University of Maine and University of Maine at Machias President Joan Ferrini-Mundy spoke with The Chronicle of Higher Education about COVID-19 guidance for in-person learning this semester at UMaine and its regional campuses. The president said there will be a greater focus on flexibility and personal responsibility. The publication also highlighted a recent community message from University of Maine System Chancellor Dannel Malloy about guidance for the semester. “It is fair to recognize that a complete shutdown is not a long-term strategy,” he said. The Bharat Express News shared the Chronicle story.
