Gordon Weston knows the secret word

After ten years of selling veterinary medicines, Gordon Weston had reached an impasse. His sales record was excellent, but there was no chance for advancement. Clearly, it was time to look for another career or settle for what he had.

Gordon decided on life insurance after considering several other fields. “I was convinced,” he says, “that this business offered by far the greatest reward if I was willing to work hard to gain it.” With a family tradition of New England Life service behind him (his father, Ray Weston, was a New England Life agent for over 30 years), he joined this company in 1962.

In October, Gordon celebrates his second anniversary with New England Life. How’s he doing? His production for this period is well over the million dollar mark. He has already earned membership in the New England Life Leaders Association. And he can look forward to greater rewards for greater achievements—with no ceiling on advancement.

What does he attribute this record to? As he puts it, “There is only one secret word—work; there is only one result—success.”

If this type of career with New England Life interests you, there’s an easy first step to take. Send for our free Personality-Aptitude Analyzer. It’s a simple exercise you can take on your own in about ten minutes. Then return it to us and we’ll mail you the results. (This is a bona fide analysis and many men find they cannot qualify.) EDITOR'S STENCIL

Realism is called truth by some observers, because truth is an abstract term, yet a virtuous sounding name for the real. The real truth needs examination when a quarrel appears or even when a difference of opinion calls for facts. Such a need exists, we believe, in the matters of fact regarding young people today. What we hear is that teen-age youth is to blame for a number of bad conditions. There is speed driving and drinking, wild party activity, early and irresponsible marriage, vandalism, hysterical tarantism, etc. Certainly there are riots and gang fights, and there are signs of moral decline. If these are the indicators that are being sought, they will be found. No argument here is made in defense of all activities, but truth is that not all these things are descriptive of all young people—probably not of a majority, perhaps not even of a greater number than in some earlier year of our long history.

Alumni parents on campus for Freshman Parents Day this fall might have been among the 1600 who heard Vice-President, Dr. H. Austin Peck's address about the charges that American youth are "irresponsible, foolish and destructive." He feared that some of us members of an older generation might overlook the other side of the coin. He said, "We tend to pay insufficient attention to the many responsible and unselfish acts of today's youth." This column agrees that the reverse side does deserve our attention, that we may gather some facts to refute the implication that all youth are destructive.

Dr. Peck reminded parents and told the Freshmen also assembled that there are young people who spend an entire summer vacation operating a summer camp for underprivileged children. There were some courageous and youthful folks who also spent a summer registering voters in the South. He added, "We may ignore the group which works in the slums of an American city, or travels abroad to aid in the education tasks of a developing foreign nation." There are still further examples of young people of high ideals and great courage.

We would call attention especially in this issue of the Maine Alumnus to a feature article of a recent girl graduate who is one of 26 young University of Maine Peace Corps volunteers, realistically battling with obstacles in far away places. It is a joy to know of our apt young people. It is a greater joy to know, that we educated people, alumni are able to differentiate among the statements purporting to describe all youth. The University has very large numbers now of capable and willing young citizens (albeit not enough high school graduates are being given the chance economically to come here) who are frightfully important to our nation. Let us not undersell them, and rather than condemn—let us learn to help and encourage them more. They are a wonderful group—the hope of all of us.
Deans Attend IFC Conf.

Dean of Men John Stewart and Assistant to the Dean Maurice Littlefield attended the 56th annual meeting of the National Interfraternity Conference from December 3 to 5 in Cincinnati, Ohio. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss ways to strengthen the college fraternity system. As a consultative body of the general men's fraternity systems of American colleges and universities, the Conference has been holding its annual meetings since its founding in 1909 as occasions for self-examination and searching for improved ways to attain its ideals.

Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, one of the prominent Republican political figures of the nation and a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, delivered the keynote address at the principal banquet concluding the meeting on December 5. During the concluding session, the new motion picture on the fraternity system in American colleges was unveiled for the delegates by Tozier Brown, Chairman of the Public Relations Committee and a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. Mr. Brown presented also an evaluation of the cooperative two weeks exhibit on college fraternities and sororities sponsored jointly by the National Interfraternity Conference and the National Panhellenic Conference which was viewed by approximately 100,000 persons at the New York World's Fair this past summer.

Coed Visits President

"These things just don't happen!" That was the disbelieving reaction of University of Maine coed Camilla Guerette of Waterville Thursday when notified that she had been selected by the university to participate in a White House conference on Saturday, October 3. Invitation to the event was extended personally by President Lyndon B. Johnson, according to UM Registrar George H. Crosby.

It was contained in a letter to University President Lloyd H. Elliott and noted, in part: "... I have a great interest in the young leaders who are emerging in our colleges and would like to get to know them and their thinking as much as I can. With this in mind, I am inviting to the White House a group of student leaders from representative colleges and universities throughout the country.

"The occasion will be on Saturday, Oct. 3. It will begin at 5 p.m. and will consist of a reception of the students by Mrs. Johnson and myself; some remarks by me; talks by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, and Ambassador Adlai Stevenson; and a buffet dinner and entertainment at which my daughter Lynda will be hostess.

"I want to leave to you the designation of the fine young man or woman whom you feel would well represent your student body."

Miss Guerette, a senior majoring in French language studies, is a member of the All-Maine Women's Society, the judicial board of Associated Women Students, and is an upperclass resident counselor in her dormitory. In the past she has served as a junior resident, as secretary and vice president of her dormitory, and as a member of the French Club and Sophomore Eagles.

Parents Day Held

The University of Maine's Orono campus held its annual Parents Day program on Saturday, October 17. The day-long program gave parents of the approximately 1,300 freshmen an opportunity to visit their youngsters' deans and advisors, inspect campus facilities, and be briefed on the educational goals of the State University. The academic and social deans met with parents between 8:45 and 10:45 a.m. in the main lounge of the Memorial Union, while advisors were in their offices between 9 and 12 for the same purpose. Parents also could inspect dormitories during the morning. In addition, they were invited to join their sons and daughters for lunch in the various university dining halls. Following lunch, a general meeting was held in Memorial Gymnasium at which time Dr. H. Austin Peck, vice president for academic affairs, spoke on goals of the university.

CAMPUS IN AUTUMN

The new classroom building of the College of Arts and Sciences, pictured here in an architect's proposed sketch, is now under construction. Located by the mall between Boardman and North Stevens Halls the new building is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1965. It will house the departments of foreign languages and psychology.
Showcase Debut

The University of Maine Student Literary Magazine, COdeB, under the direction of Gus Bombard and faculty advisor Dr. Carroll Terrell, will make its debut in mid-December.

The 60-page magazine will feature prose, poetry, and art sketches contributed by students and faculty. The purpose of the student publication is to give members of the University an opportunity to reveal their talent to the public. So watch for your magazine, Showcase, and treat yourself to an outstanding literary experience.

Borns Glacier Named

A University of Maine faculty member has been honored by having a glacier in Antarctica named for him. Dr. Harold W. Borns, Jr., associate professor of geology at the University, has received word from the U.S. Department of the Interior's Board of Geographic Names that the Secretary of the Interior has approved the name of Borns Glacier for one of two glaciers in the Weddell Sea of Antarctica.

Dr. Borns was a member of an expedition to Victoria Land in West Antarctica during 1960-61 sponsored by the National Science Foundation. It was as a result of his work then that the Department of the Interior decided to honor him. During the past year Dr. Borns was on leave of absence and spent some time studying glaciers in the Yukon Territory, as a post-doctoral fellow at Yale, where he worked in the area of glacier geology, and in Nova Scotia where he investigated glacial problems.

Trustees OK Farm & Home Week

Continuation of Farm and Home Week at the University of Maine was assured, at least for the next three years, at the September meeting of the University's Board of Trustees. The annual four-day event, scheduled during the University's spring recess, is under the supervision of the College of Life Sciences and Agriculture which presents a series of programs and activities of general interest.

Over the past several years programs have been broadened and enlarged to include programs and guest speakers on current topics of state-wide interest in addition to special interest meetings. A College of Life Sciences committee, which has just concluded a revaluation of Farm and Home Week said "there is a great need and a good climate for a thorough redesigning of the program" to project "a rigorous image of agriculture, home economics, and related subjects to the people of the state."

The 1965 Farm and Home Week on the Orono campus will be held Monday, March 29, to Thursday, April 1.

Grant Finances Kraft Study

The University of Maine has received a grant of $77,926 from the United States Public Health Service to finance a three-year research project on chemical factors related to kraft odor control. It was announced in September by President Lloyd H. Elliott. Principal investigator in the research will be Dr. Irwin B. Douglass, professor of chemistry. The establishment of the project will enable the university to use its facilities in the search for a solution to the kraft odor problem which plagues the paper industry in Maine.

Dr. Douglass is a widely-known specialist in organosulfur chemistry with more than 28 publications to his credit. He has also been lecturing to UM students for more than 15 years on cellulose and wood chemistry. The odors from kraft pulping belong to the same group of organosulfur compounds Dr. Douglass has been studying. This fact, together with his interest in the chemistry of wood pulp and pulp manufacture, especially qualifies him for work in this area. During the 1962-63 college year he was on leave from the university in which time he spent several months making a thorough review of the literature available on kraft odor control.

Religious Lectures

A series of lectures on "Life—Its Meaning, Its Celebration, and Its Relationships" will be presented by the Office of Religious Affairs at the University of Maine during the fall semester. Also participating in the sponsorship will be the Student Religious Association, according to the Rev. Harvey Bates, director of the ORA.

The series will be presented, Mr. Bates said, in the hope that those who attend "will learn more about their own faith and the faith of their neighbors, and in the hope that the ecumenical movement will become more than a confusing phrase in the minds of the university's academic community."

Centennial Planners

A Committee of One Hundred named by the University of Maine in connection with its Centennial program met here Saturday, October 17. In inviting the 100 citizens to serve on the committee, President Elliott asked the group to explore with us some of the problems facing the State University as it moves into its second century.

The meeting of the Committee of 100 was the opening event in a series planned by the State University to celebrate the 100th anniversary of its founding. The exact anniversary date will be February 25, 1965, but the University will have a number of Centennial events both before and after this date as part of its observance of the 100th birthday. Besides the meeting at the Orono campus on October 17, a spring meeting of the Committee of 100 is planned at the Portland campus of the State University on April 10.

The meeting was held in Barrows Hall. President Elliott addressed the opening session and described a number of problems confronting the university including such areas as admissions, academic programs, research, service activities, costs to students, and similar matters. Later the Committee of 100 was divided into ten discussion groups which reviewed many of the problems raised by President Elliott.

Dr. Lawrence M. Cutler, Bangor, President of the University's Board of Trustees, presided at the luncheon meeting. The speaker was Dean Winthrop C. Libby of the College of Life Sciences and Agriculture who discussed some of the many ways in which the university may serve the state.
North Shore (Massachusetts) Alumni
Frank W. Spencer ’44, President
North Shore alumni held a program-planning meeting on September 24 at the home of Frank Spencer, president of the organization. It was decided that the year’s program would include a dinner meeting in February and a lecture in May.

Merrymeeting Bay Alumni
Donald M. Povich ’51, President
Merrymeeting Bay alums gathered at the Hotel Eagle in Brunswick on Thursday, December 3. A Social Hour preceded the 7:30 buffet dinner. University President Lloyd Elliott addressed the group on the topic “Centennial 1965”.

Southern California Alumni
George O. Ladner ’26, President
Former Alumni Secretary Charles Crossland met with alumni of Southern California at Mike Lyman’s Restaurant in Los Angeles for a social hour and dinner on Thursday, October 29.

Minneapolis-St. Paul Alumni
Roy J. Gavin ’34, President
On October 22 Charles Crossland, Executive Secretary of the University of Maine Pulp and Paper Foundation and former Alumni Secretary, met in Minnesota with alumni of the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. A dinner was held at the Minnesota Club in St. Paul following a 5:30 social hour. Mr. Crossland brought alumni up to date on University events and told of plans for the coming Centennial Celebration.

Central Massachusetts Alumni
Howard K. Lambert ’49, President
Saturday evening, November 14, alumni of the Worcester area met at the Coach and Six in Worcester for a social hour and dinner. GAA Executive Director Russ Woolley ’41 gave a rundown of Homecoming activities for those unable to be in Orono that weekend and showed a special film of the late President Kennedy’s visit to the University during the 1963 Homecoming celebration.

Southern Penobscot Alumnae
Martha (Page ’43) Hodgkins, President
Alumnae met for dinner in the Hilton Room of the Memorial Union at 6:00 on the evening of November 17. After a business meeting, the ladies toured Lengyel Hall, the new women’s physical education building. The Gymnastics Club presented a demonstration of tumbling, folk dancing and vaulting. Dr. Viola Kleindienst, head of the Department of Women’s Physical Education, explained the program.

Portland Alumni
Richard D. Hewes ’50, President
Baseball Coach Jack Butterfield showed films of last year’s team which participated in the NCAA World Series in Omaha during June at a meeting of Portland alumni held at UMP on the evening of November 12.

York County Alumni
Lloyd D. Hatfield ’37, President
York County alumni hosted seniors of high schools in the county at a meeting with University of Maine Director of Admissions James A. Harmon ’40 on the evening of November 10 in observance of American Education Week. GAA Executive Director Russ Woolley ’41 accompanied Mr. Harmon. The speech to the students concerned the nature of the University and entrance requirements.

Auburn-Lewiston Alumnae
Hazel (Sparrow ’31) Russell, President
Twenty-one members met on October 21 at the home of Pat (Twitchell ’58) Ricker at 7:30 for a business meeting and lecture. Dr. Dort Brigg, an antique dealer, spoke on how to identify period furniture and what to look for when buying. A supper meeting was held on November 18.

THE MAINE ALUMNUS
Southern Kennebec Alumni
Ralph "Woody" Hodgkins '59, President

On November 6 in the Silver Room of the Augusta House Mr. Bennett Katz addressed a luncheon meeting of alumni. His topic was "University of Maine in Augusta".

Auburn-Lewiston Alumni
Fernand L. Pontbriand '50, President

GAA Vice-President Robert Schoppe '38 addressed alumni at a November 12 meeting at the Holiday Inn in Auburn. The program also included the showing of the film of President Kennedy's 1963 visit to the University.

Portland Alumnae
Carolyn (Bull '56) Dahlgren, President

On November 5 alumnae met at the home of Betty (Kononen '56) Berry in Cape Elizabeth to share ideas on holiday recipes and decorations.

President Carolyn (Bull '56) Dahlgren entertained the group at her home in Cape Elizabeth on the evening of December 3 for Past President's Night. The speaker was Dr. Robert York, former professor of history at the University and now Dean of Instruction at Gorham State Teachers College. He spoke on Maine history.

The 1964 Homecoming celebration got off to a slow start Friday (October 9) afternoon when the Maine freshman team was edged by Bridgeton Academy's football squad by a score of 7-6, but Friday evening a student parade and a display of fireworks set the spirit for a Pep Rally in the Memorial Gym. Homecoming Queen candidates presented skits; and Sam Sezak '31, Homecoming Chairman, fired up the crowd with a brief welcoming address. Later, at the All-Maine Woman Senior Skull Stag Dance, Miss Kaye Olsen of Brunswick was crowned 1964 Homecoming Queen.

At the Homecoming Open House, held from 8:30 to 11:00 in the Main Lounge of the Memorial Union, alumni enjoyed renewing friendships. Coffee and birthday cake comprised the bill of fare. Whose birthday? ... why, the University's, of course. To celebrate in advance the 100th birthday (February 25, 1965) of the University of Maine, an enormous cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Daniel Farnsworth, wife of the baker for the Memorial Union. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Silver '02 were the recipients of the Golden Cup, a gold coffee cup which they were awarded for being the 100th in line for coffee that evening.

Saturday morning featured Homecoming displays, a field hockey game at the Women's Athletic Field (which the undergraduate ladies won), and a well-attended Alumni-Faculty Coffee in the Union. Results of the display contest, announced during the afternoon football game, were first place awards to Sigma Phi Epsilon, Colvin Hall (women), and Cumberland Hall (men).

The Alumni Centennial Luncheon held Saturday noon featured lobster stew and Maine's Champion 1964 Baseball Team. Also on the agenda was the awarding of Black Bears to four outstanding alumni: Cora '23 and Henry '23 Doten of Augusta, Carleton "Speed" Merritt '24 of East Greenwich, R. I., and Arthur T. Forrestall '33 of Portland. The company adjourned at 1:00 to see the Maine Bears beat New Hampshire by a score of 33-18. A specialty of the game was the releasing of hundreds of multi-colored "lighter-than-air" balloons after the first few touchdowns.

Homecoming was concluded Saturday evening with fraternity open houses, a concert in the Memorial Gym featuring the Four Preps, and the Centennial Homecoming Dance at the Penobscot Valley Country Club (sponsored by Penobscot Valley Alumni).

BLACK BEAR AWARD CITATIONS

Arthur T. Forrestall ’33

A Black Bear Award is made today to a former alumni council member, resident of Portland, and a very loyal and capable worker for the University in volunteer association tasks.

He is President of his alumni class, and has always been an eager and helpful member of the reunion activities of that group. A loyal contributor of time, talent and money, he has been a Union Building campaign worker and a member among the leadership of the Arthur A. Hauck Building Fund. He was an area chairman also of that campaign.

Elected to the Alumni Council in 1953, he served three terms on that body and that period included also service on the Executive Committee.

A native of Portland and a successful business man of that city, he married a native Portlander in 1941, Miss Beverly Wright. Art Forrestall was an Economics major at the University and a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

In World War two, Art entered the Navy and was discharged a Lieutenant in the Reserve, rapidly being advanced later to the grades of Commander and now Captain in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He has been very active in command positions of his service, since the war, in addition to shipboard duty in the Pacific combat theatre during hostilities.

He is now Treasurer and active Manager of Portland Lumber Corporation, a retail supplier of building materials. He is an active civic and business leader with his wife in their community and among the most loyal of local association alumni resource persons.

It is indeed pleasant and appropriate for me to make this Black Bear Award to Arthur T. Forrestall of Portland.

DECEMBER, 1964
CARLETON W. MERRITT '24

A Black Bear Award is presented next to a Class of 1924 graduate whose loyalty to Maine and efforts on its behalf have been many and varied, both as an undergraduate and as an enduring alumnus.

He was born in Addison, Maine. At South Portland High School, he began his prominence in athletics as Captain of Football in his senior year, and a three letter man.

At the University of Maine he was varsity quarterback for Coach Fred “Foxy” Brice for three years. In his senior year he was named All-Maine Conference quarterback. He was also on the basketball and baseball squads. His fraternity is Theta Chi.

For twelve years he coached at Cranston High School, Cranston, Rhode Island where his football teams won seven state championships, his hockey teams won nine state titles and his baseball teams—two state titles. For a year he served on the football coaching staff of Providence College, R. I. Since then he was manager and now owner manager of the Estate of W. U. Farrington, Manufacturers of Textile Finishes and Foundry Dextrines in East Greenwich, R. I.

His loyalty as a University of Maine alumnus has been demonstrated through the years as he has actively served on every alumni fund drive—collecting and contributing. He is a member of the Pulp and Paper Foundation of the University of Maine and served as president of the graduate “M” Club in 1961-62. A charter member of the Rhode Island Black Bear Club, he is the celebrated host of the spring “Clambake”.

It is a pleasure for me to award the Black Bear to Carleton Westwood Merritt, Class of 1924, from East Greenwich, Rhode Island.

CORAL (RUSSELL) AND HENRY DOTEN '23

An award of the Black Bear is made this year in a precedent setting fashion—as a combination award to be shared in equal honor by the two recipients. They are accustomed to sharing both work, and honors for their accomplishments. They were residents of Orono for 25 years and were intimately associated with the important growth of the University from 1939 to 1964. Both are alumni of the Class of 1923. Coral and Henry Doten are outstanding alumni, loyal and devoted to serving their University and for assistance through the Alumni Association to the purposes for which it stands.

First, Coral Russell Doten, of Bangor, a History major, married to Henry in October of 1926, is the mother of two alumni of the University, a daughter Shirley (now Mrs. William Oliver) and a son, Herbert. Coral was always active in civic affairs—while they lived in Augusta, and following those years—also was a civic leader in Orono. She served PTA offices and Orono Woman’s Club, her Phi Mu Sorority, Daughters of the American Revolution and Panhellenic Society. She has been very effective in support of alumni drives during financial campaigns—a strong class supporter and loyal individual alumna, promoting homecomings and reunions by her presence, her gifts and her service.

Henry L. Doten received a degree in Civil Engineering and has had an outstanding career in Bridge and Highway Construction and in Business Management, retiring this year. From 1923 to 1939 he rose to the position of Construction Engineer with the Maine State Highway Commission. On March 6, 1939, he was appointed by President Arthur A. Hauck to the position of Business Manager and Purchasing Agent for the University. He had general supervision of administration for plant maintenance and development. A native of Northfield, Maine—he was a loyal and distinguished son of Washington County who has demonstrated those Down East qualities, in the finest sense, in all his working days, in State Highways, in University matters, fraternity affairs, civic and club work, his alumni class, also the Maine Association of Engineers, the Better Roads Association, the Maine Turnpike Authority and the National Association of Educational Buyers. He was an active reservist in the Army Engineers in World War II and rose to the rank of Colonel as a peacetime reservist. He has been a sincere, seven-day-a-week laborer in the ranks of alumni as a class officer, leader of alumni fund campaigns and in promotion of class, club and reunion affairs. He is an outstanding citizen of Maine.

It is a pleasure, for the first time in Alumni Association history of the award of the Black Bear, to make a joint presentation of the Award to Coral R. and Henry L. Doten, Class of 1923, now of Augusta, Maine.
While we use Webster's for reference, everyone has his own ready stock of words pertinent to his existence. Prior to Peace Corps, Africa took up a very small space in my personal dictionary. As I had read Edgar Rice Burroughs rather than the Encyclopedia Britannica, my definition was illustrated by snakes, ringed-nose cannibals, and tree-houses.

Eleven months in Senegal, five weeks in Cameroon, and ten days in Nigeria have been a constant exercise in shaving a concept here and padding an idea there to enable me, Julianna Free—June '63 graduate of the University of Maine—to fit into the shifting shape of the French West African Culture. I cannot explain this experience except in sporadic emphasis. For although I take living in Africa for granted, although I have ceased to gaze with gaping mouth and my black and blue pinch marks have long since healed, I am subject to the immediate.
I have yet to see a snake, meet a cannibal with a ring in his nose, or honeymoon in a treehouse...”

Bob Bogden ’62 was married just before entering Peace Corps training to Janet Carlisle, formerly of Westfield, New Jersey, and now from Philadelphia. The Bogdens received their Masters Degrees from Syracuse University last June and now are doing social work in Ibadan, Nigeria.

SENEGAL is being one Peace Corps Volunteer among 65 in a country the size of South Dakota; seeing the other 64 at infrequent intervals—if at all; being the only American among the Senegalese, Lebonese and French population of Rufisque; and speaking French. It is teaching “American”—definitely different from the “Queen’s English”—to secondary school students; bailing all drinking and dish-rinsing water; losing twenty pounds that would have been better gained; receiving a condolence card after President Kennedy’s assassination; hearing the beat of the tam-tam through insomnia; passing a Moslem in prayer who interrupts his address to Allah to nod a greeting; ignoring men urinating against the walls of buildings; and accepting a student’s gift of a sea-shell. It is having a suspended student returned to class because of a government official’s influence; inquiring what Alan Ladd just said in his too rapid French; and learning that tomorrow is not necessarily a shorter span of time than next year. It is catching amoebic dysentery; killing cockroaches two inches long; learning to bargain; motorcycling around stalled motorists caught in a traffic jam; sleeping under a mosquito net that doesn’t keep out the night sounds that a girl alone can hear; “bawling out” a class in French that is funny rather than fluent; and having an admiring group of young girls chorus “Brigitte Bardot, Bardot” as I pass. Most important it is being more concerned with the language a guest speaks than his color.

Julie teaches English as a second language to students at the Cours Complementaire, Mahtar Sekk, in Rufisque, Senegal...16 miles from Dakar, the nation’s capital. She has forty students in each class!
CAMEROON is the five week vacation prize for working in Senegal; visiting friends that pre-date Peace Corps; and holding Katie—Tom and Evie Duston’s contribution to the Cameroonian census. Cameroon is exploring a hidden cave to finger human skulls; sitting in the corner of a mud-brick hut sipping palm-wine while the members of Tom's “Drinking Society” gyrate to the talking drums; learning how irritating a wood stove can be to cook on everyday; using the kerosene lamp every evening after the electricity goes off at 10 p.m.; and heating a charcoal iron to iron. It is delighting in the beauty of cloud-draped mountains and bouquets of palm trees; stopping for police checks, but never—happily—meeting the terrorist renegades; traveling roads—paved, dirt, rock and mud—none with rest rooms; riding in public transport when the motion is one nerve-racking skid after another for miles of mud; hitch-hiking when there isn't any public transport available; and sitting for three hours in a loading Mammy Wagon at a market only half-an-hour's drive from the Dustons, a bath and a bed. Cameroon is testing the lessons Senegal taught in patience, resourcefulness and nerve.

NIGERIA is traveling on paved roads in Peugeot taxis at 60 MPH (in comparison to the 50 miles I made one day by truck in Cameroon); having a gentleman almost succeed in disappearing with the luggage he so kindly offered to assist me with at the Onitsha ferry; and perspiring heat after the coolness of Cameroon. It is listening to tapes that Jan and Bob Bogden have just brought from the States; sacking the shelves of Kingsway for 15 lbs. of American and English groceries to take back to Senegal; learning the “high-life” from Steve Ridley in Lagos; having three shillings pressed to my forehead in Nigerian tribute to my dancing—and having the waiter pocket the one shilling that fell to the floor. Nigeria is the last ten days of vacation before taking the pack-boat back to Dakar.

These paragraphs outline my empirical definition of a year in Africa. I have yet to see a snake, meet a cannibal with a ring in his nose or honeymoon in a tree-house. I doubt that I’ll have the time. I am too busy trying to expand the Senegalese’s concept of America. They define America by Al Capone, rock ‘n roll, cowboys, and race riots.

Evie (Krauter '63) and Tom Duston '62 teach at a teacher training college in Batibo, Cameroon. For summer projects Tom wrote a math book (in English but using the French metric system) and Evie concentrated on having Kathryn... born August 11, 1964, in a hospital eighty-five miles and five hours ride from Batibo.

Steve Ridley '63 has taught biology and chemistry at Ansar Un Deen College, a boys' secondary school in Isolo, Nigeria, just outside Lagos, for the past year. On weekends he continues his Peace Corps summer project of reconstructing houses destroyed by a flood. In this picture Steve and other faculty members relax during recess.
The bou-bou is the eight yard dress of the women of Senegal... and the antonym of alimony. As a man is allowed four wives by Moslem law, the woman buys as many bou-bous as possible to keep her husband too poor to afford his legal limit of wives.

Julie writes: "My kitchen doesn't have screens so I made a mosquito net (out of tulle at $2.00 a yard as cheesecloth is non-existent here) for my dishtray. Note the handkerchief over the faucet to filter some of the mud out of the water."

A well known Washington figure died on January 1, 1963. He left an estate estimated between $20 million and $50 million. His last will was drawn up in 1939, twenty-four years before he died. While his estate is not yet settled, it is estimated that federal estate taxes will approach $11 million on the minimum estate of $20 million. Had this man taken advantage of a 1948 amendment to the tax laws his federal estate taxes could have been reduced to only $5 million.

While very few of us will leave an estate of this magnitude, the story points up the great importance of our making an up-to-date will. So, we ask this question . . .

Have You Had Your Legal Check-up Recently?

- Do you have a will? Yes ☐ No ☐
- If not, do you know how to proceed? Yes ☐ No ☐
- If so, can you recall your executor? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Do you still own substantially the same securities? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Insurance? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Real Estate? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Can you recall the major provisions of your will? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Has the situation within your family changed? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Have you moved to another state? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Has your tax picture changed? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Do those most concerned know the location of your will? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Other related documents? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Do you believe that the satisfactions you have found in life have been due in part to the education and values you received at Maine? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Are you now alone and wish to ensure continuity to these values by providing for Maine? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Do you have dependents and wish to benefit Maine without infringing their interests? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Do you want to provide for scholarships at Maine? Yes ☐ No ☐
- For Student Loans? Yes ☐ No ☐
- For General Purposes? Yes ☐ No ☐
- Do you want to help others receive the benefits of education such as you now enjoy? Yes ☐ No ☐

Posed in front of the Fightin’ Black Bear, the University of Maine’s athletic mascot, is the ’64 Maine varsity squad which won the final Maine State Series championship in 1964.

Third row, 1-r: Prescott Verrill, Old Orchard Beach; Dennis Doyle, Auburn; Ron Rogerson, Brewer; Richard Angell, South Portland; John Hutchins, Bucksport; Douglas Avery, Lower Sebago Lake; John Huard, Waterville; Gerry Perkins, Orrington; Milton MacBride, Presque Isle; Vernon Walker, Springvale; John Fogler, Rochester, N. Y.; Robert Knowles, South Portland; Fred Lovejoy, Norway; George Wehrman, Granite Springs, N. Y.; Richard Nolan, Rahway, N. J.; Charles Belisle, Biddeford; Norman Tardiff, Randolph, Mass.; Paul Keany, Dedham, Mass.; Ron Lanza, Revere, Mass.; Russell Johnson, Kittery; David Sawyer, Saco; Carl Freyermuth, Plymouth, Mass.; Paul Pendleton, Portland; Richard Capozza, Portland; and Ivan Brawn, Bucksport.

Maine’s varsity football eleven, following a heart-breaking Yankee Conference campaign, swept through the final Maine State Series competition in a brilliant manner to conclude the 1964 gridiron season.

The Bears trounced Bates, 38-7; Colby, 42-7; and Bowdoin, 22-0, to win the title in a commanding fashion. The three State Series triumphs, coupled with the Bears’ 2-3 effort in YC competition, gave Hal Westerman’s forces an overall record for the year of five wins, three losses.

It was the 14th consecutive season that Westerman-coached elevens have finished with a .500 record or better. No other college coach in New England has compiled such an enviable record.

Next year, with Maine State Series grid competition a thing of the past due to the withdrawal of Bowdoin and Bates from the Maine schedule, the Black Bears will be able to better concentrate on Yankee Conference contests. Maine has been the only team in New England, other than the University of Vermont, which has to battle for honors in two conferences. This, needless to say, has been a heavy burden for UM elevens to shoulder.

The 1965 Maine schedule will include the following opponents: Sept. 18, Massachusetts; Sept. 25, at Boston University; Oct. 2, Vermont; Oct. 9, at New Hampshire; Oct. 16, Connecticut (homecoming); Oct. 23, at Rhode Island; Oct. 30, at Colby; Nov. 6, Youngstown; and Nov. 13, at Tampa.

New football rules in the 1964 season enabled Westerman to use different units on offense and defense which, in turn, permitted more members of the team to play regularly. When the season was over, a large number of the players were named to the All-Maine teams which are selected annually by the Bangor Daily News, Portland Sunday Telegram, and WABI Radio and Television.

Offensive players named were: Quarterback Dick DeVarney of Laconia, N. H.; Halfbacks Brentley Keene of Bucksport and Frank Harney of Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Ends Ned Sherry of Manhasset, N. Y., and Bill Riviere of Bath; Tackles Ernie Smith of Laconia, N. H., and Charlie Harlow of Rumford; Guard John Sherry of Manhasset, N. Y.; and Center Walter Hirst of Old Orchard Beach.

Defensive players selected were: Backs Mike Haley of South Paris and Paul Keany of Dedham, Mass.; Ends Dick Flaherty of Salisbury, Mass., and Alan Riley of Topsfield, Mass.; Tackle Vern Walker of Springvale; and Linebackers John Huard of Waterville and Rod Durgin of Auburn.

DeVarney, the junior quarterback, established seven more all-time UM passing records during the season. Also occupying new places in the UM record books are senior fullback Bill Perkins of Farmingdale and senior halfback Mike Haley of South Paris.

Perkins, punter for the team, averaged 35.6 yards per kick to tie the existing University record which was set in 1961 by Gordon Pendleton.

Haley, a starter for three straight years, finished with 15 touchdowns good for 90 points for his UM career to move into ninth place on the list of the 10 all-time top scorers in University history.

DeVarney, the 5-8, 166-pound terror, owns all of the UM passing records. His new marks include two career (three-season) records although he still has another full season to play. He has completed 129 passes over the past two years to break
DeVarney's other new records are:

- Total yards gained in one game by rushing and passing, 221 vs. Vermont. (Old record: 190, Ken Parady, 1952 vs. Bates).
- Total yards by passing in one season: 1,102. (Old record, 715, Manch Wheeler, 1961).
- Total yards gained in one season by rushing and passing: 1,057. (Old record, 936, Manch Wheeler, 1961).

A versatile athlete, DeVarney was an outstanding shortstop on Maine's New England championship baseball team last spring.

While still on the subject of football, University of Maine grid fans had an opportunity this season to follow the exploits of a recent UM player in the professional ranks. Dave Cloutier of Gardiner, an outstanding halfback for Maine during the 1959-61 period, has earned a job with the Boston Patriots of the American Football League. The Patriots, as of this writing, were challenging Buffalo for first place in the AFL's Eastern Division with Cloutier doing a fine job on defense and on punt and kickoff returns.

A another college basketball season will be in progress as you read this issue of the Alumnus. At press time, however, Coach Brian McCall's Maine quintet was busy preparing for its opener on Dec. 1 against Norwich University at Northfield, Vt.

In case you missed the 1964-65 UM schedule which was listed in the last issue of the Alumnus, here it is again: Dec. 4-5, Vermont; Dec. 9, at Bowdoin; Dec. 12, at Massachusetts; Dec. 14, at Rhode Island; Dec. 17, Connecticut; Dec. 28, at Youngstown; Dec. 29-30, at Wooster (Ohio) Classic; Dec. 31, at Gannon (Pa.); Jan. 6, at Bates; Jan. 9, at St. Anselm's; Jan. 13, Colby; Feb. 6, at Connecticut; Feb. 10, Bates; Feb. 13, at New Hampshire; Feb. 17, Bowdoin; Feb. 20, Rhode Island; Feb. 24, at Colby; Feb. 27, Massachusetts; March 2, New Hampshire; March 4, at Boston University.

The Christmas vacation trip to Ohio and Pennsylvania will be a four-game affair. The Bears will play Youngstown University in Youngstown, O., on Dec. 28th, followed by participation in the second annual Wooster Classic sponsored by the College of Wooster in Wooster, Ohio, on the 29th and 30th. Also competing in the Classic will be Muskingum College of Ohio and Hartwick College of New York. The Bears will then move on to Erie, Pa., on the 31st to meet Gannon College.

Maine's squad will be a 12-man outfit this winter. The roster includes four forwards, senior Co-Captains Dave Svendsen of Needham, Mass., and John Gillette of Westbrook, and sophomores Dick Billings of Westbrook and Bill Beck of South Portland. At center are junior Guy Strang of Bangor and sophomore David Hale of Barre, Vt. The guards are senior Scott Dunham of Yarmouth, juniors Bob Woodbury of Orono, Bruce MacKinnon of Bath, and Bob Brewer of Rockland, and sophomores Terry Carr of Millinocket and Rick Woods of Bath.

Strang and Hale are the tallest Bears at 6-5, while Svendsen, Gillette, and Billings are 6-3.

Maine's indoor track squad, coached by the highly-successful Ed Styrna, will open its season on Jan. 9 when the Bears entertain New Hampshire. Other meets are: Jan. 16, Bates; Feb. 13, Brown; Feb. 20, Boston University; Feb. 27, Northeastern; March 6, U. S. Track and Field Federation Meet; and March 13, at Yankee Conference Indoor Championships at Burlington, Vt.

Maine, with four straight Yankee Conference championships to its credit, has no place to go but down, but Styrna is hoping that the championship pace can be maintained at least for another year. This looks doubtful as Rhode Island has come up with its best squad in years and appears at the moment to have the material to block Maine's championship express. The Rams, incidentally, won the YC cross country title this past fall while Maine, the defending champion, slipped to third place.

The Maine offense this winter will be weak in the dashes and jumps, but Styrna hopes that his middle and distance runners, pole vaulters, and weightmen will overcome this anticipated deficit with large doses of points in their events.

Back from last year are several outstanding performers, including: Jim Ballinger, one of the top hurdlers in UM history; Jim Dean, the University record-holder in the pole vault; Arnie Delaite, perhaps the greatest weightman in UM history with many records to his credit; and Fred Judkins, the best long distance runner in state and UM history and also with many school and state records listed among his accomplishments.

ERWIN H. HUSSEY, Ormond Beach, Fla., said they escaped the worst of the hurricanes. His health is good but he was in the hospital for about a week last December and made a fine re­covery. Says he has to go through a driving test recently and his recovery was not so good. The driving part was passed with flying colors but the test in regard to his eyes was passed and he lost his driver's license. He is the second classmate that I know of that has lost their license on an­count of their eyes.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hutchins, Portland, visited New York City the latter part of June. While there they attended the wedding of Mrs. Hutchins' granddaughter, Miss June Bell, on Aug. 10. They took in the Worlds Fair and visited friends in New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Willbury O. Hutchins, Portland, visited New York City the latter part of June. While there they attended the wedding of Mrs. Hutchins' granddaughter, Miss June Bell, on Aug. 10. They took in the Worlds Fair and visited friends in New Jersey.

Herbert A. Knowlton, Lakeview, Ohio, says he is feeling fine and takes a walk every day for exercise. He is 70 years old. He is the second classmate that I know of that has lost their license on ac­count of their eyes.

Ben Connell, Scotia, N. Y., is evidently feeling much better as they took a trip to Burlington to see the Maine-Vermont game. He hopes to be able to attend Commencement next June and says it will probably be the last time as it is a long trip. Said the score was disappointing but the foliage coming home by the way of Lake George the next day was wonderful.

Wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

One of our class was offered a contract with the Chicago Cubs baseball team of the National League when, in 1897-1900, Tom Fessenden was a student at the Garrett Theological Seminary and played on the Garrett baseball team, a mem­ber of the Theological Seminary League in the Chicago area. He played all the positions of the infield though on the day he was offered a con­tract with the Cubs he was the catcher. But Tom (he is now The Reverend Thomas W. Fess­enden D.D., retired, former minister of St. Paul's Church of Toledo, Ohio) tell it in his own words.

"We were playing the McCormack Theological Seminary League game that day and was behind a couple of runs. During the game five runners had tried to steal second on me and I had pegged them all out. I don't remember anything that game but my batting average for the season was about .300.

"After the game a scout from the Chicago team approached and offered me a contract to play with his team. I told him I would come a minis­try regardless of the monetary return.' That was as far as I got in becoming a professional base­ball player."

It is regrettable that Arthur and Mrs. Hanscom did not get back to his home in Maine in his ten to the Alumni Director, Russ Weddell. Roy has sent a contribution to the 1917 Gift Fund. Roy asked that this gift be credited now to our 1917 Fiftieth Anniversary Class Gift. It seems that a couple years ago, Roy and Charlie Crossland were discussing our 1917 Class Gift, and they thought that it would be fine if we could bring this Fund up to $10,000 on the Fiftieth. They decided to do it, and for twenty-six years, from now on, rather than giving it in one payment, in 1967. Don’t be surprised if you hear more about this from roy. ED and Myrtle Dempsey spent a few days with Roy and Addama at the time of the Maine Con­necticut game.

During August, Roy and Alma stayed over night in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, with Sweet and Margaret Gurnet.

I was visiting the phone yesterday with Grace (Bristol) Colvin. Harold had another fall recently, but is recovering nicely. Grace is so pleased to have two of her daughters back in Maine again. Many thanks to Carleton Walker who sent me a bit of news about himself. It seems he will be joining the retired members of the class in a few months. He and Mrs. Walker are planning a trip around the world. Col. Ogden A. Nickerson (Nick) retired, spends most of his summers in Castine, “wandering” in the winter. Both his son and daughter graduat­ed from Maine.

Fred R. Vaughan, Salisbury, Conn., is retired from Liberty Mutual in Boston. He lives in Haverhill, Mass.

(Emilie Kritter)

A happy New Year to you all, and a plea that you put out that pen and paper for an item of news for this column!

From Sam Gordon: "Dear Emilie — Your ap­peal for news has reached something — maybe my sense of right — and maybe just because you put it in a way that it is easy for me to read — at least answer your letter." (Unquote — your edi­tor won’t see this if she could charm all of you into writ­ing her!) I have been associated with Keents United, Spe­cialty and Hardy S. Ferguson consulting engineer, in Illinois, since this company started. I am Executive Vice-President. Much of my free time is spent with my grandchildren. Outside, my work and fishing, I enjoy putting over a nine-hole parlay, or to hold the dice for two hours at Las Vegas.

Harry Greenleaf retired in September after 41 years with the Maine State Highway, the last 13 as Division Engineer in the Portland office, and his wife are planning on a two-month Euro­pean trip in the fall.
The clipping contained a news story about Wyman E. Hawkes, Dighton, Mass., who has been elected to the American Farm Foundation Board of Directors by the Future Farmers of America. Wyman is a Bristol County adviser for FFSA and the article quotes him as saying that the degree is conferred on the outstanding teachers of agricultural education at the national conventions.

Foster Blake is pretty busy these days. No doubt you have all received his letter about the 1922 class fund.

Fred (Eric) and I are just back (as of Nov. 10) from a Mid-West; the occasion for the arrival of a grandson in Ann Arbor, our daughter's first child.

I'm sure that all of us are bursting with pride over Cora and Henry Doten being given the first dual husband and wife Black Bear awards.

It certainly was most gratifying to have such an excellent response to our class letter. Many thanks! As for the rest of you, Why put off until to-morrow what you could do today?

A much deserved recognition for distinguished service was bestowed on Doris (Dow) Ladd at the 31st annual meeting of the National Home Demonstration Association in Washington, D.C. in November. She was elected to serve as county extension agent for six years. Presently extension agent in Kennebec and Waldo Counties in home management guidance for 25 years, she has served the Cooperative Extension Service as acting home management agent, acting demonstration agent leader, and home demonstration agent and district agent.

Ann Marie Coen's family brings happiness enough to last throughout the coming year to each and every one of you.

It is always sad to report the death of a class mate and say, as I told five-year old Billy of his grandfather “His work is done.” This time it is “her work is done.” Izora Hutchinson Parsons, teacher, died recently in September. I received the clipping just after the deadline for the last column. Probably most of you read this in the Necrology section written by one of our class members. Dave remembered that he was in first-year Latin class with Izora. I remember her from biology class. So each of us would have had her own memories. Our deepest sympathy goes to her husband and the family.

Noted also in that Necrology section was mention of Bernard Knowles’ death last June. He was president of the Maine Alumni Club and active in the 1922 reunion. Our sympathy also to his family.

Jerome Knowles, Jr. made the news lately as he and his Associates, real estate appraisers and consultants, Northeast Harbor, have compiled an appraisal manual for the Vermont State Tax Department which will be used by assessor throughout the state. I’m sure that all of us are bursting with pride over Cora and Henry Doten being given the first dual husband and wife Black Bear awards.

It certainly was most gratifying to have such an excellent response to our class letter. Many thanks! As for the rest of you, Why put off until to-morrow what you could do today?

The engagement of Miss Sharon Lee Webb of New London, Conn., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Webb, Jr., and Robert F. Forrestall, a senior at Fairfield University, was announced by the parents.

Laurence Decker, chief engineer of the Maine Fish and Game department delivered a paper on fishway design at the national meeting of the Association of Conservation Engineers which was held in Louisville, Ky., in October.

Franklin Neal is the electrical illuminating engineer at Corning Glass Works in Corning, N. Y. His daughter, Mary, a graduate of Garland Jr. College, was named Homecoming Queen in October. Franklin, Jr. is a senior in high school and daughter, Patty, a junior high student.

The Portland office of the Maine Employment Security Office recently received a citation from the U. S. Department of Labor for its placement of disabled veterans. Donald M. McCormick is the veterans employment representative for the Portland area.

Richard (Dick) H. Millar is the chief of station management at the U. S. Forest Service Atlanta Regional Office. His new assignment to Atlanta, Ga., marks the end of a 10-year period in California. He served two years in San Francisco and more than a year in Italy, and was retired with a medical discharge from the Navy.

Harry Paul was elected national secretary of Cigar Smokers of America, composed of professional and businessmen who enjoy good fellowship and good cigars. It may be coincidence that Harry handles public relations for the Cigar Institute of America.

The First United States Army has appointed as Deputy Chief of Staff, Comptroller, Colonel Donald Washington. He has been assigned to First Army since Sept. 1963 and has held positions in the new Command Office as Master of Ceremonies, and as Deputy Chief of Staff. Donald is married to the former Lillian Hedrick of the Philippines. Their daughter, Margaret, is now assigned to U. S. Air Force. Their other children are Don, 19, and Dick, 15.

Firth L. Dennett has had an active career with Dow Corning since his joining the company in 1946. In 1964 he became Manager of the fiber treatment section, in 1961 was named Manager of Dow Corning's Fluids and Fiber Treatment Laboratory, and last month was named Director of the Dow Corning Center for Aid to Medical Research.

Merry Christmas to you all, and how about doing your good deed for the Holiday Season by writing me a line or two of news so that we may start our 1965 Columns with a good supply of items!

From an article in a September issue of the Kennebec Journal we learn that Priscilla Ohler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ohler, was leaving for Geneva with her husband Arthur Wheaton to be a Peace Corps worker. She took a refresher course in French at Laval, Quebec in 1964 for her tour of duty during which she plans to teach English. Last June Priscilla was graduated from New York University where she majored in American studies. Our congratulations to her and best wishes for her success with the Peace Corps Assignment.

Our class as well as the University can be justly proud of the accomplishments of Dr. Harold E. Young in the field of Forestry. Dr. Young was instrumental in organizing the new Division of Forest Memunation which has been accepted by the Society of American Foresters. At a fall meeting of the S. A. F. in Denver, Col., Hal spoke on a paper he had prepared concerning The Complete Tree Concept—A Challenge and Opportunity. We all congratulate you, Hal, for the fine work and national recognition you have achieved.

During Parents' Week-end at Westbrook Junior College it was wonderful to chat with Lloyd and Irma (Brown) Buckminster who drive from New York to see their daughter, Nancy, a freshman, who appeared in one of my tennis classes. I also have an assigned to a job in Lyn (Parkman '39) Huff '36 whose daughter, another Nancy, was one of my tennis enthusiasts this fall.

20th Reunion, June 4 & 5, 1965

Vivian and Bill Treat and their children, "Dutch" and Mary Esther, spent a month in California last year. They passed through some wilderness ride through the High Sierras. They left Tomolomme Meadows on horseback late in June with a cowboy and guide through some of the high country of Yosemite National Park. They camped at altitudes as high as 11,500 feet and had three feet of snow on their tent on the morning of the 4th of July! Bill was Chairman of the Republican National Convention in San Francisco and spent most of his time during the Convention on the platform supervising program arrangements.

Bill and Vivian live in Kennebunk frequently and report that Kenny, Jr. who will be 3 in a few weeks, was married last August. Their daughter Alice is attending Wheaton College, and like her mother, winning all sorts of honors.

Peg Maxwell Atwood is teaching Spanish and French at Damariscotta Academy for the fall semester. She received her M.A. from Middlebury College in Madrid, Spain.

Steve and Polly Powell have embarked on their own business venture into a successful farming venture. They have an apple orchard; acres of squash, pumpkin, corn, peas, strawberries, blueberries, and Christmas trees. In his spare time, Steve makes apple cider and maple syrup and traps muskrats! He is assistant chief of the game division for the Maine Inland Fish and Game Department.

Mary Upham Craven, husband Tom, and their six children have moved into a new home at 15 Marvina Road, Chelmsford, Mass. Mary has been working for the Harvard University Press. Son Tom works and enjoys skiing. Anne Patricia is a sophomore at the University of Massachusetts, and Martha is a business college student.

Art Smith of St. Louis has been appointed manager of the newly created Personnel Performance and Planning in Monsanto Company's Personnel and Administrative Services Department effective November 1st.

You'll probably be in the midst of wrapping packages and addressing cards when you read this but we're thinking of the final Bowdoinaine game and I'm still hoarse from cheering. It was fun to be a co-ed for the day again and the 22-0 score in our favor really made it an occasion to remember. Many familiar faces were in evidence—

Among our midst:

Walter John married Margaret Ann Mercer of North Muskegon, Mich. during the summer. She is a graduate of the U. of Michigan and has her M. S. from Western Reserve. She has been in the Winchester, Mass., school system. Walter is an engineer for the Factory Insurance Association in Boston.

Lawrence R. DeLois has been promoted to the home office of Mutual of New York for special training in sales agency management. He and his wife, the former Christine Blackwell, have three children.

And former class prey Robert McTaggart has been promoted to a job that is really a mouthful to say. He is now supervising polymerization operations at the Springfield, Mass. Plastics Division plant of the Monsanto Co.

In education, Donald (our lanky campus mayor) Stritch has been elected supervising principal of the Soule, Foss, and No. 8 Schools in Salem, N. H., and has served nine years on the school board in his home town of Auburn, N. H.; and Arthur C. Frieder, former guidance director of Ellsworth High School, has been named Super-intendent of Schools for Union #1, composed of Turner, Leeds, and Greenac. (He is married to the former Esther Monaghan of St. George; they have one daughter, Deborah.)

The rest of the news was written for summer and fall issues but was held back due to lack of room. (Wouldn't it be nice if we always had too much news—that's a hint for you to keep in touch. Take it, please)

In a recent letter from Faith (Taylor) Burton, she informs us the government has eliminated a certain Massachusetts post office and, consequently, she and her family no longer live in Egypt! Mail will now reach her at Scituate instead. Faith and Karl have three children—Kerry, Scotty and Dana, Scotty being the only boy. Their fourth "child" is a 130 lb. Newfoundland "puppy" which is still growing. Nice hearing from you, Faith... Lida (Maxim) Meech and family have moved to San Diego, Calif. Besides Lida and Gerald, the family includes George, 7, Stephen, 6, Katry, 4, and Joyce, 1... John McGuire, who has been a teacher-coach at Rockland High School for several years, has been named head coach of basketball at Portland High School.

And finally, congratulations are in order—however belated—for Jack Butterfield, who coached Maine's baseball team to within a hair's breadth of the championship in the College Baseball World Series in Omaha, Neb. this summer. We can all be proud to say, "We knew him when . . . !"

It seems like Christmas for December started with

JUST OVER 4,000 ALUMNI DONORS
JUST OVER 50,000 DOLLARS

Our goal is $100,000 and our primary effort is to reach the goal by the 100th birthday of the University on February 25.

Your help will be appreciated

If you have not contributed yet—please do it today, for we can succeed

Here are some of the ways we handle your telephone calls today

A buried coaxial cable may carry as many as 9300 phone conversations at the same time.

Radio relay systems can handle more than 17,000 simultaneous phone conversations.

Submarine cables whisk your words undersea as clearly as when you talk across town.

These developments will speed your telephone conversations tomorrow

Electronic Switching will connect you faster and provide many useful new phone services.

Directly-dialed Collect and Person calls will speed to completion with Operator aid.

And all are planned to meet an expanding nation's need for service

As the population grows and households multiply and business machines devour greater mountains of data, the Bell System must constantly find and develop new communications techniques to stay ahead of new demands. We're working hard to do that today. And we can promise you finer, faster, more versatile services tomorrow.

Tukey's Bridge

Portland in the 1790's was bounded by the sea and numerous small rivers and streams; travelers headed eastward, for example, had to go to Allen's Corner and over the Presumpscot River by a covered bridge. By 1791 a petition was sent to the General Court of Massachusetts asking that aid be given in building a dam across the cove between Sandy and Seacombe Points, with a road leading thence, for the convenience of eastbound travelers. The petition was denied, but private citizens of the town of Portland three years later banded together under the name of "The Proprietors of Back Cove Bridge" and obtained a charter to build and operate a toll bridge. This was opened to the public in 1796 and was known for a time as Back Cove Bridge.

One Lemuel Tukey, who kept a tavern at the Portland end of the bridge, was an early toll collector, and the bridge gradually came to be known as Tukey's Bridge, which name it has retained.

As the town grew, travel over the bridge increased until by 1830 Portland citizens felt that the bridge had repaid its builders sufficiently for it to become free of tolls. The owners did not agree with this opinion, but six years later some of them did agree that the tolls be discontinued. Others of the proprietors could not see relinquishing the toll income and their attitude prevailed until the matter was taken to the State Legislature, which ordered the bridge opened free to the public in March, 1837.

One rugged individualist still held out, however, and, taking matters into his own hands, stood at the toll gate allowing none to pass until they paid him the toll.

A story goes that one day shortly after this, a group of young men from the town, intent on forcing the issue, appeared at the toll gate and demanded free passage. The determined proprietor held the gate more tightly closed against them. Warned that he would be tossed overboard into the icy water unless he stood aside, he hung onto the gate more determinedly than ever. The young men wrenched the gate loose, with the proprietor still clinging to it. Only when they started to toss the gate over the bridge rail did he drop his hold and escape their threatened ducking.

From that day Tukey's Bridge was free to the public.
