.D. #5, Brooks Rd., Portland.

Northern Kennebec

Northern Kennebec alumni recently held a fall meeting in Winslow with Prof. Harry D. Watson '18 the speaker of the evening.

Plans were made for a meeting in January. An aggressive campaign for larger attendance was discussed. James Boardman '36, president, Wallace E. Parsons '11, and Fern (Allen) Turbyne '34 and others suggested an active alumni program. Waterville and area will soon be impressed with the activity of Maine alumni.

Boston Alumnae

The University of Maine Alumnae of Boston held a fall diner meeting on October 5 at the Ninety-Nine Club in Boston. Peggy Grisham '43 presided over the business meeting, and the group was very fortunate in having Miss Marion Rogers, acting head of the Women's Physical Education Department at the University, as the guest speaker. There was a large number in attendance with a good showing of recent graduates, plus many "new" faces of alumnae from some years past. The next meeting of the group will be in the spring.

RECORD HOMECOMING

ALUMNI Homecoming 1949 style was marked by very cold and wet weather. But the week-end will be recorded as an enjoyable and successful one in spite of weather and in spite of the fact that Maine went down to defeat before the onslaught of a very determined Bowdoin eleven. "For it's always fair weather when good fellows get together," and when Maine alumni return to Orono, it is always an experience that is enjoyed. Although it cannot help but be heartbreaking to see one's own team lose, nevertheless one could not help but feel a bit of a glow for Bowdoin knowing how sweet the victory must have tasted after twenty-eight years of being the vanquished in the Orono tilt. Any comment on the game must include recognition of the Maine eleven's fighting spirit in the face of odds.

Full Program

There was hardly a dull moment in the two days of activities which began on Friday with the conference on Maine Resources and Their Development, and ended on Saturday with fraternity parties and other celebrations.

Many alumni returned on Friday to take advantage of the conference finding it most desirable to be able to combine business with pleasure in coming to Orono for the week end. Any who had thought to see the JV football team play on Friday afternoon were doomed to be disappointed because weather prohibited the playing of the game. (It was played on Monday, November 7, and the JVs beat Coburn 34-0.) Friday afternoon also offered an opportunity to inspect the New Engineering and Plant Science Buildings.

Friday evening encompassed enough activity to give everyone and anyone something to do. At 6:45 a capacity crowd of students, alumni, faculty, and friends converged on Memorial Gymnasium for the Rally. "Tiny" Fletcher, husky campus mayor, was the tuxedoed master of ceremonies. Alumni Association President Al Lingley '20, Dr. Arthur Hauck, and Coach Dave Nelson all contributed to the speaking of the evening. A. D. T. Libby '98 was called from the audience to say a few words, and he led the crowd in a real old cheer with energy and spirit which should be the envy of many a younger man. The entire rally picked up much of its pep and vigor from the U. of M. band, whose excellent performance is always worthy of mention. Men and women cheerleaders were here, there, and everywhere around the gym working hard to draw people out with cheering to make the rafters ring.

Foul Weather

Rain negated the traditional bonfire which would have followed the rally, but a dance sponsored by the Senior Skulls kept many busy at Memorial Gym. Alumni drifted away to other parts of the campus. Carnegie Hall was open until late in the evening to offer a congenial place for Alumni to meet and chat. The "M" Club held its annual meeting in the Map Room of the Armory. The Alumni Placement Committee met with Phil Brockway '31, Placement Director, in the Library. The Agricultural Advisory Council gathered at Winslow Hall for a meeting. Prior to the Rally the Executive Committee of the Alumni Council held a dinner meeting to take care of its business, which had accumulated since summer.

To start things off on Saturday morning, members of the Alumni Council showed their devotion to duty by being on deck for a 7:45 breakfast which was followed by the annual fall meeting of the Council. The traditional Frosh-Soph "Hat Game" resulted in a tie score of 3-3, and at the half of the afternoon's football game, announcement was made that Frosh hats could be tossed to the four winds—a happy moment for the freshman women.

As far as hockey scores were concerned, "tie score" seemed to be the order of the day, for the results of the Alumnae-Undergraduate game played on Saturday morning was 1-1. There was less doubt as to which was the better team when the Frosh football team met Bridgton on the gridiron that morning—score 19-6.

Binding the present to the future, the dedication of the New Engineering and Plant Science buildings added a note of solemnity to Saturday's activities and offered a fitting highlight for Homecoming activity. His Excellency, Governor Frederick G. Payne, speaking at the dedication ceremony in the Louis Oakes Room, declared that the University will now be able "to more nearly fulfill the obligation which our State owes its young men and women." Dr. Arthur A. Hauck and University Trustee and State Senator Samuel W. Collins also spoke.

Record Luncheon

Twelve noon saw a record crowd of five-hundred alumni and friends gathered for lunch at Memorial Gymnasium. Bill Wells '31 carried the ball beautifully as usual in serving a fine meal. Honor was accorded Mal Morrell, Bowdoin's Athletic Director, for his many years of service to his Alma Mater in that capacity. Greetings were brought by Governor Payne, Dr. Hauck, and Dean Kendrick of Bowdoin. President Sills was unable to be present because of pressing business outside the state.

For several years the All Maine Women have sponsored a coffee dance in Memorial Gym immediately following the game at Homecoming. It is a fine ser-

Campus NEWS of the MONTH

Home Economics—

The first week end in October saw fifty students and their faculty advisors, representing 18 colleges of New England, attending a workshop with the University of Maine Home Economics Club the hostess. Part of the meetings were held on the campus and part at Camp Alamoosook in East Orland. Guest speaker at the banquet held in Estabrooke Hall on Saturday evening was Miss Frances Urban, Field Secretary of the American Home Economics Association. Miss Urban spoke on how local home economics fit into the national scope.

Baby Clinic—

The Maine Cub Baby Clinic, to care for the health of pre-school children of students, has recently been formed on the campus, under the auspices of the Mrs. Maine Club. Physician for the group is Dr. Frances Lannon Inglee '38, who has recently settled in Old Town. Dr. Lannon trained at Children's Hospital in Boston and at the Eastern Maine General Hospital in Bangor.

Sororities—

A general meeting for all freshman and transfer women was held on October 24 in the Louis Oakes Room to present information concerning rushing and sorority membership. Virginia Littlefield, President of Panhellenic, presided over the meeting and introduced the following speakers: Virginia Kennedy, AOII, "The National Scope of Sorority"; Mrs. Martha Coles Murray, AOII, "The Sorority Alumna"; Margaret Millington, "The Non-Sorority Woman"; Margaret Mollison, Tri-Delt, "Three Years in Sorority"; and Elinor Hansen, Chi O, "Rushing." The object of this meeting is to give the new women an objective view of sororities and their functioning.

"Rushing" will be carried on during November and bowpinning will take place on December 7.

Notre Dame Anyway—

Dr. Wilmarth Starr, head of the Department of Modern Languages at the University, recently ordered twenty textbooks for his course in the 19th Century Novel. The text ordered was "Notre Dame de Paris" by Victor Hugo. Prentice-Hall Publishing Co. sent the lot through on schedule, and the Bookstore passed the word along to Dr. Starr that the text was available. The shipment was then opened. Sure enough twenty books were there. The title—"Notre Dame; the T Formation."

A striking example of the far-reaching effects of the football season on the mind of the American!

Familiar Faces . . .

TWO generations of College of Agriculture students answering the summons of Dean Leon S. Merrill '22H or Dean A. L. Deering '12, his successor, have had their fears allayed by the cheery smile of the girl in the front office.

Since 1928 Miss Yvonne Morin has been listed in the University Catalogue as "Secretary to the Dean of the College of Agriculture." But, Miss Morin first came to the University as a clerk in 1923.

A wide acquaintanceship among the "Aggie" students is hers. The fateful semester grades receive a final check at her desk, and up to the time when Fred Loring '16 assumed some of the administrative duties of the Dean's office, it was Miss Morin who first heard the never-new reasons for a "cut" being officially classified as an "excused absence." Many a grateful alumnus will remember her quiet, friendly but efficient control of the Dean's outer office.

Commuting daily from her home in Old Town, Miss Morin has seen many changes in campus life. Her twenty-six years on campus she contends "have been happy and pleasant ones."

Alumni salute your years of loyalty and service, Miss Morin!

Winter Carnival—

In mid-October the General Student Senate accepted a final report of the Winter Carnival Investigating Committee, which offered sweeping changes in the program; in mid-November the report, in the form of a constitution, was unanimously adopted after undergoing a few changes in the hands of the Senate body.

Under the new constitution the following will come into being:

1. Changing the date from February 22 to a mid-January date (with the hope that chances will be better for having snow available.)
2. Putting the Carnival under the supervision of a committee of seven, at least one of whom shall be a member of the General Senate.
3. Intramural sports to be planned and governed by the Intramural Athletic Association.
4. At least one and not more than three advisors to the committee to be chosen by the General Senate upon recommendation from the planning committee.
5. Date for the first meeting of the newly elected committee each year to be held before March 15. (Suggestion that emphasis be placed on training underclassmen to provide the committee with experienced personnel from year to year.)

Other ideas and suggestions which came out of discussions were to expand the carnival program by organizing an ice revue under the direction of two amateur skaters on the campus; to arrange a public coronation of the Carnival Queen; to take steps to get a suitable ski jump installed thereby making it possible for the Intercollegiate Ski Meet to be held during carnival week end; and the possibility of having a small blanket tax as a source of revenue to assist in expanding the program.

1951 Prism—

Looking behind the scenes at work on the 1951 Prism, it is interesting to note that new methods are in use following a recommendation from last year's General Student Senate. The new plan which is being employed is to have each of nine associate editors take complete charge of a section of the book, being responsible for its composition, organization, and make-up. Another innovation is the appointment of students other than members of the Junior class to editorial positions. Alumni sons and daughters are well represented on the editorial staff—Editor-in-chief is Walter St. Onge (Walter J. '07); Editor for Freshman and Sophomore classes—Edgar Lord (George E. '24, Louise Quincy '25); Editor for Fraternities and Sororities—Carolyn Beckler (Warren B. '17); Editor for Athletics—Joseph Corbin (Paul '21).

Fraternities—

Upperclass pledging activity has been on the agenda of fraternity business for the past month with the result that every fraternity has a new group to absorb within its house. In a sense it has been merely a shifting about of people in the houses, for at the time that college opened the fraternities assisted the administration by taking in non-members to relieve the room shortage situation which existed with the influx of men from the now-closed Brunswick annex. This temporary measure took care of the problem in the early fall. And now the overflow has been taken care of either through a man's returning to a house as a pledge, being assigned to a dormitory room vacated by someone pledged, or by moving off campus.

"Mr. University"—

From a field of thirty-eight contestants, Emil Winter, a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, has been named as "Mr. University" for the current college year according to an announcement by the Maine Radio Guild. Contestants from all four classes vied for the honor with nine men making the finals. Winter was the unanimous choice of the judges and will be the voice of the University for all Maine Radio Guild programs this year.

Extension Art Courses—

As a part of the extension course program, two evening courses in art will be offered this fall by Professor Vincent A.

Hartgen, Head of the Art Department. These classes will not be open to students.

The beginners class will teach fundamentals of art and no special talent or ability is required. Students will work with various crayons, chalks, and papers, and the basic elements of perspective and composition will be taught.

The second course is open to those who have taken the basic course or who have had previous training. It covers analytical studies of light and shade, composition, and cast drawing. Students in this course will be prepared to explore their own modes of expression.

Famous Cellist—

Maurice Eisenberg, internationally famous cellist, was guest artist at a general assembly on October 20. In addition to the concert, Mr. Eisenberg also gave an informal concert in Carnegie during his stay on the campus, and met classes in the music curriculum to confer with students interested in music. Mr. Eisenberg has played concerts throughout the United States, the British Isles, and the Continent during the past three years.

New York, Philadelphia, Portland, Chicago, Augusta, Hartford, Presque Isle, and many other centers of alumni concentration could institute regular informal luncheons as have the Boston alumni. They meet each Friday noon at Thompson's Spa, 239 Washington St. No speeches, no collections, no formality—just a group of Maine men enjoying a bull session. If you're in Boston on Friday, why not drop in. If you live elsewhere, why not consider a monthly, bi-weekly or weekly get-together.

It took more than just the might of the Polar Bear team and strategy of Adam Walsh to defeat Maine. These four moaning moslems give a salubrious salaam to an aberrant Allah for a point after the touchdown. Three touchdowns, yes, but the Great One denied the extra points.

$150,000 Missing!

HERE was an enthusiastic reception by the record attendance at the Homecoming luncheon to Raymond H. Fogler's '15 brief but important statement that had been unanimously voted by the Alumni Council "to instruct the Union Building Committee to cooperate with the Trustees of the University with the objective of starting construction of the Union Building as soon as final building plans can be completed, if possible, early in the spring of 1950."

By this action the long desired and much needed Memorial Student Union appears nearer to becoming a reality. All alumni will applaud this action to as rapidly as possible bring to completion the task to which they set their hand at the close of the war.

In presenting a review of the campaign to date, Mr. Fogler pointed out that funds available provided for only two thirds of the Union Building as now planned. In voting to request the Union Building Fund Committee to "do everything possible to include the facilities originally approved without a reduction in the size of the building—," the Council added the understanding that the present funds be used to construct the entire shell and such facilities as available funds would permit.

With these votes of the Alumni Council, the way has been cleared for several decisions to be made in the near future preparatory to the start of construction "if possible, early in the spring of 1950."

Two Thirds Is Not a Memorial

It is to be regretted that the amount needed to construct the entire building has not been obtained. However, efforts to reach the $900,000 goal will not be given up. Alumni who have not yet subscribed to the fund will be given every encouragement to have a share in this fine memorial.

How unfortunate it would be for the alumni of Maine to erect two-thirds of a Memorial Student Union! Every alumnus is urged to consider additional subscriptions NOW. Your pledge of quarterly or other convenient pledges can be mailed to the fund headquarters in the Library.

Each alumnus can give the campaign a big boost not only by his own subscription, but also by urging other alumni to contribute. Let's get the ball rolling. The time is now.

Several other matters were discussed at the Alumni Council meeting, with many of them referred to the mid-winter meeting for final action.

Alternative Site

One point discussed at the Council meeting which will interest all alumni is the location of the Union Building. It will be recalled that at the annual meeting of the General Alumni Association last June a vote was passed, expressing disapproval of any building being erected, now or in the future, in the general location west of Fernald Hall, originally selected as the site for the Union Building. It was further voted at that meeting that the final selection of a site, so far as alumni were concerned, would rest with the Alumni Council.

Consequently many hours of thoughtful consideration have been devoted by the Union Building Fund Committee and the Council to another location. After discussing every available space on the campus the Committee voted that the location between Stevens Hall and Rogers Hall, east of the Library, was acceptable. Referred to the Alumni Council, two locations, the one just named and the site originally chosen, were discussed. In presenting the report of the Union Building Committee, Mr. Fogler pointed out to the Council that the decision to offer an alternative site was influenced by the following points: (1) the vote of the General Alumni Association opposing the originally proposed location west of Fernald Hall; (2) the future expansion of the campus will be toward the east; (3) the proximity to heaviest traffic center and (4) the adequate parking facilities.

The Alumni Council voted to "approve either of these two building sites, indicating, however, a preference for the new proposed location east of the Library, but to leave the final decision to the Executive Committee of the Council and the University Board of Trustees.

Classes

Although no effort has been made to secure subscriptions through the class organization, the results are interesting. Following is a summary of the leading ten classes.

Amount Subscribed		Percentage Subscribed

Successful Newspaper Day Held on Campus

Maine Newspaper Day was held on the campus on October 14, followed by a morning shop talk program on Saturday. The newspapermen were guests of the University at the Connecticut game that afternoon.

Arranged by the Maine Press Association and the Maine Daily Newspapers Publishers' Association and under the general direction of Wayne Jordan, professor of Journalism, the program brought several outstanding speakers to the campus. Among these were Erwin D. Canham, editor of The Christian Science Monitor; Harold L. Cross, associate dean, Graduate School of Journalism, Columbia University, and Lewis Jordan, assistant foreign editor, The New York Times and a member of the Graduate School of Journalism faculty, Columbia.

The program was opened with a University assembly at which Mr. Canham gave the address. One of the outstanding newspapermen in the country today, he is a delegate to the United Nations General Assembly. His topic for the assembly was "The People's Right to Know." He concluded his able address with:

"Here in America, with all our unfinished business—for which thank God—we have proved the dynamic potency of a system based on the freedom of the individual. That freedom can be made—indeed, it is—an export doctrine. That know-how, which we perfected after we received most of it from other nations and peoples who came together into one people on our soil, we can channel back to others who need it today. Communism promises much. The free system of the western world performs much.

"We must prove to the whole world that the free system holds for every man, woman, and child the birthright which is theirs. We must understand freedom ourselves and make it invincible in action, as a way of life at home and as an export doctrine and commodity against which there can ultimately be no tariffs and no iron curtains. This can be our century—not the American century, not the century of the common man—but the century of the free man—just as soon as we awaken as individuals to the spiritual power which is in our grasp and make it a reality in daily action."

The afternoon program, following a luncheon in Estabrooke Hall at which Dr. Hauck greeted the newspapermen, consisted of seminars. Not only were these of great value to the professional editors and publishers in attendance, but also to the journalism majors.

So successful was the program that several editors of both Maine daily and weekly papers have suggested that it be made an annual event.

NOT for two decades has a Maine football team been so plagued with injuries as has the 1949 squad. These injuries left Coach Nelson and his assistants with a constant problem of suitable replacements for games.

The season's record of two wins, one tie and four losses is perhaps not impressive. Maine did tie with Connecticut for the Yankee Conference, and by virtue of its victory over New Hampshire now holds the Brice-Colwell Trophy.

However, alumni have been impressed this fall by the well coached, fighting team that played each game. It was undeniably a tough schedule and without "breathers." Much credit is due Coach Nelson for the fine job he has done as a new coach introducing a new system. The experience which the squad has gained will be of great value another season. But the best coaching staff in the game, and Maine has a good one, cannot develop a team in one season without depth in various positions.

How much new material of varsity calibre will come up from Sam Sezak's freshman squad is still problematical. With fourteen of this year's varsity squad graduating in June, it will be necessary for Coach Nelson to uncover new men for the 1950 varsity.

Bowdoin 18 Maine 0

For the first time in 28 years Bowdoin defeated Maine at Orono. This was the victory for which Adam Walsh had been pointing since coming to Brunswick and his first since 1942.

Maine was simply outclassed as the statistics below will show. The Bowdoin line and backfield were too strong and with too much depth. Despite this fact there was some good playing on the Maine team. Captain Don Barron, Stan Trask, and Alan Wing turned in the best of many fine performances in their last game for Maine.

The Bowdoin choo-choo, Bob McAvoy (31), heads for the end zone with the third TD. A beautiful running back took a screenpass from QB Dave Burke on the twenty, and with a burst of speed went the rest of the way. Maine men seen here are Al Wing (88), Dick Howes (71), Dick Largay (81), Capt. Don Barron (66), and Gor Pendleton (30). —Ted Newhall photo

With the ATHLETIC TEAMS

Colby 13 Maine 12

This game certainly turned out well for Colby's Homecoming alumni. Maine early took the lead and everyone but the White Mule team settled back to see Maine take the game. Late in the final quarter a Colby interception on Maine's 35 set up a score with a conversion made good. Shortly after, Colby tallied with another TD. It was a tough game to lose, for Maine had the game all but salted away.

Bates 6 Maine 0

Few state series games have ever been played in such rain as poured down on Bates' Garcelon Field. Lord and Marden saw but brief action, and without them Maine's running attack depended pretty much on fullback Gordon Pendleton.

Walker Heap, ace Bates back, broke lose for a TD in the first half. Except for this one play, and a well executed one, it was a close game all the way.

Cross Country

Maine 17 Bates 44

Maine opened its schedule with Bates in fine style running ahead of the Garnet harriers 17-44. Dow, Harnden and Parsons crossed the finish line together for a winning time of 22:53:5 for the 4 1/4 mile course.

Shortly before the Bates meet, MCI, last year's prep school champs, defeated the Frosh runners 20 to 39.

Maine 19 U. N. B. 44

Against the University of New Brunswick a week later. Harnden lowered the time to 21:59 as Maine once again showed its supremacy over her Canadian visitors.

The freshmen defeated Ashland High 20 to 39 and lost to Dave Dodge's '42 Lee Academy team 22 to 33.

U. N. H. 29 Maine 26

The closest race of the season was run at Durham in a cold rain. Coming into the home stretch the score was tied, but Bodwell of the home team nosed out Harnden in 23:43:9. Maine placed four of the first seven men.

The Frosh lost to Old Town 26 to 29.

Maine 25 Springfield 32

Traveling to Springfield by air apparently was good tonic for the Maine harriers for they bested the Gymnasts' strong team 25-32 placing five men in the first seven. Dow was the first Maine man to finish and in third place.

State Meet

Running in an abbreviated State Meet in Augusta, Maine defeated Bates 15-49. With but five places counted in the scoring, Maine placed the first six men. Colby and Bowdoin did not enter a team.

Basketball

Coach Rome Rankin has issued a call for the basketball squad to report on November 7. Because of conference rules, official practice cannot start until that date.

It is expected that ten men from last year's squad will report in addition to a good group of newcomers and members of the 1948 jayvee team.

Fundamentals will be stressed during early practice sessions because Coach Rankin's system will be new to the Maine team. His is a fast-breaking, fast-passing type of game with the dribble and deliberate pass eliminated as much as possible.

Coach Rankin will be assisted by Hal Westerman, who is also an assistant football coach. Westerman will also coach the freshman quintet.

The schedule:

Dec. 3	Bates at Lewiston
Dec. 8	Colby at Orono
Dec. 10	Bowdoin at Orono
Jan. 2	Massachusetts State at Orono
Jan. 5	Connecticut at Storrs
Jan. 6	Rhode Island at Kingston

Homecoming

vice offering chilled spectators an opportunity to get warm, to get a bite to eat, and to meet contemporaries who have gone long unseen. And the delay of departure of a goodly percentage of cars is another useful by-product of this coffee dance. Orono was more hampered than usual this year as far as traffic was concerned because of the existence of a temporary bridge that is replacing the old one until a new and permanent one can be constructed. Even with this delay, however, a steady stream of headlights continued to move slowly along College Ave. and Main Street right up to the supper hour—the last reflected glow of the Homecoming week end.

Fraternity supper parties drew throngs to each house and dormitory open-houses were also popular with many campus guests.

And so into the annals of University of Maine history goes the 19th Annual Homecoming—with alumni from the South, the West, the East, and from Canada vowing to be back in 1950.

"M" Club Elects Jack Moran '30 President

The annual meeting of the "M" Club was held following the Homecoming rally, George Ginsberg '21, president, was succeeded by Jack Moran '30, sports editor of The Bangor Daily News. Other officers elected were vice presidents: Tom Murray '22, Frank Preti '19, Ken Clark '39, and Jack Zollo '49; Secretary-Treasurer, Ted Curtis '23.

At the meeting Bill Kenyon, veteran baseball, basketball, and football coach, was presented a chest of silver in appreciation of his twenty-five years of service on the coaching staff.

It is reported that many varied opinions were expressed, as usual, regarding athletics, at this session. It is anticipated that the constructive program initiated by President Ginsberg will be carried on under Jack Moran's able direction.

FRONT COVER

This excellent airview of the campus was taken by the James W. Sewell Company, Foresters, of Old Town. It is this prominent Maine firm of foresters that has been cooperating with the University Forestry Department in the study of films for aerial photography.

Taken at an altitude of four thousand feet it discloses much information to those ex GI's experienced in photo-reconnaissance.

One can see teams on the jayvee football team lined up for a kick-off. Photo-intelligence would advise that Maine's opponent was the Maine Maritime Academy. How? By the number of white hats of the middies in the stands.

On the Mall can be seen a group of engineers with their surveying instruments, and just to the east of them can be seen the New Engineering Building.

That long oblique black line in the rear of Crosby Hall is the shadow of the snake stack.

Frank Cowan, veteran campus policeman, could tell you that the parking lot between Lord and Alumni Halls shows that Fred Youngs '19, treasurer; Jim Gannett '08, registrar; Irving Pierce, accountant; and Harry Gordon (Harry L. '08), assistant to the treasurer, were the only faculty members whose cars were in the reserved parking line.

At the south end of the Mall one sees the imposing Library. At the bottom of the picture just behind the greenhouses is the New Plant Science Building.

While this view does not show the entire campus of more than two hundred acres, nor the University Forest or Farm in Stillwater, it does show, with remarkable clarity, the campus proper.

Our congratulations to Dwight Moody upon receiving his Degree of Master of Science in Education from Cornell University, where he majored in adult education and minored in agricultural engineering. A study of the veterans in Maine who are enrolled in the "Institutional-on-the-Farm-Training" program, was the basis of his thesis which was entitled, "Determining the Need For Adult Education Among the Farmers In Maine." Dwight, Fran, and the three children, Dwight, Jr., Stephen, and Caroline, are living in Hampden, where Dwight is teaching at the Academy. Dwight supervised the farm training course there this summer.

A welcome letter from Maynard Austin in Houlton gives forth with the info that after getting out of the service in July '46, he went to work for the consulting engineering firm of Jenks and Ballou in Providence, R. I., and quote Maynard, "I remained there until last April when I came to Houlton to become its Planning Engineer." Maynard sees John Chadwick real often and his flowers which are frequently popping up at various public gatherings. Thanks so much, too, for your interest in trying to devise ways whereby we could hear from more classmates.

Next Reunion June 16-18, 1950

There is not so much news this month, but anyway here is what I have.

One item I gleaned from the papers was the engagement of Una Jean MacDonald '48 to Don Mead, the latter who was once a member of our class and finally graduated in '48 due to kind Uncle Sam's interference. Una received her B.A. Degree in English, and at present she is employed by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, and Beane, stock brokers, as a financial writer on the staff of Investor's Reader, New York City. Don, having received his B.S. in Electrical Engineering, is with the Western Electric Company in New York City. No date has been set for the wedding.

From the Alumni Office comes the following news. First, Romaine Littlefield is a geologist with the U. S. Geological Survey Mineral Deposits Branch. She is living in Washington, D. C., at 713 19th Street, N. W.—Apt. 52—Zone 6.

Ruth (Stacy) Hayes (Mrs. Stuart) is living in Dover-Foxcroft.

Dana Brown is working in the Spruce Wood Dept. of the Great Northern Paper Co. He is living at a camp at Millinocket Lake in the Ambajejus region.

One more bit of news, news which is not too happy in all respects either. Last month I saw Barbara (Maynard) Flanagan at the Chinook Dog Kennels in Waldoboro. Barbara and her husband, Don, had just come from the Home of the Pine Tree Society for Crippled Children in Bath where they had taken their young son, sixteen months old David, who was paralyzed on one side with polio. Barbara said that the doctors felt that in time the youngster would be all right, but that time was in the distant future. On the happy side, Kathy arrived at the Flanagan home in Millinocket last August 15th.

Here's hoping that next month will bring a longer column. Remember—it's YOU who make the news—so write.

1946 Mrs. Alfred D. Gamber
(Terry Dumais)
21-C So. Apts., Orono

I was very pleased to receive a note this month from Jean Thompson, who is in New York as head teacher at the York Nursery School, a parent cooperative school for children of the Resident Staff of the New York Hospital. Jean sounds happy about her work and all the challenge of "big city" life; Jean also enjoys her "Profs" in her course at Teachers College at Columbia University. Keep us posted, Tommie.

A short note from Hazel Nutt recently told of her engagement to Everett Spear II. Hazel is at the Hyde Memorial Home for Crippled Children in Bath, while Everett is in the family lumber business in Rockland. Everett, a Kappa Sig., started with the class of '46, and after the war he returned to the University for courses.

Mr. and Mrs. George Potter recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Joan, to Frank H. Robart, Jr., of Centerville and Newton, Mass. Joanie has been working in Boston.

The Reverend Malcolm Miner, a member of the Episcopal ministry, is now at 55 Pine Tree Terrace, South Barre, Mass.

We've just received news of the April 28th wedding of Joyce Weed to Edward Butler in Rutherford, N. J., at the Grace Episcopal Church. Among the ushers were A. Raymond Clark '47 of Atlantic Highlands, N. J., William T. Hinckley '47 of Newark, and Lowell Savage '47 of Roseland, N. J. Until work was completed on their apartment on May 1st at Rensselaer, the Butlers were at the Hotel Wellington in Albany, N. Y. Ed is employed by the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company.

With Homecoming almost upon us, may I urge you to try and be with us at Orono. Next issue should see a big '46 column as we catch up on the latest news at the Bowdoin-Maine Game November 5th.

1947 Mrs. Paul Dowe
(Peg Googins)
Turner, Maine

It certainly seems good to be back in the swing of things, hearing from all of you again. So many have already written me all sorts of interesting bits of news to pass on.

I saw Gerry Small the other day after all this time. She lives at the YWCA in Lewiston where she works for the Lewiston Daily Sun. By the way, I've seen several articles with the Geraldine Small by-line.

Joyce Faulkner was at the Camden Hills Theater during the summer.

Nicholas Johns received an M.S. degree in E.E. from Princeton in 1948, and is now working for Sylvania Electric Inc. His address is 57 Federal St. Salem, Mass.

Helen Fortunes is now instructor of French and Spanish at Illinois Wesleyan University. Her address is 316 East Locust St., Bloomington, Ill.

From Los Angeles, Calif., comes news of Ora MacDonald. She has been appointed as a special instructor for the Remedial Reading Dept. of the Marlborough school in Los Angeles, which is one of the oldest and finest private schools in the city. In addition, she will continue to specialize in remedial reading at the Univ. of Southern Calif. Ora has been active in the UCLA Graduate Students Assoc., radio forums, Phi Mu Sorority, special editor of the UCLA Magazine and was Snow Ball Queen at one of the school dances.

Had a swell surprise the other day in the form of a letter from Lois Webber Hanson. Bob graduated last June from Maine and they are now in N. J. where he is a sales engineer for the Electro Dynamic Works in Bayonne. Lois and Bob and their two children, Bobby, 2, and Karen, who is nearly 8 months old, have moved into a brand new apartment in Paterson. Their address is: Apt. 6-A Bldg. 4 Vets Housing, E. 43 St. & 11th Ave., Paterson, N. J. They have visited Esther (Ring) and Lowell Savage who live near by.

Also from Lois comes news of Mr. and Mrs. John Butler (Florence Palmer). Their address is 256 Olney St., Providence, R. I. Johnny is getting his Master's Degree at Brown. "Flops" already has her degree and is working for the Geigy Chemical Co.

Muriel Polley is now Mrs. David Sleeper. Both work for General Electric and live in Schenectady.

I've also heard from Val Warren recently. She is working for the Harold F. Lewis Advertising Agency, State St., Boston. She says her job is very interesting as it doesn't confine her to an office all the time. Often she is out doing research for copy. Penny Chase Koeritz has written Val several times. She and Phyl (Jordan) and Eric Hanson were Labor Day visitors of Phyl (Eldridge) and Lee Denegar in New York. Had a letter from Phyl Denegar and she said they all had a simply wonderful time seeing the whole of New York, from the Broadway show "Where's Charley" to Brooklyn. Also, via Phyl, comes news of Arline Clevon. She has won herself an assistantship at N.Y.U. and is helping out in a statistics course two nights a week besides going to school and working. No wonder I haven't heard from her directly since Christmas. She lives at 118 W. 13th St., New York 18, N. Y.

I saw in the paper a few weeks ago, the account of the marriage of Barbara Mills and Bob Browne. I understand that Barbara is still teaching at House-in-the-Pines, Norton, Mass. Bob is at B. U. Law School.

Certainly appreciate all the correspondence, kids. Keep it up. Hope to see many of you at Homecoming.
