Agent's advice brings $125,000 sale — opens door to additional service

Reese Allen enjoys working with top-level businessmen like Don Rasmussen. Not long ago, Reese established a $125,000 insurance program for him. Mr. Rasmussen, obviously pleased with the plan, has asked Reese to meet with his attorney and assist in setting up a corporation with a buy and sell agreement and related insurance program.

The businessmen Reese Allen advises realize the importance of the services he performs for them and their companies. Their confidence is reflected in his success. His first year in the business saw him qualify for our Hall of Fame and win our Rookie of the Year award.

Perhaps a career in life insurance appeals to you. If you meet our qualifications you'll receive a generous income while you're learning. We'll be glad to send, without obligation, a booklet explaining the responsibilities and rewards of representing New England Life. Write to us at Dept. A, Boston 17, Mass.

Or, if you have specific questions please write directly to Vice President John Barker, Jr., 501 Boylston Street, Boston 17, Massachusetts.

This month's cover shows Skip Chappelle launching one of many tallies in the Yankee Conference basketball game against Vermont early in the season. Through the efforts of the highly skilled and aggressively determined basketball team, the University has received national recognition. Not only has team performance been excellent, but the remarkable record has been achieved on a completely amateur athletic basis. Among all its opponents, Maine is the only school which offers no monetary inducements to potential or established athletes. Many star high school athletes have turned away from Maine because they were offered free room and board, full tuition and additional advantages by other schools. Another reason for the exodus of some of the state's best athletes is that the University relaxes neither admissions requirements nor academic standards for athletes.

It is for the above reasons that Maine men may take pride in the accomplishments of their teams, above and beyond the good feeling of being on the winning side. Maine athletes are students first. When they are successful in competition, surrounded by the commercial atmosphere of some college athletics, it is an occasion for special pride.

Add to the facts above that tuition for residents of the State at the University of Maine ranks fourth highest in the nation among 91 public institutions reporting to the U. S. Office of Education. Maine's resident tuition of $400 is exceeded only by Penn State, Rutgers and Vermont. The average of the 91 is $228. Thus, an athlete at Maine is one who wishes above all to attend our college for particular reasons relating to the quality of the institution, his neighboring place of residence, his choice of a special course of studies or whatever else makes a significant difference in the choice of a place for his higher education.

Consider the difficulty of convincing a truly desirable student and excellent basketball player that he should attend Maine. He may wish to be a teacher, would be perhaps interested in a career as a coach or physical education specialist. He is needed in our educational system which holds to the ideal of a sound mind in a sound body, but his qualifications must be good. The pattern is only successful when these excellent young people are convinced that Maine is the place for them. Many make the choice from their own analyses of prospective schools. They know here that they can be proud of achievements made under the circumstances which do obtain.

Alumni can assist also in the selection of a university by young men and women who have merit. Maine folks have urged others to come to the University. Recommendations are strong to influence a choice, when the suggestions are accompanied by current knowledge of the offerings of the school. It is necessary to know the prospective student and his family to be able to help make the decision, a right decision. But, recruiting can and should be attempted, if your State University is to play its role in the education of youth, young athletes included. Funds are available without discrimination for student aid, based on demonstrated financial need and scholastic competence.

After all is said, there remains much satisfaction in a winning team that is not hired to play.

St. Croix Paper Gives Site For New Forestry Camp

AFTER SEVERAL driving snowstorms and seemingly endless weeks of sub-zero weather, the first semester is in the past. Occasionally now the north wind dies, the sun shines down on campus and there is a hint of spring in the air. The students bustle from class to class eager to make a fresh start on the new term as if anticipating a letdown in studying when spring finally comes to Maine.

Indoor recreation still occupies the leisure time of the students while they wait for what is left of winter to recede as February and March fade away. A welcome addition to the activities in the Memorial Union is bowling, made available with the completion of the new alleys during the in-between-semester break. Installed as part of the Phase I completion of the Arthur A. Hauck Building Fund, the new Brunswick bowling alleys are completely equipped with automatic pinsetters.

The coming of spring will be followed by commencement exercises and reunions; but it also will bring closer to an end the last semester of Charles E. Crossland '17, Vice President for Administration, who will retire on June 30th after 44 years of service to the University and the Alumni Association. Those who are familiar with Mr. Crossland's busy career here on campus might suspect that he will not settle for full retirement. And they would be correct, since he will continue the position of Executive Secretary of the Pulp and Paper Foundation, and will remain clerk of the Board of Trustees. Visiting alumni returning for reunions and homecomings will still find him on hand for the activities as he has always been in the past.

will be handled by George H. Crosby in addition to his duties as Registrar.

Dr. Peck, Professor of Business and Economics and Director of the School of Business Administration, will assume many of the duties now under the direction of Mr. Crossland.

In announcing the appointment, President Lloyd H. Elliott said: "Dr. Peck will be the chief academic officer of the University under the president, with major responsibilities for coordinating new programs, providing liaison with academic departments, and aiding in the planning of the academic expansion of the University."

Two new jobs will be created in the administration of the University at the time of Mr. Crossland's retirement. One, the new position of Vice President for Academic Affairs, will be filled by Dr. H. Austin Peck; the other, Director of Student Services, student health service, Memorial Union affairs, and financial aids."

Mr. Crosby, who graduated from Colby in 1936, has had a varied career ranging from biological research in Arctic waters, to YMCA work in the Philippine Islands and the United States. In 1955 he left his position as Registrar of the medical branch of the University of Texas at Galveston to accept a similar post at Maine.

The St. Croix Paper Company of Woodland recently gave to the University, 32 acres of land on Greenland Point on Long Lake near Princeton to be used as the site of a new summer forestry camp. The company has also leased to the University, with an option to buy, an additional 32 acres if the land is needed for future expansion.

Professor Billias Receives Guggenheim Grant

George A. Billias, Associate Professor in the Department of History and Government, will be given a leave of absence for the academic year 1961-62. Dr. Billias has been awarded a Guggenheim Grant to work on a second book. His first book, General John Glover and His Marblehead Mariners, has gone into its second printing and was selected by the New York Times as one of the 250 outstanding books published in 1960. Dr. Billias’s second book will be a biography of Elbridge Gerry who signed the Declaration of Independence and became Vice President during the second administration of James Madison.

A native of Lynn, Massachusetts, Dr. Billias graduated from Bates College magna cum laude in 1948. He received his master’s degree from Columbia University in 1949 and his doctor’s degree from the same school in 1958.

Before joining the Maine faculty, Dr. Billias was employed in civil service as a military historian for the Air Force. Since his arrival on the Orono campus in 1954, he has written numerous articles for both popular and scholarly publications. In 1958 the University of Maine Studies published his monograph on colonial currency entitled, The Massachusetts Land Bankers of 1740.

Dr. Billias plans to move his family to the greater Boston area where he will be doing research next year.

Two Coe Research Projects in College of Education

Reading Instruction Study

Assistant Professors Dr. Alpheus Sanford and Dr. Arthur Olson are Co-directors of a study being made in the College of Education to determine how best to improve the reading skills of freshman college students. In discussing the need for such a study, the directors said: “College demands greater sophistication of reading skills than previously experienced by entering freshmen. It is quite soon after the beginning of the school year that the instructor and the student both realize that the degree of competency that would get by in earlier grades are inadequate for college level work.”

The research has been carried on by giving entering freshmen in the College of Education two standard reading tests to determine reading skills of the students at the time they entered the University last fall. After this, a selected group was given a special instructional program which provided practice in paragraph and sentence construction, vocabulary development, critical reading, word analysis techniques and speed reading.

At the end of the instructional period (the first semester), another reading test was given to students who had had the special training and to students who had not.

It is hoped that a study of the data obtained from the training and testing will indicate how badly reading and study skills training is needed and how best to effect such training.

Funds to cover the costs of the research were provided by a grant from the Coe Research Fund.

A Critical Self-examination

A two year research project designed to examine the effectiveness of the professional courses offered by the College of Education, is being carried on by Professors of Education, John R. Crawford, and David R. Fink, Jr.

Setting forth the need for such a study, Dr. Crawford and Dr. Fink said: “...the College of Education faces and seeks answers to two important questions. These are: (1) How effective are the present basic professional courses (Educational Psychology in the College of Arts and Sciences and the basic sequence in the College of Education) and (2) Is the scope and content of the basic professional offerings approximately correct or should the pattern of courses be altered in either of these dimensions?”

The study will be made by giving a series of tests to senior Education majors, and the tests and data from them will be used to judge the quality of instruction and the adequacy of the courses in the College of Education. Tests used will be supplied by the Educational Testing Service, the same concern which handles such examinations as the College Boards and the Graduate Record.

Funds for the first of the two years of study will be provided by the Coe Research Fund and the College of Education.

128 Research Projects

In the Agriculture Division, the Experiment Station is by nature a research center; and the amount of research carried on under its direction is impressive to say the least.

The “Brief Description of Research Projects” of the Agricultural Experiment Station is a thirty-four page document of single spaced type with narrow margins. The one hundred and twenty-eight research projects listed are only briefly described, and they range in subject matter from studies of economic conditions, to methods of pruning low bush blueberries.

The research is done under thirteen departments: Agricultural Economics, Agricultural Engineering, Agronomy, Animal Pathology, Animal Science, Biochemistry, Botany and Plant Pathology, Entomology, Food Processing, Forestry, Home Economics, Horticulture, and Veterinary Science. The range and variety of the work being carried on is so great that it is barely inclusive under the general heading of “agriculture.” Almost any substance produced naturally by the land and the sea (and related topics) is fair game for the Experiment Station research staff.

Someone recently said in reference to alumni efforts and giving, that those who had benefited the least, give the most. When one stops to think about it, the truth of this statement becomes obvious. Back in the days when most members of the Senior Alumni were attending the University, relatively little had been done for them by private funds and efforts. Among the facilities now available which were not present before 1911, were such as the Memorial Union, the Library, and Alumni Gymnasium.

To the uninformed it might seem reasonable to suppose that the Senior Alumni, individually and as a group, would take less of an interest in promoting the welfare of the University and its students than those who graduated later and who benefited more from alumni work and generosity. That the Senior Alumni are as active and generous as any alumni, is well known by anyone who is familiar with the work of the GAA. Those members of the Senior Alumni who manage business or hold jobs are always willing to add tasks to their busy schedules to help the University and the Alumni Association. The members who have retired or are in semi-retirement often make the objective of furthering the interests of the University their most active concern.

Scholarship Winners For '61

The three outstanding students who were selected to receive the 1961 Senior Alumni Scholarship are: Leroy P. Chipman '61 of South Freeport, Maine; Stephen C. Ridley '63 of Guilford, Maine; and Carroll L. Wilson '62 of Portland, Maine.

Leroy Chipman, a member of last year’s outstanding varsity basketball team, was active in sports in Freeport High School before he came to Maine. He played basketball and baseball for four years in high school and was captain of the basketball team his freshman and sophomore years at UMP. He also played on the baseball team at UMP for two years. He is majoring in History in the College of Education and plans to make teaching his career. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi.

Carroll Wilson, who was born in Jamaica, W.I., now makes his home in Portland, Maine. He attended Portland High School and was a member of the track team, being elected team captain in his junior year. He was Vice President of his senior class, and he was a member of the French Club his junior and senior years. At Maine he is majoring in History in the College of Arts and Sciences. He is a member of the International Club.

Stephen Ridley was active in sports in the Piscataquis Community High School, participating in basketball, baseball and cross-country. He took part in public speaking contests and class plays. In his senior year he was elected Class President. Here, he is majoring in Biochemistry in the College of Agriculture. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

The Senior Alumni Association

The Senior Alumni Association is composed of Alumni whose graduating class is more than fifty years from the present year. The object of the Society is to promote good fellowship among its members, and by its influence to endeavor to advance the interests of the University.

All alumni, graduates and non-graduates, who have been out of the University fifty years or more are considered members of the Society, and the payment of dues is not considered a requisite for membership.

The Association holds annual meetings for business and the election of officers during the Commencement season.

Officers of the Association

The officers of the association for 1959-60 are:

- President—Mr. A. P. Wyman '07 of 112 Mayflower Hill Drive, Waterville, Maine.
- First Vice President—Mr. Henry W. Beards '06 of Hebron, Maine.
- Second Vice President—Mr. William J. Ricker '05 of Turner, Maine.
- Secretary-Treasurer—James A. Gannett '08 of 166 Main St., Orono, Maine; Auditor: Freeman M. Sampson '05, Orono.

The Executive Committee includes:

- Mr. Emerson P. Lambe '07 of 37 Knox St., Thomaston, Maine;
- Mr. William A. Cobb '08 of P. O. Box 25, Belfast, Maine;
- Mr. Earle N. Vickery '08 of 12 Libby St., Pittsfield, Maine.

(Special thanks from the Senior Alumni Assoc. are due to L. E. Little '04, former Secy.-Treas.)

Lewis O. Barrows ’16 Appointed
To Board Of Trustees

With the appointment of former Governor Lewis O. Barrows ’16 to the University Board of Trustees, Governor John H. Reed ’42 selected one of Maine’s most active and loyal alumni. Climaxing a career of over forty years of service to the University, his community, state, and country, Governor Barrows brings a varied wealth of experience to his new position on the Board of Trustees.

Governor Barrows was born in Newport, Maine, attended the public schools there, and graduated from Hebron Academy. He received the B.S. Degree in Pharmacy from Maine in 1916 and was granted the LL.D. Degree from Maine in 1937 and the L.L.D. Degree from Colby College in 1938.

In 1916 he enlisted for service with the Second Maine Regiment, participated in the Mexican Border campaign, and in 1917 returned to Newport where he became associated with his father as a partner of Barrows and Barrows Pharmacy. Although his first experience in political life came in 1907 when he became a page in the State Senate while his father, George M. Barrows, was a State Senator, he was first elected to public office as Town Treasurer of Newport in 1920, holding that position until 1932.

During the period between 1926 to 1933 he was elected to membership of the Republican State Committee three times and to the Governor’s Council three times, serving in the latter capacity until 1933. Two years after this, in 1935, he was elected Secretary of State by the State Legislature.

The following year in 1936, he won the Republican gubernatorial primary election and on September 14th was elected Governor of the State. In 1938 he was re-elected to a second term and served until 1941.

Returning to private life in 1941, Governor Barrows moved to Boston, Mass., where he joined the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. He was appointed Secretary of that organization in 1943, and in the following year was also appointed Secretary of United Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

It was at this time that the Office of Civilian Defense in Washington, D. C., requested his services to assist in establishing air raid warden schools in the six New England states, as well as in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Delaware.

In the period of time between World War II and the present, Governor Barrows has served in such capacities as: a Director of the Transportation Association of America; membership in the Corporation of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy; membership in the Corporation of the Charlestown Five Cents Savings Bank; Hebron Academy Board of Trustees; and President, the Newport Trust Company.

Always active in alumni affairs, Governor Barrows is President of the Class of 1916. He served on the Alumni Council from 1953 to 1958, and in the closing years of World War II, he was chairman of the alumni committee in charge of a post-war employment program for Maine alumni in the armed forces.

Perhaps the best way to illustrate Governor Barrows’ dedication to the Alumni Association and the University, is to quote from a letter written to the Alumni Office by one of his classmates:

“... he became Secretary of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. He immediately jumped into the alumni work here in Boston, serving on several committees and finally being elected President of the local association. On the two drives for funds for the Library and the Union Building, Lew Barrows gave most unselfishly of his time and energy... I know of no time when he has been asked to do anything for the University that he refused to do it... He is a grand fellow, respected by all, and with a love, loyalty, and devotion to his college that should be most inspiring to all Maine men...”

Two Alumni On Executive Council

Mr. Treworgy who has a long history of alumni activity is presently serving as Treasurer of the General Alumni Association. He is Vice President of the Class of ’49 and is an Alumni Representative on the Board of Directors of the University Store Company.

He resides in Orono and is manager of Treworgy’s Department Stores. After completing a three year term on the Orono Board of Selectmen, Mr. Treworgy was elected to the State House of Representatives in 1958 and served one term in the 99th Legislature.

A three-year veteran of service in the European theater with the Ninth Air Force, he was discharged in 1945 and served with the CAP in 1951-52 as an officer and pilot.

He is married to the former Charlotte Harris ’49. Mr. and Mrs. Treworgy live with their three sons at 18 Spencer Street, Orono.

Mr. Speers of Winthrop was formerly Information and Education Division Chief and Public Relations Director of the Maine Dept. of Inland Fisheries and Game. He also served the State of Virginia as Associate Editor of Virginia Wildlife Magazine and as Chief of the Information and Education Section of its Fish and Game Dept., before returning to Maine.

Mr. Speers has been President of the Board of Trustees of the Winthrop School District; Treasurer of the Winthrop Recreation Assn., and is Chairman of the Winthrop GOP County Committee.

An Air Force Veteran of World War II and a member of the Alfred W. Maxwell, Jr. Post American Legion, he is married and has three children.

MARCH, 1961
Local Associations

Auburn-Lewiston Alumnae

The group met on January 18 at the home of Mrs. Hazel (Sparrow '31) Russell, Walker Ave., Lewiston. Mrs. Eleanor (Byron '33) Gove presided over the business meeting. A discussion was held of the meeting to follow, a joint dinner with the Auburn-Lewiston Maine men to hear President Elliott.

The principal speaker was Joseph Sognano, Juvenile Officer of the Auburn Police Department, who spoke on "The Problems of Youth."

Auburn-Lewiston Alumni

The Auburn-Lewiston men gathered on January 19 at the Stephens House, 2 Union St., Auburn, for an informal dinner meeting. Vice President John L. McCobb '25 conducted the session.

Speaker was T. Russell Woolley '41, Executive Director, General Alumni Association.

The joint meeting of March 1, combined with the women's club was held at the Elm Hotel, Auburn, Oscar Hahnel '49, presiding. Dr. Lloyd H. Elliott spoke on "Financing the Growth of the University of Maine." Also present were Russ Woolley '41 and Margaret Mollison '50.

North Shore, Mass. Alumni

January 24 was the date of a reorganization meeting of the North Shore Alumni, called by the Past Presidents of the club. Leland F. Carter '42, presided over the excellent planning session. Vice President, Alvin S. McNeilly '44 of the General Alumni Association attended. The gathering was held at the Memorial Building at Ipswich. Business consisted of discussion of forthcoming meetings, arrangements being made for a March 4 session with Coach Hal Westerman as speaker.

South Kennebec Alumni

A large gathering of men and women from the Augusta area met for dinner February 1 at the Worster House in Hallowell. Robert B. McLeary '42, alumni council member, was master of ceremonies for the special occasion.

President Lloyd H. Elliott spoke to the club about the State of the University. Margaret M. Mollison '50, Assistant Executive Director, G. A. A., also attended from Orono and spoke briefly.

Portland Alumnae

Women of the Portland group met February 2 at Payson Smith Hall, University of Maine in Portland, Dorothy (Currier '45) Dutton presiding.

A very interesting program was given by Sylvia Johnson '54 and Ann Feehan, summer session '60, who talked about and showed slides of their recent tour of Europe.

THE MAINE ALUMNUS
Future students in the field of economics will benefit from the generosity of a Maine alumnus who has established a scholarship fund in memory of his father.

The Nathan Levitan Scholarship Fund was established with the University of Maine Foundation in 1960 by Dr. Leon B. Levitan of the Class of 1938. The principal sum of this Fund is currently $5,000.

Income from the Nathan Levitan Scholarship Fund will be awarded to graduate or undergraduate students in the field of economics who are in need of financial assistance, and whose scholastic standing indicates promise of high academic success.

A former teacher of economics, Dr. Leon Levitan received his B.A. from Maine in 1938, his M.A. and Ph.D. from Boston University. He is currently engaged in the precast concrete industry.

Through his generous action, Dr. Levitan has honored the memory of his father through assistance to worthy students at his Alma Mater.

Maine Wins YC Title

Maine's flashy basketball team, riding high with a rating of seventh best in the country among small schools and fourth ranked among all New England Colleges at this writing, slipped in the won-lost records when they dropped three out of their last four games.

The first indication of the sudden reversal of success came when Bowdoin pulled what has been called the upset of the year in defeating the Black Bears at Orono, 79-72. Until this game Maine had not lost a game of 76-66, it is doubtful if they played a better game all season. Maine was behind during most of the game, and had caught up and taken the lead 64-63 at the four minute mark. With three minutes left Rhode Island was ahead again by four points and elected to freeze the ball. In frenzied attempts to gain possession of the ball, Maine committed many fouls and left openings for Rhody to slip in with quick lay-ups.

The top three teams in the Yankee Conference now stands as follows: Rhode Island 7-1; Maine 6-3; Conn. 6-3. Rhode Island has games remaining against Connecticut and Massachusetts, and both teams could pull a "nothing to lose" upset. Maine has one game left with New Hampshire at Durham, and a slim chance for a first place tie.
Many Alumni Contribute Sustaining Dues

Your editors are glad to present here the names on record of the sustaining members of the General Alumni Association. A sustaining member is one who decides, upon appeal of the dues committee, to pay annual dues of $15.00 as an indication of extraordinary interest in the welfare of the General Alumni Association, and one who is willing to show his interest by this extra financial support.

There are many members who have given gifts, also indicating extraordinary interest in the welfare of the Association and of the University, by payments beyond dues amount, yet are not defined as sustaining members. They do not, therefore, appear in this list.

CYNIC  You can tell him by his favorite food—sour grapes. According to the cynic, there’s an opportunist in every public office, an Elmer Gantry in every pulpit, a racketeer in every union local. No worthy cause can possibly succeed, he believes, because the world is full of schemers. A master of the negative, a veteran wet blanket, he dampens dedication, chills initiative. And while the cynic sits and grumbles, doctors answer midnight calls . . . artists create works with more concern for art than applause . . . school teachers help their students, not their bank accounts, grow. Where would America be today if the cynic’s view had always prevailed? Human advancement proves that people can, and usually do, work together for the common good. In this nuclear age, is there any other choice?

James Laurence Bernard, Jr. James L. Bernard, Jr., 63, of Rumson, N. J., died on January 31, 1959. A graduate of the Red Cross, he was a re­searcher in the field of radio and electronics since World War II, and was president of the Communication Products Company, Inc., until his death. Survivors include his widow, a son—Robert W. ’45 of Fair Haven, N. J., and two grand­children. Mr. Bernard was a member of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

1923
D. A. Gross. David Gross of Brooklyn,
N. Y., died on December 9, 1960. He was elected to the honor society Phi Beta Kappa at the University and had done graduate study at New York University and Columbia. For many years he was a teacher of English at the New York State school for the deaf. Survivors include his wife and two sons—one is Thomas M. Langervin, M.D., of Seguin, Texas, and the other is John M. Langervin, 24, of Dixfield, who was employed by the Fraser Paper Company—for some time in Madawaska as development engineer, later in Glen Ellyn, Ill. Mr. Langervin was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

M. Langervin, 24, of Dixfield, died in a Rumford hospital on January 13, 1961. A native of Lewiston, he had been employed by the Farm Security Administration at Augusta. Survivors include his widow, a daughter, his parents, and his grandfather. Mr. Langervin was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

1908 Mr. James A. Gannett 166 Main St., Orono William L. Waldron, Law '08, who has been the Clerk of Courts of Somerset County since 1947, retired on January 1, 1961. He is leaving Skow­hegan, the county seat of Somerset County, and returning to Pittsfield where he formerly made his home while practicing law in that town. He holds the degrees of M.A. and LL.B. from Maine and the B.A. degree from Colby, class of '99. He attended the Colby, Colby College, and New York Law School.

In Mid-January Mrs. Gannett and I called on Mr. Samuel C. Langbridge, 101 Whiting St., Orono, an Alumnus of the Class of 1910. Mrs. Gannett has made a good recovery from her accident men­tioned in the May '60 Alumnius and now has nearly complete use of her arm.

An interesting letter from Mrs. Warren D. Trask at Chatham, Mass., brought word of the Trask chil­dren and grandchildren. Virginia lives in Wilbra­ham, Mass., where Sarah spent Christmas. Vir­ginia, 26, and Mrs. War­ren D. Trask, 26, were married last summer, and now have a son and a daughter. Mr. Trask has three children and three grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. D. Trask are now in Florida for a winter, and their daughter, Sarah, has been wintering in St. Petersburg, Fla. Mrs. D. Trask has a lovely winter home and is enjoying the sun and sea. She writes: "I arrived home Oct. 3 after a nice summer in Maine. Visited Gertrude (Jones) Nutter, '06, one weekend while in Maine. She is in St. Pete for the winter. She寄了一封来自 Mary (Knight) Jensen at Christmas. We had a family reunion in Christma­stide and Grandpa born July 5, 1960. He makes the third. Am still secretary and treasurer of the Maine Society chapter. We had a reunion, a Christmas card and dance Jan. 6."

A letter from Shorty Southard indicates that he and Jeanne are healthy and happy and still love Maine; as shown by the recent planting of a white birch tree in their yard.

How about making some plans to be at Com­mencement this year. It is our 55th you know?

on filling all vacant space in our automobile with oranges from his small, but productive citrus grove. We had no end of enjoyment from this delicious fruit.

A. From Vira Towle informs us that Elton had, in early December, a slight warning that he must slow down to the pace most of us have already been forced to accept. Why don’t you cheer Elton’s days of convalescence and ask what something they would like to have played. They, naturally, said “The Thrill’s Gone,” and on playing it they sang, causing many people to stare at them. At the conclusion of the song, the tenor, Raymond, came up to the microphone and said they did a wonderful job and then reminded them he was a Bowdoin man and quite especially remarked that Bowdoin had lost Maine last fall. After a little diplomatic maneuvering Ernie and Art explained that it was not good for the spot to have all wins this year, and consequently Maine had to lose a game now and then. They said it was a darned good game—i saw it and both teams merited praise.

We receive a note from Vira Towle informing us that Elton had, in early December, a slight warning that he must slow down to the pace most of us have already been forced to accept. It is not exactly a "Down-the-Field-and-on-to-Glory Story." Let’s see if we can’t get out of the fog—you know a cubic mile of fog only contains about a gallon of water.

The time is rapidly approaching, namely June 9th, 10th, and 11th for the Great Reunion of the Greatest Class ever matriculated (I like that word especially since I looked it up) at the University of Maine.

Many McAuley writes, “Some time ago you wrote a piece in which you stated ‘What a Class 1911 turned out to be.’ A very favorable estimate, my lad, but a real understatement. ‘Tis my opinion that the Class of 1911, from its inception was ‘tops,’ a natural big league group.”

Editor’s Note:

Space will permit us to print Mr. McAuley’s excellent letter in its entirety here; however, copies have been printed and mailed to all the 1911ers. If other alumni would like copies, a postcard to the Alumni Office will bring you one by return mail.

President Arthur L. Deering reports gratifying response to his recent letter regarding the 1912 Gift Fund to be presented to the University at our 50th in 1962. He intimates, however, that we still have a long way to go to obtain our goal. Nine more "lost" 1912 alumni have been "found." They are:

Charles Albert Batty who lives at 113 Haverhill St., Reading, Mass.

A. A. HAUCK FUND DONORS—32

Charles concluded his letter: “I am in excellent health and devote much time to ham radio, particularly with U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary communications. My radio calls are KIGAD and W3RFA. I also have two acres of lawn to mow!”

We do want to have a column in the Alumni to be read by members of our class. It is intended for us and only members of the class can make it possible. A long letter is not necessary. Even a post-card would be most welcome.

Mr. Harold P. Adams
A. A. HAUCK FUND DONORS—42

As was the case with many of our classmates, Charles M. Kelley, Jr., had his chosen career interrupted by two World Wars. He served with the U. S. Navy, both World War I and II, and retired as a Captain in the United States Naval Reserve with the rank of Commander. "Mike's" first job after leaving Orono was with the Western Electric Company in Chicago. After two years there he transferred to the Bell Telephone Laboratories in New York City where he worked on research and development of components for vacuum tube circuits. Leaving this job, he moved to the World Radio Service in Washington, D. C., and started as a civilian work up again after the war, with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company long line department in New York as a transmission engineer. "Mike" was in on the ground floor of radio broadcasting. With the Graybar Electric Company, he was the radio engineer for one of the large public address systems. He also got in on sound pictures, transferring to Electrical Research Associates, Inc., where he was a consulting installation engineer. Then came World War II. Following the war he joined the faculty of Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. Y., in 1947, where he taught mathematics for eleven years. He also coached track and cross country.

The Navy took so much time out of Mike's active career we think a brief summary of his naval service is in order. He went on active duty in the Navy in 1917 to 1919 as Radio and Communication Officer of a division of battleships, 7th fleet in the Pacific. He was based ashore and took over command of three different facilities. These were at Tulcovan, Leyte; San Juan, Mindanao; and La Pata, Samar. He later served on the staff of the Commander, Philippine Sea Frontier, Manila.

Mr. Adams has put a little shame in our hearts. Those of you who can, I make the appeal for your contribution. Participation in our class project has not been as good as that in the Hauck Fund—that is almost 40% of us will buy bricks while less than half as many seem willing to buy prestige; as a class, naturally there is little difference in the two, because both, eventually benefit the University. We do want to have a column in the Alumni to be read by members of our class. It is intended for us and only members of the class can make it possible. A long letter is not necessary. Even a post-card would be most welcome.

This is an S.O.S. for something about today. It doesn’t have to be startling or shocking—just something YOU.

Many of us received "Bubs" Christmas card with place in the right and the goats on the left, perhaps we can get some repeats.

Part of this is some part or detail of what the college world about us sees when they look at our classmates.
IN MATTERS OF TRUST...

GUY LUCIANO—an avid sports fan, has coached himself to “stardom” selling insurance!

If anything interests Guy Luciano more than sports, it is “meeting and talking to people.” Guy manages to do both admirably. In his spare time he coaches semi-pro baseball and basketball teams. On the job, as a New York Life Agent, he meets hundreds of people—and with notable results.

During the last three years, Guy has qualified for the Company's “Star Club,” a select group of leading agents. In the last two years, he has sold over a million dollars worth of life insurance protection. Says he: “Insurance selling is the business for anyone who likes meeting people and a good income!”

As a Nylic Agent, Guy's future success is limited only by his own ambition and industry. Would such a career interest you?... or someone you know? If so, write us for information.

45th Reunion, June 9-10-11, 1961

The Class of 1916 Scholarship award for the fall semester of 1960 was made to Miss Judith Fowler, '61, of East Corinth. Our congratulations and best wishes are extended to Miss Fowler.

I have so much news this time that I hardly know where to begin. Part of it is a little old, but much of it came in notes and letters in answer to my Christmas cards, and I was very grateful to hear from so many.

Dr. Carriker C. Weymouth of Farmington, practicing physician and surgeon in Franklin County for 28 years, retired from the practice of medicine last summer. He has been a member of the medical and surgical staff at Franklin County Memorial Hospital since his coming to Farmington in 1932. For 13 years he was a medical practitioner and surgeon at Hope Hospital, Mass. Since coming to Farmington, he has taken an active interest in all civic and community affairs. He has been the "family doctor" for many families in Farmington and surrounding communities. He has one son, Lt. Comm. Burton R. Weymouth, U. S. Navy Air Force, who will complete a three-year term in June, 1961, stationed at McGuire Field, N. J. Dr. and Mrs. Weymouth are constructing a new home in Farmington.

We feel much honored that Gov. John H. Reed '42 nominated former Republican Gov. Lewis O. Barrows of Newport for the University of Maine Board of Trustees. We are sure that he will do all he can to help the University.

Once again your reporter must apologize for failing down on her job. We did not get home from our trip to Texas in time for me to send in notes for the January Alumni. Then, on Dec. 26th, we had a slight fire, but terrific smoke damage, in our apartment and I couldn't get anywhere near my desk, so I failed to report for a second issue. I will certainly try to do better.

Another of our classmates has retired from active business Warren B. Beckler has retired as manager of the La Taque International Paper Company mill in La Taque, Quebec. He had been associated with the mill for forty years, and had been mill manager since 1954. At the time of his retirement, Warren was honored by the town, as well as by the paper company. Both he and his wife were presented with gifts of luggage at a reception which brought together guests representing the town, the clergy, and local business and company officials. They were also honored at other functions. Warren and his wife have returned to their native town, 283 Turner St., Auburn, Maine.

A new address has been received for Betty Bright. She is now in the Larchwood Lodge, 221 Worcester Lane, Waltham, Mass. This is a nursing home; as you know, Betty has been a semi-invalid for some time, but she still loves to hear from her classmates.

Maurice Jacobs was guest speaker at the Brotherhood Layman's Service of Temple Emanuel in Lawrence, Mass. Mr. Jacobs is president of the Maurice Jacobs, Inc., publishing firm of Philadelphia, Pa.

I enjoyed receiving Marion (Emery) Cole's Christmas bulletin, with the latest news of her family. Their son-in-law, Steve . . . he and his family have moved to Augusta. Marion is still commuting to Boston once a week, studying at Boston University.

I have been wondering if any of you have new ideas to suggest for our Class Reunion in 1962. After all, that isn't far away, and we should all be thinking about it. Why not send your Class Reporter some suggestions?

The class extends sincere sympathy to the family of Harold M. Pierce who died January 27. He was vice president of our class, a former trustee of the University, and a most loyal alumnus.

Our class scholarship this year has been awarded to Carl F. Borin '62, Bangor, and Judith Fowler '61, East Corinth. T. Russell Woolley, Executive Director of the General Alumni Association, has extended to us the sincere appreciation of the funds which make this student aid possible.

Allen B. Rowe is in the building supply business in Portland, but is semi-retired. He works about three days a week and spends the remainder of the time at Boothbay Harbor except for the months of February and March which he spends in Ari-of the islands in the Caribbean. Each place featured a myriad of activities. St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, scenic Haiti and Jamaica offer much for a wonderful vacation. Unique shops and markets for shopping, warm blue water for swimming every day, and the opportunity to enjoy beaches and sunshine to get a real sun-tan has advantages over “Winter Wonderland” in the north in Rena’s estimation.

Hear from you in April or May. See you in June. Plan YOUR vacation for June reunion time.

The idea of area reporting has been tried before. It is however most encouraging to have received letters from Everett P. Welch, Dr. Spurgeon English, Estelle Nason, and Homer Ray. And I wish to thank them one and all for their help and kind remarks.

Estelle Nason has promised to help in the Orono-Bangor area. Thanks Estelle for your nice letter and your promise to help. As a former class secretary, you are aware of the difficulties in reporting. Estelle sent two items which I know are of interest: Her sister Frances Nason has retired from teaching and Management of the School Lunch Program in Ansonia, Conn., and is now located at 59 Deering St., Portland, Maine. She also reports that our friend since college days, Ardis Lancy Moore (Mrs. George) of Pittsfield will be at Clearwater Beach, Florida, at 699 Bay Esplanade, after January 20th. Ardis was class secretary for a long time, and when I last saw her in Orono, I was aware that the Florida winters were very kind to her.

Doc English wrote a long letter which is very much appreciated. I am sure that Doc will send along any news he can. Thanks, Doc, for your splendid letters—let’s have more.

Homer Ray came through again with a most interesting letter of his visit again to the U. S. Northwest and Juneau, to see his doctor son. Thanks, Homer, for your letter and we will send any alumni news we get to you.

The December 8, 1960, Kennebec Journal reported a testimonial dinner for Leroy S. Huckins of Winthrop, formerly from Lubec. Hutchins and Huckins lined up almost side by side in the B.O.G.C. and Chapel, it is therefore no surprise that we knew each other. Leroy was Superintendent of the Hallowell schools since the early 1930’s. Our congratulations go out to you, Leroy, for over 30 years of top grade service in selecting teachers, etc., in such an important area of our State. The overall impact by the teachers upon your youth can never be measured, however, the long years of service for your youth in teaching or supervising their activities comes near to the top as our number one problem today.

It was delightful to hear of Dr. Doris Twichel Allen’s outstanding work as follows: “Have just returned from Oslo, Norway, where I attended a meeting of the International Board of Directors of Children’s International Summer Villages, and have just completed my term as chairman of the board and also as international president. The headquarters are at the old Mill in Oslo, until the next triennial meeting.” Doris’s address is at 30 West Fountain Ave., Glenolden, Ohio.

Sincere congratulations go also to Kenneth F. Woodbury. When Jersey City State College conferred an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters upon him, the citation said in part: “As chair­man of the Commissioners Committee on School Health, as member of the Legislative Assembly of the New Jersey Education Association, as president of the New Jersey Department of Superintendents, as president of the New Jersey Association of County Superintendents, and as president of the New Jersey Adult Education Association, he truly is a dedicated man who has given his whole life in service to his fellow-men.” He is now Assistant Commissioner of Education in New Jersey and resides at 100 Hausturk Ave., Weehawken, N. J.

Dear Classmates:

Ted Hatch, industrial health engineering expert and professor at the Univ. of Pittsburgh Graduate School of Public Health, will act as chairman of an Occupational Health Committee to study health problems in the State of Pennsylvania.

Michael C. Gentile of Lewiston has been appointed by the Maine Merchants Association to serve on its committee to help promote Maine and its products. This committee will meet from time to time with the Department of Economic Development with a view to bringing of assurance to the State.

Irene (Guppy) Parsons is ass't., spt. of the Presbyterian Home of Maryland, Inc., which is a church residence for elderly people in Towson, Md. Irene writes that she enjoyed a recent trip back to Maine and also a visit with her older son and his family at Akron, Ohio. Her son is Dr. Robert L. Parsons ’51 who married Beverly Pet­tengill ’53 and they have four children.

It’s only news from your Alumni Office this month, that we are having some perfectly beautiful snowstorms this winter. We have had a great deal of snow this winter and they have a difficult time in cold snowy weather.

Our best wishes are extended to you all.

At the Annual Meeting of the Woods Congregational Church held at Island Falls, Aug. 17, 1961, it was voted that Dr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Thompson be granted a sabbatical leave to allow for study, research, travel and to begin with the fall school term in 1961. This is specifically in appreciation of fifteen years of remarkable service to the church and in recognition of Dr. Thompson's accomplishments and his work for the physical renewal of both Dr. and Mrs. Thompson.

Philip E. McSorley, 19 Marshall St., Old Greenwich, Conn., has also been granted a sabbatical—he has his first grandson, John Henry McSorley was born October 31, 1960. Rose of New York, is two as fine as the Internaional grandfather, John.

Barbara Johnson received a master's degree in education at the end of last year's summer session at U. of M. As you all probably know she teaches English at Portland High School.

I have found listed only two sons and daughters of '29 in this year's freshman class at the University: Jane E. Dudley, daughter of Kenneth Dudley, and her husband and son arrived in this country after a tour of duty in Germany. Everett Blackwell, 309 Main Street, Calais, is now project engineer for the St. Croix Paper Co. in Woodland.

What a welcome relief this blizzard is. There are no mid-year exams, and it gives me a chance to watch the Inauguration. As you all know, the State of Maine has been an island of stability in the rest of the country, and I feel certain that our President will continue in office.

Lawrence Libby (Winthrop '32 and Betty '33), a U. of M. junior, was one of the recipients of an A. and P. scholarship recently.

Lynne Jostsell (Laura '33 and Robert), was one of the winners at the Maine Bear Debate Tournament at the University of Maine.

John Wilson's sons are: Tom, a junior at Brown University, is a member of Delta Upsilon. He played on the first rugby team in the country last fall. Angelica, a member of Alpha Kappa Delta, is a junior who was chosen to head the Freshman Social

Our thanks go to Fern Turbyne for her generous contributions for the news. My instructions, "keep items brief—cover as many classmates as possible," is heart rending with all these wonderful Christmas letters that Fern has let me borrow.

Early in January, Frank Myers and our class president, George Cobb, happened to meet in the airport in New York and flew up to see Bill. Bill was home baby-sitting. Their youngest had just had an emergency appendectomy. Dick is also serving this area in the 100th State Legislature.

I understand one of the popular teachers at Old Town High is our own Eloise (Hutchinson) Myers. Husband Frank is associate director of the U. of M. Summer Sessions.

Mary T. Maines, manager of woodlands for Great Northern Paper Company, has been renamed to a new position.

Met Dick Waldron’s wife at the Sunday River Skiway recently. Dick was home baby-sitting. Their youngest had just had an emergency appendectomy. Dick is a forester in charge of the woodlands for the Chapman Lumber Co. in Bethel.

Also heard rumors of an old Bachelors apartment being revived in New York City. Gossip has it that the first two tenants were named Buzz and Rod. Couldn’t be Sherry and Elliott—Holy Mackerel—it just could be, at that!

Almost late again and for no good reason except that it has been too cold and snowy for the sled dogs to take the mail out!

Bill St. George is one of the old-timers that we were sure had taken his family for a look around the Campus.

Molly (Doughtery) Metroian spent the summer in Glastonbury where she saw the Broadway show, "The Robber Bridegroom." Issue (Garvin) Mason is busy trying to keep up with her two boys—seems like a hopeless task as they are both taller than she. Craig is even taller.

By the time this is in print, Madeline (Simart) and Wally Beaudet ‘40 will have returned from a Virgin Island vacation with all sorts of tall tales. They are departing with Ellen and Bob Robertson ’40 which should make for quite a trip.

Ginny (Jewett) and Larry Marrall have been having themselves a time—both good and bad. Larry has been awarded a special coaching insignia by the Athletic Dept., at Loomis School. Ginny has been in the hospital but, from her report, is well on the road to recovery. Linda is 13 and in the 8th grade.

From the Kenneth Robertsons came their wonderful Xmas poem. They have had a vacation in Vancouver, B. C., which must have been fun.

This is short but sweet this month. We are being evaluated at the High School and I am about out of my mind with reports. If you find me a nervous wreck at Reunion, you’ll know the reason why. The planes will be loaded and the roads full of cars bringing you back to campus. Bring all of the strength and energy you can muster! Word should be getting to you shortly about all of the doings—June 9-10-11.

Recently, the engagement of Nancy Marshall to John Everett, Jr. was announced. The bride-to-be attended Drexel Institute and the University of Pennsylvania. She is a graduate of Barnard College and is spending her honeymoon in Florida.

Richard Dole has been elected vice president of Burton Saw and Supply Corporation of Worcester. This was a newly created post, and Dick was formerly manager of the company.

At a recent meeting of the Maine Veterinary Medical Association Dr. Camille A. Gardner was elected its new president. He will also serve as the Association's youth chairman when the New England veterinary Medical Association holds its convention at Poland Springs in October.

Mary P. Boone was elected recently to be the new vice president of the Maine Teachers Association. She is a member of the American Federation of Teachers and guidance counselor at Calais Memorial High School.

County Agricultural Agent, Clement S. Dunning, of Portland had his picture in the paper signing the guest book of a Smyrna dairyman. Dr. Gardner resides at 937 Main St., Lewiston.

Joe and I just returned from a week's skiing—saw many U. of M'ers, but no '44ers on the slopes. We talked with Jinny and Melvin, Mary and George, and Max and Arline Carter. I hear from Dolly & Walter Reed and I'm sure all of you have seen theirs and their children's Christmas cards from many of you brought news for the column. It has actually been too long lately and has had to be cut—I'll try to work everyone in gradually!

Creative technical intellects constitute a very substantial percentage of our nearly 5,000 employees. Our 15 or so really great scientists—national authorities on electronics, computers, propulsion, optics, magnetic phenomena, solid-state physics, applied mathematics and other phases of aerospace science—are only a small fraction of the full range of Kollsman brain power.

Our hundreds and hundreds of highly specialized engineers and technicians are an all-important part of it, and so are our master lens grinders who can hand-polish a lens to tolerances of a few millionths of an inch.

Some of these men can trace their career back to the days when Kollsman became a household word among fliers as the flight instrument company. We still are. But ever since the boundary between air and space disappeared, we have been finding ourselves more and more in the space part of the aerospace business.

Some people think, for example, that we are the astronavigation company today. And we may easily be the company for the particular aerospace business you have on your mind. Our best minds—the industry's leading aerospace intellects—are at your service.

Here is what we are delivering to our customers today: ■ Astro Trackers ■ Automatic Astro Compass ■ Air Data Computers ■ Electromechanical Systems ■ Missile Components & Systems ■ Jet Engine Instruments ■ Flight Instruments ■ Kollsman Integrated Flight Instrument System ■ Optical Systems & Components ■ Doppler Computation Systems ■ Sextants (Periscopic, Handheld, Photoelectric) ■ Controls for Aircraft, Missiles & Space Vehicles ■ Flight Simulator Instruments ■ Laboratory Test Instruments

If you are interested in your career possibilities with us, why not write to Mr. John Whitten, at:

New Bedford is the New England town usually associated with early whaling days. The great, graceful "whalers" were known over the entire world as the swiftest, finest ships afloat, and the term "New Bedford Whaler" was applied to all of them. Their fame will last in song and story and their beauty never fade from great paintings. They were the last of the great sailing ships, and a far cry indeed from the ugly if efficient "factory" ships of today.

What is not too well known is that some of those same whalers were built in Portland. Neal Dow in his "Reminiscences" tells of building, "...and a clean ship just built in Portland for New Bedford parties engaged in the whaling business, and so he was fitted as a first class whaler.

Whales were not unknown from early days around Portland waters—in fact, blackfish and true whales were numerous out of Portland Harbor up to the latter part of the nineteenth century. They yielded quantities of fine quality oil, but the Massachusetts town to the south had already established itself as a whaling capital and home port for the whaling industry.

Whales were not unknown from early days around Portland waters—in fact, blackfish and true whales were numerous out of Portland Harbor up to the latter part of the nineteenth century. They yielded quantities of fine quality oil, but the Massachusetts town to the south had already established itself as a whaling capital and home port for the whaling industry.

The great ships were frequently seen in Portland Harbor, where they would seek shelter from storms, and the sight of one making port must have been thrilling to even the most sea-hardened of Portlanders.

Captain Benjamin Willard in his "Life History and Adventures" tells of one amusing incident in 1866, when all the shipping in the Harbor was alerted by the presence of a 50-foot whale. The unwelcome visitor eluded all efforts to capture him, but back and forth all day long, churned between Vaughan's and Portland Bridge. Crowds collected on the banks and bridges, cheering when the whale surfaced to "blow" and peering anxiously when he submerged. Finally, on flood tide, he swam to the open water beyond Portland Bridge and was seen no more. Shortly after this a seven-ton blackfish was captured by Captain Willard. He measured twenty-four feet in length and twelve feet in circumference. Another whale Captain Willard tells of sighting "was between fifty and sixty feet long. When harpooned, he towed Willard's little ship, the "Neclide," many miles before he tired and was brought to side.
