The Maine Alumnus
winter 1973

President Winthrop C. Libby
1968-1973
A message to alumni from retiring President Libby . . .

January 1973

To Maine Alumni:

On June 30, 1973, after five years as President of the University of Maine at Orono-Bangor, I will retire. Both Betty and I have enjoyed the assignment a great deal and have worked hard at it. This has been a particularly critical period in the long history of the University. It was during these years that national and international events conspired to create terrible tensions between individuals and between generations. During this same period the University system was created by the Maine Legislature. We tried during our years of service to help maintain the quality, integrity and the character of the University. We feel this has been done.

Betty and I have now decided that it is best for the University and best for us that there be a change in leadership. Of course, we will miss our close associations with the students and with the staff—they are tremendously fine people. We plan to make Maine our home; we plan to continue to see our many alumni friends; we plan to enjoy ourselves doing those many things not yet done. Our health is good, our spirits boundless and our hopes exciting.

Both of us extend our warm greetings and best wishes to the thousands of alumni. You are a race apart in your spirit and in your dedication. You are one of the great strengths of the University. May it always be so.

With warm regards,
Winthrop C. Libby
President
A President retires with the gratitude and affection of alumni

Since the last issue of this magazine the University has felt the impact of an announcement not equalled in the last five years. It is a report of greatest interest for alumni everywhere, the announcement by President Winthrop C. Libby that he is retiring on June 30 of this year, thus completing a five year term of office as the chief executive officer at Orono, and ending a career of 39 years of service at Orono.

As the executive director of this association for almost exactly the same term as President Libby has been president, I can assure alumni that they could not ask for a more concerned presidential response to alumni interest. His statement to Orono graduates on the inside cover of this magazine attests to the warmth of his feeling toward those who are, as he states, "one of the great strengths of the University. May it always be so."

During these five years his counsel in thoughtfully composed messages and his confident quality of leadership as revealed in our photo coverage of his career, have been offered to the alumni body in the pages of this magazine. He has been patient and generous with his counsel to me as the association executive, he has been cooperative in responding to problems faced by the officers and the association governing Council, he has been ever available on campus for alumni meetings, and he has opened his doors to individual alumni at all times. We are indeed appreciative of the gracious and thoughtful participation both he and his wife Betty have given to all alumni activities held on campus.

The Libby years have brought to this association and the Orono alumni warm concern, thoughtful encouragement and a constant and concerned definition of new goals for the staff and the Association in the program of service to the University.

Above all, as has been said by one concerned alumnus, President Libby has "demonstrated the very qualities of character and dedication and leadership which we like to think are typical of the finest University of Maine alumni."

I call your attention in the body of the magazine to the statement in honor of President Libby by GAA president Albert M. Parker, who has also announced that alumni will be offered the opportunity to contribute to a student aid fund in honor of the Libbys.

Other pages in this issue make announcement of two new association services which have been authorized by the Council to serve alumni: a group life insurance program that will be offered at low rates, and a series of foreign travel tours beginning this summer.

The search for my successor as executive director is almost completed. First Vice President Ralph L. Hodgkins, Jr. '59, who is chairman of the Personnel Committee, has received over 50 resumes and letters of interest. A first series of interviews has been held and work is going forward by Mr. Hodgkins and committee members Robert P. Shoppe '38 and John R. Dyer '41 to make the final selection of a Maine graduate as the new association executive director.
Winthrop C. Libby: 39 years of service

Winthrop C. Libby, eleventh president of the University of Maine and alumnus of the Class of 1932 will retire this June after serving as faculty member and administrator at Orono for 39 years.

The President announced his retirement on Dec. 20, 1972 at a Board of Trustees meeting.

The University and the alumni owe President Libby a substantial debt of gratitude. He has worked closely with the alumni association throughout his administration. He has traveled throughout the country to meet with alumni at various functions. This June at the annual Reunion Weekend, President Libby will be the featured speaker and guest at the reunion banquet on June 9.

President Libby’s five years as the chief administrator at UMO were crucial years for the University and higher education in Maine. In a statement following President Libby’s announcement, Chancellor Donald R. McNeil declared, “Win Libby had more to do with the success of the new merged University than any other person.” He called him one of the great citizens of Maine, citing his experience, wise counsel, and forthright views on quality education.

After making his retirement announcement, President Libby stated that he believed the position of president should not be held by any person for an indefinite term, but should be appointed for a fixed term. Including his time as acting president, his five years in the presidential office, he feels, is sufficient and a new president is needed to fulfill the destiny of the University at Orono.

A Maine native, President Libby holds a B.S. degree in Agronomy and a M.S. degree in Agricultural Economics, both from the University of Maine. He also did graduate work at UMO, Rutgers and Cornell.

He began his career at Orono in 1934, two years after his graduation, as an assistant professor of agronomy. Nine years later he was named professor and chairman of the department. He was named associate dean of the College of Life Sciences and Agriculture in 1950 and... in 1957. He became director of the University Extension Service in 1963.

He received two promotions in 1968. In January he became vice president for public services, in July he was named acting president. He also was a co-administrator for the newly merged University in 1968 and early in 1969 until Dr. McNeil assumed the position of Chancellor for the state university system of higher education.

During his career, President Libby served on numerous state and regional committees and task forces devoted to planning, resource utilization, governmental reform, education and social change. He is currently serving as a member of the Board of Trustees of the College of the Atlantic.

In recognition of his contributions to higher education in Maine, he has received honorary degrees from Ricker College, Husson College, Bates College, Colby College and Unity College.

He has not decided about his future after June but adds that both he and his wife Betty are in fine health and intend to enjoy themselves and do the many things they have not had time for during his career as President at Orono.

The search for a successor to President Libby has begun following the selection of an eighteen-member committee from the University by Chancellor Donald R. McNeil.

An alumni fund to honor President and Mrs. Libby

In a move approved by the Alumni Council in its meeting of February 10, GAA President Parker will launch an appeal to alumni to build a special scholarship fund “on a humanistic basis” in honor of the Libbys. Mr. Parker will write to all alumni and ask for support for this fund above and beyond the contributions made in this year’s Annual Alumni Fund, which continues from October 1972 to June 1973 under the direction of campaign chairman Gordon L. Erikson.

In making this appeal, Mr. Parker says, “Win Libby gave an extra measure of service to our university. Let us now give an extra measure of appreciation in his honor.”

On page 3: President and Mrs. Libby enjoy a Maine Bear football game at the 1972 Homecoming Weekend. They look pleased and should have been as Maine beat Lafayette 16-6! Below: The very warm and accessible President sits at his desk in the President’s Office where for five years he met with the problems and successes of his administration. On the right: President Libby is shown at one of the many alumni activities he attended at which he presented a Block M alumni award to Paul J. Dowe ’48, Edward H. GAA President gives alumni response

It is not within my ability to comment on behalf of the alumni with anything like the quality and lucidity of President Win Libby's own message to us, but his forthcoming retirement and his message to the alumni surely call for a response.

First off, we take pride in the fact that our predecessors in office in the Alumni Association had sufficient appreciation of what a good job Win was doing while he was serving as Acting President of the University to speak up to the Board of Trustees, urging that he be selected for the Presidency. At that time, of course, we could not anticipate the many additional problems that would beset the next president of the University, nor had we any inkling of the magnificent way in which he was to handle them.

Not long after Win came to office college campuses throughout the U.S. were beset by severe turmoil which, in many instances, flared into violence. It seemed that no educational institution could escape this, but the campus at Orono did, without going beyond the confrontation stage. The saving factors were the mental flexibility, intelligence, common sense and ability and willingness to communicate with all ages that Win brought to the situation. He listened, he responded, he was firm where firmness was needed. He knew how to cope with the situations that arose, how to forestall others from arising.

Along with and following the campus turmoil came expansion of the curriculum of the University, increase in the number of students as well as a host of other problems that had never beset the institution before. Win handled these with the same capability. Though he modestly says that during his years in service he has tried to maintain the quality, integrity and character of the University, it is the belief of those of us who have observed it that he materially raised rather than merely maintained these characteristics.

Win speaks of what has been done and what has been decided as being done by "Betty and I." Truly so, for though the choice of Betty to be his wife was one of his early decisions, it was undoubtedly his best, for he selected someone who has played her own part admirably besides bringing strength to him in helping to solve all the problems that beset him.

The alumni of the University of Maine at Orono owe a deep debt of gratitude to the team of "Betty and I" and we are most grateful for the outstanding leadership and service they have rendered to our University. We shall always remember and rejoice in the lift that they gave to our University during their tenure of office, which they, for their own good reasons, have brought to an end.

Albert M. Parker '28, President
General Alumni Association
Maine Day is back! (but different)

Fun(d) raising is what UMO students will be doing on May 2 this year.

The cause is Fogler Library and the date, the first Wednesday in May, is the traditional Maine Day. Now under the name of Fogler Library Fun(d) Day, the traditional campus holiday will take on yet another meaning to add to its changing history at the Orono campus. (see box)

Budget pressures are being felt everywhere, and Fogler Library has been no exception. Despite the increased budget given the library, there is still a great need for more funds. The 500,000 volume total needs to be greatly increased to provide a more adequate resource for a university the size of UMO. Approximately 1,200,000 volumes would be considered ideal for the school.

As early as October, students began preparing a library fund raising event under the initiative of Terry Dorr, a Cape Elizabeth, Maine junior. Miss Dorr believed the traditional date of Maine Day would be a perfect time and the event might possibly spark renewed interest in the day. In May 1972, Maine Day was not observed due to "changing student interests".

Work began with a small informal group of concerned students but has grown to encompass also faculty and administrators in a 30-member committee. Plans from the beginning were done with the full cooperation of James MacCampbell, the university librarian.

MacCampbell's comment on the students' proposal was, "The most marvelous thing that has happened around here. Because it was initiated by students completely and shows that they care about their campus, not because it's the library for which funds are being raised."

Students passed their proposal through the sequence of administrative channels starting with the approval of the student government, then the faculty council and finally President Libby. It was solidly backed.

The fund raising and fun making will have some obvious similarities to the Maine Days of yesteryear. The spring scrimmage or the Blue & White football game will be played. There will also be an auction where merchandise donated by area businessmen will be auctioned off. Also, an old fashioned Beano game will be played.

The kick-off event for the fun(d) day will start the night before with a dance marathon sponsored by the Panhellenic Council. It will start at 6 p.m. on Tuesday and hopefully run for 24 hours.

On May 2 there will be an all-day carnival with booths from various campus organizations. Highlighting the carnival will be a small animal show put on by the Maine Animal Club, who will also host a dinner and raffle off a side of beef. Service organizations on campus have offered to provide much of the tremendous manpower needed in organizing and hosting such a large event.

With commitments to help already given and an enthusiastic committee, Library Fun(d) Day has the smell of success already. Hopes are that the "new tradition" will continue. Direction of the event is under Dean William Lucy of the Student Activities and Organizations office and will continue in his office. It is hoped each Maine Day could turn into a fund raising event for special campus needs. It is a slightly different approach to the original concept but still a "work day".

The money raised during the day will hopefully be large enough to set up an endowment fund. The "Fogler Library Student Development Fund" will annually earn money to obtain the needed books. The fund will continue within the library for other contributions in the future.
Recycled tradition: a history of Maine Day

Maine Day, the first Wednesday in May, was started at the University of Maine at Orono in 1935 by the eighth president, Arthur A. Hauck. He originated the event as a work day for the campus. Students and faculty (and President Hauck!) worked to clean up campus after the winter. Old yearbooks show throngs of students with broom and shovel in hand working away on the mall. A very popular project in the first years of the holiday was planting trees.

The early years of Maine Day showed the event to be a purely work oriented day, but was considered by students to be a grateful diversion from classes. Over the years, however, the day took on more carnival activities along with the work details. One of the most enthusiastically greeted events was the mayorality campaign held right before Maine Day. Men on campus campaigned in buffoon-like costumes for the right to be mayor of the campus and to lead the Maine Day activities. This tradition lasted until 1968 when lack of interest ended it.

Faculty skits, pie throwing, floats, contests, games, dunking your favorite professor and feasting were all facets of Maine Day that developed over the years. The date for tapping Senior Skulls was changed to coincide with Maine Day in the late 60’s. Bar Harbor also became a very attractive substitute on the vacation day for campus activities when the weather was right.

Campus traditions as well as other campus institutions underwent severe change in 1970. In vivid contrast to the Maine Day of 1969 with sunny beaches, sorority pom-poms and dances, Maine Day 1970 was a mixture of death, mourning, campus turmoil and hate. The first Wednesday in May 1970 was a short two days after the four students at Kent State University were killed, which caused such national turmoil. Any Traditional Maine Day activities that were planned were replaced by solemn processions, services and demonstrations. It had been a year of turmoil for UMO. Maine Day was never to be the same again.

In the apathetic year of 1971 no one knew what anyone wanted to do and consequently nothing special was done. Last year classes were not even held.

Now having gone full cycle, Maine Day is back—but different. Any bets on what is in store for ’74?
UM trustees act

More stringent residency requirements, a new UM medical school and an increased 1973-75 biennium budget highlight the major actions taken by the board of trustees in recent months.

Last Fall, the University of Maine faced the possibility of a severe loss in tuition revenue when 18-year-old non-resident students gained voting rights in college communities and subsequently applied for the much lower in-state tuition rates.

Vice Chancellor Herbert L. Fowle estimated a possible university-wide loss of $2 million yearly if all non-residents were accorded the resident status.

In November, the Board of Trustees voted in a strict one-year requirement as a prerequisite in order to curtail residency changes. The new domicile clause requirements are harder for students to meet than are those for state voting rights.

With the previous 21-year-old vote, very few students were eligible to meet the voting requirements and consequently the previous residency requirements did not have to be and were not as rigid.

Also, before students can change their status, they must show their intention of staying in the state after graduation. Employment offers are a means of fulfilling this category. This was also required before the recent surge of 18-year-old voters who tried to change their status.

Under the new ruling proof of one year residency has to be tangible in the form of rent receipts for one year or proof of home or land ownership. Approximately 60 students were granted the change in status this Fall, according to John M. Blake, vice president for finance and administration.

A medical program enabling the University to award degrees was given the go-ahead by the UM trustees in December.

The program’s concept is of a “medical school without walls” that would utilize existing hospitals, classroom buildings and laboratory facilities in the state.

Funds requested for the school on the 1973-75 biennium amounted to $350,000 for the 10-year project. Capital construction will be at a minimum, with the federal government, hospitals, private donors and tuition paying students as potential “investors”. Chancellor Donald R. McNeil stressed however that the basic commitment must come from the state.

The aims of the medical proposal are to strengthen teaching capabilities of state community hospitals, to have continuing education for state physicians and to strengthen the science education resources of the University.

Students would begin their academic studies in Maine and later attend out-of-state schools for the remainder of classroom work. The clinic portion of the training will take place in Maine hospitals.

Medical education plans have been under study for two years by the University. A feasibility study of the program has been going on for eight months by university officials and medical professionals. On the basis of the study and the backing of the campus Presidents, Chancellor McNeil says, “I believe the plans we are recommending not only will help Maine meet its health science education needs, but could well be a model for other states.”

Submitted to the state legislature for the 1973-75 Biennium was a Part I state appropriations request of $62.8 million.

The Part I request is based on a projected University expenditure of $92.2 million, an increase of $11.0 million from the actual expenditure of $81.2 million for the 1972-73 biennium.

The purpose of the Part I funds is to continue the programs of the University which include the education of 20,570 full-time equivalent students, research projects and the operation of public services.

For Part II, funds for new programs and growth, the UM request is $10.2 million. Increased enrollment, new directions, educational opportunities and merit increases for professionals are some of the programs involved.

Governor Kenneth M. Curtis issued his recommendations for the budget to the legislature in January. He approved most of the programs in Part I, but did recommend slightly less funds in some categories. An extremely hopeful sign is that the Governor recommended the backing of Part II, funds for new programs. Very little gubernatorial backing in this area has occurred in the past.
Co-op buying helps fraternity row

In the Fall of 1970 Vice President for Student Affairs Arthur Kaplan organized a task force to study the fraternity system at UMO. Economically, many of the fraternities had serious problems and they needed reevaluation from both an economic and social standpoint. Daniel Placzek, then president of the University of Maine Fraternity Board, was the chairman of the reevaluation committee.

It was under this committee that the now flourishing and successful Fraternity Buyers Association was born. As UMFB president, Placzek promised to start a buying co-op for the 17-house system. Until this time every house was individually solicited by salesmen.

The Fraternity Buyers Association (FBA) was put into motion in the Fall of 1971. Placzek became the manager of the FBA under a sponsored graduate assistantship in the Masters in Business Administration program. The idea was presented to the fraternities by Prof. Don R. Ziegenbein, director of graduate studies in the College of Business Administration. He has continued as the advisor and the employer of Placzek. It is the first graduate assistantship in the college where non-college funds are used. The FBA is funded through a 4% service charge on all business handled by the organization.

In its first year the FBA collectively bargained for four food items and found considerable savings were realized. In the Fall of 1972 the FBA enlarged its cooperative buying and almost all kitchen goods are being bought through them.

Under the system, the fraternities have financial leverage, being a combined buying force of over $650,000 which makes them the second largest business in Orono. With this bargaining power, substantial reduction in prices has occurred and houses have been able to save on board costs. Board rates have been stabilized and it is estimated by Placzek that by next fall, if dormitory rates are increased as expected, the fraternity rates will be close to $100 per semester less.

Placzek, a 1970 graduate with a B.S. in Chemistry and a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, has seen the FBA develop from a buying co-op into much more. His office is now being consulted on a raft of fraternity problems that arise. It has become a clearinghouse for the seventeen fraternities.

During the first year of operation, the FBA was part of the University of Maine Fraternity Board with Placzek the president of both. In the Fall of 1972, Placzek resigned as UMFB president and the FBA split away from the student fraternity organization. The UMFB handles the social aspects of the fraternity system whereas the FBA handles financial considerations of the houses. One of the long-range financial but socially related situations it is trying to improve on is to use the fraternities to their fullest housing capacity. This has been a problem for the fraternities for a long time which has cost them a great deal in potential revenue. With the FBA cutting down on the house costs this problem will hopefully be improved.

The FBA has also greatly helped the houses manage their expenses for the year. Having computerized the billing for the individual fraternities, the FBA has made it possible for the houses to study expenditures on a per capita basis. Placzek was quick to add that the FBA does not dispense with the job of the individual house treasurer. Its existence rather augments the treasurer's job, giving him more information and making his job less of a mechanical one and more of a management one.

Now past the experimental stage, FBA has become a valuable asset to the fraternity system.
"What about women on the Orono campus?" is a question many alumni might be asking now with so much attention being given to the women's issue all over the country.

For the beginning of 1973 the answer is that women are very active and their presence is very well established on the UMO campus.

Two major appointments to women, courses on women in history and their present roles, a three-week women's symposium, and active women's groups are all elements of the campus awareness and involvement of women.

"And it's just a start" is the comment from active women leaders on campus.

The offices of Director of Equal Employment Opportunity and Assistant Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs have been filled by women.

Dr. Joanne M. Fritsche and Dr. Mary Ann Haas, respectively, have been appointed.

Dr. Fritsche is the first full time director for the equal employment opportunity office at UMO. Her duties are to assure that UMO complies with the Affirmative Action Plan developed under the general direction of Paul C. Dunham, director of institutional research and former acting director of EEO and the campus EEO policy advisory committee. She will closely review personnel actions including salaries and promotions, hear grievances and provide an atmosphere of nondiscrimination with respect to women and minority persons. She will also develop programs to provide opportunities for the advancement of women.

Dr. Fritsche obtained her doctorate from Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio and was a teaching fellow there for two years. She graduated from Duquesne University in 1961 and received her master's degree in 1964 from the University of North Carolina. She has had much experience in teaching academically disadvantaged students, counseling and tutoring.

Dr. Mary Ann Haas left her previous position of head and associate professor of women's physical education at UMO, a position she had held since 1967, to join the chancellor's administrative staff. This is a new position created to assist Vice Chancellor of Academic Affairs, Dr. Stanley L. Freeman.

Dr. Mary Jo Walkup, associate professor of physical education at UMO since 1967, has been named the new head of women's physical education.

An unprecedented three-week women's symposium held in February was an extravaganza of art exhibits, seminars, speakers, movies and lectures on women in a host of disciplines.

The symposium, "Women: Changing Images", was originated last Spring by Prof. Jane Pease of history and Trish Riley, student government president. The realization of the project was made possible through a $4,000 allocation from the Cultural Affairs Committee and $1,000 from the student government.

Keynote speakers were Anne Firor Scott, the author of The Southern Lady and professor of history at Duke University and Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, D-New York.

Women in the arts was the theme of many exhibits and demonstrations. Films made by women students on campus were shown in addition to the films, "Rachel, Rachel" and "Gertrude Stein: When this you see, remember me." Women's rights in legislation was a topic of the seminar hosted by women lawmakers.

The interdisciplinary effort created interest throughout campus from the more radical feminists to interested men.

This Spring the Continuing Education Division is conducting a 10-lecture series on the role of women throughout history, literature, anthropological studies, communication and psychology. The non-credit series has an all-women lecture group from the University faculty and staff.

In addition, a Special Seminar entitled "Women: Search for New Values" is being offered for three credit hours the second semester. Also an interdisciplinary study of women in history, psychology and sociology; it features specialized professors and instructors. The seminar style of the course attracts the specialized student whereas the non-credit CED course is more directed toward the community.

The Women's Association, a group of classified and professional employees, faculty and teaching instructors has become extremely active this year. Their area of prime interest is equality among the professional levels within the University. Representatives from the group met with the Health, Education and Welfare investigation team concerning salary, tenure and fringe benefit equality when the team visited campus in December.

Talked with Raymond "Dudley" Buck of Monmouth, Maine, and he lives alone but has a daughter and several grandchildren nearby. Ray was a tough lineman on the "M" football team back in college days and recently received the gold certificate for "M" men.

Had a card from N. E., "Nemo" Smith. He and Bertha are doing well in Bayport, Me., with their grandchildren in September. He also had his usual checkup at the Mass. General Hospital.

After the summer on their farm, Parker and Ruby Cooper headed for their apartment, in St. Peter, Fla., where they will spend the winter. Parker still brags about the strings of trout that he catches and his garden of sweet peas. They must be tame trout.

Had a note from Dorothy Randall, Harry Howe's daughter, and Harry passed away Dec. 1971. Also a letter from Mary Louise Tandy, the daughter of Donald P. Oak, saying that Don died last Oct. 1971 in Tulsa, Okla. He left shares of Bath Iron Works to UMO in his will. It was also reported to me that Harold Burges of Rockland, Me., passed away in early fall of 1972.

We are taking the Auto-Train to Fla. this time. Frances and I will drive to Lorton, Va., and get on the train about 6 p.m. with the car in another section and land in Sanford, Fla., next day about 1 p.m. We then get back the Chrysler and get to Pompano Beach that day after about 170 miles.

Dick A. Power, a long distance runner in his college years, has retired and lives with his wife in the Bethel Home for Oldsters, Viroqua. Right after College he taught agriculture at Oak Grove Seminary in Vassalboro and then returned to Orono as herdsman for a year. Dick has served as chief herdman on several mid-west dairy farms, including the University of Wisconsin herd. For 25 years he taught agriculture in Viroqua High School. He then went into business for himself selling agricultural textbooks to high schools. He even wrote an agricultural textbook for elementary schools. Dick served on the City Council for 13 years. He's also active in Kiwanis and Lion's Club. Under Dick's leadership he organized the chamber and helped build the 100-bed hospital for Viroqua. He got the City Council to finance a senior citizen's group and also promoted vacations for the elderly.

Another classmate followed a career in horticulture and played an important part in winning World War I. He was Lucius R. Bates. In 1917 he had to invent a way to grow castor beans for lubricating war department aircraft. In 1950 and 1951 he was president of National Chrysanthemum Society in Sparta, N.J.

Edward S. Redman graduated with our class in pharmacy. He was employed as a chemist by Eastern Corp. for 38 years. At Eastern he did original work on wood pulp in viscose for use in explosives. After retirement he wanted to move to Florida, but Eastern and the state's pharmacy association with ease after not practicing for 30 years. He lives in Bangor, but still does substitute work in Maine during warm months and in Florida in the cold months.

Edwin R. Page is an accountant by profession, dealing also in stocks and bonds. He lives in Mobile, Alabama. Florence Murray Wright is a teaching profession and a graduate of Farmington Normal School. In retirement at age 81, she belongs to the Newport Women's Club, Business and Professional Women's Club, the Newport Garden Club and the Retired Teacher's Association.

Mrs. Carl C. Wheaton (Tony Webb) now in Columbia, Missouri has suffered a further loss of sight. She penned a nice letter in spite of her serious deficiency and wishes her surviving classmates all possible happiness. Muriel Young Maines now lives in Bangor. She has many relatives that went to Maine. Ralph Wetherbee, now 83, is a retired general assistant for Factory Insurance Assoc. of Hartford, Conn. He lives in Florida and plays golf and cultivates roses.

Harold Floyd Boothby wrote in a long letter about his family, hobbies and his successful business career. He is 82. In 1970 and his wife took an 8,000 mile trip which included Alaska. I'll include details of his career later.

Your secretary after sleeping through the Christmas holiday should now be called "Rip Van" Peaslee.

Pep Towner has donated to the Univ. of Texas Humanities Research Center a first award collection of Mexican stamps entitled "Many Mexicos."

Ted Haskell is still living in Cohasset, Mass., after a long and successful business which encompassed the "organizing, operating and eventually liquidating small corporations engaged in warehouse and marine terminal industry."

Azel Grean wrote a splendid letter. Azel who lives in Bangor, Me., P. O. Box 1037 had his 80th birthday Sept. 8th, writes, "Accounting, personal financial affairs and real estate have been my mainstays. I scratched the word retirement from my personal dictionary many years ago. I paint for amusement, both oils and water color, and do considerable family research. I have traveled considerably over the U.S.A., Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Caribbean, Europe, Canary Isles, Madeira and the Azores. Now to fall work, raking leaves, banking the house and garden work before going to St. Pete for the winter. Has the race been worthwhile? Absolutely yes, as far as I am concerned. Who will be the last surviving member of the Class of 1914?"

Mary Cousins wrote from the family home (circa 1834) in Southwest Harbor where she lives with her sister Irene (1911). She taught school a few years, worked in Brewer Savings Bank for 32 years and retired in 1958 to S. W. Harbor. They send their regards to Classmates.

Floyd Verrill, Concord, Mass., "retired but active" describes the actions of Floyd who helps his son run a 300 head dairy farm and attends to his ten year old orchard in Newry, Me.

Harold Dinmore and Mrs. D. invite any "1914ers" at next Thursday's (Nov. 28) dinner to call on Hopkinton, N. H. to call. They are proprietors of a neat Superette Market-The Cracker Barrel. Harold has numerous wide and various experiences since 1914. He has successfully engaged in Electrical and Industrial Engineering as well as Textiles and Leasing.

Roy Higgins, Bryant Hopkins, Ed Dempsey, Charles Crossland, and their wives, Margaret, Gertrude and Garry Noyes attended the class Coffee at Homecoming. Ed sends thanks to the many classmates who sent cards and notes during his stay at the old campus. Russ Greenwood has been seriously ill all summer, but was better when his daughter wrote. He lives in Long Beach, Calif. Carl Anderson has been serving as Representative from District 34 of Vermont since 1966, and was running for reelection last fall. Noel Godfrey is still going strong with teaching, teaching business courses at U of M Machias for both adult and undergraduate classes. And Charles Crossland adds in his note, "Any classmate who would like a course in antiques—furniture, china and glassware, should call at his home in Calais. Carl Johnson was planning before Christmas to visit Florida, where his daughter lives, and was considering making it a year-round move. Garth—Noyes has been making interesting appearances in our daily paper. An account of a family of flying squirrels living in his yard raised considerable interest on the part of naturalists, and another week the outdoor section published his remarkable moss photographs.

I had a pleasant note from Ruth (March) Doloff shortly before she and Harlan left on their annual migration to Florida, and another at Christmas. They have had a good year and their grandchildren (Partridge) Shannon, and remarried, are doing well. John and Claire (Patten) Shannon, and remarried, are doing well. John and Claire (Patten) Shannon, and remarried, are doing well.

Paul Chadbourne, Elly Gulso, Mason Marshall and Eugene Orcutt, whose deaths were reported in the last issue of the Alumnus, will be much missed.

Clifton J. Toothaker laid down his tools to show me his gardens. He uses only natural fertilizers, and the better flavor of his tomatoes accounts for the—advance orders of 20 tons last year. In WW I he was in artillery and served as interpreter. He retired in 1941 from the Red Cross Corp. in Amesbury as Supt. after 53 years. His company made the first Clifton J. Toothaker deep freeze.

A cousin of Watson F. Stanley writes that he takes them to ride monthly. He is in a wheel chair, and when they find it hard to understand him. So did I when I visited him in the nursing home where he has been for 7 years. He is 81.

Hollis Ramsdell of Surry replied to a note. He lives with his daughter Mrs. Dennis Violette, Son Gordon has been at Holmes Hall over 20 years. Hollis Jr. was killed in WW II. Daughter Mary graduated with distinction at UMO. Hollis also UMO

Two granddaughters, 3 generations UMO. Mr.
Ramsdell worked his way on the farm at 15½ an hour! He has had a light shock.

Bob Hawthorne has accepted the post of Chairman of the Finance Committee. (Evans will act as Pres.) Bob lost his wife a year ago. He was married again and after 3 hours of honeymoon cracked up; injuries light. Later in the day we visited Wes Evans who says they are both full of pep.

I received post cards from George Carlton and Herb Lemont, both in Europe.

From Sea Cliff, Long Island, N. Y. Chet Adams writes: "This year my wife and I took our son and daughter-in-law to Maine in October to see the foliage. We also visited Mount Desert Island for the first time and thoroughly enjoyed the views from Mount Cadillac.

Each year we have been traveling somewhere. On one of our trips we visited Tangiers, Morocco, where I had the pleasure of leading the singing of the Stein Song in a night club. This certainly was a real thrill with several hundred people present." Chet's address is 56 Downing Ave, Sea Cliff, Long Island, N. Y. 11579.

Sam and Minnie (Norell '23) Collins are spending their third winter in Florida, their address being 1255 Tarpon Center Drive, Apt. 715, Venice, 33555. Their condominium apartment overlooks the Gulf of Mexico, and they have a fine view of a mile of beach. Several of their friends from Maine are in the Sarasota County area. There is also quite a group of the alumni who meet once a year in Sarasota. Last year over 120 attended the meeting at which President and Mrs. Libby were present. Sam says that he and Minnie have 34 grandchildren.

Sam stated that Perley F. Harmon and his wife Ella celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last summer at their home in Permain, Maine. They have three boys and three girls and many grandchildren. Perley is now a retired farmer.

In reply to my request for news Edgar Stoddard of Portland wrote: "You wanted some news. I ain't got any. After 43 years of teaching mathematics—the last 41 in Portland High School—I retired some ten years ago and went out to pasture. I like to roll over in the heat of the day. Lately I have had difficulty in getting all the way over but I like to lie in the sun anyway. Cold, ain't it? There's a robin on my front porch. Foolish thing! Don't seem to have much more sense than a human being!"

In February Florence and I plan to attend the dedication of the Dr. Elbert Perry Andrus Gerontology Center at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

Frank W. Lord, Kazar Falls, writes he retired from business in 1963 after being with Eastern Farmers' Exchange and Agway, Inc. Frank was originally in the poultry and beef business. He is still quite active. He is chairman of trustees for the Riverside Methodist Church where he and Doris both sing. He is also a Drummond Lodge member.

Carl Perkins went into education after graduation and was principal of a four-teacher high school in Franklin, Maine. Then he went to Orange, Maine where he taught for five years in high school. From there he went to Fitchburg, Mass., where he was for the next 31 years as head of the Science Department. The Perkins have three boys and have operated Scott Hill Inn in Orange for many years.

They travel alot, mostly in the spring and fall, bedding down for the winter months.

Sympathy is extended to Barbara Dunn Hitchner whose husband died October 18 and to the families of Olga Howe Bartlett and Samuel Charles Rosenthal.

I hear that Rex and Helen Buzzell were pretty busy on the Orono and Old Town Shire Ladies Night. Rex was Chairman of the Committee and Helen was responsible for the prizes. I heard that Rex gave a donation for the final "Beano" game of the evening.

Verna Beverley is in Sarasota for the winter. We hope his wife Amy, is recovering well from recent surgery. I expect to see them both over the Holidays and hopefully will pick up a few pieces of news for the next column. How about starting off the New Year by giving me some items direct.

Hollis W. Jones: "Since 1967 Mabel and I have lived in Honolulu where we raise tropical trees, plants, and fruit. We love the climate and the people here. Last summer we had six weeks on the Mainland (in Maine for my "little" sister's 50th wedding anniversary) then San Francisco and Southern California. Aloha!"

A happy New Year to you all! Please invest in a postal (only six cents) and write some news of yourself. This column desperately needs your help! You make the news; I only edit. Thank you for your cooperation!

Rena Bowles and other UMO graduates are going on a 41 day tour of South America. Going with her are Catherine Schick of Bangor; Pauline Dunn '30, a friend Mrs. Dean Bailey of Bangor and Miss Helen Kellins.

Ms. Doris P. Merrill from Blue Hill has retired. Merrill was a member of the Alumni Association and the Certificate Committee. She was a retired teacher and is a member of the scholarship committee. Merrill is the great-great-great-great-granddaughter of Dr. John Carpenter, the founder of the University of Maine.

As our 50th anniversary fades into history, may the spirit of this holiday season enter into your lives and strengthen you for the days and years ahead.

"Gin" Averill Castle writes that she and Roger '21 were back for Homecoming last fall and saw "Peter" and Mabel Wilson and Fernald "Stick" Stickney, Also "Ted" Curtis, who was honored at the Homecoming luncheon as a fifty year "M" man. Molly Perkins Crandon writes that she and Harry '29 had a busy summer restoring an old family farm in Raymond. I am happy to hear that Lois Manton Jackson is well on the road to recovery from her recent illness. From Sarasota, Florida, Ervin Stuart writes that the Maine Alumni Group will meet there on Feb. 23rd at Martins. Ervin and his wife had a nice visit with their family in Princeton, N. J. last summer.

My wish for the New Year is that you will all be able to return to Orono in June and make our Fiftieth the best reunion ever.

Your secretary was delighted to have a phone call from Osmond Steen Whiteside, of Morton, Ore., when he was in this vicinity during the summer. He is an Episcopal Rector in Eugene, Ore. He served as a chaplain in World War II. Although he has semi-retired, he keeps busy. He is a stained glass buff and has made several trips to Europe to visit and study 12th and 13th Century churches and other examples of stained glass.

This session should have been at Homecoming! At the luncheon we saw Louise Lord, Velma Oliver, Drew Stearns, Mike O'Connor, Jim Blair, Phil Taylor, "Sam" Cutts, Frank Hussey and "Tiny" Abbott. Did we miss any one? The men, U of M athletes of yesteryear, were special guests and received silver or gold M's from the Graduate M

'27 John Mahoney may have retired but he is still in the news. In October he was elected an honorary member of the Government Research Association at the national convention in Hershey, Pa. The award was made "in recognition of outstanding contributions and long years of service in the field of governmental research." Encouraging reports are coming in from 50th reunion area chairmen and I hope to hear from more once the holiday rush is behind us. Among the reports came a few news items. Florence Gusher Taylor did London in September to the tune of nine theatre performances in thirteen days. Tock Lewis is working on a letterhead for 50th correspondence and reports. Tom Bixby plans a stopover on his way to India. Clara Peabody Hersom sent me a delightfully newsy letter she received when she contacted Warren Abbott. The Abbotts are avid travelers and golfers and are rightfully proud of their three sons. One is a lawyer in Lewiston; one is head football coach at UMO, and the third has been in Africa 8 years in charge of a bank for the 1st National City Bank of N.Y. Warren and Lucille will be in Clearwater Beach, Fla, in March and back to Rumford in April. Other news from his letter! Arthur Niles retired from Oregon Paper Co, about three years ago and keeps busy with a large garden; Wallace Dinsmore retired from the same company about the same time; Orlando Small is actively farming in Farmington; Tom Dickson lives three houses from Warren. He is vice-president of the Maine National Bank; a director of the hospital, and busy as a land developer in the Carrie Lakes section. Lewis Carpenter eluded me by leaving for Sumatra, Indonesia in August. His son reports that his father's contract calls for a minimum of 6 mo. and a maximum of 2 yrs. As a consequence Marada Johnson is left to struggle with contacts in New York state and her Christmas note indicates she has resolved the struggle until after the holidays. Her retirement is proving busier than teaching.

'29 Personal items for this issue are very, very scarce. Your correspondent has received one item only, from the Alumni Office, which states that our Past President, "Bob" Parks, has retired and is doing volunteer work with S.C.O.R.E. and is treasurer of the Easter Seal Campaign for Massachusetts. Our Class Treasurer, "Rod" O'Connor, who is manager of the Maine Industrial Building Authority, continues to frequently make newspaper headlines and is a very busy man, but he and his wife, Helen, and their son and his wife, Dr. Brian and Dr. Linda O'Connor, did take three weeks off this past summer to vacation in Hawaii. Your correspondent continues to be active in the Brewer Kiwanis Club and the Maine Alumni. And in New England Mr. Merrill continues as Chairman of Public Relations. Please . . . please . . . please send me some news items about you and yours.

May 1973 be kind to you all. The sympathy of the class is extended to the family of our long time secretary and old and cherished friend, Polly Hall Leech who passed away last July after a long period of failing health. She will be missed by many of us.

Congratulations to Harry Meyers of Greenwich, Conn. who was presented a Black Bear Award at Homecoming. Harry has long been active in the Alumni Fund and our class activities so is most deserving of this recognition. One of the newly elected vice presidents of the Greater Boston Alumni Association is "Prexy" Pearce of Malden.

Lib Mason Carter writes that she keeps busy with her activities and hobbies, especially the Bethel Historical Society of which she is Board Chairman and treasurer of the AARP. She also wrote that Kay Andrews had been quite ill but we hope she is much improved by now. I hear that Syl Pratt has retired from the vice presidency of Casco Bank but is keeping busy, spending a lot of time with his old friend Norty Lamb '31. R. L. "Jack" Johnson is retiring for the third time as Communications Engineer of the State of Alaska. Dr. Marion Rogers was awarded a Ph.D. at N.Y.U. in 1960 and is with the Dept. of Health and Phys. Ed. at Glassboro State College at Glassboro, N. J.

In November while visiting our daughter in Pennsylvania, we had a very pleasant evening with Ted and Dottie (Matheson '32) Palmer. Ted is enjoying retirement and唯有 twice. We also had lunch with Evelyn Gleason Lawson '33 whom we had not seen in too many years. It is great to see old "Maine" friends. We are off to Florida.

'31 The Associated Press tells us that Dr. N. ("Hank" to most of us) Horne retired in November. Hank, a civil engineer, has been associated with the Maine Turnpike Authority since its opening more than 25 years ago. He was chief engineer when he retired. Charles A. "Chick" Brown writes that he retired in 1969 and is living in Bridgton, Maine.

Class President Parker Cushman and his bride of some forty years have returned from a Europe vacation. He has such a "spirit of 33" that will last a lifetime. Remember taking off Freshman hats early? Remember a third year? Remember the "spirit of 33?" Get that old spirit out—just let it off—polish it up—and start planning to come back, to Orono in June for our 40th!

California history. The latest is a Directory of California Wine Growers and Wine Makers in 1860. (The last time we saw Roger, quite a few years ago, he flew in with a spare shirt and a wonderful sampling of California’s finest wines.) He also teaches The Development of the Book at the University of Cal., drawing on his knowledge of type and typography, and the making of fine paper, interests which he has pursued since the time he edited the Maine Campus. An avid railroader, he has very little time left to follow up this hobby.

Kenneth H. Johnson, of Sterling, Mass., has been named Manager of Individual Claims by the Paul Revere Insurance Co.

I was about to pad my column and tell you how our dog was lost for four days—but the mail brought a card and note from Dorothy (Jones) Smith! She and Temple spent Christmas with their daughter Susan ’64 and Gordon Lund ’63 in Auburn, N. Y. Goonan, les also included. Then on to Florida for two weeks. In March they will go to Italy with the Furniture Agents Ass’n. Dorothy (Jones) Smith has returned to California to teach, but spent Christmas in Camden with her daughter and her family and then went on to Boston to visit her son Bob and his family. Her new address is 2290 Santa Clara, Santa Ana, Cal. 92705. Polk (Harmon) Butler, still at N. Y. State Univ. in Albany, went to Hawaii this year and spent Christmas in Florida. She has two new granddaughters, Kelly and Susan. Her daughter Julie will receive two degrees in May, in Liberal Arts and one in Speech Therapy.

My column runsneth over. A Happy New Year to all. How about some news from people we haven’t heard from recently?

Lucille (Bell) Grange gets the gold medal! She wrote and brought us up to date on her family. All four children are married and scattered about the country. George (’37) retired in May from USDA after 35 years but was still attached to the Secretary’s office until after November. The Granges spent the month of November in Vienna, Budapest and Rome in connection with George being Vice Chairman of the Codex Alimentarius Commission after which they planned to take off for Athens, Rhodes and home via London. The Granges and Ruth (Pagan) and Joe Huxlin (’36) get together once again. Last year they toured Scotland together, then to London for the christening of the Huxlins’ second grandchild. Ruth is still working at the Pentagon. Joe is retired from the Army and is a purchasing agent for an Annapolica (Virginia) bank.

Tom Barker left late November for Afghanistan for a few weeks, on an AID assignment. As of this writing, we have not heard from him—the camel trains are slow, I guess! Spike Leonard met “Tom” Pinkham and family at homecoming. Thomas S. Pinkham III is a freshman at UMO majoring in business administration. Happy New Year to you all—and please make a resolution to write at least once during ’73.

“Keep our air clean” is the cry of a 1939 alumna!

Anna Anderson Clapper ’39 of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma was the recipient of the Air Conservation Award given by the Oklahoma Wildlife Federation for her devotion of time and energy to the cause of air conservation.

She is no newcomer to the cause. Beginning shortly after she moved to Oklahoma four years ago, Mrs. Clapper started her work on the local and state level for the environmental protection of air. She is a long time member of the American Association of University Women and through her leadership with the AAUW she has mobilized many in her state to action. In 1971 she was awarded a $500 fellowship grant in her behalf by the State Division of the AAUW. She has attended national conferences and in April 1972 was selected to the Board of Directors of the Oklahoma Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Mrs. Clapper is the mother of three children. Her daughter Andrea is presently studying as a sophomore at UMO.
Allen Tarbell has been appointed assistant secretary in the ocean marine division at Travelers Inc., Hartford, Conn. They have three children. Fred Dexter congressman says that he now has an assistant managing director with Bakelite UK Limited, a large plastic co., in London. His address is Enford House, 139 Marylebone Rd, London, N. W. 19QE, England.

Congratulations to all the many outstanding members of our class.

Mr. H. E. HESS, 54 Pine Ledge Road, invites you to his home. Please respond no later than June 10. We hope you will all take note of the name and address of your new Class Secretary. With lots of news from all of you to help me, I shall continue to do my best.

Our 30th reunion, held at Hilltop on the Orono campus, was a great success. We had weather. Eighty-two class members, their wives, husbands and friends were present. President Wally Francs was master of ceremonies. He introduced speaker, Don "Bucket" Taverne '43, President and General Manager of FTA, Washington, D.C., former campus mayor and master of Downeast Humor.

Citations for longest distance went to Dave Maurice, California, and Walter Brown, Venezuela. We won the 1924 Attendance Cup awarded to the Reunion Class of the last 30 years with largest percentage of members registered, 10.1%.

The President announced that our total gifts to the University have been $19,180.10. New class officers are: President, Wally Francs; Vice President, Mark Ingram; Secretary, Barbara Hess; Treasurer, Hersel Garfinke.

A letter from W. V. (Vick) Littlefield who is living in Clifton, New Jersey to say he could not make reunion because of the various activities of his two sons and two daughters. His oldest son, Bruce, graduated in June from the University of Rochester. Bail, who did such an excellent job these past few years.

We send our greetings for a New Year from the Philippines.

Edwin Young, past UMO president, is now Chancellor of the University of Wisconsin in Madison. He is also chairman of the Legislative committee of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges in 1972.

Laurie Parkin wrote me from Denmark! He and his family are living there while he works for the Danish inventor Karl Kroyer. He handles the international aspect of the company.

We have another celebrity in our class. Congratulations to Helen Wormwood of Watertown, Mass. for receiving the legislative Bear award at homecoming for her devotion and loyalty to UMO. We are proud to have her as a classmate.

I heard from George and Dottie Nystrom that their youngest son entered UMO this fall. The Nystroms have quite a visit in Me. when they took Peter to school. Amongst their many visits, they spent one night with the Littlebacks and enjoyed every minute. I talked to Alma Ficild Woodward, 445 Dutton Road, Sudbury, Mass., and found that she does volunteer library work in the same Junior High where I substitute. We had a nice conversation about mutual friends. She has one girl, Joyce, who is 12.

Charles Arbor, Principal of Cony High School, was elected president of the State Principals Assn. in Maine. Charlie has been with Cony H. S. since 1963. Brooks Brown is serving as acting president of the Windsor Fair and undoubtedly will be elected president at the next annual meeting of the State Association. Kennebec Agricultural Society. Lawrence Kelley has been elected president and chief operating officer of Wyomissing Corp. at Reading, Pa. He is a former Battle corporation vice president.

International Paper Company President V. Y. Frederick Newcomb, president of the Clarence Joy Co., an agency in Rockland, Me., has become president of the Independent Insurance Agents of Me.,
Thomas Libby, chairman of the Brunswick Town Council, was on hand in September at ground breaking ceremonies for a new gazebo to be constructed in the Brunswick Mall.

Edward C. Hall, Holden, Mass., is now president of the Monhegan Council, Boy Scouts of America. He has been active in scouting for many years with special interest in camping. The new president of the Maine Music Education Association is Frank Stevens, Jr. Frank is supervisor of music in Winthrop and founded the Maine secondary schools’ jazz festival, now in its eighth year, Kenneth A. Foss writes that he has been employed at Avco Systems Division since 1960 as a Senior Research Scientist. He’s also studying at M.I.T. as a special student.

In his first annual report, Robert Browne, a new Chief Judge of the Maine District Court, made several suggestions for improving the system. One was to appoint an unsalaried, retired judge to serve when a regular member is ill or on vacation. The Browne’s still live in Bangor. In February, their daughter, Melinda, will graduate from Wheelock College, and four days later marry John L. Cassis and move to Manhattan. At a recent ground breaking in Brunswick, for a gazebo for the town mall, were two ‘48ers, John Bibber, Town Manager and Thomas Libby, chairman of the Brunswick Town Council.

Malcolm works for Hartford Insurance Group. Raymond Trabold, Doris and three children have moved to Ashland, Mass., from Ra, R.I., new superintendent of schools. Marion W. Meyer has been appointed assistant dean of the School of Management at Syracuse University.

A note from Amo Kimball says she has "a house with a guest room and the latch string is out at 34 Winthrop St., Northampton, Mass." Amo, do you teach at the Clark School of the Dead? You only made a reference to it—well all be interested to hear. Priscilla Clark, Bangor, was elected to the Board of Directors of the National Maine Council. Col. Priscilla is vice president for financial and treasurer of Husson College.

Robert Unberger, West Rockport, has been appointed State Forest Taxation Specialist to head up the state's new Tree Growth Tax Law. Robert E. Perry, technical director at Scott Paper Co., in Winthrop has been appointed chairman of the University of Maine Pulp and Paper Foundation Open House committee for 1973. Our class treasurer, John Cussins, made the news recently. He was appointed executive director of the Bangor YMCA. John and Lila live in Bangor with their two children, Pamela 15, and John D. 13.

There was a box in Amherst, Mass., this fall when a Gerry Whidlock Rally was held. Gerry was running as Republican candidate for State Representative. He hopes you won as I expect did your wife, Muriel and five children on the farm in Belchertown! Another candidate for public office was Albert Waymouth, associate professor in the Division of Liberal Studies at Husson College, Al was running for re-election to the Bangor School Board.

It's hard to keep up with Frank Butler these days. He has just been elected to the Board of Directors of Eastman Gelatine Corp. Congratulations everyone!

57 Received a nice letter from Dottie (Richards) and Scott Marshall. Scott is the assistant manager for W. T. Grant in Haverhill, Mass. Dottie is keen busy "subbing" at the local schools and participating in organizations to say nothing of taking care of three active children.

Another nice note came from Barbara (Dow) and Jim Trumble. They are living in the East after three years in Albuquerque, New Mexico, where Jim was a professor of Chemical Engineering at the State University. Now Jim is with the Environmental Protection Agency in North Carolina. Since graduation Barbara has been active as a consulting psychologist, testing in public schools, and doing summer work at Pineland.

The third letter came from Ray Labbe in Canperbury, England where he has been the European Sales Manager of Hoby, Ltd. I was frustrated to think that I had been in London and Canterbury in April, 1972 and missed a great opportunity to see a classmate on the other side of the Atlantic.

Bruce Whitney has been appointed a soil scientist for the Middlesex County, Soil Conservation Service of Agriculture in Connecticut. Louis Pepin has been named Augusta Social Security District Manager. Jack Dion has been named regional vice president of the Kansas Corporation general agent for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. Jack has served on the advisory board to the insurance commission to the State of Maine. Julie, Vl. and Jennifer, V. Dick's active in the insurance field. Harold and Evangeline Gerry, P.O. Box 367, Peoria, Arizona 85345, are very active in Rep. politics. Buzz has been published in Today's Education and the Christian Science Monitor. His field is reading education. They have two children. David and Darlene Grundy, R.D. #8, E. Montpelier, Vt. looking for Maine visitors. Dave is chairman of the Science Department at the high school.

Hand-crafted snowshoes is the rather intriguing work of UMO grad Earl R. Jette from the class of 1961.

Jette is assistant director of the Dartmouth College Outing Club and directs the production of the white ash wood snowshoes. The process from felling the tree to the bindings takes some 35 to 40 hours. Over 45 people have joined in making them this winter as the popularity of the snowshoe has skyrocketed. He has made some of the equipment used in the production including a steam box made from the college's central steam-heating system that is used to make plant the ash strips.

After graduation from UMO with a degree in forestry, he went to Liberia, West Africa and managed rubber plantations for Firestone. Also, he attended Yale University to pick up a master's degree in forestry.

Earl R. Jette '61, assistant director of the Dartmouth Outing Club, shows students the tricks of making hand-made ash snowshoes.

Darrell C. Elsemore Jr. was hardly old enough to vote when he became Waldoboro, Maine's municipal town manager. As the state's youngest town manager, the 1971 UMO graduate wants "to make people aware of the complexity of municipal government." He sees the three major problems facing his county as solid waste disposal, unemployment and a need for greater efficiency in county and town governments, and has set up a framework for their solutions.

Elsemore received his bachelor's degree in public management and in 1970 served as a town manager intern at Houlton.

A feature on Elsemore and his town management appeared in the Portland Press Herald on January 11, 1973. The writer was Arthur Young '62 who acts as area correspondent for the paper. Young, of Bristol, Me., has free-lanced around New England and has been published in Yankee and Downeast magazines.

UMO delegates greeted out West

On March 1, UMO hit the road again, westward bound, and brought news of the changing scene at Orono to alumni in five key areas of New York, Pennsylvania, and Illinois.

Maine graduates welcomed Dr. Bruce Poulton, vice president for research and public services, and Donald Stewart '35, General Alumni Association executive director, with a variety of affairs.

The busy itinerary was led off with a stop in Ithaca, New York with the Finger Lakes New York Alumni Association headed by President Wayne A. Bonney '61.

Friday evening's stop was scheduled for the Greater Syracuse area under the direction of Presidents Dick and Mary Falcon '65 of the Central New York Alumni Association.

President Bob Anderson '64 and members of the Rochester New York Alumni Association welcomed the travelers at a gala affair on Saturday evening, March 3.

A Sunday afternoon gathering of Western Pennsylvania Alumni Association in Pittsburgh was arranged by President Howard Small '50 and Program Chairman "Russ" Woolley '41.

And finally in Chicago on Monday evening, March 5, Dr. Poulton and Don Stewart were the guests of the Chicago, Illinois Alumni Association for a special dinner meeting and a special surprise (to be announced in our next issue).
GAA Council approves travel program for alumni

University of Maine at Orono Alumni and their immediate families will soon receive from the General Alumni Association an invitation to see the world. (See inside back cover.)

At its mid-winter meeting on February 10 at the New England Center in Durham, New Hampshire, the Alumni Council studied a recommendation from the Budget Committee to adopt a new travel program for UMO alumni. The decision to launch a varied program of trips to popular vacation sites around the world offers a popular service at low group rates to Maine’s alumni body of 40,000.

News of the exciting Pick-A-Trip program will reach alumni in early April with reservation form and full details on vacation adventures to Hawaii, June 15-22; London, July 21-28; Copenhagen, October 4-12; Spain, October 6-13; and Greece, November 17-25.

Each travel package offers round trip jet transportation, deluxe hotel accommodations, daily continental breakfast, Dine-a-Round dinner plan at fine gourmet restaurants, special half-day tours and city orientation tours for the sightseer and exciting low cost optional events for the more adventurous—bullfight in Spain, an old English pub party in London, and an Athens-by-night adventure in Greece.

Summer and early fall departures are scheduled from Logan International Airport in Boston with possible double stop departures from Boston and Bangor (International Airport) in late autumn.

Alumni offered life insurance at low rates

Being an alumnus of the University of Maine will soon take on an extra meaning. The General Alumni Association announces that it is going to sponsor a Group Life Insurance Program, and all alumni—and their spouses—will be eligible.

The program, over a year in development by the alumni association council will afford savings of up to 40 per cent and more over buying similar coverage in an individual policy. Twenty-one leading group insurance carriers competed in bidding for the plan to assure the best price and quality. From $10,000 to $50,000 in benefits are to be available, with accidental death & dismemberment and dependents life insurance as extra options.

Association President Albert M. Parker ’28, stated that it has the full endorsement of the Alumni Council. An enrollment is being planned for later this Spring.

Alumni invited to Boston Pops concert

University of Maine at Orono alumni in the Greater Boston area will soon receive a notice inviting them to attend the “Bowdoin Night at the Pops” to be held on May 10 at Symphony Hall in Boston.

The Bowdoin Club of Boston each year sponsors the event for alumni at a Boston Pops Orchestra concert under the direction of Arthur Fiedler. This year Bowdoin alumni felt it would be appropriate to extend the invitation to the University of Maine and other sister institutions in the state.

Dr. Lore Rogers, the only surviving member of Class of 1896 and Maine’s oldest living alumnus, is shown at his Lumbermen’s Museum in Patten, Maine this fall. He has been a faithful alumnus who returns to nearly every June Reunion held at UMO. He is also the only surviving member of the first football team at UMO started in 1892. The museum was started in 1958 by he and Caleb Scribner ’05 in a vacant store in Patten and has grown over the years to be the largest and most complete collection of old-time logging artifacts in the world.
Hodgkins named to presidential search committee

Ralph L. Hodgkins, Jr. ’59, First Vice President of the General Alumni Association has been named by Chancellor Donald R. McNeil to serve as an alumnus on the presidential search committee following the retirement of President Winthrop C. Libby.

The eighteen-member search committee is composed of eight UMO faculty members, one UMB faculty member, three professional employees, one classified employee and five students. Prof. Eugene Mawhinney, chairman of the political science department and alumnus of the class of 1947 has been named the chairman for the committee.

The committee first met on Friday, February 9 to set up committee guidelines and a timetable.

Father Francis LeTourneau retires

Father Francis E. LeTourneau, chaplain of the Orono campus Newman Center from 1946-1967 recently retired from the priesthood and his pastoral duties at Sacred Heart Church in Yarmouth, Maine.

Ordained in 1936, he founded the first Newman Club at Bates College in Lewiston in 1940. At UMO he converted the old Spruce’s Restaurant to a log cabin retreat for campus Catholics and friends of any denomination. Newman activities flourished and prospered under Fr. LeTourneau’s 21 years on campus.

A small dinner party was given to honor his 35 years of service at the home of Dottie ’52 and Mingie ’57 McCann in Portland on January 18. Alumni from many classes attended the dinner. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith ’50 of Manchester, Mass., Mrs. Edward Manson ’58 and Mr. and Mrs. Gene (Claudie Halle) Higgins ’57 both of Yarmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Devoe ’58 of Orono, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Edwards ’67 of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Peter (Cathy McCann) Foley ’48 of Essex Junction, Vermont, Mr. and Mrs. Donald (Jean Eskilson) Smaha ’48 of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Smaha ’58, Mr. Roscoe Flagg, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warren, all of Bangor, Mr, and Mrs. Earl Kiley ’50 of Biddeford, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore (Norma Smaha ’54) Truman of Scarborough and Mrs. Herbert Smaha of Portland and of Ft. Lauderdale.

Fr. LeTourneau enjoyed having the opportunity to see friends and is very eager to hear from many others at his retirement address in Florida: Diplomatic Center, 115 Seabreeze Boulevard, Apt. 616 North, Daytona Beach, Florida 32018.

Graduates make Eastman Kodak grant possible

Seven UMO graduates made possible an unrestricted grant of $5,500 to UMO from the Eastman Kodak Company of Rochester, New York. The grant is part of the company’s 1972 aid to higher education.

The amount of the grant is based on the number of UMO graduates who have joined Eastman Kodak within five years after graduation and are presently completing their fifth year of company employment. For each year that the employee attended UMO a sum of $250 is awarded.

The alumni included in the grant were Bertrand R. Bolduc ’67, Richard P. Grant ’64, John H. Inness ’68, Robert D. Johnson ’64, John T. Keenan ’66, Murray A. Kellam ’67, and David J. Swett ’66.

Alumnus heads Maine Ski Patrol

Willard C. Farnham ’60 of Brewer has been elected National Ski Patrol Director for the Maine region.

Farnham stressed the importance of safety measures and said the future of the National Ski Patrol in Maine was very bright. He met with the Maine group recently and mapped plans for the winter season which has prospects of being one of the top skiing seasons yet. Farnham previously had been Asst. Regional Chairman.

He has been active in community and state affairs some of which are, past chairman, Northern Maine Chapter of the March of Dimes; President, Triangle Club and on the Board of Directors of the YMCA (Bangor), President, Penobscot County UMO Alumni, and others. He has been with Getchell Brothers, Brewer since 1964.
1972-73 Annual Fund ahead at mid-year mark

George D. Bixby '29 leads in the Annual Alumni Fund for 1972-73 with the largest contribution of $9,455, according to Gordon I. Erikson '43, chairman of the fund.

Bixby allocated $9,000 of the gift to the School of Forest Resources and $455 for the General Alumni Association to use where the need is greatest at UMO.

Dr. Fred B. Knight '49, director of the School of Forest Resources, said the gift came at a very vital time for the school. Funds are needed to construct and improve facilities at the school's Princeton, Maine student summer camp for foresters. Work will be started this summer on classroom and housing construction.

Also among the top contributors are members of the President's Club, who are alumni and friends who have given $1,000 or more. President's Club chairman, Russell Bodwell '44 listed the following as members as of January 31:

Francis S. Andrews '42, Hazen H. Ayer '24, Herbert E. Bragg '25, Edward T. Bryan '52, John D. Buckley '49, Mr. and Mrs. Roger C. Castle '21 & '23, W. Philip Churchill '30, Percival B. Crocker '21, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Davee '22, Edmund J. Dempsey '17, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon I. Erikson '43 & '42, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. Humphrey '32 & '33, Dr. Lyle C. Jenness, Milton F. Kent '30, Leon B. Leviton '38, Thomas E. Lynch '38, William P. Palmer III '58, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Sims '32, Dwight L. Somers '34, and Mrs. Richard Talbot.

Bodwell was pleased with this year's increase in membership of the club which is still expected to grow in the remaining months of the campaign.

In reviewing the progress of the 1972-73 campaign, Erikson commented, "Due to the increased needs of the school, the Annual Alumni Fund hopes to raise 20 per cent more money to help UMO. This can only be done if givers increase their gifts. I urge all those who have not given to start now. Gifts in all amounts are important. I am always impressed by the way a multiplicity of small gifts can add up to a tremendous amount of support when everyone shares in the giving."

Fund totals at the end of January were $141,730. This is $10,385 above last year's total at this time.

Reunion classes are boosting fund totals, according to John F. Wilson '33, coordinator of Reunion Class Gifts. Those classes holding reunions this year are being asked to set higher goals in their gifts.

Pulp and paper alumni attend Chicago luncheon

University of Maine pulp and paper alumni attended the 41st annual luncheon in Chicago on March 6 at the Illinois Athletic Club. The luncheon was arranged by the General Alumni Association, which contacted alumni and made reservations.

The meeting was held during the Technical Association of Pulp and Paper Industry (TAPPI) "Paper Week" when many UMO alumni in the field gathered for conferences.

Dr. Bruce R. Poulton, vice president of research and public service at UMO and Donald M. Stewart, executive director of the GAA travelled from Orono to represent the University. Dr. Poulton was the featured speaker at the luncheon. William E. Brown '59, sales manager of the Federal Paper Board Company, Inc., was chairman of the 1973 committee.

A small group of alumni held the first pulp and paper group meeting in New York in 1931 since which time a luncheon has been held every year.

Everyone needs a will

Surely almost everyone has heard it said, "Everyone needs a will." But how many of us have considered the fact that we all have a will. The only question for each of us is, "Do I let the State draw my will, or do I do it myself?"

Every state has laws of intestacy which provide for the disposition of estates of persons dying without having a valid will. In other words, if you do not choose to dispose of your estate in the manner you prefer, the state will dispose of your estate in the manner the state prefers.

Space does not permit a detailed thesis about the advantages of planning your own estate and disposing of it according to your wishes through your will. However, we believe that since you built your estate, you should dispose of it the way you want.

For those who do not have a will or have not had their will reviewed for some time, we urge you to consult with your attorney. The Development Office will be happy to send you our brochure on wills as well as other information on estate planning.

Charitable Remainder Trust: a viewpoint

A number of plans are now available for giving to the University in which the donor may still retain a life income interest. These include our own Pooled Life Income Fund (University of Maine Foundation), Annuity Trusts, Uni Trusts, etc. The following is an excerpt from a letter from an alumnus who wants to help the University of Maine at Orono:

"Thank you for your counsel in our recent meeting in Orono. I expect now to promptly finalize my plan of setting up a Living Irrevocable (Charitable) Trust for the University to replace the bequest I have had in my Will.

"As you know this new plan—permitted by the 1969 Tax Reform Act—will allow me (1) to receive annually from the Trust income 6% for as long as I live, (2) to take annually for five years as charitable deduction, against taxable income, of up to twenty percent of the gift, (3) to save considerably on estate taxes when probated, and (4) by funding the Trust with stock that has had a large appreciation, my estate avoids a tax on Capital Gains and a lower final settlement. I calculate that by using this plan my estate will benefit by at least thirty percent when compared to my former plan.

"I hope you can bring this very favorable situation to the attention of all our Alumni and friends who may be interested in giving funds to our University. They will find this plan very advantageous and the giving a very satisfying experience.

"I am very happy to be giving something to our University in appreciation for all I received.

"Kind regards and all good wishes."

Another alumnus has provided a similar life income plan for a husband and wife who worked for him for many years. The donor obtains all the tax benefits listed above, yet provides a good substantial scholarship (or any other use) endowment for the University of Maine at Orono.

We are anxious to explain any of these plans to you at any time. Call: Area Code 207/581-7822.

Attention Alumni: We need nominations!

The General Alumni Association conducts an extensive awards program each year to recognize and reward those alumni who have been active and have donated their time and efforts to the University and alumni work. Award committees have been named and nominations are needed. General Alumni Association President Albert M. Parker ’28 and the awards chairmen strongly urge alumni to please make nominations for the following awards. The chairmen also would like to remind alumni that a nomination must be accompanied by a written recommendation about the nominee. The deadline for nominations for these awards and offices to be sent to the Alumni Center is April 6.

PINE TREE ALUMNI SERVICE EMBLEM AWARD

The Pine Tree M is given in recognition and appreciation of outstanding service rendered in promoting alumni work. Taken into consideration are the number of different types of services given or the positions held with the GAA or in local associations, length and quality of service, standing among alumni and in one’s profession and support given to alumni and university projects. There is one award given each year at the Reunion weekend banquet. Chairman of the committee is Edward C. Sherry ’38 of Manhasset, N.Y.

BLACK BEAR AWARD

The Black Bear Award is given annually in recognition and appreciation of outstanding service promoting University spirit. Devotion to the aims of the university in its programs, to encourage the highest examples of sportsmanship among students, and length and quality of service to the University or the GAA are the areas of consideration. There are no more than five awards made each year. Chairman of the committee is Mrs. Priscilla T. Rines ’49 of Gorham.

BLOCK M

The Block M award is awarded annually to maintain and develop strong and active goodwill for the University through work in the local organizations, class activities and the GAA. Items of consideration are activities on the local association level, service to the individual classes and support of class activities and, support of the Annual Giving Fund through time and effort to make the fund a success. The number of Block M’s given is set by the GAA governing Council. Chairman of the committee is Dana P. Sidelingr ’36 of Portland.

COUNCIL NOMINATIONS

Nominations for the Alumni Council are also being sought. The five offices of President, First Vice President, Second Vice President, Treasurer and Clerk are open for nominations. These offices have a two-year term. In addition, there are nominations needed for five council seats that have a three-year term of office. There is also an opening for an alumni representative to the Intercollegiate Athletic Advisory Council.
Thirteen UMO alumni killed in Vietnam

At 7 p.m. on January 27, 1973 the cease fire began and marked the official end to the Vietnam War. As of that date the war had claimed the lives of 13 UMO alumni. The sadly ironic total of 13 is of those known dead. There are still a number of alumni listed as missing in action and who were not accounted for after the cease fire.

Major William F. Callinan ’53
A native of Bangor, he graduated with a degree in economics. While at UMO he was a member of Phi Eta Kappa fraternity, the M Club and the basketball team. He was killed in a helicopter crash on November 11, 1966 at age 36.

Capt. Herbert F. Hardy, Jr. ’54
Capt. Hardy was born in Langhorne, Pennsylvania. He served three years with the Army before entering UMO. He was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity and the Scabbard and Blade. Following graduation he returned to the Army. In 1962 he was assigned to the 1st Special Forces Group (Airborne) on Okinawa. He served in Vietnam from January 1963. He was killed by enemy fire near the Cambodian border on March 4, 1964 at the age of 36.

Capt. Walter Louis Hall ’61
A native of Bangor, he graduated from the university with a B.A. in history. He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He entered the Army in October of 1961. He died in Vietnam on June 10, 1965 at the age of 25.

*These men were honored with decorations and awards but are not listed due to insufficient information on all the men.

Capt. James Michael McDonough, Jr. ’61
He was a native of Portland and attended the University for one year before going on to graduate from West Point. He was serving as a commander of a company in Vietnam when he was mortally wounded on August 2, 1966 at the age of 26.

Lt. Dana Leon Gerald ’64
Lt. Gerald was born in Waterville, Maine and graduated from the University with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering and was a member of Theta Chi fraternity. He enlisted in the Army in 1964 and was assigned to Vietnam in 1966. He was killed while on a combat operation on March 11, 1967 at the age of 24.

Lt. Thomas Edward M. Gray ’64
A native of Johnstown, Pa., Lt. Gray graduated from UMO with a bachelor’s degree in history. He was a member of the Reserve Officer Training Corps on campus. He volunteered for service in Vietnam in 1966 and was killed in action on February 24, 1967 at the age of 27.

Lt. Stephen Winfield Davis ’65
Lt. Davis was born in Camp Cooke, California. He attend the University for one year and later graduated from the Citadel in 1966 as a lieutenant. He was with the 101st Airborne Division while in Vietnam. He was killed in combat on August 18, 1967 at the age of 23.

Lt. Thomas Bernard Ferguson ’65
A native of Rumford, he graduated from the University with a B.S. in business administration. He was a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He worked for Oxford Paper Co. before joining the U.S. Marines. He was commissioned in 1967, was wounded in Vietnam and later died on March 30, 1968 at the Portsmouth Naval Hospital at the age of 25.

Lt. Paul Lewis Stimpson ’65
Lt. Stimpson was born in Portland and graduated from UMO with a B.A. in mathematics. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He was with a helicopter company when he was killed on an assault mission in Vietnam on April 22, 1967 at the age of 24.

Lt. Alan Zimmerman ’65
A native of Midland Park, New Jersey, he graduated with a B.A. in entomology. He was a member of the Pershing Rifles, ROTC and Phi Eta Kappa fraternity. He was commissioned lieutenant from the Maine ROTC, with distinction. He was killed on a rescue mission in a helicopter he was piloting on Feb. 2, 1967 at the age of 23.

Marine Lance Corp. Stanton R. Dyke ’67
Corp. Dyke was a native of Lewiston. He received a B.S. in forestry from UMO and while at the University managed the Woodmen’s Team and was a forestry management specialist. He entered the Marines in March 1967 and was killed in Vietnam when the truck he was driving hit a land mine on February 9, 1968 at the age of 23.

Pfc. Gilford F. Dashner ’68
A native of Burlington, Mass., he attended the university for three years. He was a member of Theta Chi fraternity. He was killed in combat operation in Vietnam on Sept. 18, 1968 at the age of 21.

Pfc. Theodore G. Drew ’69
A native of Freedom, Drew graduated from UMO with an associate degree in mechanical engineering. He was killed in Vietnam on May 12, 1970 at the age of 21.
Campus Capsules

Dr. Robert Cobb, a member of the UMO College of Education faculty since 1969, has been named acting coordinator of the college's program in health, physical education and recreation.

The UMO graduate school boasts thirteen graduate theses dealing with Canada and leads the country's universities for the greatest number of Canadian graduate studies. It was announced by the editor of the Register of Dissertations published in Canada.

Dana R. Baggett '55 will be leaving the post of Director for the Bureau of Public Administration as of March 1. Baggett, who was the first director starting in 1965, will become the Washington, D.C. representative for the International Personnel Management Association, a professional society of government managers.

The first annual directory of research and scholarly activities at UMO has been printed. It reports on 326 active research projects for the 1971-72 fiscal year. The publication is under the direction of Dr. Bruce Poulton, vice president for research and public services.

Alumni Velma K. Oliver '25 and Horace A. Pratt '30, long time members of Phi Kappa Phi honor society, were awarded emeritus active memberships to the society. Both are now retired.

Eight hundred art exhibits have been scheduled for showing in Maine schools during the 1972-1973 school year under the UMO Traveling Exhibition Program. There are 100 separate exhibitions each scheduled to travel to eight different locations. The program was started 10 years ago by Art Department Chairman Vincent A. Hartgen.

A total of 94 foreign exchange students from 36 different countries are attending UMO this year. The largest delegation of students hails from Canada with 31 and India is next with 12 students.

A U.S. Department of Agriculture research installation has been completed on the UMO campus. The facility will be utilized for soil and water management research in the northeastern region. It was constructed with federal funds on land leased from UMO.

UMO's Darling Center in Walpole, Maine conducted a seminar in December on the cause and ability to predict future red tide outbreaks on the New England coast. The seminar was one of a series in oceanography conducted at the Center.

The School of Human Development received an $806.25 grant from the Amy W. Pinkham Fund of the Maine Tuberculosis and Health Association. The funds will be used to supplement a pre-school lunch program at the Indian Island School in Old Town.

Dr. Lyle C. Jenness, executive secretary of the UMO Pulp and Paper Foundation and professor emeritus and former head of the chemical engineering department has been made an honorary member of the Technical Association of Pulp and Paper Industry. In 1972 he was presented the TAPPI Medal, the highest honor given by the 13,000 member organization.

Dr. Robert Beitzell, professor of history at UMO, has published a new book, "The Uneasy Alliance: America, Britain, and Russia, 1941-1943." The book deals with the maneuverings and personalities of Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin and the national rivalries of their countries.

All tuition costs will be waived for those of age 65 years or over who want to take courses at the University of Maine at Machias. The action was approved by the board of trustees. Those eligible will not be able to receive academic credit, however.

The 23rd annual UM Pulp and Paper Open House will be held on April 19-20 at UMO. The theme of the event will be "Social Pressures and Technology—Conflict?" The Open House attracts some 175 pulp and paper industry executives each year.

A new installment of the UMO Maine Studies Series has been published on Maine's famous artist, Marsden Hartley. Polly Scribner Ames wrote and illustrated "Marsden Hartley in Maine" and Dr. Richard Sprague '49 of the English department edited the publication.

The General Student Senate held a benefit concert for hospital aid and prisoners of war which earned $341. The January 20 concert featured performances by the Stillwater River Draggers Jug Band and the Aztec Two-Step.

UMO calendar changes next fall

UMO will join the majority of colleges in the country which use the two semester system that is split during the Christmas holidays.

The calendar change will go into effect next fall for 1973-74 with the approval of students, faculty, administrators and Chancellor Donald R. McNeil.

Classes will start in the beginning of September, followed by a short Thanksgiving recess and ending just before Christmas. Second semester will run from the middle of January until the middle of May with two vacation recesses.

The major complaint of the old system was that the first semester was broken with two holiday interruptions which made the semester lack any continuity, according to Earsel Goode, assistant registrar and chairman of the Calendar Committee.

He added there were advantages at the beginning of the new UMO calendar which still starts after Labor Day. The state relies on student manpower in the summers and employs them up until Labor Day. At the end of the second semester, students will be free earlier to look for summer employment. The later ending date had been a problem for many students.

Vice President for Finance and the Dean of Arts & Sciences resign

John M. Blake, vice president for finance and administration, and Dr. John J. Nolde, dean of the College of Arts & Sciences have submitted their resignations as of this summer.

Blake joined the UMO administration in 1961 as special assistant to President Lloyd Elliot. In 1961 he became director of Continuing Education Division and saw it grow from 3,000 to 19,900 students. Blake hopes to seek a position at another institution in the field of continuing education.

His major reason for leaving the office is to permit the new president following President Libby's retirement the opportunity of selecting someone of his own choosing for the post. He made this decision when he accepted the position as Libby's administrator of finance in 1968.

Dr. Nolde will leave the dean's seat of the College of Arts & Sciences as of July 1 after serving there for seven years. He will continue at UMO in a teaching capacity as professor of history. Before becoming dean, Nolde had taught for 15 years specializing in Chinese history.

If need be, he has expressed his intentions of staying after his resignation date if a successor has not been chosen.

New England university co-op studied

The presidents of the six New England state universities have initiated a program to effect operational savings and improvements through various means of coordination and cooperation.

Donald Nicoll, formerly administrative assistant to Senator Edmund S. Muskie, was selected by the six presidents to analyze the aims of the program and make recommendations on organization and procedure.

Nicoll has met with UMO administrators regarding the plan. Special emphasis will be made in the areas of research and public service cooperation, coordination at the graduate school level and student-faculty exchanges. Also, the concept of the open university on a regional basis will be explored.

The study should be completed early this year making it possible to present the program to the people of the six-state region by the end of the year through individual boards of trustees.
Assistant Registrar and friend of veterans retires

It is said that almost every veteran from World War II and the Korean War who attended UMO personally knew Elizabeth S. Reid ’41, assistant registrar and director of veteran affairs.

Miss Reid has retired after 27 years at the University working with returning veterans and student registration. In January, George H. Crosby, Registrar, announced her retirement because of health reasons.

She graduated from UMO in 1941 and started to work for the University in the Veterans Benefits Office in 1945. She was put in charge of the small office after a few years. After the Korean War, veteran activities only required half her time and she started working with the purchasing department. In 1961, Miss Reid became assistant registrar in addition to handling veteran affairs.

She has retired to the British West Indies and can be reached at the Dock and Dine, Man of War Cay, Abaco, Bahamas, British West Indies.

Public management workshops held

Five authors, five of their current books, five workshops and 50 Maine public service managers and supervisors add up to "The Fifty Club" being sponsored by the UMO Bureau of Public Administration.

Started in January the program will run for five months. Each of the one-day workshops features one author and a guest commentator from Maine who gives his reactions to the book.

The basic purpose of the program, according to Kathryn Godwin, BPA program manager, is to present public service managers and supervisors with an opportunity to examine some of the better and more recent developments within the broad field of management.

High school juniors engineering program to be expanded

UMO’s summer high school juniors introductory program in engineering and technology will be expanded this summer due to the marked success of the program, according to Bernard B. Estey of the S.D. Warren Company. Estey is chairman of the Pulp and Paper Foundation educational relations committee.

Forty high school juniors will attend this summer’s fifth annual course. Each student selected for the program will be awarded a UM Pulp and Paper Foundation scholarship to cover all academic and board costs for the four-week period.

The program is run in conjunction with the chemical engineering department. Students use their knowledge of mathematics and science to solve problems with major emphasis on chemical engineering and pulp and paper subjects. Those who later enroll in chemical engineering at UMO can receive three college credit hours. Approximately 50 per cent of the high schoolers have returned after graduation and enrolled at UMO.

Mary Anne Sezak, a junior at UMO and the daughter of Prof. Sam Sezak '31 of Orono, is a nationally known equestrienne. This fall she earned an "A" Pony Club rating which was only achieved by five in the country. She has accumulated a room full of ribbons and trophies since her career in riding started at six years old.

Basketball season draws to a close with a 12-7 overall record

Basketball Coach Skip Chappelle kept his record of winning every home Yankee Conference game on February 17 when the Black Bears edged out the University of Connecticut Huskies 110-105 in a double overtime battle.

The UConn game was one of the best games played this year by the Bears who now hold a 12-7 overall record and sport a 5-5 Yankee Conference record.

The Bears started the season with some very powerful victories, especially on the home court where the crowd turnout is overwhelming. After the Christmas holiday, however, the team had a mid-season slump and dropped some major contests.

The two key figures throughout the season have been senior forward of Orono, Peter Gavett 6'7" and freshman Bob Warner of Saco. Gavett has led the team in scoring during the season and currently is the third highest scorer in UMO basketball history, and is right up at the top in the New England standings.

Freshman Warner has a great future ahead of him at UMO and it started this season with his terrific rebounding performance. He ranks first in the conference in rebounding and 12th in the country with a 13.7 rebound average. He also averages over 18 points per game.

James Reid '73 receives football achievement award

A UMO football player, James Reid, was elected the recipient of the 15th Annual Senior Achievement Award by the New England Football Writers Association.

Reid is a native of Medford, Mass. who survived two major operations requiring some 200 stitches and transferred from a metropolitan college to a rural area university in order to play the game he loves.

While practicing prior to his junior year at Maine he ruptured his spleen making a tackle. Doctors advised him to give up the game, but Reid came back and played a full season as a junior and became defensive safety and co-leader of the Black Bears during the 1972 season.

Gridiron tri-captains chosen for '73-'74

Andrew Mellow of Westfield, Mass., John O'Rourke of Millis, Mass. and Jack Lamborghini of Hingham, Mass. have been chosen to serve as tri-captains for the 1973 University of Maine at Orono varsity football team. The three seniors were elected by fellow players at a letterman's banquet.

Mellow and O'Rourke are defensive standouts and Lamborghini is a running back.

Black Bear Hall of Fame

The little Black Bear Hall of Fame Scholarship Fund Appeal is hungry. It is so hungry that it just can't go into hibernation.

When the little cub scampers into New Hampshire the old Wildcat gives our poor little fellow quite a scratching, in Vermont, the Cat-amounts let our little cub get away with a bit of nourishment, in Massachusetts the Minutemen just won't let you get away with anything, in Connecticut the Huskies are just too darn vicious, in Rhode Island the Rams' horns are quite sharp and those Boston University Terriers let us get away with a morsel once in awhile.

So you see, Mama and Papa Black Bears, we must have food (green stuff) (money) to grow up, become strong, invade the lairs and dens of our competitors and scare them a bit so we can feast on some of their delicacies.

The Black Bear Cub Hall of Fame Scholarship Fund Committee is grateful to all of those who have contributed, but it needs nourishment from all the other Black Bear relatives in order to get recognition. Support your Black Bear Hall of Fame Scholarship Fund.

Injuries plague trackmen

The UMO track team led off their season with a string of victories for a fine 4-1 dual meet record. Later in the season, however, team injuries took their toll on some key trackmen as the state and conference championships approached.

The two top weight men, Reggie Beaulieu of Waterville and John Partridge of Newport, Vermont were both laid up with injuries which severely cost the team in the state championship. Injuries also with hurdlers and long jumpers were factors in the team's standing.

Swimmers have fine first season

Coach Alan Switzer is pleased with the progress and showing of his swimming team, now nearing the end of their first varsity season.

The team has a 4-6 record which is considered quite impressive for the young team. The long distance 1,000 yd. and 500 yd. freestyle events have been the key strengths of the club. Every 1,000 yd. and all but one 500 yd. freestyle event has been won by the UMO swimmers.

Tom Clark, a freshman from Greenwich, Conn. and Tim Babcock, a freshman from Bangor, have done outstandingly well throughout the season. Clark placed first in two events and made new pool records at the Yankee Conference meet held at UMO on Feb. 10. The future looks even better for the club. The team is young and all the key swimmers will be returning next season. Coach Switzer added that more home meets will be available next year which should also be an advantage.

A highlight of the season came when a new University record for the two-mile relay of 7:55.4 was made. Eric Ellis of Rangeley, Michael Mulligan of Lunenburg, Mass., Eric Holmlund of Baldwinville, Mass. and Jake Ward of Orono were the relay men.

Coach Ed Styrna has hopes that the team will recover from the injuries and sees the Spring outdoor track season as being a good one. Most of the members of the indoor winter team will continue into the Spring season.
