The colorful blue, white and red freight cars now familiar from coast to coast exemplify the selling job the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad is doing for northern Maine agriculture and industry.

And these unique cars are but one example of this railroad’s cooperative enterprise. The fact of the matter is that the Bangor and Aroostook not only actively promotes the interests of its shippers, but also specializes in equipment custom-made for the transportation of the products of northern Maine’s farms and factories.

The vast northern Maine region offers unusual opportunities for new industry along the lines of the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad: Ample space to build and grow; realistic land values; friendly governments; ready banking; disaster-free climate; good native labor supply; modern communities you’ll be proud to live in and a railroad dedicated to maintaining an efficient, economical transportation system for procurement and distribution.

Dick Weldon discusses a $50,000 increase in business insurance for Parker-Soper, Architects

It's hard to believe that Dick Weldon had never even sold life insurance until 1954. So much has been accomplished in the short time he's been with New England Life.

"I wanted a career that was not governed by anything except my own ambitions" — that's why Dick switched from an executive position in another business to life insurance.

From the start Dick has enjoyed a lot of success with New England Life in Watertown, New York. Two years ago, for example, he sold over a million dollars worth of life insurance protection. He has qualified as a member of the Million Dollar Round Table and our Hall of Fame. He was our "Rookie-of-the-Year" for 1956.

Dick has had a good deal of satisfaction in building a strong clientele of businessmen like Tom Parker and Howard Soper. In most cases he handles both their personal and business insurance problems . . . and often serves their employees as well.

If a career of this sort appeals to you, investigate the opportunities with New England Life. You get income while you're learning. You can work anywhere in the U.S.A. Your future is full of substantial rewards.

For more information, write to Vice President L. M. Huppeler, 501 Boylston Street, Boston 17, Mass.

A career with New England Life attracts men from many fields — banking, teaching, business administration as well as selling. Some of our most successful agents have technical backgrounds.

Under the Bear's Paw

Every day, when their classes are over, several University of Maine faculty members turn their thoughts to research projects.

These projects, carried out in fields ranging from accounting to zoology, are of tremendous benefit not only to the research, but to those who reap knowledge from his project in later years.

Without the help of a former Bangor man, however, most of these projects would never be started.

$100,000 Fund

The man who stands behind this research is now dead. Thomas Upham Coe, a famous Bangor doctor in the mid 1800's, left $100,000 to the University of Maine.

The Board of Trustees voted that the $100,000 should be used for research purposes by University faculty members.

The funds were received by the university in 1929. Since that time, nearly 30 years ago, many valuable projects have been completed.

A committee of seven faculty members directs the use of the funds each year. Members represent the four colleges within the university, the Colleges of Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Education, and Technology.

Requests are made by staff members who wish to carry out research projects.

If the committee feels that the project will be a valuable addition to the advancement of knowledge, funds are made available to the instructor for expenses incurred in carrying out the project.

No salary is given, only money needed for expenses.

The income from the $100,000 varies from year to year, but normally it is about $5,500.

Persons who are working for advanced degrees are not eligible for consideration. Most of the persons who receive funds are working on post-doctoral projects.

Agricultural Experiment Station personnel and Pulp and Paper program personnel are not usually considered as there are funds available within those departments for research by members.

The late Mr. Coe was born in Northwood, N. H., in 1837. He was graduated from Bowdoin College and received an M.A. degree from Bowdoin in 1860. He studied at Jefferson Medical College in 1861 and in Paris in 1862.

He practiced in Bangor for about 15 years and retired in 1876. He was a director of the Merrill Trust Company, the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad, the European and North American Railroad and the Orono Pulp and Paper Company.

He was a trustee of the Maine State Sanatorium and the Bangor Public Library.
THE UNIVERSITY is always building for tomorrow. Constant changes are inevitable.

New knowledge, improved equipment, and better techniques, together with a ceaseless demand for research and services to the State make it imperative that plans for tomorrow shall always be underway, "on the drafting board," or under discussion. Any other policy would mean certain retrogression, which would be displeasing to citizens of this great State, and to alumni, both of whom take pride in their University.

Another type of building for tomorrow goes on quietly in homes and offices, the making of gifts and bequests which is so essential to the continued progress and prestige of the University. During the past twenty five years, the endowment funds have tripled. This is convincing evidence of the interest and generosity of friends and alumni, and of their faith in the future of this institution.

Donors have had great interest in helping needy students. As the enrollment increases during the years just ahead, likewise the need for additional financial aid for students will increase. This is an opportunity for alumni and friends to be of great assistance to the University, as well as to promising young men and women, through gift or bequest for scholarship or loan funds. Time has proven that gifts to education are one of the most lasting and satisfactory of all gifts. Prospective donors are invited to write to the President for further information.
Early Returns Are Most Encouraging To All Concerned . . .

The solicitation phase of the Arthur A. Hauck Building Fund opened in Dover-Foxcroft, Maine, in early March, with other Maine areas following suit throughout the month of March. The campaign officially opened in other eastern states in April, and in the mid-west and far west in early May.

As this issue of The Alumnus goes to press, only preliminary results of early efforts are known. However, these early returns are most encouraging to all concerned with the success of this effort to suitably honor Dr. Arthur A. Hauck, retired University president.

Early Returns Encouraging

At press time, some seventy-five alumni on the 700 Special Gifts list had made pledges and gifts. The average gift among these first seventy-five was over $750. Early reports on pledge gifts in the initial Maine areas indicate that many alumni are meeting the campaign slogan, "One Week to Recognize Dr. Hauck's Twenty-Four Years."

These alumni are pledging one week's income payable quarterly over a two-year period. The general level on giving to all phases of the Campaign was well above average and encouraging to fund leaders.

Students Seek $100,000

The Maine undergraduate body has set a high standard for their elders in the alumni body to meet. A General Student Campaign Committee, formed by the students themselves, has organized the student body with a $100,000 student campaign goal.

Seeking an average of $30 per student as gifts, the student campaign, under the leadership of Arthur Mayo '58 of Bath, is student-organized in such a manner as to put many an experienced fund-raising effort to shame. Every segment of the University's student body is enthusiastically participating in the Fund.

Friends Of University Contribute

Concurrent with the alumni and student campaigns, the Friends of the University Division, under the leadership of Raymond H. Fogler '15, initiated activity in early April. This phase of the Fund was established to enable the many friends of the University and Dr. Hauck to participate in the tribute to the retired president.

Many non-alumni friends of Maine have volunteered their services in the contacting of other friends of the University concerning participation in the tribute. The unselfish interest being displayed by those non-alumni is indicative of the high regard in which both Dr. Hauck and the University of Maine are held outside of the University family.

"Kick-off Meetings"

Geographical areas across the country which contain larger numbers of Maine alumni were thoroughly organized under volunteer alumni leadership. These areas opened their campaign solicitation phase with a "Kick-Off Meeting" of local campaign leaders and workers.

At each of these meetings, one or more members of the General Fund Committee was present to present the campaign objectives and programs, and to supply details on the planned solicitation.

The attendance and enthusiasm at these "Kick-Off Meetings" again gave evidence of alumni interest in the project.

Construction Plans

As the campaign progresses across the country, University committees in the Orono area are putting finishing touches to the plans which the Campaign will convert into needed University facilities. These plans include the construction of the Arthur A. Hauck Auditorium.

Plans for the Union completion include the construction of a chapel, additional food service areas, recreation areas, and an additional conference and meeting rooms in the Memorial Union which was opened, partially completed, in 1953.

Plans for the Arthur A. Hauck Auditorium, to be constructed east of Stevens Hall from monies made available from the Fund, call for an auditorium with sloping floor, proper acoustic design, appropriate and full stage facilities and dressing rooms, adequate lobby space, and a minimum seating capacity of 1,800 seats.
INTERESTED in freezing lobster meat?
Or are you an amateur trapper seeking information about beavers? Perhaps you need information about the physics program at the University of Maine for your son or daughter who is a prospective student.

Disseminating information about the above-mentioned subjects, and many, many others, has literally created a major publishing house at the University of Maine in recent years.

Through the offices of the Editor of University Publications, the Agricultural Extension Service, the Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Technology Experiment Station pass thousands of pieces of literature every year to the citizens of Maine, high schools, libraries and other universities.

... Why?

Why is this work done?

Rod Reynolds, personable young editor of the Extension Service, would say this if you asked him:

"The function of the Extension information staff is to assist administrators, specialists and county personnel in presenting agricultural, homemaking, 4-H and related information to the people of Maine. The editorial office serves as a nerve center for the informational programs of the various subject matter fields.

"While the first word of a proposed program or subject must of necessity come from the specialists, the editorial staff helps coordinate information activities of the several areas that may be involved, outlines broad information programs involving the use of many media, and otherwise plans and encourages the best possible information support program for the many Extension activities."

Howard Keyo, who is Editor of University Publications, might put it this way:

"One of the functions of our office is to keep the public informed about all the activities that are carried on at the University of Maine. We supply high schools, libraries, prospective students and the public at large with many types of publications concerning the University of Maine.

"If one of the departments of the University wishes to publish a booklet for the public, we are ready to assist this department."

From Keyo's office pass 14 regular bulletins and several miscellaneous publications each year to the public.

A typical example of such bulletins is the University catalog. The 1958 catalog, just off the press, contains 276 pages of descriptive information about the University and its educational programs.

Another example is the series called the University of Maine Studies. This publication, which is issued once a year, contains the thesis of a University graduate student or a member of the faculty. The Committee of Graduate Study selects a manuscript, has it published, and then distributes copies to more than 250 libraries throughout the...
United States. Others can be purchased for a token price.

Some of the Studies bulletin topics of recent years have been: "Seaports in Maine: An Economic Study"; "City Manager Government in Portland, Maine"; "Indian Place-Names of the Penobscot Valley and the Maine Coast"; and "The History of Secondary Education in Androscoggin and Franklin Counties."

University News

Still another bulletin is called "News For Alumni and Friends." This bulletin, containing eight pages, is published three times a year and is sent to 25,000 University of Maine alumni and friends. It contains news and feature material about the University.

Publications of interest to persons associated with technical occupations are distributed each year by the Technology Experiment Station.

Papers written by faculty members in chemistry and engineering which are published in trade journals are reprinted by the Station and sent to libraries and other universities throughout the country.

Popular Papers

One of the most popular of these papers was one written by the late Prof. H. Walter Leavitt entitled "Katahdin Skylines." First published in 1942, it has become so popular with Mt. Katahdin climbing enthusiasts that two more printings were necessary to meet the demand for the booklet. Another Technology Experiment Station publication which has been printed three times is one by Prof. Joseph Trefethen of the University entitled "Maine Minerals." More than 1,000 of these two publications have been sent to interested citizens.

The offices of the Agricultural Extension Service and the Agricultural Experiment Station are two of the busiest on campus.

There is no regular schedule for Extension Editor Reynolds.

"We publish material according to the need," Reynolds said. "For example, it became apparent two years ago that a complete story should be told about the growing Maine poultry industry. Within a short time, we had a publication ready for interested farmers and businessmen."

Research Reports

Dave Tolman, who is editor of the Agricultural Experiment Station, publishes material compiled from research projects carried out by members of the Station staff.

Four times a year Tolman publishes a progress report entitled: "Maine Farm Research." Articles in the latest report covered such topics as "Why Antibiotics Increase Growth Rate," "Chicken Fat Improves Broiler Feed," "Mechanical Snap Bean Picker On Trial," and "Frozen Chicken 'n' Gravy."

In addition, he publishes a great many research project reports, such as "Processing Lobster and Lobster Meat For Freezing and Storage," "Milk In Local Maine Markets," and "Mineral Accumulation In Potato Plants."

The many publications which are written by the four offices mentioned above make up a major portion of the printed matter which comes forth from the University each year.

In addition, thousands of news releases are sent out to newspapers, radio stations and television stations by the four offices. Radio tapes are cut and television programs are planned and carried out. Filmstrips are made.

Although not a University publication, the Maine Alumnus is a campus production. The student newspaper, The Maine Campus, is still another as is The Prism, the junior yearbook.

Time, money and hours of careful planning go into each and every publication.

It's a demanding task, but the end certainly justifies the means. Just ask the woman next door who is making good use of a bulletin from the Extension Service on "Furniture Refinishing In The Home!"

He has also worked in San Francisco for the company.

Ralph M. Conner ’03 of Los Angeles, Calif., recently received one of engineering’s highest honors. He received a “Golden Beaver Award” for outstanding achievement in engineering supervision by the Beavers Association. The award read in part, “…the life of Ralph M. ENGINEERING ALUMNI will be interested to know that the College of Technology will be in need of several new staff members next year. In an institution of Maine’s size, opportunities for advancement are good and no alumnus need be told about the good features of living in Maine even if it is not Florida in the wintertime!

Positions open for the 1958-59 year are as follows:
- Chemical engineering, one instructor;
- Civil engineering, one instructor;
- Electrical engineering, two instructors;
- Mechanical engineering, one associate professor, one assistant professor and two instructors;
- Engineering graphics, one instructor.

If any alumnus would like to return, and can qualify, or if any alumnus knows of any well qualified men from other institutions who might like to come to the university, they should contact the proper department head or the dean immediately.

Dean Paul Cloke, former head of the College of Technology at the University, has been appointed chairman of the Prize Paper Committee of District 12 of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Dean Cloke holds the grade of "Fellow" in the Institute, which is the highest grade a member can attain.

Dean Cloke, who is retired, resides on Forest Avenue in Orono.

An alumnus of the university has presented a copy of the Massachusetts Bay Charter to the university library.

William T. Faulkner ’16 of Elsinore, Calif., presented the valuable book to Louis T. Ibbotson, university librarian. The copy was originally owned by an ancestor of Mr. Faulkner. It was published in 1761 and contains also the acts of the colony courts up to that time.

Charles E. Bartley ’43, formerly of Greenville, is president of the company which developed the fuel which recently sent America’s satellite into outer space.

He is president of the Grand Central Rocket Company of Redlands, Calif. After graduating from the university, he was employed by the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena. In 1951 he joined the Grand Central Aircraft Company and was instrumental in forming the rocket division of the firm. In August, 1954, the rocket division was made a separate company and Bartley was named president.

Temple University recently dedicated a new women’s dormitory in honor of Miss Gertrude D. Peabody ’20, who is dean of women at Temple. The dormitory, which culminated a year of fund-raising by alumnus of Temple, cost $1,350,000. It has five stories and houses 300 women.
Students, Colleges Benefit Under Plan Of New England Cooperation

Maine students are benefiting from preferential admission and lower tuition at the five other New England state universities in 20 specialized programs not now offered at the University of Maine.

By pooling their resources the six state universities are able to increase the number and variety of educational opportunities for all New England residents without duplicating high-cost facilities and highly qualified staff in each state.

Instate Tuition Fees

Details of the regional plan, which was developed with the assistance of the New England Board of Higher Education, are available in folders which have been distributed to high schools by the university. Under this new cooperative program, qualified New England residents are given preferential admission at other state universities in certain specialized programs not available at their own state universities. Students accepted in these programs are also eligible for in-state or resident tuition and fees, which are considerably lower than those charged out-of-state students.

For a program beginning at the freshman level, the student applies directly to the institution offering it. For other programs he applies as a regional student at the level at which the specialized courses are introduced — sophomore, junior, senior, or graduate. A regional student receives his degree from the university at which he completes his studies.

Each university designates which of its programs are to be regional and maintains control over its own courses. Representatives from cooperating universities work together on programs involving more than one institution. No funds are exchanged among the universities.

Programs Available

Regional programs available to Maine students include the following: at the University of New Hampshire — hotel administration, art, art education, and occupational therapy; at the University of Vermont — commercial education, secretarial science, and dairy manufacturing; at the University of Massachusetts — dairy manufacturing, food technology, industrial engineering, landscape architecture, and public health; at the University of Rhode Island — marine biology, pharmacy, textile chemistry, and turf green management; at the University of Connecticut — anthropology, art, art education, insurance, law, pharmacy, physical therapy, and social work.

Specialized programs offered by the University of Maine to residents of certain other New England states include agricultural engineering, forestry, physical education for women, pulp and paper management, pulp and paper technology, wildlife management and conservation, chemical engineering, and entomology.

University Honors Dr., Mrs. Hauck

The University of Maine paid tribute to Dr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Hauck on March 27 in recognition of their 24 years of service to the state university.

Dr. Hauck, who was named president emeritus by a vote of the board of trustees, and his wife were awarded honorary degrees at a special convocation which was held in Memorial Gymnasium.

Dr. Hauck received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree and Mrs. Hauck was awarded an honorary Master of Arts degree.

Governor Speaks

Governor Edmund S. Muskie was the featured speaker at the convocation which was attended by students, faculty, trustees, and friends of the former president and his wife.

The series of events honoring the couple actually began March 26 when the pair were guests of honor at a dinner given by faculty members. A highlight of the evening was the presentation of a gift to the couple. An informal reception followed the dinner.

Dr. Raymond H. Fogler '15, president of the board of trustees, presided at the convocation.

Trustees and members of the Alumni Council also held a luncheon for the couple on March 27. Gifts were presented to the guests of honor by both groups.

Five former University of Vermont students are attending the University of Maine for the last two years of the forestry program. Designed to save funds for both institutions, the arrangement is part of a growing program of regional cooperation in education.

Seek Hoop Coach

The University Athletic Board is currently examining a large number of candidates for the position of varsity basketball coach, which Hal Woodbury '37, gave up at the end of the recent campaign.

Woodbury stepped down on March 15, which set the stage for a wide-open race for the position.

In three seasons as Maine hoop boss under trying conditions, Woodbury compiled a record of 20 wins, 38 losses. His 1957-58 team had the best mark, 8-12. The Bears won their last five games.

Woodbury will continue with his regular duties, which he has shared with those of being a coach. He is an associate professor of physical education. In addition to teaching a full class load each day, he serves as assistant trainer and assists with the intramural program.

The new coach will find many veterans on hand for the 1958-59 season. Eight members of this year's 10-man team will be back, as well as members of Jack Butterfield's ('53) undefeated freshman team.

Eye Great Season

Maine's four spring sports teams, all sporting veteran lineups, are looking forward to highly-successful campaigns at this writing.

Let's look at the prospects:

Baseball

Coach Jack Butterfield's ('53) varsity baseball team has returned from its annual southern trip. The Black Bears played seven ball games, most ever, and came home with four victories and three defeats.

The Bears whipped Navy, 9-5, Columbia, 3-1, Maryland, 7-6, and the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, 9-3. Losses were to Navy, 4-2, Rutgers, 6-2, and Fairleigh-Dickinson, 17-3.

All in all, it was a good trip. Butterfield learned that his weak spots were hitting (a .213 team average) and infield play (22 errors). With the exception of the game with Fairleigh-Dickinson, the pitching was very good. The earned run average was just over the 3. mark.

Catcher Chuck Eberbach of Brewer led the team at the plate with a .333 mark. He cracked a pair of fence-clearing home runs, two more than the entire team hit last year. Jack McCabe, utility infielder, hit .308 and sophomore infielder Bob Webber hit .300.

Golf

Golf Coach Charlie Emery has his top two men back from last year, Steve Getchell of Wilton and Ronnie LeClair of Orono.

Getchell, who is captain of the team, has an 8-2 record in matches last year while LeClair had a 6-4 record. Other men returning are Wayne Gilman of Orono (1-0), Bill Finch of Saco (2-2), Wayne Sanborn of Bridgton (4-6), George Hansen of Peaks Island (4-6), Bill Lynch of Holyoke, Mass. (2-3), and Sid Hawkes of Orono.

The only players who graduated from last year's team were Webber was 0-2. Last year's team won 3, lost 7, but the losses were close ones. In 70 individual matches, the opposition won 40 to Maine's 30.

Tennis

Turning to tennis, Coach Larry Van Peursem '49 also has a host of lettermen back from the 1957 team which won 3, lost 8.

Each from last year, and their record in singles competition, are Bob McKown of Wellesley, Mass. (2-9), and Bernard Cope of Portland (0-4).

Top men who graduated were Lew Janicola (10-1), John Bridge (3-4), and Dick Alin (4-7).
Local Associations

1909 Mr. Fred D. Knight

W. Hartford 7, Conn.

Everett Southwick still lives at Kimball Bird Sanctuary. His interests are the woods, the woods, the woods. He calls it "where he is "trying to keep the place up and his waistline down." He enjoys the thrill of the occassional "sighting" of a rare bird and is looking forward to the latest to call on him. He relates an experience which will recall an important (at that time) event when he came to the door of a fellow student who was working in the cooper business, then returned to care for his aged mother. Southwick's mother has gone he married, and been called to the door of a fellow student who turned the key and said to the student, "Hello, this is the first and only one of our group he had seen since that night." Thank you, Everett, for recalling this happy event for us.

Since terminating your notes regarding Everett Southwick, your reporter made a brief but very pleasant Christmas call on him. He does, indeed, "live in the woods," as he has eyes and ears attuned to the wild. Everett lives in a roomy, comfortable home which he keeps immaculately. That he is a good cook was attested by the aroma of a fine Christmas dinner coming from the kitchen. It was good to have this nice chat with "South" after a lapse of 48 years since last we had seen each other.

1910 Albert Beliveau, Supreme Court Justice of the State of Maine, retired March 25th, two days before his 71st birthday, and went to the Lewiston firm of Brann and Isaacson. He has had a wonderful career and is a great credit to 1911.

Illustrous Class of 1913

Classmates—In just another month the 45th year of our graduation will be here. By this time you should have received my letter of March 1st with enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope directed to me telling me whether you are coming or not. Thirty-one of you have availed yourselves of this post-free "come-on" to let me know if you are going to make it. Eleven have indicated that they are coming: (three exceptions), Dennis F. Getchell, Meyer W. Epslen, Woodbury L. Berend, Henry H. Law on Ober, Clifton E. Chandler, George E. Young, William H. Merrill, *William J. McCarthy, Ernest T. Savage, Hubert M. Wardwell, Edward W. Jenness, J. Atwood Tabor, Forrest B. Ames, John H. Carleton, *Philip S. Bolton, Edward S. Redman.

"Berry," "Blondy" and "Eddy" have indicated that they might be on a tripful list but I’ll bet a plugged nickel they will be here after they find out the fun we are going to have. Everett Southwick indicated by letter from Cincinnati, Ohio, of sickness in the family. We hope all will be well by June, "Barry," and you can come along. "Blondy" and "Eddy" were too exci, just too lazy to make up their minds

Mrs. Melvin H St Clair writes from 2605 Cleveland St., Tampa 9, Fla., that Melvin is confined to a wheelchair and cannot come. Thank you for the contribution and be sorry he won’t be here. Anyone reading this message would give Mel a break by dropping him a card, please do.

A letter will be sent to you in May giving full line-up of events. If you have not replied to me, please have the courtesy of letting me know in the self-addressed stamped envelope: the deadline is May 30th, Rooms, meals and everything for your comfort is available, but we have got to know if you are coming and send along a back, a smol, or better yet, your check. Thanks for bearing with me this long.

SEE YOU IN JUNE—SURE
any alumnus of our University has been in closer touch with its development, or knows more of its future plans. After graduation in 1917, Charles first served as assistant state leader for the 4-H Clubs, later serving as executive secretary of the Agricultural Extension Service. In 1926 he was named executive secretary of the General Alumni Association, and held this post for 18 years. During World War II he was business manager of the University, and later became director of student and public relations. In 1954 he was appointed assistant to the president. I know every member of our class will want to personally wish him happiness in this new position.

I have been watching the mail all winter for letters from our members who are enjoying vacations in far away places. Certainly some of you have been through some interesting places and have met other classmates during your travels, so please write us about your experiences.

I had a card from Elwood Clapp recently; he and his wife have been spending a month in Florida, two weeks at the Colony Hotel in Delray and two weeks at the Bellevue-Hiltman in Clearwater. Please keep some news coming my way; I cannot keep up an interesting column without your help.

In case you haven’t seen the news elsewhere, Don Libby, Portland district manager of the Central Maine Power Co., has been named military advisor to Secretary of the Army Brucker. Since Don was a veteran of two World Wars he is well able to handle the position.

Robert Moore’s daughter, for our class fund, but does not say whether he is going to be around for Commencement or not.

In answer to the many inquiries regarding our 40th Reunion, I can say that definitely a dinner is being planned on campus in Estabrooke Hall at 6:30 p.m., June 6. Another general letter will be sent out, but those planning to attend, and it’s hope there are, should either notify Walt Creaner or me as soon as their plans are made. From the returns so far we will have the biggest reunion which 1918 has ever had. Start planning now!

Hazen H. Ayer, President of Standish-Ayer, and McKay, Inc. of Boston, was recently interviewed by Mr. Goodwin of U. S. News and World Reports on investments. The article consisted of direct questions and answers. Hazen gave good advice to the average investor. Cautious but firm procedure toward the long-time investments seems to be indicated at this time.

During March the Littles had a quick trip to England where Dr. Little is helping the British with the planning of critical experiments on tobacco and health. It was fascinating to talk with some of the British scientists, medics, and top business leaders in England. We had an ideal trip over on the Queen Elizabeth and ... enjoyable crossing back on the S.S. America. It was the first time we had ever been on an American trans-Atlantic ship.

Hi—shall we see you all at Alumni Day? June 7 in Orono.

I received a message from Theodore ("Spin") Rowe in the form of a poetical Christmas card. I should appreciate it as is but I understand space is limited so these are the facts. "Spin" and his family live at Twin Lakes, Ken, N. Y., and have opened a station in High School. She hopes to go on to college for nursing training. The Rowes took a flying trip to Europe last year—see six countries in fourteen days.

Recently the town of Jefferson, Maine, completed additions to the school. At the time the school was opened to the public for inspection Kenneth Barker, as chairman of the school building committee, formally presented the school to the town.

"Chet" is very busy with his Y M.C.A. work and is chairman of vocational service committee of the Waterville Rotary Club, but finds time to spend on his hobby—ham radio working under the call W-I-OTQ usually on the 75 meter band phone.

Now here's a real honor to be nominated Ermine (Besse) Dolloff nominated for Maine Mother of the Year by the Orono Junior Wives Club. We are all proud of you, Ermine, and such a nice picture in the Bangor Daily News.

While I am the first of the many persons I saw at our 25th Reunion for the first time since our college days. She is now Mrs. Kenneth Smith and lives at 893 High St., Bath. It was pleasant meeting her at the class picnic and getting caught up on news of her. Marion taught school immediately after graduation from Maine, was married in 1935, and continues to teach to this day. Her daughter Lucy Lee was born a few years later (next year, if all goes well, Lucy Lee hopes to enter the U of M). Soon after Lucy Black Bear's Adventures on Twelve-Rod Road was born, Marion started to work, on her wilderness and consulting engineering operating his own business since 1949. Arvo and Mrs. Solander have three teen-age daughters.

Dr. James Bates of Eastport writes that he recently visited Art Jack at Kennebunkport. Art and his wife have a very fine home. Art was not able to leave his business last June in order to attend the reunion, which he regrets very much. Thanks for your letter, Jim, and I hope that other 32ers will

Time and space do not permit the mention that is certainly due all the 68 class members who have, to date, sent in their dues to help defray expenses on our 20th and BIG Reunion in June. (And the several who sent in additional monies for our 25th fund)

"Friends, Romans and Clasmatists," and presuming that we have no friens, the Romans being long gone, it would boil down to classmaters as a last resort. Inasmuch as this particular group seems to hesitate to admit that they are classmaters of anybody, I can certainly sympathize with you. Therefore, in a moment of extreme weakness, I am enclosing a check for $2.00, although I note it is far above the average of 5 cents per member per year."

Jo Profita sent a nugget: "Your original missal smacking of the penurious had the effect you desired. It really tugged at my heartstrings and I would have reached for my checkbook instantly were it not for the fact that my fickle mind was preoccupied with thoughts of my impending vacation. The result was that I left Bangor with alacrity, a light heart, and no thought whatsoever to the financial plight of the Class of 1938. Now that I have returned to reality and to my desk, I find myself confronted with your latest literary achievement, albeit quite a blow to unsuspecting and repose Keats, Shelley, Milton or pen-pushers of such ilk."

One item from the Alumni Office this month! It comes out of the Hill Church News at Hartford, Conn. Quote "Marjorie (Taylor '39) Applegate singing in the alto section of the Asylum Hill Choir, has sung previously with the University of Maine choral group and the Y.W.C.A. choral groups in Hartford. 1940 Mrs. Artemus Weatherbee (Pauline Jellison) 9302 Second Ave., Silver Spring, Md.

Spring has finally come to Washington, we hope. We celebrated our Cherry Blossom Festival last week with snow on the ground. It was a big thrill to have a Maine Princess chosen Queen of the Festival again.

We have received several interesting items from the Alumni Office. John Maines of Holden has been named manager of woodlands for the Great Northern Paper Company. John has been an employee of the G.N.P. since he graduated from Maine with a degree in forestry. He is a member of the City Club, and a director of the Bangor-Brewer Tuberculosis and Heart Association. He serves on the school committee and zoning board of Holden and is chairman of School Union #8. He is also a member of the Maine Tree Farm Committee of American Forest Products Industries and a director of the American Pulpwood Association. What do you do with your leisure time, John? Harold Dyer recently resigned from his position as director of the State Park Commission in Maine to become assistant general manager of the Taconic State Parks in New York. Harold, who was with the Maine Commission for over seven years, became director in June of 1930. His new office will be at Pittsfield, N. Y., in Baird State Park. He and his wife and two children will move from W Lewiston to Freedom Plains, N. Y.

Neil Bearce is a candidate for selectman in Foxboro, Mass. Neil's address is 43 Oak St., in Foxboro. He has been a school committee member and also served on building committees in the town. He is a carpenter by trade and has a son who is a senior in high school.

Richard Tremaine has been "found." His present address is Circle Drive, Martinsville, Virginia. In 1938 he was engineering representative for Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Pittsburgh. He has just returned from Germany where he was engineering representative for Westinghouse covering "Free Europe" with the exception of England. He has two children.

1941 Mrs. Constance P. Leger (Connie Philbrook) Philbrook Farm Inn, Shelburne, N. H.

Betty (Mack) Silvestro has saved me from a fate worse than death—no news! She, Clem, and 17 month old Elizabeth Jane live at 30 Melham Drive, Madison, Wis. They are both finishing their Ph.D. thesis in history this summer; Betty's work being in Russia, the Near East, and the Far East; and Clem's is in Civil War History of the U.S. They hope to come East next fall.

Nancy and I will be in Orono shortly to help celebrate the 50th Anniversary of A.O. Pi at Maine—there should be a lot of news flying around.

1942 Mrs. Gilbert Y. Tavenner (Betty Barker Kilpatrick) 18 Pleasant St., West Springfield, Mass.

It has been a real pleasure to be on the receiving end of the mail from many members of the class who have responded to the class letter which went out at Christmas time. We wish we could print it all up in one issue so you could all enjoy it as quickly as I have, but the space allotted per class in The Alumnus is limited. Therefore, you'll have to get the news piece-meal.

Front-page news concerning our class prexy, Bill Irvine! Bill has been named Dean of the newly established University of Maine in Portland. This school, as many of you already know, was formerly Portland Junior College. Congratulations from the whole class, Bill!

Searsport claims Susan (Abbott) Farris and husband, Roger, and four youngsters, Susan Jane, 10, Roger, Jr., 9, Dale, 6 (a boy), and Lorraine, 2 months (probably 3 by the time you read this?). Box 345 is their mail address and they live on Mosman St.

Wedding bells still ring occasionally for those of '42. Mrs. Eleanor Dennis Handheld became the bride of Dr. Earle B. Perkins in the Winthrop Congregational Church on New Year’s Eve. The groom is a graduate of Bowdoin College, Class of '23, and received a doctoral degree from Harvard. Both the bride and groom are employed at the Augusta State Hospital; she as secretary to the Chief of Male Service and he as a psychiatric social worker. Best wishes go to them.

In another area of vital statistics, Marion (Libby) Broaddus (40 Oakland Ave., Westbrook) had a fourth son, John Taylor, on January 24. Papa Broaddus is with the S. D. Warren Paper Co and Marion is currently serving as President of the Portland Club of University of Maine Women.

Reunion will be on June 6, 7, and 8, and since this is our fifteenth, let’s have a really big turnout.

15th Reunion, June 6-8, 1958
I had a letter from Dorothy (MacLeod) Bedard in which she mentions one of the incidental problems of Reunion—getting a baby sitter for her “four wild Indians.” Patrice (Ramsdell) West went to announce the birth of a third daughter to herself and Bruz. The young lady appeared on January 6, at DeWitt Hospital, Fort Belvoir, Va., and has been named Rebecca Anita. Bruz is presently president of the U. of M. Washington, D. C., Alumni.

Another Rebecca, Becky (Geoul) Wright, informs me that she and her husband are living at 3420 Warner Ave., Louisville 7, Ky., and that they have been in Louisville for two years now. They make an annual summer trip to Maine.

Harold Emerson is field representative of the York Mutual Insurance Co. in West Buxton. His territory is eastern Maine. He is assistant secretary of his company. He is married to the former Maureen Palmer of Island Falls, his home town, and they have a daughter, Jane, and a son, Harold III. The Ememsons make their home in Thomaston. Harold served briefly in the Navy as pharmacist. After the war, he worked in Massachusetts as associate state agent for the American Druggist Insurance Co. Later he was special agent in Maine and New Hampshire for Berkshire Mutual Fire Insurance Co., and later still he returned to Massachusetts as underwriting manager of the same firm.

Last June the Ememsons decided to settle in Maine again, and found themselves their present home at 43 Knox St., Thomaston.

Another Maine Man - on the way

Remember when it was you standing there? How you squirmed when your father saw that one bad report card. You're glad now that he made you buckle down — grateful that you were able to go on to one of the country's finest universities.

Naturally, you want to be just as farsighted about your own son's future. So now that he's one year closer to college — wouldn't it be wise to call your Massachusetts Mutual man and discuss the best insurance plan for his education?

And since this is the time for report cards and review, perhaps you should re-evaluate your own career. Are you as far along as a man of your ability should be?

For example, are you earning as much as $12,490 a year? That was the 1956 average income of 562 representatives who have been with the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company five years or longer.

They are men like you — men chosen for their fine education and background. All received thorough training and earned while they learned. Now they are established in a career that uniquely combines independence with stable income — plus the security of group insurance and retirement benefits.

If you would like to know more about this opportunity, write for a free copy of “A Selling Career”.

The First Newspaper

Portland's first regular newspaper was called the Falmouth Gazette and Weekly Advertiser. Volume I, No. 1, is dated January 1, 1783. Benjamin Titcomb and Thomas B. Wait were responsible for this endeavor, which continued from that date for some years after.

The first issue, which may be seen at the library of the Maine Historical Society, is of four pages, somewhat smaller than our present-day newspapers, but larger than what we know today as "tabloid" newspapers. It has a very deep masthead and three columns of type.

Even the first issue contained advertisements. One Abraham Osgood "from London" offers an assortment of "English Goods and Hard Ware to be sold FOR CASH SPEED at his Store on King-Street [now Congress]." In another, James Fosdick "at his Store in Middle-Street offers an assortment of English and West-India goods, Philadelphia Bar-Iron, New England Rum per Barrell . . . also for CASH."

Further on, William Pratt "from London has just imported in the brigantine John, a quantity of goods, for which cash will be given . . . inquire at the Store of Joseph McLellan and Son."

There's a "Public Notice that the Court of General Sessions of the Peace stands adjourned to Wednesday at three o'clock at the House of Mr. Alice Greele . . ."—evidently typographical errors being common in those days, as now.

The left hand column on the front page carries a notice:

"TO THE PUBLIC: From the generous encouragement of a number of Respectable Gentlemen in Falmouth . . . we have undertaken to Publish a weekly News Paper . . . We hope it will meet with General Approbation . . . ."

And this plea:

"Our Subscribers will recollect . . . this Gazette, three months in advance wants to be Paid on receiving the First Number. If to avoid the inconvenience of making just this Sum any Gentleman should be inclined to pay three Shillings, or any larger Sum, he shall be credited with the Same . . . and, as the Setting up of this Press has been attended with some extraordinary Expense, will be Thankfully received."
