There is something of great moment—difficult to write about, but worthy of our observation—when spring returns. We see it and we feel a difference. Nature knows the vernal moment best and works the hardest.

Man is simply privileged to notice, and he is usually aware of the new and changing, the fresh and growing. Some see and then detect the fragrance of flowers. Others see and remember most the fact that the smells are running.

Along the coast, if it isn't herring it may be alewives which are crowding once again upstream, and the alewife is related to a sardine, though called a shad.

It was David McCord in a pamphlet entitled, The Language of Request, or Fishing with a barbless hook, who brought to our attention the interesting facts about spring and alewives, and who pointed out both a shocking and delightful comparison. Poet McCord wrote the following lines:

Anadromous, the common shad
Swims up the river just to add,
According to his golden rule,
A freshman class to that old school
Of which he is himself a grad.

The poet has stated knowingly the habits of the homing alewives. The spawning cycle starts in fresh water, and the fingerling then enters the ocean. In the fourth year—sometimes the third—he returns in great numbers to spawn and thus replenish his kind.

"They come by the whispering thousands..." showing above the surface, fins aloft, a spawning migration.

"I trust the academic parallel comes clear. The alewife cycle is four years. The smart ones would appear to make it in three. More efficient than their human counterpart, every commencement is also their reunion—a joint celebration."

Loyalty remains a virtue, and loyalty to alma mater is a noticeable fact in the spring at Orono, too.

The weekend of commencement-reunion at Maine, June 8-10 this year brought a remarkable number of alumni home to campus. They seemed literally to fill the area from river bank to forest. Never had the grounds nor the buildings looked more beautiful, some said.

Truly the shrubs and trees, colorful and fragrant lilacs—spots of other blossoms, seemed playground bright. Never mind a few ugly excavations for new building progress, the existing buildings had a cleanliness and a brightwork appearance that came from regular, well-planned maintenance.

The campus is certainly growing, but is assuredly growing beautiful. The ivy doesn't hold the bricks together; its lovely green does decorate the walls, however. Around the ivied halls, living in the dormitories and meeting in the Memorial Union, Memorial Gymnasium and the new College of Education Building, alumni walked around that weekend and really shared a joint celebration, with the University family.

Perhaps it is not as instinctive as it may be with the alewives, but the crowded return journey home to Maine had a natural wonder about it that was good. It was spring again.

On Alumni Day, June 9, in Orono, the University’s beautiful new Admiral Frank W. Fenno Carillon was dedicated before a capacity luncheon audience.

A tribute to Rear Admiral Frank W. Fenno, Class of 1923, the carillon is the gift of a Maine alumnus who wishes to remain anonymous. Admiral Fenno, one of World War II’s most decorated naval heroes, received three Navy Crosses, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Legion of Merit, as well as other decorations. He was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by the University in 1951.

The Admiral Frank W. Fenno Carillon consists of 75 bells electrostatically amplified from the tower of Alumni Hall. It may be played from a special keyboard located in the Little Theatre, and it also operates automatically on a time mechanism. The carillon has also replaced the old University class bell.

This unusual gift by a most generous alumnus will help to carry forward the traditions of the University and to provide present and future students and faculty with the cultural atmosphere so appropriate to the campus. The University wishes to express its appreciation to the donor.

Campus in Spring--II

A final frenzied rush

As budding leaves popped forth to loosen the last tenacious grip of a persistent winter, all campus seemed to move outdoors to bask in the welcome warming sun.

For students and staff alike, the final frenzied rush of concluding another college year was highlighted by Maine Day, the annual ROTC review, scholarship recognition assemblies and Commencement.

Nero, Emperor of Orono, Protector of Stillwater and Aroostook County, and Herrous Maxomus of the student body, is the new supreme ruler over the Maine spirit. He gained this title with his victory in a spirited campus mayoralty campaign that saw stiff competition in the persons of Gene (Charlie Brown) Brown and Gerry (Duke of Oyl) Crabtree. Oh, yes—Nero goes by the formal name of Paul Graves.

Besides the culmination of the mayoralty campaign, Maine Day was filled with the traditional work and clean-up projects that have been its trademark since its inception by Dr. Arthur A. Hauck in 1934.

Alumni Field was the scene of the annual ROTC Military Review and Awards Ceremony on May 7. More than one thousand cadets marched in review, accompanied by the 50-man ROTC band.

Officials reviewing the units included University President Lloyd H. Elliott; Alvin S. McNelly '44, president of the General Alumni Association; Dr. T. Russell Woolley '41, GAA executive director; Col. Roger E. Higgins and Col. Walden F. Woodward of the U.S. Army; and Prof. Marvin C. Meyer, representing the Maine Reserve Officers Association. Also participating was Miss Barbara Cramer, honorary cadet colonel.

Among the awards distributed was the University of Maine Alumni Sabre, which was presented by George A. Potter '20, GAA vice president, to senior Donald J. Harnum. The sabre is awarded annually to the outstanding senior ROTC student.

On the day following the review, ten of the University's highest ranking students received major scholarship awards at the annual Scholarship Recognition Assembly. Dr. H. Austin Peck, University's vice president for academic affairs, presented the awards. Phyllis Stewart Deering, president of the Panhellenic Council, presented the sorority scholarship silver plate to Alpha Chi Omega.

Thomas Patrick, president of the Interfraternity Council, presented the fraternity scholarship cup to Sigma Chi.

Dr. Earl L. Green, director of the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory in Bar Harbor, addressed the assembly.

The following week, five Maine high school students and some 150 graduate and undergraduate University students were honored at one of the biggest programs ever held to honor high-ranking students at the University. The occasion was the annual Scholastic Honor Societies Banquet, sponsored by Phi Kappa Phi, an all-University honor society; Phi Beta Kappa, whose membership consists of high-ranking students in the College of Arts and Sciences; and Sigma Xi, which is made up of talented students engaged in scientific research. Prof. Cecil Reynolds of the English department, was master of ceremonies.

Another sure sign of the impending end of the school year was the appearance of the Prism. The newest edition of the yearbook, handsomely bound in a blue-on-white motif, is dedicated to Dr. Ronald B. Levinson, retiring head of the philosophy department.

As the end of May approached, the University's Weekly Calendar carried this ominous announcement: "Monday, May 28, 8:00 a.m. Final Examinations Begin. . ." For most on campus, this declaration was anti-climactic; the schedules had long before been committed to memory and the frantic last-minute grind had begun.

At least one class was presented with a real test of ingenuity. The 10 juniors in the advanced writing course of the journalism department were handed the recently published state auditor's report and this assignment: Write a series of three news articles to explain the contents of the 47-page report to their confused professor.

The University's Memorial Day services were held at Dr. Merritt Caldwell Fernald's grave in the Orono cemetery. Dean Emeritus Arthur L. Deering '12 led the cavalcade to Dr. Fernald's lot. Dr. Fernald was the University's first president and writer of the History of the University of Maine.

A quiet commencement week enveloped a sunny campus in a welcome lull before the weekend storm of reunion and graduation activity. June graduates and returning alumni were blessed with some of the most beautiful weather of the season for the final big weekend of the academic year.

But as the weekend's close brought farewells until another time, those who remained on campus began their preparations for a full and heavy summer schedule.
Hundreds of loyal Maine alumni streamed back to the Orono campus for the June 8, 9, and 10 reunion weekend. Not a few traveled across the continent from the West Coast to be present for the festivities.

At least one, 1st Lt. Franklin C. Haskins ’57, had been on foreign soil only the previous week, returning from a tour of Army duty in Germany just in time to attend the fifth reunion of his class.

George P. Cowan ’94, of Hanover, N. H., represented the oldest class when he celebrated his 68th year as an alumnus. J. Rice and Doris (Baker ’32) Moody motored from their Rhode Island home in a perfectly preserved 1907 Morse motorcar. Appropriately garbed in dusters, they created a great deal of interest as they drove around campus.

Two noteworthy events highlighted the weekend. One is represented by the photograph that appears above; the other by the photograph that appears on our cover.

At the annual Alumni Banquet in the Memorial Gymnasium on Saturday evening, Alvin S. McNeilly ’44, GAA president, announced to an eager and attentive audience that Miss Jessie Landy Fraser ’31, of Veazie, was the recipient of the Alumni Service Emblem Award, the General Alumni Association’s highest honor.

In making the presentation, Mr. McNeilly cited Miss Fraser’s devotion to the University, to the Alumni Association and to her teaching profession. He recalled her service as executive committee member of her class, as president, secretary and executive committee member of her local alumnae association, and as a councilor of the GAA from 1944 to 1950.

Miss Fraser also holds the honor of having been the first alumna representative on the University of Maine Board of Trustees, and one of two women first appointed by Governor Frederick Payne to that body, Mr. McNeilly said. She was a trustee from 1951 to 1957.

Earlier in the day, at the Alumni Luncheon which honored the Class of 1912—the 50-year class—and retiring faculty, the new Admiral Frank W. Fenno Carillon was officially presented to the University. The carillon, located in Alumni Hall, is the gift of an anonymous donor and is named in honor of Admiral Fenno, USN (Ret.) ’23. On hand for the ceremonies were Adm. and Mrs. Fenno, of Bethesda, Md.

The carillon consists of 75 small bronze bars which, when struck by metal hammers, produce pure bell tones almost inaudible to the human ear. These bell vibrations are picked up electrostatically, amplified over a million times, and reproduced from the tower of Alumni Hall. The carillon bells provide the tonal equivalent of more than 100,000 pounds of cast bells tuned to the finest standards. The harp bells, a new tone color in bell music, add the mellow beauty of a plucked harp.

Other highlights of the reunion weekend were the general meeting of the GAA, at which officers were elected and 13 Alumni Council seats filled. A record GAA budget of $105,000 was approved, and a decision made to present the Annual Alumni Fund to the University for providing a named professorial chair, for financing cultural events, for Library use, for undergraduate aid and graduate fellowships and for unrestricted purposes. A moment of silence was observed in honor of those alumni who were reported deceased since the last general meeting.
The year 1961-62 has been so filled with new developments as to be characterized as nearly thrilling. This report cannot do justice to the evidence of progress; only some of the highlights can be mentioned.

Academic

While all phases of University life are significant and contribute to the on-going progress of the institution, academic standing is of paramount importance. Following are some of the developments which should be mentioned:

1. The transfer of Portland University to become part of our University reestablishes a Law School and adds a four-year course in Business Administration to our curriculum at Portland.

2. The adoption of a "Named Professorship" plan which has already brought gifts from two foundations establishing distinguished professorships in pulp and paper technology.

3. The re-accreditation of the College of Technology for a three-year period.

4. The installation of a 1620 IBM Computer quickly became invaluable for research and instructional purposes.

5. The inauguration of the Team Teaching Plan and the use of closed-circuit television which are made possible by the Ford Foundation grant of $500,000.

6. The extension of the regular six week Summer Session to nine weeks in 1961 to offer courses especially for undergraduates and for pre-freshman training for mathematics will be extended to 12 weeks of instruction for 1962.
Report: Campus progress ‘Thrilling’

7. The broadening program in adult education in which over 3,700 Maine persons enrolled for courses this year.

Personnel

The academic progress of the University depends upon the quality of the personnel. The major problem is to attract and hold well trained and effective teachers.

While the University salary scale has improved greatly in recent years, our salary scale is still the lowest of the New England state universities, to say nothing of other state universities or private colleges. Obviously, this is a very real factor in maintaining quality staff.

As a matter of basic policy, all new department heads must have a doctor’s degree and an increasing proportion of the faculty have had advanced academic training.

Several major appointments have been made during the current year. Dr. H. Austin Peck, formerly professor and head of the Economics Department and School of Business, was appointed to a newly created position of vice president for academic affairs. Dr. Thomas Curry was appointed associate dean of technology and director of the Department of Industrial Cooperation. Registrar George H. Crosby took on additional responsibilities as Director of Student Services.

A new dean of the Law School will assume his duties next July.

William L. Whiting was named acting dean of the University of Maine in Portland to succeed Dr. William Irvine who resigned.

Five new department heads were appointed as follows: Bacteriology and Biochemistry, Electrical Engineering, Poultry Science, Sociology and Anthropology (formerly a part of the Economics and Sociology Department), and Director of Testing and Counseling. The latter had been a part time position until mid-year when a new full time appointment was made.

The Trustees wish to pay tribute to eight staff members who will retire June 30th for their long, faithful, and able services for periods ranging from 26 to 42 years. Included in this list is Dean Weston S. Evans ’18 who has been associated with the University since 1920.

Physical Plant

The physical plant of the University is valued at some $20,000,000 (at cost figures). With an increasing enrollment it is inevitable that there must be plant expansion. Three new buildings were opened this year: the College of Education Building, A Women’s Dormitory (Kennebec Hall), and a Men’s Dormitory (Cumberland Hall). Calvin Hall was converted to a women’s cooperative dormitory and The Elms, formerly used for this purpose, was sold.

Four buildings are under construction: a women’s dormitory including a dining hall which is to be completed for use next September; another women’s dormitory to be ready for use in 1963, the electrical engineering building; and the Women’s Physical Education Building.

The dormitories are being paid for out of funds made available through the bond issue. Upon completion of these housing units, the funds for dormitory construction provided under the bond issue will be exhausted with the exception of a reserve being held to meet “balloon” notes due in 1963-65. The possible use of Federal Housing Loan funds is being considered as a source of funds for future dormitory construction.

Two other buildings are in the planning stage. A men’s dining hall and dormitory for occupancy in September 1963, and the Arthur A. Hauck Auditorium, bids for which will be opened in July. This structure is urgently needed. It will be a great addition to the campus and will enhance the prestige of the University. Alumni support to complete this project is strongly endorsed.

Registration

The total registration for regular sessions this year is 4,887, an increase of 361 over 1960-61. A further increase of about 300 is expected next fall. This is due first to the greater number of high school graduates, and second to the increasing number of women who are now enrolling for higher education.
Registration increases 361 to total 4,887

Finances

The educational and general budget of the University for 1962-63 is $9,551,942. This does not include the auxiliary enterprises covering the operation of the dormitories and dining halls, the press, and the Memorial Union. The total budgets of these enterprises amounts to $2,608,000. To this should be added the capital construction projects which will total approximately $4,000,000.

It is gratifying to the Trustees and the University administration to receive several hundred thousand dollars in gifts, bequests, and grants for many purposes. To all the donors, the Trustees wish to express their grateful appreciation. Such generosity especially in providing funds for student aid is extremely important to the academic progress of the University.

1962-63 will be a legislative year. To meet the needs caused by increasing enrollment, it will be necessary to request a larger appropriation from the state. The vigorous activity of alumni in supporting the University appropriation request will be a factor in the final results.

Other Developments

Naturally, in a growing University there have been other developments in which alumni will be interested, but time forbids extended discussion. Following are some of the points which should be mentioned:

1. This year for the first time all University employees are covered in retirement and insurance plans.

2. The Development Council is now a reality. The members of the Council are taking great interest in this program which offers a tremendous potential for the future progress of the University.

3. The selection of the Maine Masque Players to present plays for three months in India and Pakistan under the sponsorship of the U. S. Department of State was a fine recognition for the Speech Department.

4. Beginning next September the University will have an FM radio station which will serve our University community and nearby towns and cities.

5. On June 18 the citizens of Maine will vote upon a referendum bond issue which would make available $1,500,000 to establish an ETV system in Maine. The headquarters of this educational agency will be at the University. This system will be extremely significant to the in-school and adult educational progress in Maine. It is hoped that alumni in Maine will not only vote favorably, but will also actively support the approval of this bill.

Trustee Personnel

During the past year the University has lost the services of four valuable members of the Board of Trustees. It has been a long time since so many changes have occurred within a twelve month period.

The four who retired by term expiration, age limit, or resignation are as follows: William H. Chisholm, Donald P. Corbett ’34, Raymond H. Fogler ’15, and Frank W. Hussey ’25. The value of the services which these men have given to the University is beyond measure. The University, Alumni and the State of Maine are indebted to them for their marvelous interest and the constructive leadership which they have given.

Fortunate, indeed, is the University in three appointments made to succeed those who retired: Owen H. Smith '41, W. Gordon Robertson, and Ralph H. Cutting.

Conclusion
On behalf of the Trustees I wish to express to alumni our appreciation of their loyal and generous support of the University program. This interest is vital to the success and prestige of the University.

The Trustees also would like to record their appreciation to those loyal faculty and administration staff members for their devotion to the job and their part in helping to build a greater University. Particularly do we take satisfaction in recording our thanks to President Elliott for his arduous, genial, and forward looking educational statesmanship which means so much to the continuing progress of our Alma Mater.

While it has been my pleasure and good fortune to try to serve the General Alumni Association and the University my entire business life, I had never foreseen, much less contemplated, the possibility of being honored by appointment as an Alumni Trustee. For this opportunity for brief service as a Trustee, I am more grateful than words can express. To the General Alumni Association, members of the Alumni Council and all alumni, I say a heartfelt thanks.

118th Commencement: 770 diplomas

"We must rededicate ourselves to our country . . . ," Supreme Court Justice Clark tells Graduates

A hushed silence fell over Bangor Auditorium as Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the United States Supreme Court addressed the 1962 graduating class at the University's 118th commencement exercises Sunday afternoon, June 10.

He told the 770 seniors, 71 graduate students and nearly 6,000 guests that "We must re-dedicate ourselves to our country, cleanse our public life of corruption, improve the efficiency of our governmental procedures, and give fuller recognition to the command of our Constitution that we tolerate no second-hand citizenship."

Seven Honorary Degrees

Pointing out that this generation has taught that there is not only room but desperate need for imaginative, responsible, and dedicated people, Justice Clark said our era requires people who are informed, creative, and determined to grow into the broadest, most understanding, and vital force possible in their respective communities.

Justice Clark was among seven distinguished citizens to be awarded honorary doctor's degrees. Receiving honorary doctor of laws degrees, besides the Justice, were George H. Ellis '41, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, and George D. Everett, chairman of the board of the Merrill Trust Company, Bangor.

Receiving honorary doctor of humane letters degrees were Dr. Constance Warren, former president of Sarah Lawrence College, and Dr. Ronald B. Levinson, who is retiring this year as head of the philosophy department after serving the University for 34 years.

The honorary degree of doctor of science was conferred on Richard E. McArdle, chief of the U. S. Forest Service, Washington, D. C., and Dean Weston S. Evans '18, who is retiring this year after 42 years of service to the University, for many years as head of the civil engineering department and more recently as head of the College of Technology.

Earlier in the day, at baccalaureate services in the Memorial Gymnasium, the Rev. Harvey H. Bates, director of the University's Office of Religious Affairs, addressed the seniors "On Acting Alive."

At their class day exercises Friday, the seniors heard Joyce Marie Baker, valedictorian, urge them to "seek to grow as whole individuals in a free society, contributing our talents and abilities to the betterment of that society and its culture." Mrs. Carol O'Connor Roberts gave the salutatory address in which she equated the educated man and his responsibility for communication.

Wives Honored

Valerie Ann Beck and Thomas Nelson (Skip) Chappelle were presented alumni watch awards. Also honored at the class day ceremonies were the wives of members of the graduating class. Dr. Lloyd H. Elliott, University president, said, "The faculty and administration recognize and appreciate your contribution and appreciate the many sacrifices the wives have made."

Philip McCarthy, class president, told the audience that not only was the Class of 1962 leaving the University a replica of a black bear, but the bear represented the class spirit and "we leave you our spirit, our hard work." He also presented full memberships in the class to Dr. and Mrs. Elliott.

Alvin S. McNeilly '44, president of the General Alumni Association, told the graduating members that "as you leave this University, the only tangible evidence you will take with you will be your diploma: a bit of paper, a few drops of ink . . . some colored ribbon. It doesn't weigh much, but it is heavy with expectations and responsibilities. Expectations of your family. Expectations of your friends, of your country, those of this University."
"Your diploma . . . doesn't weigh much, but it is heavy with expectations and responsibilities"

HONORARY DEGREE CITATIONS

TOM C. CLARK

A native of Texas, he attended Virginia Military Institute until his college career was interrupted by World War I, during which he served in the 153rd Infantry; after service in the Armed Forces, he earned his A.B. degree from the University of Texas and later received his Bachelor of Laws degree from the same institution; since then he has received honorary degrees from nine colleges and universities; admitted to the Texas Bar in 1922, he later became Civil District Attorney for Dallas County, and in 1937 he joined the U.S. Department of Justice, serving for eight years with such units as the Bureau of War Risk Litigation, Anti-Trust Division, Alien Enemy Control, Japanese War Relocation, War Frauds Unit, and the Criminal Division; in 1945, he was named Attorney General of the United States by President Truman, and in this position he gained wide recognition for his fight for civil rights and better citizenship, his support of public education against crime, and his aggressive attack against the infiltration of communism, for his work in these fields, he received special citations from such groups as the American Legion, the Army-Navy Union, the National Catholic Venerable Association, and the B'nai B'rith; he also helped to awaken the nation to the necessity of providing greater opportunities for juveniles and he sponsored the idea of the "Freedom Train" which carried the original historic documents on exhibition across the country; in 1949, he was named Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court by President Truman, and he has served with distinction in this position since that time.

In recognition of your service to your nation in positions of great responsibility, your dedication to the highest ideals of your profession, and your constant struggle to make this a better nation and a better world, the Trustees are pleased to confer upon you the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

GEORGE D. EVERETT

Born in Fort Fairfield, Maine, a graduate of Acadia College and Shaw Business College, he began his business career as a messenger with the Merrill Trust Company in 1914 and in legendary American fashion he successively became auditor, treasurer, vice president, president and director, and in 1959 chairman of the board of this bank; he became affiliated with Fay and Scott Corporation in Dexter in 1959 and was named chairman of the board in 1943; during various reorganizations of this corporation, which included the acquisition of the nation's largest company for the manufacture of shoe repair machinery, he has continued to hold top management positions, being elected president of Fay & Scott Landis in 1962; he is director of the St. Croix Paper Company, Hamilton Brothers Company, T. B. Savage Company and Whiton Machine Works, the largest manufacturer of textile machinery in the United States, an extremely modest man who has always shunned personal publicity, he has worked quietly behind the scenes in the interests of many civic projects for the betterment of the community and the State, the example which he and the enterprises which he represents have shown in the areas of public service and philanthropy have had far-reaching effects.

In recognition of your business acumen, your outstanding ability as an administrator, your wholehearted support of civic projects often provided in a nearly anonymous way, the trustees have voted to confer on you the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

CONSTANCE WARREN

Born in Plymouth, N. H., and for many years a resident of Albany, N. Y., with an A. B. degree from Vassar College, an A.M. degree from Columbia University, a Doctor of Pedagogy degree from New York State Teachers College, a Doctor of Education degree from Russell Sage College, a Doctor of Letters degree from Keuka College, and a Doctor of Laws degree from Allegheny College; she began her career as a high school teacher in 1905 in New Haven, Conn., and became head of the history department at Dana Hall and Pine Manor Junior College in Wellesley, Mass., in 1917; she was named assistant principal of the University School for Girls in Chicago in 1920, and later served as president of Pine Manor Junior College; in 1929 she was elected president and trustee of Sarah Lawrence College and served with great distinction in this position until 1945; during her career she has been an officer or member of numerous organizations including the Association of Colleges and Universities of the State of New York, Advisory Council National Citizens Commission on Education Television, chairman of the education committee of the AAUW, the Foreign Policy Association, the American Association, and the NAACP; she is the author of the book, "A New Design for Women's Education" and has written a number of articles for professional journals.

In recognition of your lifelong service in the field of education, particularly for young women, your inspiring leadership as a college administrator, your continuing interest in education through the medium of educational television, and your productive work in behalf of better race relations, the Trustees are pleased to confer upon you the honorary degree of Doctor of Human Letters.

RONALD B. LEVINDSON

Born in Chicago, a graduate of Harvard College, he received his doctorate at the University of Chicago in 1924, Magna cum Laude, after beginning his teaching career at Harvard, he came to the University of Maine in 1926 as a member of the faculty and professor of philosophy; two years later he was named professor and head of the Department of Philosophy.

Valerie Ann Beck and Thomas Nelson (Skip) Chappelle received the coveted alumni watch awards this year. The watches are presented each year to the graduating man and woman who, in the opinion of their classmates, "have done the most for the University during their years on the campus."

Miss Beck received the Portland Alumni Memorial Watch. A speech major, she was also an active student leader, a Sophomore Eagle and an All Maine Woman. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Mr. Chappelle, who received the Washington, D. C., Alumni Association Watch, distinguished himself with his basketball record and his true sense of sportsmanship. He is a member of the Senior Skulls.

and he has continued in these positions with great distinction for 34 years until his retirement this month; he has served as a member of the Honors Committee of the College of Arts and Sciences since 1935 and chairman of this committee since 1944; on two occasions he has been signal honor bestowed upon him. He was the first president of the Indiana University, and Powell Lecturer in 1951 and as Visiting Professor in 1954, and on both occasions his scholarly presentations brought unbridled recognition not only to himself but to the University of Maine; recognized as one of the world’s leaders in the field of philosophy, he was a member of an international committee chosen to evaluate the scholarship of candidates for the Chair of Philosophy at Turku University in Finland; he is the author of the volume “In Defense of Plato,” described by a colleague as “a monumental contribution to classical scholarship,” editor of “The College Journey,” an orientation text for freshmen, and the author of many articles for learned periodicals chiefly in the field of Greek philosophy; admired by generations of University of Maine students he was selected by the junior class this year as the one to whom their class gift was dedicated.

In recognition of your years of devoted service to the University, your scholarly attainments, your zeal for classical studies, your keen understanding of your fellow man, and your wise counsel for colleagues and students, the Trustees of this University take pleasure in conferring upon you the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

RICHARD E. MCARDLE
A native of Lexington, Ky., with B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Michigan, he also has received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Syracuse University and an honorary Doctor of Science degree from Michigan. A career government forester with 39 years of Federal service, he has risen through the ranks to become Chief of the Forest Service in the U.S. Department of Agriculture; beginning his career in research, his service eventually included directorship of two regional forest and range experiment stations; for eight years he was assistant chief of the Forest Service in charge of cooperative Federal-State-Private forestry programs; he served for a time as Dean of the School of Forestry at the University of Idaho, and after three terms on the Council of the Society for American Foresters he was named a fellow of that Society; he has been elected to membership in many learned and professional groups such as Sigma Xi, Phi Sigma, and Xi Sigma Pi; he has received the Distinguished Service Award of the Department of Agriculture, the Distinguished Award for Conservation, the Career Service Award of the National Civil Service League, and six other awards for distinguished public service, including one from the Government of Mexico; known internationally for his work in the area of forestry, he was elected president of the Fifth World Forestry Congress.

In recognition of your many years of outstanding service as a forest engineer for the Federal Government, your marked ability as an administrator, your prescient efforts on behalf of the conservation of our forest resources, and your continuing interest in collegiate forestry programs, the Trustees of the University of Maine are pleased to confer upon you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

WESTON S. EVANS
Born in Stannish, Maine, and a lifelong resident of this State; a graduate of the University of Maine in the civil engineering program, with graduate work at his alma mater and the University of Michigan, he received the master’s degree from the University of Maine in 1923; during World War I he served as an officer in the Corps of Engineers and on his return to civilian life he worked for a short period for the Great Northern Paper Company before joining the State University faculty in 1920; during the years he rose through the ranks to a full professorship and his ability as an administrator was recognized in 1934 when he was named head of the Department of Civil Engineering, a post which he held for 23 years before being named Dean of the College of Technology in 1957; for more than 42 years he has loyally and ably served the University; throughout his career he has been active in the work of professional engineering societies, now serving his third five-year term on the Engineering Registration Board of Maine and recently completing a two-year term as director of the Northeast Zone of the National Council of State Board Examiners; he is an active member of the American Society for Engineering Education, the American, National, and Maine Societies of Professional Engineers, and the Educational Council for Professional Development; he is a member of Tau Beta Pi, an honorary engineering society, and Phi Kappa Phi, an honorary scholastic society; he is also the author of a number of bulletins and articles of a technical nature.

In recognition of your years of outstanding service to your alma mater, your administrative skill demonstrated so well as a department head and dean, your sincere interest in your students, your sagacious analysis of many intricate problems such as the accurate forecasting of enrollment figures, the Trustees take great pleasure in conferring upon you the honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

Plan now on Homecoming

It's not too early to begin think- ing about Homecoming.

The big dates this year are Oc- tober 12 and 13. Highlights of the weekend include awarding of the Black Bear Awards and a Yankee Conference football contest with the University of New Hampshire.

Other events scheduled for the traditional autumn weekend include the Faculty-Alumni Luncheon, teas, social hours, fraternity and sorority reunions, and homecoming dance.

Make plans now to return to campus while Maine's fall foliage is at its brightest.

Athletic Board Report:

How the teams did . . . Where the staff stands . . . A list of needs

To the General Alumni Association of the University of Maine:

On behalf of your representatives on the Athletic Board Clifford Patch '11, Thomas Hersey '34 and Albert Smaha '45, I submit this Athletic Activities annual report for 1961-62.

Our athletic major sports teams won the State and Yankee Conference Championships in football and track and won the State Championship in Winter Sports.

Two Teams Undefeated

The varsity football and track teams had undefeated seasons. It was the second year in the history of the college that we claim an undefeated football season. Last fall our football team won eight and tied one game,

Our varsity track team won all dual meets which included a victory over Boston College, a team that tied for this year's New England Championship.

Our varsity cross country team defeated Northeastern University, University of New Hampshire, Bates and Vermont losing only to University of Massachusetts. We scored second in the Yankee Conference Championship.

Varsity basketball, while not as successful as the previous year, played some very fine games, including two victories over the University of Connecticut team. The team won eleven and lost thirteen games. They won two out of three games in the Downeast Classic, and won four and lost five in State Series finishing third, and won four and lost six in the Yankee Conference finishing in fourth place.

Our varsity baseball team took a very fine southern baseball trip and played seven of eight scheduled games, winning four games. Among the victories were Columbia at New York and the University of Virginia. We placed fourth in the State Series and third in the Yankee Conference. Our varsity baseball team won nine and lost fourteen games.

In varsity golf, our team won only one contest and lost six matches. We finished fourth in the State Series golf and fifth in the Yankee Conference.

The varsity tennis team showed a great improvement over last year and posted two victories over Colby and defeated the University of New Hampshire. The team scored third in the State Series and fourth in the Yankee Conference.

The varsity Rifle team won five and lost three matches and placed second in the Northern Group finals.

The varsity sailing team scored third place in the Yankee Conference informal championship.

Freshman Record

Our freshman sports teams had some very interesting seasons and contests.

Our freshman football team won four games and lost one, our freshman basketball team won eleven games and lost five, the freshman indoor track team lost only to Dartmouth freshmen and the outdoor team was undefeated. The freshman cross country team lost only to the University of New Brunswick team. The freshman tennis team won one and lost three matches.

Varsity soccer plans are being promoted and nearly 50 men worked out on this squad last fall.

A few coaching changes have taken place.

This year Coach Brian McCall coached the varsity and freshman golf instead of varsity and freshman tennis.

Staff Changes

A new member was added to our coaching staff this year, Silas Dunklee has coached the fall soccer squad, coached the winter sports teams and this spring has coached the varsity and freshman tennis teams. Silas Dunklee is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire '49 where he was outstanding in track, cross country, and winter sports. He has been coaching at Kent's Hill for the past several years. We are very fortunate in having him join our coaching staff.

Eugene Benner has served the position as head trainer this year and has done an excellent job. It is with regret that we have lost him to Hofstra College where he will serve as head trainer.

Last winter we played Boston College in varsity basketball at the Portland Exposition Building and many alumni attended the game.

The Yankee Conference Track meet was held at Orono this spring and was well attended and Maine won the event.

Ted Curtis '23 has been elected as Secretary-Treasurer of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association which sponsors the New England Track and Cross Country Championships.

It is expected that the New England High School Cross Country Championship will be held at Orono this fall.

Expansion Needed

There is a real need for physical plant
Alumni names in the news

Congratulations to . . .

. . . Richard Trenholm '53, vice president of the Shinon Canning Co., Prospect Harbor, who has been elected president of the Maine Sardine Packers Association.

. . . Robert C. Furber '29, designer of one of the nation's most beautiful highways—Interstate 95 between Augusta and Fairfield—who has retired after more than 30 years with the State Highway Department.

. . . A. O. Willey '24, of Cleveland, who has been elected president of the Lubrizol Corporation in Cleveland. Dr. Willey also received his M.S. degree in 1929 and an honorary Doctor of Engineering degree from the University in 1960.

...development for the best interest of our program.

More tennis courts are urgently needed. We have not been able to accept our rotating turn to sponsor the Yankee Conference tennis tournament and our tennis teams are handicapped by insufficient courts. Present facilities are overtaxed due to team use, physical education classes and student interest.

Rapid completion of proposed soccer fields is urgently needed. Present soccer program is operating on the freshman baseball field. Due to the increased numbers of the student body, our gymnasium is lacking in seating capacity, adequate office space, stockroom space, and a ski room.

The gift of shore property on Pushaw Lake of a loyal alumnus for use for sailing is very much appreciated.

I have enjoyed serving on the Athletic Board and appreciate the excellent support of the University officials, alumni, faculty, and students.

Respectfully submitted,
ALBERT SMAHA '45

BLACK BEAR NOMINATIONS DUE

It's time for Black Bear Award Nominations.

The 13th annual Black Bear Awards will be one of the highlights of the Faculty-Alumni Homecoming Luncheon preceding the New Hampshire game on October 13.

A black bear mounted on a Maine granite base with a sterling silver inscription forms the awards. The bear is cast in bronze from a model exclusively sculptured for the Alumni Association by the noted Providence sculptor, Aristo B. Ciampfani. The granite bases have been contributed by Robert McGuire '32 of the Deer Isle Granite Corporation.

Selection of recipients of the award is made by an Association committee from nominations made by alumni. Awards are not restricted to alumni. Faculty and administrative members or friends of the University are eligible. Anyone who has received the Alumni Service Emblem is not eligible for the Black Bear Award.

Among the points considered in making the awards are: 1) devotion to the aims of the University; 2) exemplification of the ideals of the University in personal life; 3) length and quality of service to the University or Alumni Association; and 4) standing among alumni.

Deadline for nominations is September 10. Names should be sent to the General Alumni Association, 44 Library, University of Maine, Orono.

23 win first UMP degrees

Halsey Smith, president and director of the Casco Bank and Trust Company in Portland, delivered the commencement address to the first students ever to receive degrees at the Portland campus of the University of Maine.

Noting that this first commencement for 23 UMP students was "an important milestone for higher education in the State of Maine," Dr. Smith offered the graduates a five-point list of guideposts for living.

The bank executive was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree at the exercises during which 14 graduating seniors received bachelor of science degrees in business administration and nine received bachelor of laws degrees. University President Lloyd H. Elliott presided at the exercises and the candidates for degrees were presented by Dr. H. Austin Peck, vice president of the University.

Arthur Benoist of Portland, a member of the Board of Trustees, presented Dr. Smith for his degree. The Rev. Harvey Bates, director of religious affairs for the University, offered the prayer.

W. Gordon Robertson, president of the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad, gave the principal address at graduation exercises for 25 second-year students in the two-year course in agriculture at the University on May 5.

Dr. H. Austin Peck, University vice president, spoke for the University and Gerald C. Twitchell, president of the group's Twag-gie Club, responded. The Rev. Harvey H. Bates, director of religious affairs, gave the invocation.

Dean Winthrop C. Libby of the College of Agriculture awarded certificates.

HAROLD S. Boardman made present for the Senior Alumni, at Alumni Day, a $10,000 check for the Alumni Annual Meetings. It is indeed a thing of lasting beauty for the years ahead.

LORE A. Rogers had two articles published in The Maine Magazine: The Old Pine Days, March 1962, and The Long Spruce Drive, May 1963. These articles, illustrated with original pictures, were featured in the University's magazine and published in honor of the university's 125th anniversary. Mr. Rogers, retired director of the research and extension service, Bureau of Dairy Industry, USDA, now lives at Patten.

Mr. Harvey D. Whitney, 76, of Harpswell, Minot Avenue, Auburn, called on Governor Freeman yesterday (May 9) at his home in Gray. He was looking and feeling fine after his stay at the Maine Mountains. Plan to attend, but the oldesters, if any, usually stay at home.

The Maine Club of Lewiston and Auburn meets next Tuesday for the last meeting. Plan to attend, but the oldesters, if any, usually stay at home.

Mrs. Howard (Mary Williams) Griffin attended the Southern Penobscot Alumni meeting in Bangor in May. Her picture appeared in the Bangor Daily News with the new officers of the association. She was an honored guest of the class of 1905.

Mrs. Griffin reports that a letter from Eder in Joe's handwriting, which they had been expecting since last summer but "hope to next year which will be Eder's 60th". They were both in the military and saw him in California at the end of April—up to Seattle—then down to Denver, Colo., in June. (Eder has a nephew who is in the Air Force who is expecting in July, and had a fairly full summer ahead. She said they were fortunate both very well now.

JUNE-JULY, 1962
1907 Mr. Karl MacDonald
27 Nelson Ave., Wellington, N. Y.

Waldo A. Sherman, Harding St., Island Falls, said he was in good health and expected to mid-March to take a trip to Key West if all was well. He was in hopes of coming in the spring. Herbert E. E. McKenzie, 49 Balke Ave., Big Bay, Mich., seems to be in good health. He sent a photograph of his home. He seems to have plenty of space behind it for his garden activities.

Mildred (Manfield) Martin, 11 Shingle St., New York, N. Y., and her husband are quite lame but they do get to Bangor occasionally. Here is hoping they can attend the reunion.

Louise M. Hardy, 509 West Base St., Madison, Fla., is still on the map. He likes to work in wood and has been busy building cabins for himself and a check up on the hospital and then a slight operation and was feeling much better.

Albert C. Coller, 417 Elliott St., Beverly, Mass., took a trip to Colorado Springs and points west last summer. He figures the Committee of the Grande and does considerable speaking on agriculture. They expected to take a trip to Alberta this year and send them to the meeting at their 55th Reunion.

A Christmas card from Guy H. Roberts, 320 N. 7th St., Eau Claire, Wis., was in Maine last summer and hoped to get to our “Little Re- union.”

Gladys (Beale) Ellingson, Box 493, Fairfield, Mont., says few people know her as Florence, so she goes by her maiden name. For the first time in ten years she was able to be with her relatives in Ohio Christmas Day. She received a Christmas card from Elmer Wilson that was one of the lived that with them in Orono for a time.

Robert P. Lacey, 200 3rd Street, New York, 4 N. Y., said his admittance to the Bar in Boston 52 years ago on March 1 was appropriately celebrated on March 1 by the delivery of a $180,000 bond issue to finance the Boston Extension of University.

He planned to be back to our 55th.

Walter J. St. Onge, 1140 Torrington St., Torrington, Conn., is back in his home for the winter and went to New York City with his daughter, Miss Carol. They plan as good as can be expected of a 76 year old person.

1909 Mr. Fred D. Knight
9 Westbelt Drive, Glenndale, Calif., 17,177, 98th Street, New York, N. Y., are planning romantic trips for the summer. Typical of the latter are the plans of the Jesse Masons. They leave in late June for Alaska via Jasper National Park and Van- couver, returning via Seattle and the World Fair.

The Joe Gernsachs enjoyed a fine cruise with friends in Caribbean waters during March.

The Knights had a fine winter in Tucson. They returned home April 17 via California. A high- light of the trip was a half day in Los Angeles with the Rainbow Bradstreets (Helein Steward). Helen seems to have enjoyed a wonderful afternoon reminiscing and bringing our stories to life. They arrived home in Bangor May 16. It now seems unlikely that the Bradstreets will take their usual trip East this summer.

All happy to know that Gertrude Milling died April 16 after a long illness. Details are not available. May his friends at the Class appreciate he many that wish to write Mrs. Deering (Claire) Ad- dress 216 Euclid Ave., Lynn, Mass.

Clarence. Trustee of the Maine Savings Bank of and of Bridgton Academy and past president of Pine Tree Council, Boy Scouts of America. The Class of 1915, who we were all happy to know had the University of Maine Library bear the name of Raymond, has organized a Memorial Fund and for 1915—and thoroughly deserved by him. The announcement was made at dinner meeting of the Class at the Hotel. Thanking R. K. Hon- oring Raymond who recently retired as president of the trustees. Raymond has had an unusually busy and interesting life, having been president of Mr. Joseph W. Crowe, 708 North 20th St., Boise, Idaho, will be the new secretary of the Class of 1903.

Marion Lee Webster, of Belfast, still reads eight or ten newspapers, the Republican Journal of that city. At 93 years of age, Miss Webster follows international politics, and in addition to the newspapers, she reads two newspapers a day. She has lived in Belfast for the past 23 years, following 42 years as a secretary to Governor Francis H. Webster ’04, lives in South San Francisco.

nothing more loyal than the Class appreciates it.

In order to get our roster updated for the spring reunion of those who works at the Alumni office, Carolyn M. Cranbrook, by name, has been appointed class secretary. She has been of class- mates whose addresses have been lost or who have died with no previous notice to the Univer- sity. They are: Mrs. G. H. Conley, 101 Elm Ave., Baltimore, Md.—Nathaniel S. Fairbrother, 9 Cherry St., Dover-Foxcroft, Me.—Enoch A. Mark- son, 234, Box 3, Box 9, Brooklyn, N.Y.—Morgan W. Morse, 906 West Ave., Tampa, Fla.—J. Leon Merri1l, P. O. Box 87, Portland, Me.—Ralph M. Laiden, 832 Watertown St., West Newton, Mass. O.K., Pals, the Class welcomes you back. Our "folly" did not go to waste, and each new achiev- ement.

1919 scholarships have been awarded to the fol- lowing: Thomas M. Record ’62, Keith S. Dunbar ’63, Holly H. Parkhurst ’63, and Lena E. Marks ’63. This is a satisfying reward for our class effort to help.

New back to Spring shows and Spring fishing!

By the time this issue of the Alumnus reaches you, your forty-fifth reunion will be a thing of the past. This is my deadline for a news column, so you can see how far in advance of publication we correspondents have to have our news ready. As if we were going to have a really good turn out. I have heard of at least three of our classmates who will be with us for the first time since graduation and a good report in the 1962 mid-summer issue of the oldies might be in order for them.

Charles Crosstead's appointment by Governor Reed, as alumni trustee of the University, has been confirmed by the Governor's Council. He succeeds Raymond Fogler '15, who has resigned.

The Art of Cookery

Uppermost in the minds of the early settlers of Portland was the securing of sufficient food. Though at seasons fish and game were plentiful in the area (Parson Smith notes on March 18, 1726: "... the best gunning here... for some years past") periods of near-famine were all too frequent.

As early as 1659 George Cleeves, Portland's first settler, had a garden, for in the notice of the sale of his homestead to John Phillips we find mention of "cornfield and gardens."

Until cessation of the Indian Wars, food for most of the settlers was simple. Stews were the main dish at meals, with game and birds as their base. At the beginning of the settlement baking was done in Dutch ovens brought over from England. These were set on the hearth on short legs, with a depression in the cover where hot coals could be placed to brown the top of the bread. Later, ovens were built in the great fireplace chimneys.

But with the coming, in the late eighteenth century, of a growing business with the outside world, manners and dress and foods became more sophisticated. Fine imported wines appeared regularly on the tables of the "gentry"; baking became an art which proud housewives strived to perfect.

Instead of huge loaves of cake — really bread dough sweetened and flavored with wine and spices, eggs and fruits added — intended to last a month or more, housewives became expert in turning out delicious little cakes with all manner of exotic flavorings. One "simple" cake of the mid-1700's contained "4 pounds of finest flour; 3 pounds of double refined sugar; 4 pounds of butter and 35 eggs — this all to be beaten together with the hand TWO HOURS before adding remaining ingredients." Not quite aptly named "Nun's Cake": the directions for making end with this warning: "Observe always to beat the butter with a COOL HAND and one way only, in a deep earthen dish."
