Third Candidate Responds

Dolloff Replies To Campus Questions

Editor's Note:

This is the third answer to the Campus gubernatorial questionnaire appearing in a four part series. Last week the Campus featured Richard Dubord of Waterville. Governor John H. Reed appeared in the March 15 issue.

maine campus NEWS FEATURE

Democratic candidate Maynard C. Dolloff is a former master of the Maine State Grange. Dolloff, 48, has been a member of the grange since he was 14. He was a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the 1958 contest, but lost out to Clinton Clauson who went on to become governor.

Dolloff is a former resident of Gray. Following his resignation as grange master, he moved to Augusta.

Dolloff is a graduate of Pennell Institute in Gray. He was born on a farm and worked for a time as a cabinet maker. He is Chairman of the State Probation and Parole Board and a member of the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation.

The following is Dolloff's reply to the Campus questionnaire.

1. Do you favor increased state revenue?

Yes, if you mean this state must make progress in meeting the undeniable needs of its people, at the same time it makes a contribution, with business men, towards expansion of the state's economy.

a. Do you think we need a larger tax base?

If you mean a broadened tax base, with reference to the very heavy load being borne by the municipal property tax, yes.

b. How do you feel about a state income tax?

I can see the time coming when Maine must have a graduated, low-rate individual and corporation income tax, but first we must exhaust the full resources of the various consumption and excise taxes now being levied.

c. How do you feel about a state corporation tax?

See above.

d. How do you feel about Mr. Hutchinson's proposal for a state lottery?

I am opposed to it.

e. How do you feel about a reduction of the sales tax on hotel and motel lodging?

If the state is to maintain a hotel and motel tax, I feel the level should be consistent with the general sales tax.

2. Are we making the best possible use of the Department of Economic Development?

No.

3. How do you feel about federal aid to schools?

I am in favor of general purpose federal aid to public education, providing the grants are proportioned to the fifty states' wealth and effort factors, and further providing the funds are paid in a lump sum with no suggestion of federal control to the State Department of Education, to be allocated as the department sees fit.

4. Are we making the best use of the state university's potential?

If you mean the university's present plant and resources, the answer is probably yes.

a. Do you favor further university expansion?

I am in favor of it since it is the basic duty of the state to provide a university education for boys and girls fitted for it. Furthermore, with special emphasis on the needs of the southwestern Maine area, the facilities at Portland should be expanded to provide higher education for boys and girls in that area able to commute to the Portland campus.

b. Do you favor increased salaries for the faculty?

We must pay higher university faculty salaries to keep our best instructors, and at least Maine should match the average salaries paid by New England land-grant colleges, which is not being done now.

Maynard C. Dolloff

5. Do you favor raising the minimum salaries for teachers in the public schools?

As our improved teachers colleges turn out better teachers, we must raise salary minimums, all the time with an eye to the competition for our teachers from other states.

6. How do you feel about a "right-to-work" law?

I am opposed to it.

7. What, specifically, were the shortcomings of the 100th Legislature? What were its good points?

It suffered for one thing from lack of decisive leadership and made a number of errors that had to be corrected by the special session. Two main shortcomings were its refusal to vote enough money to enlarge our State park system—note that competitive New Hampshire is now spending $9 million for that purpose—and its failure to enact the excellent vocational education bill which was sponsored by the Board of Education and supported by many other groups. It was negligent in giving enough money to the state university, also. On the plus side, it approved the district courts bill sought by the Democratic party for many years.

8. How do you feel about ETV?

I recognize the potential value of this teaching aid and, therefore, favor it.

9. What specific proposals do you have in mind for the 101st Legislature?

Charter May Be In Danger Until May 15

The Committee on Discipline has voted to place Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity on social probation. It has also informed the chapter that its charter at the University is in question unless its officers can give positive evidence by May 15 to comply with University regulations concerning the use of intoxicating beverages.

The action taken by the Committee, March 22, came after an infraction by the fraternity of the University's no drinking rule, March 16.

The committee placed special consideration on the fact that TKE was placed on social probation one year ago for a similar offense, that it successfully requested removal from probation in September, and that the fraternity's apparent philosophy is one of "controlled" drinking rather than the absence of it.

A proposal that inspections should be made known to officers of the fraternities before taking place, in order to obtain cooperation from fraternity members was not accepted by the Committee.

In commenting on the action of the committee, George H. Crosby, chairman of the committee and registrar of the University, said, "The University cannot embark on a cycle of violation, probation, statement of reform, violation, probation and statement of reform indefinitely. Its patience is not inexhaustible."

"The Committee believes that compliance with University regulations should come because individuals and organizations accept responsibility for behavior in accordance with existing rules and regulations. When a fraternity applies for a charter at the University, the same implication is present."

"The no drinking policy was established by the University trustees. As such, the administration has an obligation to enforce it. Students and organizations have an obligation to abide by it."

Ackor Named Campus Editor

Jefferson "Jeff" Ackor was named editor-in-chief of The Maine Campus last week by the faculty-student publications committee. Wayne R. Doyan was selected business manager.

Ackor and his staff will assume their duties following spring recess, and will manage the publication until the spring of 1963.

Ackor, a 25-year-old junior journalism major, has been assistant business manager of the newspaper this year. A member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, he lived in Watchung, N. J., before becoming a resident of Orono.

Following high school graduation in 1954, he joined the U. S. Navy, entering the University in 1958. Ackor also wrote the Campus outdoor column "Ackor's Angle" last semester.

Doyan, age 26, is a business and economics major from Winslow. He was business manager of the 1963 Prism.

Doyan formerly served with the U. S. Air Force in Texas, California, Japan, Korea and Washington, D. C.

Following a staff meeting Monday evening, Ackor named John Day as his assistant editor. Other staffers named were Bill Parks, editorial writer; Fred Sampson, local editor; Sue Oakes, feature editor; Claire Beaulieu, society editor; Doreen McCluskey, copy editor; and Carolyn Zachary, make-up editor.

Also, Wayne Cobb, cartoonist; Gerald Lindsay, sports editor; Fred Deniko, photographer; and Margaret McMullen, Dick Staiger and Tom Goodwin as columnists.

EDUCATIONAL TV: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

A great deal of nonsense has been written about educational television. Following is my contribution:

It has been said that television allots no desirable viewing hours to educational and intellectual programs. This is simply not so. For instance, you can see "The Kant and Hegel Hour" every day at 4 a.m. This excellent show is followed at 5 a.m. by "Kierkegaard Can Be Fun." For such lazy scamps as lie abed beyond that hour, there is a splendid program on Sunday mornings at 7:15 called "Birds of Minnesota, Except Duluth."

So much for the myth that TV gives no prime time to educational programs. Now let us deflate another canard: that TV is not eager to inject intellectual content in all its programs.

If you have sat, as I have sat, with a television planning board, you would know that the opposite is true. I was privileged recently to witness a meeting of two of TV's topmost program developers—both named Binkie Tattersall.

"Binkie," said Binkie to Binkie, "if there is one thing I am bound and determined, it's that we're going to have intellectual content in next season's programs."

"Right!" replied Binkie. "So let us put on our thinking caps and go to work."

"I forgot my thinking cap in Westport," said Binkie, "but I have a better notion: let us light a Marlboro."

"But of course!" cried Binkie. "Because the best way to think is to settle back and get comfortable, and what is the cigarette that lets you settle back and get comfortable?"

"I said Marlboro," answered Binkie. "Weren't you listening?"

"A full-flavored smoke is Marlboro," declared Binkie.

"Rich tobacco, pure white filter, a choice of pack or box. What is better than a Marlboro?"

"A Marlboro and a match," replied Binkie. "Got one?"

Binkie had, and so they lit their good Marlboros and settled back and got comfortable and proceeded to celebrate.

"First of all," said Binkie, "we are going to avoid all the old clichés. We will have no domestic comedies, no westerns, no private eyes, no deep sea divers, no doctors, and no lawyers."

"Right!" said Binkie. "Something offbeat."

"That's the word—offbeat," said Binkie.

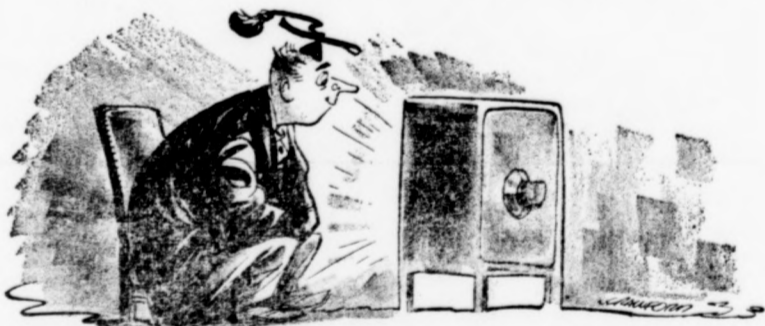

They smoked and celebrated.

"You know," said Binkie, "there has never been a series about the Coast and Geodetic Survey."

"Or about glass blowers," said Binkie.

They fell into a long, torpid silence.

"You know," said Binkie, "there's really nothing wrong with

A Cowboy, a deep sea diver with a law degree plus an M.D.

a cliché situation—provided, of course, it's offbeat."

"Right!" said Binkie. "So let's say we do a series about a guy who's a family man with a whole bunch of lovable kids who play merry pranks on him."

"Yeah, and he's also a cowboy," said Binkie.

"And a deep sea diver," said Binkie.

"With a law degree," said Binkie.

"Plus an M.D.," said Binkie.

"And he runs a detective agency," said Binkie.

"Binkie," said Binkie to Binkie, "we've done it again!"

They shook hands silently, not trusting themselves to speak, and lit Marlboros and settled back to relax, for Marlboro is a cigarette not only for celebration, but for settling back with—in fact, for all occasions and conditions, all times and climes, all seasons and reasons, all men and women. © 1962 Max Shulman

10. What additional information can you provide us about your platform?

In answer to questions 9 and 10, I plan, in addition to the above mentioned, to be discussing during the campaign such issues as the following:

a. Constitutional reform to strengthen the position of the Governor.

b. Abolition of the council.

c. Departmental terms coinciding with those of the Governor.

d. Confirmation of appointments by the State Senate.

e. A meaningful program of industry attraction.

f. More sea-shore fisheries research.

g. Expansion of state parks as a means of increasing income of Maine people.

Of course, there are other very important issues which I shall be elaborating on during the course of the campaign.

Editor's Note: Next week the Campus hopes to feature Edward Hutchinson. However, as of Tuesday, March 27, his reply has not been received at our office.

York Hall, New Women's Dorm, Ready For Fall 1963

York Hall, the new women's dormitory, will be ready for occupancy next fall. This new dormitory will house 260 women and will have a cafeteria large enough to feed from 700 to 800 girls from Estabrooke, York, and Kennebec halls.

In the fall of 1963, another women's dormitory should be completed and will house 180, the same as Kennebec Hall. At that time, University officials may find that in order to utilize all of the available dormitory space, some of the women will be moved to one of the large men's dormitories and a smaller number of men will be housed in a women's dormitory the size of Penobscot or Kennebec Halls. This plan results from the increasing percentage of women applicants to the University compared with the number of men applicants.

Annual Maine Day Features Midway, Work, and Beards

By CAROLYN ZACHARY

"Maine Day Midway," the 27th annual Maine Day, is scheduled for Wednesday, May 2. Classes will be suspended, enabling students to participate in the events and festivities of the day.

The tradition of Maine Day was established on May 1, 1935, by former President Arthur A. Hauck. The original purpose of the day was to provide a day for a general campus clean-up, with the hope that it might alleviate some of the friction between the freshman and sophomore classes by directing the students' energy toward such constructive projects as planting trees and shrubs, painting fences, and building sidewalks.

Reginald Naugler was elected the first Campus Mayor on Maine Day, 1935. Students turned out to work on thirty different projects.

Other activities of the day included relay races. "The Lamentable Tragedy of Julius Caesar," a burlesque opera, was the evening's entertainment, starring President Hauck in the title role.

Subsequent Maine Days through the years have featured such things as skits by faculty, students, and janitors, a hog calling contest, a work clothes dance, and Mayoralty candidates swallowing goldfish, swimming in the Stillwater, climbing out of manholes, and racing bicycles around the roof of the field house.

In 1949 Maine Day honored President Hauck, who had completed his fifteenth year as president of the University. The Maine Masque presented "Artie Get Your Gun," a three-act musical, with President Hauck himself in the leading role.

This year's Maine Day festivities will include the Mayoralty campaigns, speeches and elections the night of May 1; an outdoor breakfast and work projects the morning of the 2nd; entertainment in the afternoon; and the annual IFC Sing that night.

Another highlight will be a beard-growing contest, which will begin after spring vacation. Beards will be judged by the Homecoming, Calico, and Winter Carnival Queens and the Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel of the ROTC.

PROJECT SUGGESTIONS WANTED!

Anyone having suggestions for projects for Maine Day is asked to place his suggestions in the ballot box which is downstairs in the Union.

1962 Graton Constitutional Essay Contest Rules Announced -- Prizes

Prizes of $80 and $40 will be awarded for the two best essays submitted in the 1962 Graton Constitutional Essay Contest. The awards are made from the income from shares of stock held in trust by the University and established for this purpose by the late Claude Dewing Graton, Class of 1900.

The topics for this year's contest are: 1. The Cold War and the Constitution. 2. The Growth of Cooperative Federalism. 3. Should the Appellate Jurisdiction of the Supreme Court Be Altered?

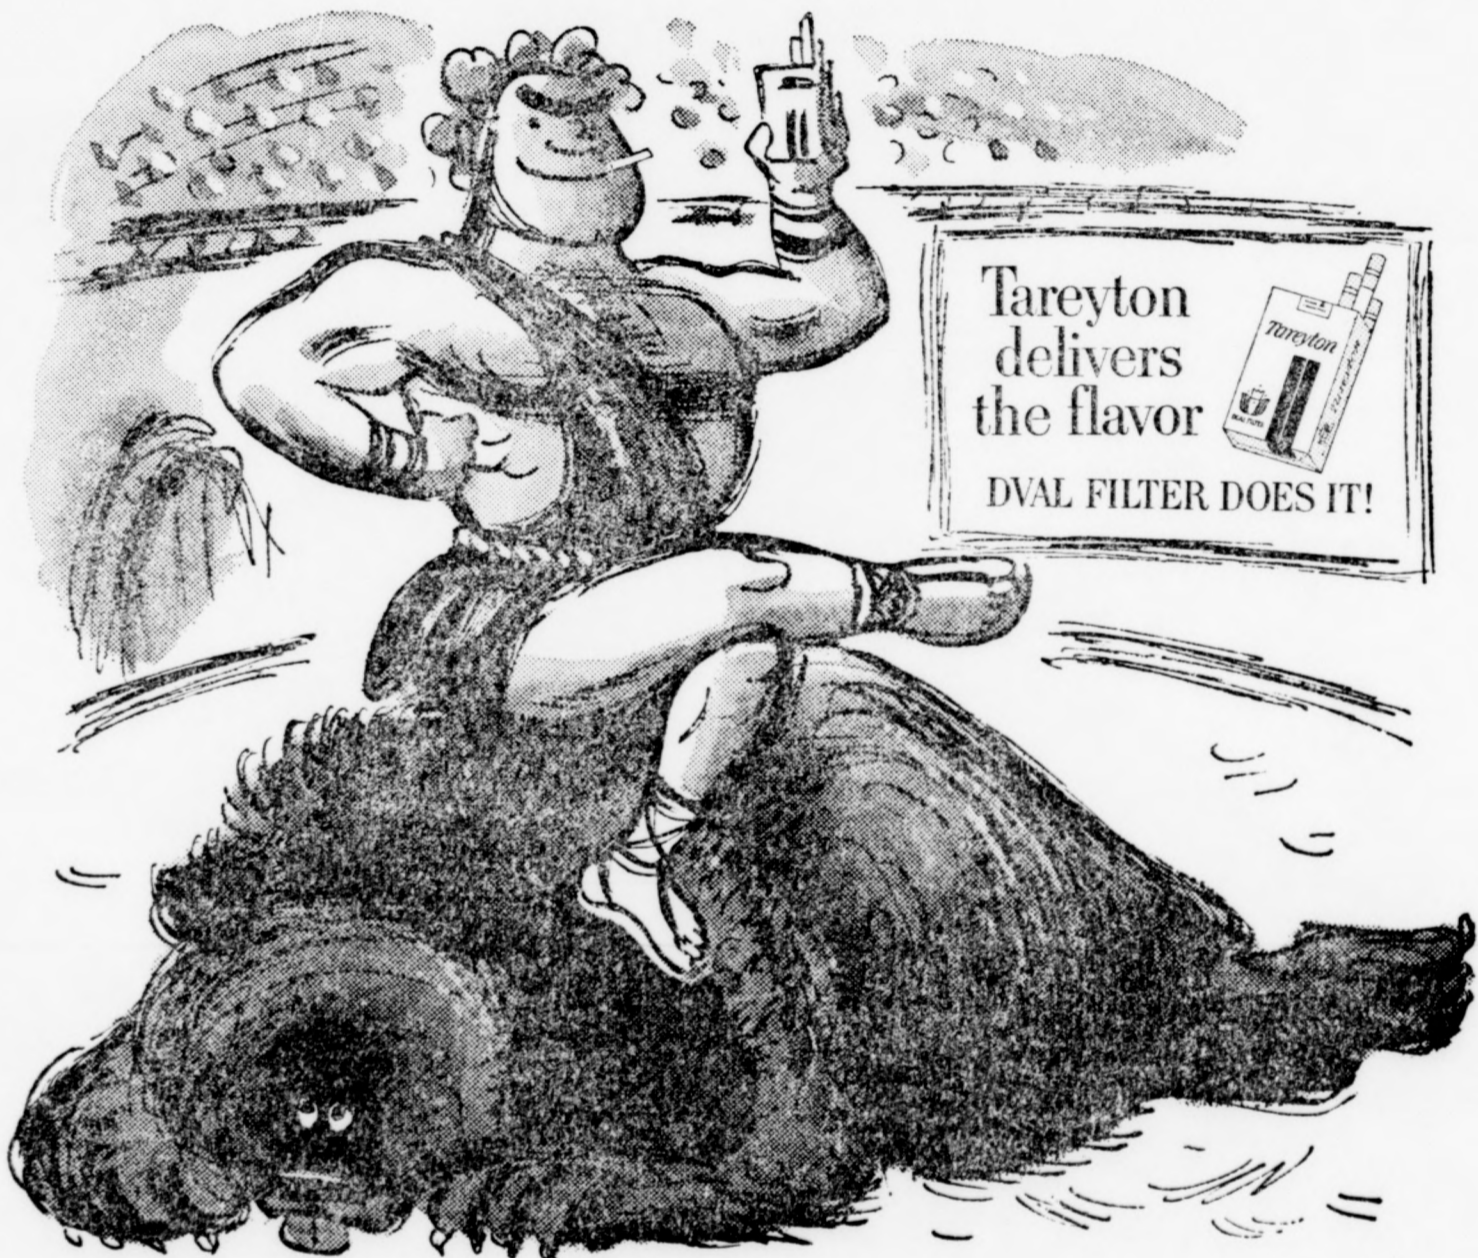

Any regularly enrolled undergraduate may enter the contest. The essays must be completed and passed to Eugene A. Mawhinney, Associate Professor of Government, 135 Stevens Hall, not later than April 27.

Among the points to be considered by the judges are: (a) completeness; (b) logical presentation; (c) neatness and form; (d) use of good English; (e) inclusion of proper bibliographical references in the form usually required by the History and Government or English Departments. No award will be made if, in the opinion of the judges, there is no essay which merits either prize. The judges are at liberty to divide the prizes in the event that there are essays judged to be of equal merit.

The essays must not be less than 2000 nor more than 4000 words long and must be neatly typewritten upon one side of 8½ x 11 sheets. The sheets should not be folded. A complete bibliography should be attached to the essay on a separate sheet of paper. The title page should contain only the title and the date. A cover page should contain the title, date, and student's name and address.

Opportunities

The University Placement Bureau, Room 102 Education Building, has received notice of several summer vacation jobs for students. Information and instructions on how to apply can be obtained at the Placement Bureau. Students wishing information on other job opportunities for the summer which may be received should complete a summer job registration form.
