When Sidney Miller became a New York Life representative, he gave up his first love, music—to concentrate on two goals: selling a million dollars of insurance protection, and earning his Chartered Life Underwriter degree, a designation given for successfully completing advanced study courses that help him give even better service to his clients. He has accomplished both of these objectives.

Sidney Miller, like many other college alumni, is well established in a career as a New York Life representative. In business for himself, his own talents and ambitions are the only limitations on his potential income. Additionally, he has the deep satisfaction of helping others. If you or someone you know would like more information on such a career with one of the world's leading life insurance companies, write:

Teachers' Scholarship

Honors Harland A. Ladd '25

In 1955, under the leadership of Howard L. Bowen '24, the University's Alumni Teachers Association raised a fund of $2,800, and presented the Harland A. Ladd Scholarship Fund to the University of Maine Foundation.

This splendid Scholarship Fund was designed by its alumni teacher donors to accomplish two purposes. First, the Fund pays tribute to the late Harland A. Ladd for his outstanding service to education as a teacher, principal, superintendent, and State Commissioner of Education. The second purpose of the Fund is to encourage young people to study at the University in preparation for teaching and to provide financial assistance for deserving students in education. Preference in the awarding of these scholarships is to residents of Maine.

Maine alumni in the teaching field throughout the State were joined by their friends in Parent-Teacher Associations, professional teacher groups, members of the State Board of Education, University classmates of Mr. Ladd, and other friends in making this fine tribute and scholarship program possible.

Mr. Ladd was serving as State Commissioner of Education, and a member of the University's Board of Trustees at the time of his death in 1952.
$52,900 Grant To Animal Pathology

A grant of $52,900 has been made by the National Institutes of Health to the Department of Animal Pathology, to study the activities of enzymes in healthy and in diseased birds. The project includes a specialized study of leucosis, a type of avian cancer.

The work will be carried on by Dr. Lois S. McDaniel, a graduate of the University of Illinois, who recently completed her master's degree program at the University. Dr. McDaniel holds a bachelor's degree and the degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine from Illinois. She will have the cooperation of Dr. J. Frank Witter, head of the department, Dr. Harold L. Chute, and Professor David C. O'Meara '52A, in the enzyme study.

Dr. McDaniel's project is an indirect result of a series of studies supported by the Lipman Poultry Company, Augusta, and by the Fort Halifax Packing Company, Winslow. Dr. Arian Zarkower worked under the Lipman fellowship, and the Fort Halifax studies were carried on by Dr. McDaniel and Dr. Chute. Both studies indicated the need for further research in enzymatic activity.

Dr. McDaniel's work will cover a three-year period. It will start immediately. When laboratory space is completed in the new animal science building, Hitchner Hall, Dr. McDaniel's project will be transferred to an area specially provided and equipped for the study.

Psychology Research Published

Dr. Alan Baron, assistant professor of psychology, is the author of a technical article on the learning of fear published in The Journal of Comparative and Physiological Psychology.

In his article, "Functions of the Conditioned Stimulus and the Unconditioned Stimulus in Fear Conditioning," Dr. Baron reports that after the animal subjects of his experiment had been trained to fear a stressful situation, they later displayed an equivalent degree of fear in other non-stressful situations.

This finding confirmed the hypothesis that fear may become a chronic emotional reaction that is aroused not only by those parts of the environment in which the fear has been learned but also in quite dissimilar surroundings.

"The results of this experiment fall in line with clinical observations of habitually anxious people who report feelings of fear no matter where they may be," Dr. Baron says.

"Such findings suggest, also, that parents who regularly use fear-arousing methods as a means of controlling the behavior of their children may be promoting the development of undesirable emotional states," he adds.

The experimental work described by Dr. Baron was conducted in the research laboratory of the Department of Psychology at the University and was supported by a grant from the Wilson Coe Research Fund.

University Store Gives Bowling Alleys

The stockholders of the University Store Company, at their annual meeting voted to give the University $5,002 toward the completion of the bowling lanes room in the Memorial Union, President Lloyd H Elliott announced recently.

This gift, together with previous Store gifts for the same purpose, creates a reserve fund of over $37,000 for use in finishing the room and installing the six bowling lanes. The total cost of the project is estimated to exceed $50,000.

In expressing appreciation for this gift, President Elliott pointed out that it is not only further evidence of the Store's interest in the Memorial Union but also most timely since plans are already underway to complete the unfinished areas in the Memorial Union, including the bowling game room.

The Store has been interested in the Memorial Union because of its significance and usefulness to the entire student, faculty, and alumni life of the University. Their first gift was in the amount of $10,000, made in 1947. Subsequent gifts have raised the total amount contributed toward this building to $60,569, not including a used soda fountain and other equipment which is being used in the Bears Den and which became available when a snack bar operated by the Store Company was closed.

The University Store Company is a non-profit corporation, the net operating surplus of which is given to such projects at the University as may be mutually agreed upon by the University Trustees and Administration and the Store stockholders. There are eleven stockholders, including four faculty members, four alumni, and three students.
James Gannett '08 Receives Pulp-Paper Award

The University Pulp and Paper Foundation presented its 1960 honor award in New York, on February 24, to James A. Gannett '08, resident secretary of the foundation and retired registrar of the University.

Over 150 alumni connected with the pulp and paper and allied industries gathered in the Biltmore Hotel to pay tribute to Mr. Gannett.

The citation inscribed on the plaque presented to Mr. Gannett reads as follows: “Presented to James A. Gannett, registrar emeritus and honored alumnus of the University of Maine; resident secretary of the University of Maine Pulp and Paper Foundation for seven years. His devoted service to the foundation, together with his ability, friendliness, and humility, have won for him the lasting admiration and affection of his associates who are proud to claim him as an adopted son of the pulp and paper industry.”

Alumni were welcomed to the luncheon by Robert N. Zabe '50, an engineer with Charles T. Main, Inc., Boston.

The speaker for the luncheon was William M. Hall, President of Charles T. Main, Inc., who discussed the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Those at the head table besides Mr. Gannett, Mr. Zabe, Mr. Hall, and Mr. Obei were Charles E. Crossland '17, Vice President of the University; J. R. Lentz, President of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry; Professor Lyle C. Jenness '25A, Head of the Department of Chemical Engineering; Frederic A. Soderberg '25, Vice President of the Pulp and Paper Foundation; and Dr. T. Russell Woolley, Executive Director of the General Alumni Association; and Mr. P. E. Nethercut, Secretary of TAPPI.

Previous honor award recipients were also seated beside the head table.

Nominations for the 30th annual award of the Alumni Service Emblem should be submitted to the Alumni office by May 1.

Established in 1930 for "recognition of outstanding service rendered through the Alumni Association to the University of Maine," the Service Emblem has through the years gained the highest prestige by virtue of the outstanding alumni to whom it has been awarded.

Any alumnus or alumna is eligible to receive the Service Emblem which is based on the number and high quality of services rendered to the University and the Alumni Association. The Service Emblem is primarily for an alumnus but may in "exceptionally meritorious instances be awarded to a non-alumnus."

Former recipients of this prized emblem are:

John H. Magee ’17 Text To Be Published In Japan

The Life Insurance Institute of Japan has signed a contract with Richard D. Irwin, Inc., publishers of the Life Insurance text of John H. Magee ’17 of Bangor for a Japanese translation. This is the second of Mr. Magee’s texts to be translated into a foreign language. General Insurance was translated into Spanish and enjoys a wide circulation in Mexico and Spanish speaking countries of South America.

Mr. Magee is Director for Maine of the Federal Housing Administration and was formerly an Assistant Professor of Economics and Sociology at the University.

Mr. Magee’s texts, General Insurance, Life Insurance and Property Insurance were written while he was teaching at the University. The text first appeared in 1936. All of them have been revised several times and enjoy a wide use in colleges and universities and the educational divisions of insurance companies.

Mr. Magee was graduated from the University of Maine in 1917. He has an M.A. degree in Economics and Sociology and an M.S. degree in Psychology. He was commissioned in the Navy at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and served with the Atlantic Fleet during the first World War. He was injured in active service and retired as a Lieutenant Junior Grade with service connected disability. He has served continuously as Director for Maine of the Federal Housing Administration since 1936.

A Tribute To Frederick W. Conlogue '10

By Dimon E. Merrill '10

Frederick W. Conlogue '10, came down from Houlton, Maine, in the fall of 1906 and enrolled at the University, graduating with the class of 1910 with a B.S. in E.E. After spending a few years with the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, he went west and settled in California, going into the real estate business.

Since his retirement several years ago, he now resides in Boulder Creek, California. P. O. Box 61 completes his mail address.

"Freddie," as he was always called by campus friends, was a very serious and modest chap thoroughly devoted to the purpose for which he had entered the University, namely to prepare himself for attaining a worthwhile place in the business world.

He certainly has attained his goal, and has been very successful, not only in earning but also in saving a sufficient amount of worldly goods. It is unique and wonderful that he has used the products of his success to assist many young people in their struggles to obtain a college education. He has done this through direct gifts, feeling that he wanted to help now while he is living, rather than waiting to accomplish the same purpose by legacy as many people do.

In September, 1950, Fred started a scholarship at the University in his name in the amount of $2,000.00, with the understanding he would give the same amount each year thereafter, which means that this scholarship now amounts to $20,000.00, exclusive of earned interest.

In 1949 he established a $1,000.00 per year scholarship for deserving students at the University of Santa Clara, California, and has added to this amount each year so that the fund now totals $11,000.00.

He definitely plans to continue his yearly contributions to these two scholarships indefinitely and in the same amount yearly.

Fred also has aided two relatives in their successful quest for M.D. degrees. He helped Mrs. Conlogue give financial aid to six college students. These were former students of Mrs. Conlogue when she was teaching preparatory school after having graduated from Mills College.

The Conlogues' yearly contributions have also been generous to many charitable causes, including Red Cross, Aid to foreign and United States children's organizations, needy and homeless children, and some religious organizations. Their gifts in this area have regularly exceeded the 30% tax deduction allowable.

Fred's philosophy together with his love for young people and his generosity to them when a few hundred dollars means so much, certainly should give every reader of this article enough to think about for some time. The resulting conclusion is bound to be: "What a wonderful chap, and what a tremendous amount of good he is doing with the means that he has in excess of his family needs."

I, personally, am very grateful to Fred for allowing me to present these facts to the Alumni of Maine. I feel sure all 1910ers will be proud that "Freddie" Conlogue was one of our classmates at Maine.

Congressional Interns
Breakfast Guests

Having spent six weeks on the job, the four Congressional interns from the University of Maine are now firmly established in the Washington routine. Their days are filled with office work, attendance at Congressional sessions and hearings, evening classes, and sight-seeing.

Taking time out from their busy schedule, they attended a breakfast in the Capitol on March 8, as the guests of Congressman and Mrs. McIntire. Dr. Arthur A. Hauck, former president of the University, and Mrs. Hauck were also guests.

Dr. Hauck, presently the director of the Washington International Council of the American Council on Education, answered the interns' many questions on its major functions and aims. The four students had been freshmen during Dr. Hauck's last year at the University and enjoyed this informal get-together with the greatly beloved past president.

By President Lloyd H. Elliott

At the second of three meetings scheduled to celebrate the 100th year since the birth of John Dewey, President Lloyd H. Elliott spoke to the Philosophy Club on Dewey's philosophy of education.

The meeting, held at the new Physics Building, featured a brief movie showing the development of the American school system and five minute talks by Darrell Shibles, Margaret Green, Clement Rowe, and Bruce Yeaton on Dewey's ideas about life and education.

The third and final meeting will be held on April 18th, with Dr. George Dykhuizen, Professor of Philosophy at the University of Vermont as the principal speaker. Since John Dewey was a graduate of the University of Vermont, Dr. Dykhuizen's appearance will be especially appropriate to the theme of the celebration.

Also of note in the series is that Dr. Ronald Levinson, head of the Philosophy Department, who was one of the speakers of the first meeting in December, had a personal interest because Dewey was a close friend of the Levinson family.

Whether or not John Dewey had any effect on higher education is another one of those complex questions in the Humanities and Social Sciences about which a person may have opinions but most observers would concede that proof is difficult. I happen to be one who feels that Dewey has had far less effect on education at all levels than many either give him credit for, or condemnation. At the time of Sputnik, America needed a scape-goat and John Dewey was very handy. He, plus the schools, served as timely therapy for self-appointed experts, shallow patriots and headline probbers.

We are all aware that John Dewey made some very profound observations with regard to education and helped in an academic way to call attention to some of the shortcomings of the educational system. Most of what he wrote has been misinterpreted and much of what he hoped for in education never came to pass either in so-called progressive education or in the more traditional brand.

I should like to discuss tonight for a few minutes one of the central tenets of Dewey's educational philosophy, recognizing that Dewey was a pioneer psychologist, a great philosopher as well as an isolated educator. In doing so, I am picking only one idea and answering that today by asking the question: Is Education any more relevant today than it was when Dewey began writing? Dewey saw the whole of life organized around the idea that education is a life-long process beginning with pre-natal attention and ending only when life itself has come to a close. Dewey, undoubtedly, had a part in this trend but the trend was so all-pervading in this twentieth century philosophy of ours that whether or not Dewey we would still be headed in the same direction. Dewey gave some philosophical direction to our energies. He interpreted, as a philosopher can, the things about him. He pointed to some of the inconsistencies in education which had to be corrected if education were to play its role, and Dewey offered the most serious intellectual challenge to an education set apart from the rest of society that had been offered up to his time. His own philosophy served to expose the limitations of the contemplative education without action and I might add caused Robert Hutchins to swing at the wind on many occasions.

In the final sense, I suppose the most important idea that Dewey developed for all of society and for education was the idea that in a democracy education must be relevant to the individual's problems and interests and relevant to society's strengths and ills. In other words, if the people are to govern themselves their education must be relevant to their problems. In fact, maintained Dewey, a democratic way of life cannot survive with-
History Professor Writes Popular Book

Glover was one of Washington's most reliable generals. He was Johnny-on-the-spot in a brilliant operation sometimes called "America's Dunkirk" in 1776, when he and his mariners helped rescue 9000 patriots trapped inside a tiny defense perimeter on Brooklyn Heights with their backs to the sea. As one British military man noted, those who appreciate the difficulty of this feat "will be the first to acknowledge that this retreat should hold a high place among military transactions."

Billias also brings out the little known fact that Glover deserves equal credit for his fighting on land. His gallant delaying action against a British landing force at Pelham Bay against odds of five to one probably saved Washington's army from encirclement. At Saratoga it was Glover's suggestion that a series of harassing attacks be launched that restricted British reconnaissance and contributed to the eventual victory of the American forces. At Quaker Hill in 1778, Glover's men threw back the British to prevent the American retreat from Rhode Island from becoming a rout.

Glover's Marbleheaders, the book makes clear, were one of the most colorful and effective outfits in the American army. It was composed almost entirely of sailors and fishermen. These soldier-sailors became known as the "amphibious regiment" because they frequently used their sea-going skills to aid the patriot cause.

As Billias states about the general and his men, "Wherever American fighting men engage in modern amphibious warfare, they are following in the footsteps of the little Marbleheader whose soldiers made military history almost two centuries ago at Long Island and Trenton."

Although born and raised in Massachusetts, Billias considers himself a Maine author. Most of his book was written at the University library and with financial assistance from the Coe Research Fund.

The Glover book is not Billias' first publication. He has written widely for both scholarly and popular journals, having published more than fifteen articles, including one for the February 1960 issue of American Heritage. His monograph on colonial currency was published in the University of Maine study series last year. Nor will the Glover book be his last, for Billias is already hard at work on another biography.
Your Editors Ask

Is There A Cultural Lack At Maine?

Not at all... Only a place for the cultural arts to achieve appropriate expression is lacking on campus. The future Hauck Auditorium will fulfill this need. Selected comments from leaders on campus whose interests will be concerned with the auditorium are presented here in support of this view:

"The University of Maine has now reached the size where a facility such as the new auditorium is greatly needed to serve the instructional program as well as the extracurricular program of the campus. We anticipate that regular use will be made of the facility for teaching and for administering examinations. An auditorium of the kind planned is not a luxury but a practical necessity to the University campus."

LLOYD H. ELLIOTT
President, University of Maine

"The present size of the University's Little Theatre is such that if a production were to be viewed by the entire student body it would need to be presented on approximately 15 successive nights before everyone would have had an opportunity to see it.

"On many occasions, there is a need for an auditorium seating 300 to 1,000 people. When speakers, who would be of interest to a good share of the University, are brought to the campus there is no desirable place for them to speak.

"The Maine Speech Festival for High School Students brings 300-350 young people to the campus. Because of the lack of an adequate auditorium, they now have to be split into two groups where one-half of the awards are made simultaneously to each half of the total group.

WOFFORD G. GARDNER
Head, Department of Speech

"The gallery facilities of the Hauck Auditorium will make it possible to present larger and more impressive art exhibitions. I visualize the auditorium as a marvelous center where the fine arts may be experienced in close relationship, under ideal conditions."

VINCENT A. HARTGEN
Head, Department of Art

"There is a crying need for a concert hall at the University of Maine. Memorial Gymnasium is impossible both acoustically and in its appointments. The complete lack of facilities precludes the performance of many works by student groups and visiting artists. The Hauck Auditorium will enhance immeasurably our effectiveness in teaching and will provide a place for events which will deepen and enrich our cultural life."

Five Alumni Coach Winners

The high school basketball tournament fever, recently climaxed by Lewiston High's close try for the New England Championship, brought one fact to light which can only be considered as a confirmation of the good work done in the University's Department of Physical Education.

The coaches of all the championship teams, and of the teams in the runner-up spot, were alumni, with one exception. The teams, their class, final position, and their coaches are as follows:

Small school: winner, Mt. Desert; coach, Bernard B. Parady '53; second, Kingfield; coach, Carl Mores.

5. Most points scored in one game, 49 vs. Rhode Island (old record was 39 by Keith Mahaney in 1956-57 season vs. Massachusetts and in 1953-54 season vs. Bates).
6. Most field goals scored in one game, 49 vs. Rhode Island (old record was 39 by Keith Mahaney in 1956-57 season vs. Massachusetts and in 1953-54 season vs. Bates).
7. Most free throws made in one season, 116 by Skip Chappelle (old record was 101 vs. Colby in early part of 1959-60 season). In addition to scoring the most points on the team, Chappelle also finished with the best floor shooting and foul shooting averages. He hit on 47 per cent of his floor shots (185 of 394) and 79.9 per cent of his free throws (107 of 134).

Top rebounder on the club was Larry Schiner '61, who grabbed 231 for an average of 10 per game. Schiner also rated as the "cleanest" player as he committed the fewest personal fouls for the second straight year—44.

CORRECTION

In last month's Alumnus athletic pages we incorrectly identified the Bangor Daily News representative who was presenting the Coach of The Year Award to Bernard Parady '53, as Bill Warner '56. The cutline under the photo should have named Blaine G. Davis '60 as the Bangor Daily News representative. Apologies are extended to both Bill and Blaine.

ALUMNUS BREAKS RECORD

Dan Rearick '59 smashed the Maine indoor mile record at the AAU Meet at Bowdoin recently with a time of 4:13.3. The former record for the indoor mile was 4:33.2. Later in the same meet, he established a new record in the two mile run with a time of 9:45.2.

The 4:13.2 time for the mile run indicates a strong possibility of Dan's being the first Maine runner to beat the four minute mile on the outdoor track.

Having graduated with a B.S. in Civil Engineering, he is now working on his B.S. in Mechanical Engineering and is not available to Coach Styrna as a member of the University team.

Maine Skiers Win Three Meets

The Maine winter sports team posted an impressive record this season, defeating such teams as RPI, Harvard, McGill University, and the University of New Brunswick. Team results in meets were as follows:

Colby Carnival (393.4 pts.)—1st
U. of Me. Carnival (390.3 pts.)—1st
State Intercollegiate (597.8 pts.)—1st
Binghamton Carnival (517.1 pts.)—5th
Eastern Intercollegiate Championship—6th

Charles Akers who made up the U.S. Olympic Team also took second places in the meets at Jackson, N. H., and Lyndonville, Vt. Captain Breton Russell qualified for N.C.A.A. competition in Montana and won the Skimeister award in the Colby, Maine, and State Intercollegiate meets.

Members of the 1959-60 Team are as follows:

The passing of "Jack" Frost (see Necrology) will recall to everyone those baseball games in his Freshman year between Maine and Colby at Waterville May 20, 1903, when the struggle went for 16 innings against the renowned pitcher "Jack" Coombs with the score of 3 to 2 How many of the many games played last 16 ornings without relief? The result was the more significant because Nil L. Violette '51L, the regular catcher, was on the side line because of an injury and "Nate" Chase '03, a center fielder, was called in relief and teamed up with "Jack" as his catcher before this game.

"Hal" Elliott has not retired yet but may be forced to do so due to his failing health. He reports that Megquier and Jones had sufficient steel to carry them through the steel strike and in experience with a little bit of skill and patience it was not very satisfactory because of inferior quality. "Hal" expects to return for the Dartmouth contests at Orono in June as his daughter, Mrs. Gilbert W. Stanford, will be celebrating her 25th Reunion.

A communication from Edith Charles Kimsey Goodrich (usually called "Cruney Joe") came on a hospital memorandum sheet, but without a title on it. He was supposed to have been in Arizona and the news is that he was having some trouble with 25 tiny stainless steel eye instruments on which he was endeavoring to engrave glasses in 3/12ths inch high letters. His diamond point tool was dull and he was threatening to send it to "Spoke" Evelin in St. Petersburg (Florida) to get a new one. After a couple of letters it was pointed out to Joe that he could enclose a page of poetry and write his names and line after line, "IT IS FINISHED," followed by all those who have read it. Joe did not write it but wished he had. In case you wish to find out about either of the above, his address is P.O. Box 32, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.

As of February 1, Charles E. Davis, Bridgton, was in Orange City, Fla. He called on "Gramp" and returned to Philadelphia before our "Little Reunion." Said he visited the campus several times while in Bangor he had a call on "Gramp." We hope to get some fresh fish, and, if lucky, I hope to see three ball games in the "Sally" league.

Thanks to W. T. "Bill" Faulkner '16, the Alumni Office is advised that G. Raymond Knight's winter address is Box 85, Altamonte Springs, Florida, and that his summers are spent at his cottage at Passapo Pond, Waterford.

Paul Libby writes that he is planning a visit back in Alexandria, Va., at his old address, 1801 Commonwealth Ave.

The Daily News of February 17, in its "Letters to the Editor" Column, has a letter from Robert 1. Arndt, retired minister of the family, written in high praise of former Senator William Pitt Fessenden from the State of Maine for his "statesmanlike and prophetic" stand against the impeachment of President Andrew Johnson. The letter is of special interest as Senator Fessenden is one of the forebears of Tom Fessenden of 1908.

Occasional calls on Prof. Charles P. Weston at the Hotham Convalescent Home on Bennoch Road, Orono, are both pleasant and informing. Henry, your classmates salute you!

On October 20 Helen (Stewart) Bradstreet and her husband celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Several old Maine friends were among the 40 or so people who were present to congratulate the happy couple. May we, your classmates, add our warmest good wishes for many more satisfying years together.

The Seventh Alumni Quarterly for November carries an article by our ever-busy Mary Ellen Chase regarding the Smith College Library which in November 1939 celebrated the 50th anniversary of its founding. The book review section, titled, gives many interesting and some amusing tales of the growth of the library from—"One room containing the two century Dictionary and two weekly newspapers"—to "one of the finest college libraries in the country. It now contains 430,000 books and in excess of 2,000 periodicals and newspapers. Bill Matschek reports that he has resumed, on a conserva-tive basis, his favorite pastime on the golf course. This is good news to all of us, Bill. The Bill Osgoods have recently purchased a second home in Hendersonville, N. C. They can now migrate with the weather from Deland to the counties of N. C., and for full measure spend a month or two in Maine in the late summer.

It is with much sadness that I learned of the death of one of our most loyal Class Mates and true graduates of the University of Maine. Frank H. "Pete" Lancaster is unique in that he sent in the single reply to our inquiry in an earlier issue of the Alumnus. We have to send our reports to Orono by the last of March for publication in the May Alumnus. I will give you more details about the men who are returning in the May Alumnus as their addresses are known to me.

I have just received a very interesting letter from "Freddie" Conlogue whose address is Box 61, Boulder Creek, California, which is located ten miles south of San Francisco. He has crossed the Mississippi 22 times on trips to the East Coast since adopting the West as his home country in 1917. He has spent five summers since 1947 with friends who have a camp near Island Falls, Maine, and at other times spent the winter in New Mexico or Arizona and the summer in California. It is, therefore, a real pleasure to meet him again at our Class Reunion, where we can all enjoy a good time together last summer. We wonder whether we need to wait until our 50th Reunion in 1962 before the 1912 Class gets together again. Pete's address is 24 Grove St., Bangor, Maine.

Class Mates:

In the January Column a brief resume was written of the humble beginning of the Iliustrous Class of 1913 and I commented at our meeting of Sept. 22, 1909, the Class contributed 524 for baseballs, paints etc., and went on to say that I thought the pans was probably going to be used to paint the Class Numerals on the Standpipe. Lo, and behold, I just received a masterful piece of writing in "The Maine Farmer" and you will all have a chance to hear it at the proper time. Thanks, "Fickly," for the real story of this event.

It is with much sadness that I learned of the death of one of our most loyal Class Mates and strong supporters of the University. Haines, Jr., USN, the Iliustrous Class of 1913 extends its deepest sympathy. True to God, his Country, and his University, Frank, we will miss you.

You'll quickly find the answer is growth. The signs of progress — and opportunity — are clear, whether your chosen field is engineering or other professional work. There is the day-to-day challenge that keeps you on your toes. There are new products, new areas for activity, continuing growth, and progressive programs of research and development.

For here telephone science is applied to two major fields — manufacture and supply for the Bell Telephone System, and the vitally important areas of defense communications and missile projects.

You'll find that Western Electric is career-minded... and you-minded! Progress is as rapid as your own individual skills permit. We estimate that 8,000 supervisory jobs will open in the next ten years — the majority to be filled by engineers. These will be corresponding opportunities for career building within research and engineering. Western Electric maintains its own full-time all-expenses-paid engineering training program. And our tuition refund plan also helps you move ahead in your chosen field.

Western Electric's needs include electrical, mechanical, chemical, civil and industrial engineers, as well as men in the physical sciences. You can get more information about Western Electric — and its many current needs for technical people — by writing College Relations, Room 200C, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York City 7, N. Y.

To change the pitch, I'm happy to report that Tom Borjesson has got a new job. He is town clerk in Richmond and likes it so well he is going to run again. I recently received a letter from Philip W. Lown who has recently made possible the creation of an Institute in Advanced Jewish Studies at Brandeis University. He has encouraged independent research on all branches of Judaic studies by offering fellowships to scholars of all faiths working on projects approved by the Philip Lown Institute.

Francis Heid is still going strong with the Bangor Symphony after many successful seasons. Also noticed recently that he was one of the timers at a local skiting contest.

Lous Schwester, a chemical engineer, is in a firm in New York City that makes specialty papers. In 1957 it merged with Kimberly-Clark Co. Recently he gave his $200,000 FM radio station (WBAI) to California's Pacific Foundation because he found it difficult to keep the programs on a high level on account of advertiser interference. It now operates entirely without commercials and depends on listener contributions to meet expenses. Now it has excellent music, intellectual and unconventional programs and panel discussions. He lives in New York City. He and his wife, former actress Lucille Lortel, the Off-Broadway Theatre—de Lys where the "Threepenny Opera" has been playing, are having difficulty getting cabs in the theater district, so he bought a Mercedes-Benz, had it equipped with a garage and roof light, paid for a license. He hired a driver with the same name as his, Louis Schwester, and offered him half the earnings if his wife could have priority on its services. The cab has a two-way phone to the car. It is difficult to summon it when she pleases. In Venice he found it difficult to get to his favorite barber in Norm Murphy, M.D., Augusta, writes, "Annually you urge me to make a disturbing decision, namely whether to attend our 40th Reunion, or my 35th from Harvard Medical or the spring meeting of the Moonseed Lake Piscatorial Research League. These all come on about the same date, and my prejudices slanted toward the last one. And added is the expectation of a new grandchild about then. Very confusing!

About—less to say each year—just watching the calendar rush by with amazing speed, with dates falling behind us all the time. On January 1, after 32 years practice in my home town, I was retired, by age, as Chief of Staff of our local hospital and now I can just treat patients there without meeting with building committees, fund drives, meetings with hospital inspectors, Sunday morning business, and so on, and so forth. It's going to seem very quiet. Our two oldest are married with children and our youngest still in school. She is seven years younger than the others and helps keep us mentally younger, at least. I recall thin last year we mortgaged the barn, but not the house. Built a new modern garage with electric door, etc., and found the new cars are 8 inches too long! Praise be, the old car is running fine. One of my business partners is Paul D. Giddings, M.D., U. of M. '29. The above is the total of news recently.

Don't forget to fill in the Questionnaires sent out by Kid and return them as soon as possible. All of the plans are proceeding, so hope a lot of you will be able to arrange your schedules to join us for our 40th Class Reunion.

In January the Associated Industries of Maine elected 'Frank Besse as Vice President. Myron and Ida have three grandchildren. Son Bob has a boy, Thomas, and Ruth lives not far from Ida, and I am sure the grandchildren play a most important part in the lives of Ida and Myron. "Kid" Potter is attending the annual meeting of the American Hearing Society, of which he is a director, in Detroit during May.

Many delightful experiences await a class secretary in the form of letters and phone calls from people whom we knew so long ago, and who are yet a part of us in our memories. I recently received a telephone call from Carl A. Sargent, who was one of the ushers at my wedding in 1926. Carl has just moved back here from New Jersey where he has been for some years (and still does) Boit, Dalton and Church, insurance business in Boston. Carl is a specialist in life, accident and health insurance, and a pilot in World War I, a letterman in baseball, and a member of ATO, where he was a roommate of Myron E. Watson '22, who is now in Boston, Dalton & Church, Myron tells me that his wife (Ida M. Collins '22) spends most of her time now at Dennis on Cape Cod, although they still retain their apartment at Longwood Towers, Brookline Myron and Ida have two children—Bob who lives at Glastonbury, Conn., and Ruth Potter '51 whose husband is the son of our old friend "Kid" (George A. Saiger) '24. The family lives in Sanford and has changed very little since 1922.

We are on a business trip and when we arrived at the Mayflower Hotel (Washington, D. C.) the alumni news items awaited us. Conrad E. Kennison also wrote a charming long letter expressing some ideas about 1924 having a "pre-fourth of July" reunion. I sure hope it is the real thing. It sounds like a happy innovation. He is in the home building, land planning, and real estate business in Augusta. He has also written a book about his Dad, who was a country doctor around the turn of the century period.

Upon the recommendation of the Maine Congress of Parents and Teachers Association, the Penobscot community submitted a petition to the Maine Legislature asking for a State Board of Character Building. Recently I was appointed as an alternate on the Maine State Advisory Committee on Certification and Teacher Preparation, and welcome any comments on the matter of Certification of Maine Teachers. It is a serious matter and the committees need the opinions of good people in many lines of work in order to act wisely and advise reasonably. My present address is Manchester, Maine. What are you waiting for, classmates?

Speaking of the Tarratine Club, at the annual meeting last month, Robert Haskell was named vice president. Also as president of the board of trustees of the Maine General Hospital, he cut the ribbon at the official opening of their $795,000 new wing. As president of the Bangor Hydro-Electric Co., he recently had an article in the Bangor Daily News, “Power-Light Industry Reaches Record Peak.” A few of the highlights—

A new housing development—Noyes Heights in Orono—has a distinct University of Maine atmosphere, as many of the people living there are engaged in teaching at the University. The first house built in this development was a six room Cape Cod house owned by Douglas Cooper, who attended the American Academy summer school at Rome and then the Vermont Summer school in Cummington, Mass. Some of which gave her a very pleasant and refreshing course in Roman History. She is hoping to be in Orono for Reunion.

For several years listed in the Marquis Who's Who of American Women has been the name of Dr. Mary (Harriett) Michal. She is very modest about this and claims she is not deserving, but from authentic sources comes word that she has really done more for the rehabilitation of the blind in Tennessee than anyone else. She was District Health Director in three counties and for the last five years her present address is 115 Hamer Ave., Waynesville, N. C.

Earle Webster was recently elected to the office of assistant rabbi, Anah Temple, Order of the Mystic Rose. He occupies the most sacred position. Bangor is one lucky community to have such a loyal citizen. I should really devote the whole day to him. It would be longer than usual and pretty good reading.

At a dinner meeting in the men's commons on March 8th the Class of 1925 officers were to discuss the 50th reunion plans. Show above, left to right are: (seated) Mansfield M. Packard, Waterville; Mildred (Brown) Schrumpf, Orono; Chester A. Baker, President, Waterville; Velma K. Oliver, Treasurer, Orono; J. Cecil J. Cutts, Orono; (standing) Claude H. Dr. Matthew E. Highlands, Head of the Dept. of Food Processing in the Maine Agr. Experiment Station at U. of M., will leave April 1 for a six month tour of Europe as research and industrial agency in the field of food technology. He will spend a portion of his sabbatical leave in England visiting labs and research organizations. The major part of Matt's time will be spent on the continent where his schedule will include visits to the leading research and development labs and commercial food processing establishments. Now and then there is a ray of hope that my pleas for news are being heeded. This time a nice letter from Albert Parker, Grand Hotel, Calcutta, India. He writes it was a previous trip to India that prevented him from being at our 30th Reunion. He has served there now in connection with the U. S. Forest Service and has the leg work involved in setting up an Indian Company to manufacture picture color slides. He has one gallon cans to 55 gallon drums. By the time this gets in print, he will probably be back on "Home Soil." I hope he is successful in landing some more news for me. Al is president of the New York Alumni Assoc. and plans to be back in time to get the spring dinner organized.

He included some interesting news of Arthur A. Smith whose name I find on the "lost" list, so he isn't any more. He is a frequent visitor to Maine in his cooperative work with state forest industries and Maine Tree Farm and Keep Maine Green programs. Although still retaining responsibility for the APFI's New England office at Boston he will also coordinate APFI's forestry educational program through the New York City and Baltimore fields. In addition to New England the eastern region includes New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware. Lovell lives at 20 Wast­way Road, Wayland, Mass.

Nan (Surface) Brand and her husband, Carl, spent last spring and summer in Europe. They visited Italy, Sicily, Greece, and Turkey during April, May and June. The next two and a half months they spent in Great Britain touring England, Wales, and Scotland by car. Nan reports a splendid trip. Her husband gets a bit long of her professorship at Stanford University and they should all be very proud of the University's School of Forestry and the Director. It is an excellent course and its graduates have maintained an excellent record. About one half of the graduating class in the last ten years has been from the U. S. Forest Service. The upper fourth of the class begins at a salary of $5,000 a year. For we were thirty years too soon, or is it never too late to learn?

I am sorry to report the death of Mary Evans, wife of Charles H. Evans. She died on January 14th, 1927, after suffering a heart attack. Mrs. Evans was serving as Secretary to Mrs. Reed, wife of our Governor, at the time of her death. We are deeply sorry and I extend the sympathy of the class to Charles, her husband.

Edward D. Johnson of Monmouth was recently elected Secretary-Treasurer of the State Florist Association at the annual meeting in Lewiston. Orchids to you, Ed. It's rather exciting making plans for our 30th Reunion on June 3, 4, and 5. Our president, Bill Daley, and our treasurer, Syl Pratt, are working in the Portland area, so some of you will be hearing from them shortly. Syl can be reached at the Casco Bank & Trust Co. or at 9 Ivy Road, Cape Elizabeth, if you want to volunteer your services or have suggestions to make this Reunion bigger and better.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Daley, Jr., of River­side Drive, Falmouth Foreside, were chaperons at the Beia Theta Pi House at Dartmouth College the weekend of the Dartmouth-Cornell game. Their son, Michael, is a senior at Dartmouth. Susan Daley is a senior at Falmouth High School. Lauren R. Bagley reports a change of address from Santa Monica to 22988 Brenford, Woodland Hills, Calif.

Dick Bradford, president of the Bangor Board of Realtors, reports that the sales of real estate in the Greater Bangor Area were at an all-time high in 1959. There are really booming around Bangor.

Here is the rest of Mrs. David Wilson's report on the "Four Cousins:" (Betty Barrows) ("Frankie" Dean) ("Whitey" Flood) ("Gus" Monotti)

By George, I'm beginning to feel that this column might need to be expanded to include more about the "Four Cousins." I have received news of 32s, 33s, 34s, and 35s, and I have been able to compile a short story about each year, which I hope you will enjoy.

1932 Miss Angela Monotti...
Had many answers to a little questionnaire I sent out—all of which will help fill this column with up-to-date and interesting news and info—so, hold on to your hats, here goes!

One of the first was from Tom Shannon, M.D. & Associates of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., with a snapshot of his fine four. Under extracurricular activities he says he spends 1/2 hour each Sunday A.M. trying to find U. of M. scores in N. Y. papers. Tom is director of Department of Anesthesiology at Nassau Hospital in Poughkeepsie. Says the only fact he has seen since graduation is Tubby Hedges. How that Tubby gets around!

Another from Al Laputz out in San Diego! Whatever happened to Alfred (Harpo) Swenson? We had a little promise on—his first son was to be named Alexander—my first son Alfred—as close as I could get was to Alfred the middle name! The wife wouldn't budge. The boy is now a Soph at Berkeley, studying pre-dental. As a senior in high school here, he was southern Calif. wrestling Champ of the 157 lb. class. I came out to Calif. in '48, and six years ago I went into real estate selling. Now I have my own license. Last Oc­tober started building homes for sale and so far have built ten Carol Ann, 13, is in junior high—plays violin real well. I'd like to hear from some of the 'Buddies.' Where is Swenson and Viola (Ralph) Creampuff Willey? By the way the son is in Theta Chi, same as Dad—a record of some kind? Father—Son—same frat, but miles apart.

From Ed Pierce of Griswold, Ohio: "Took my family to Bermuda last summer for our vacation and had a whale of a good time. Highly recom­mend it! We plan to be in Maine next summer at a cottage on Sebago Lake. Hope to drop in and see you while there."

Phil Nightingale from Patten claims the world's best fishing—he has a son at M. C. I. and an 8 year old girl at home. Naturally he is in potatoes and farm machinery.

And from up in Cattaragus, N. Y., comes word from that old friend bombshell, Merrill Shea—he is manager of a phlywood plant—has three children and is town supervisor.

26th Reunion, June 3-5, 1960

Have you started planning to attend our 20th? I went on a diet yesterday. Being forty is bad enough, but being fat and forty is unbearable. Don't forget to send those checks to Bill Treat. Margaret Mollison can recall the list of our current class officers. To refresh your memories they are—

President: Nathan Rich (Deceased Sept. 27, 1958); Vice President: Harry S. Nelson, Jr., 26 Marion Ave., North Adams, Mass.; Secretary: Dorothy Day, 78 Pilman St., Providence, R. I.; Treasurer: Edward R. Brann, Box 78, Hampden Highlands, Maine. Executive Committee: Albert Ann Pappelmeier, Robert Robertson, June Holmes, Kitty Stillard, John Maines and Charles Pierce. Let's all get busy and write letters and have ourselves the best reunion yet.

We received news of Leon Breton from the Soybean Digest of October 1959. Leon has been elected vice president of American Mineral Spirits Company of Chicago. He has been responsible for market survey activities and consumer research encompassing petroleum chemicals, petroleum de­rivatives, and solvents for this national marker of these petroleum specialties. Before going to Chicago Leon was manager of Amsoo's metropolitan division. His present address is: 331 Sunset Ridge, Northfield, Ill.

The Maine State Teachers Association has elected Thurlow Pitts as vice president. Thurlow is principal of Ellsworth High School.

Our new class agent system is bringing news to light constantly. We have the up-to-date information that Thelma Rainey is Mrs. George A. Paquette, has four children and is living at 2103 College Ave., Bangor.

The Bangor area classmates of 1947 are just about out of news, so how about a letter from you Alumni elsewhere?

I was really pleased to hear the first news since 1946 of Phyl Corneal, and to see a newspaper picture of her, which is rather like a young version of NBC's United Nations correspondent, Pauline Frederick. Phyl has been elevated to partnership status in the law firm of Alcorn, Bakewell and Smith, 750 Main St., Hartford, Conn., after being associated with them since 1955. She is also a member of the Hartford County and American Bar Associations and of the Committee on Administrative and Municipal Law. Congratulations, Phyl!

Our Christmas letter from Wendell brings us up to date on the Stickneys. The children are thriving. Elizabeth is now in high school and Wendell is active in theater in his spare time. At Christmastime he applied mostly to new product designs of molded pulp food containers for the Diamond National Corporation. The family enjoys the holiday season so much. What better place is there to spend a vacation? How about doing likewise and dropping in to see Wendell and his family?

One of the highlights of the day is picking up the mail at the P. O. It's sort of a matter of exchanging some correspondence with your Junior Partners — 27 Summit St., Woodland. Please bear with me as I try to "fill Margaret (McCurdy) Cook's shoes" for a few months. I certainly hope you'll write to me as I find a great dearth of news.

Dave '44 and Terry (Dumais) Gamber live at Rt. 5, Box 824G, Everett, Washington, with their four children: Joyce, 5 1/2, and Travis, 2, and twins, Karen and Kenneth, 10 months. Terry and Dave travel into British Columbia to do some fishing occasionally and Dave's short hair pointer is an excellent hunting companion. Terry does hospital work part time and is a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of British Columbia. She recommends "Grass Beyond the Mountains" as an intriguing book about life in the interior of British Columbia.

Phyl can't be the only '46er getting her picture in the paper, either. Connie Cooper, occupational agent leader for the Maine Extension Service, with headquarters in Merrill Hall, is in demand as a speaker on her experiences in Iraq, where she was home economist for 27 months with the Community Development Section of the International Cooperation Agency. She supplements her talks with slides and displays of articles she brought back with her.

Another addition is reported to the Albert and Alice (Heald) Heins household—she didn't say boy or girl! Their address is 221 Oak St., Floral Park, N. Y. The Heinses have three other children.

Robert Newdick has been named by the Commonwealth Shoe and Leather Company as superintendent at their Gardiner, Maine, operation. Albert Smaha has made the news again. He won the Jacee Distinguished Service Award this year as one of the three award winners.

One of the highlights of the day is picking up the mail at the P. O. It's sort of a matter of pride to have a full box. How about it?

He and Saki (Francee Jane Foster) Addor and their daughter, Jane, 2, were callers during the holidays. The Addors are living in Westport, Conn.

Naming of the Town

The earliest name given Portland of which we find record was "Quack." Probably this was derived from an Indian word, "Macquack," descriptively used for the entire area. Macquack, meaning "red," probably referred to the numerous iron deposits which stained the ledges and bluffs of the mainland and islands.

In 1623 Christopher Levett named the Casco Bay and Portland area "York." George Cleaves in his will called Portland "Machigony." In the original Cleaves lease, dated January 27, 1637, "all the land...was known as Machigone," at that time, and was directed by the General Court of Massachusetts "to be henceforth called Stogummer." The name of Stogummer was never used, so far as is known.

7 To add to the confusion it must be remembered that the peninsula which we now call Portland was, from the mid-seventeenth century to the time of its present name, known as "the Neck." Hence, when the town was called Casco, what is now Portland was "Casco Neck." Then, when the town was renamed Falmouth, Portland was "Falmouth Neck," and so on.

There has been some confusion as to the first time the name Portland was used. In many early records we find the phrase "coming into Portland." This was applied to the approach by sea, not to the mainland town. Portland is the name in most early records for the promontory where Portland Head Lighthouse now stands. Cushing's Island was known for a time as Portland, and Portland Sound was the area between these two landmarks—hence the phrase "coming into Portland."

Late in 1785 some sixty of the citizens of the Neck petitioned the General Court of Massachusetts that the peninsula be set apart from the sprawling old town as a separate municipality, to be called Portland. There were more than 2,000 inhabitants on the Neck at the time.

The petition was granted and on July 4, 1786, the bounds of the new town were defined thus "To begin at the middle of the creek that runs into Round Marsh, thence north-easterly to Back Cove Creek, thence down the middle of the Creek to Back Cove, thence across said Cove to Sandy Point, thence round by Casco Bay and Fore River to the first bounds. Together with all the islands that now belong to the First Parish in said Falmouth."
