Student Teachers To Sharpen Skill At HS

The University of Maine will sponsor 19 undergraduate student team teachers during the spring semester, according to project director Dr. David R. Fink Jr.

The five-year project, involving ten Maine schools, is supported by a half-million dollar Ford Foundation grant.

The schools and their assigned students are:

Orono High School: Sharon Taylor, Helene Nardino, Anastasia McLaughlin and Thomas Powers.

Asa C. Adams School, Orono: Ann Becker, Carolyn DeVoe, Joan Clunie, David Shibles, Janice Gillette, Carolyn Mboria, Judith Payson and Georgianna Ellis.

Fairview School, Auburn: Susan Keene and Katherine Sturgis.

Carland Street Jr. High School, Bangor: Pauline Turcotte and Philip Campbell.

Bonny Eagle High School, West Buxton: Bonnie Masterman and Nancy Conant.

Bowdoin Sets All-Time Point Record On TV College Bowl

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is reprinted from the Portland Press Herald.

Bowdoin College won its fifth consecutive game on the "G-E College Bowl" Sunday and retired as undefeated champions after establishing new, all-time scoring records on the nationally televised program.

The final score was Bowdoin 245 and Bowling Green University of Ohio 85.

Bowdoin's win Sunday smashed all scoring records in the six-year history of the popular intercollegiate question-and-answer show, which is seen by an estimated 20 million persons from coast to coast.

In its five appearances on the NBC-TV network color program, the college piled up a record total of 1,525 points.

That mark broke by 105 points the old five-game record of 1,420, held by Lafayette College.

Bowdoin also is the first college in the history of the program to average better than 300 points per game during its victory streak. Bowdoin averaged 305 points per game.

Bowdoin outscored its combined opponents by a total margin of 905 points. That, too, is a new record.

Bates College, which also retired undefeated, scored a total of 1,235 points in its five-game championship series and Bowdoin topped that total by 290 points. Bates' combined margin over its opponents was 665 points.

In addition to taking over the title of all-time top scorer, Bowdoin set other records, including the highest combined championship plurality and the all-time four-game top scoring championship.

Bowdoin is the only college or university which has won five games on the show this season and the only institution which has swept past the 300-point mark this year.

The Brunswick college began its championship skein by eliminating Ripon College of Wisconsin, 375 to 135. The Bowdoin varsity scholars then defeated Butler University of Indiana, 345 to 150; nosed out Duquesne University of Pennsylvania, 200 to 190, in an overtime thriller, and trounced Westminster College of Missouri, 360 to 60.

Bowling Green is an Ohio university with more than 9,000 students, compared with Bowdoin's enrollment of 800. Bowdoin jumped off to an 80-point lead before Bowling Green managed to break into the scoring column.

Bowdoin is only the 12th college to retire undefeated and receive the show's special silver achievement trophy. The trophy, a championship bowl, was presented by the program's moderator, Robert Earle, to William C. Rounds of Portland, Maine, the alternate member of the Bowdoin squad.

Members of the squad and their coach, Instructor Daniel G. Calder of Bowdoin's Department of English, beckoned to Rounds to join the team in front of the cameras for the presentation ceremonies.

The team members include the captain, Kenneth C. Smith of Fairfield, Conn.; Jotham D. Pierce, Jr., of Portland, Maine; Charles A. (Chuck) Mills of Cold Spring, N. Y.; and Michael W. (Mike) Bennett of Wilmington, Calif.

Their victory raised to $10,500 the total amount of General Electric scholarship grants Bowdoin has earned on the program. This total will be supplemented by an additional $3,500 from the Ford Foundation under terms of the Foundation's $2.5 million matching grant to Bowdoin.

That grant, part of the foundation's program to support development of selected colleges as "center of excellence," involves a $1 contribution by the foundation for every $3 the college receives from other sources.

For each of its first four wins, Bowdoin received $1,500 scholarship grant. The fifth victory Sunday brought the college another $1,500 grant, a supplemental $1,500 grant from GE in recognition of Bowdoin's rare achievement, and a special, five-time winner's bonus of $1,500 from the Gimbel Department Stores.

Ole Miss Integrator Will Speak At U-M

By CAROLYN ZACHARY

James Meredith, the Negro student whose name made headlines in 1962 when in the midst of large-scale rioting he enrolled at the University of Mississippi, will speak at U-M on Tuesday, January 14, in the Memorial Gymnasium, at 7 p.m. This will follow his appearance at Colby College on Monday.

Meredith will discuss the progress of the racial movement in the 100 years since the Civil War, racial equality as the Number One issue in the U. S. today, and his experiences at Ole Miss. His visit is being sponsored by the Political Lyceum Committee of the General Student Senate in the first of its series of political lectures on campus.

In the fall of '62 Meredith made four attempts to enroll at Ole Miss. In the first, on September 20, Mississippi Governor Ross Barnett barred him. Barnett barred him again on September 25.

On September 26 Lieutenant Governor Paul Johnson, backed by state police, turned Meredith away. After learning that a riotous crowd had gathered on the campus Meredith and his escort voluntarily turned back on the following day.

Federal action finally forced desegregation of Ole Miss when the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals found Governor Barnett guilty of civil contempt on September 28. The court ordered him to admit Meredith by October 2, threatening Barnett with arrest or fines of $10,000 for each day of delay.

As a result, on September 30 Meredith was admitted to the university, with the aid of U.S. Marshals, federal troops, and National Guardsmen federalized by President Kennedy. Meredith's admission touched off large-scale rioting on the campus, despite an appeal from JFK. Two persons were killed in the mob demonstrations.

The Political Lyceum Committee, which is responsible for Meredith's visit to U-M, is a special project of the General Student Senate during this academic year. Committee supporters hope to establish it permanently at the University of Maine.

The committee's program is designed to provide opportunities for expression by both state and national figures of specific viewpoints relating to political affairs. Invitations to speak have been extended widely to Republicans and Democrats, liberals and conservatives, union leaders and management leaders.

Those invited range from Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller to John Kenneth Galbraith and Orville Freeman; from May Craig to George Meany. In addition to Meredith, Governor John H. Reed, Representatives Stanley R. Tupper and Clifford G. McIntire, and Senators Margaret Chase Smith and Edmund S. Muskie have accepted. Possible future acceptances include Richard Nixon, May Craig, Senator John Tower, George Meany, and Robert Welch.

Two U-M Juniors Selected To Serve D. C. Internships

Marjorie McGraw and Wayne Johnson, both juniors, have been named to two of the University's four congressional internships.

Marjorie, of East Blue Hill, has been selected to work on Senator Edmund S. Muskie's Subcommittee for Intergovernmental Relations. Dr. David Walker is the committee staff director.

Marjorie is a government major and has taken part in Maine Masque productions. She is chairman of the Student Senate Political Affairs Committee this year, headed the Senate's constitutional Committee last year, and is a member of Pi Kappa Delta.

Wayne will work in Congressman Stanley A. Tupper's office. A history and government major, he is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is from Rockland.

There are two other positions, one in Sen. Muskie's office and the other in Sen. Thomas Dodd's (D-Conn.) office. These have not been confirmed yet, but Dr. Eugene Mawhinney hopes to announce them next week.

HONORARY HOPEFULS—These five University of Maine coeds have been chosen to vie for the title of honorary colonel of the University's ROTC unit. The winner, to be selected by vote of the students, will be commissioned at the annual Military Ball on Friday evening, Jan. 10. Left to right, the girls are: Jane Wareing, Heather Cameron, Pamela Goodwin, Karol Wasylyshyn, and Carol Snyder.

U-M Art Department Features Two Artists During January

Two new art shows, featuring Chris Ritter and Seong Mey, are on exhibition at the University of Maine during the month of January.

Ritter, a year-round resident of Ogunquit since 1957, has an exhibition in the Carnegie Hall Gallery.

A former instructor in the art departments of Hunter College and Cornell University, Ritter has had six one-man shows in New York since 1939 and several in other cities. His work in oil, watercolor and graphics has been included in group exhibitions at the Metropolitan Museum, the Pennsylvania Academy, the Art Institute of Chicago, the Denver Museum and many others. He is also a past president of the Ogunquit Art Association.

The Mey exhibition in the Louis Oakes Room of the library was originally scheduled to be displayed in December.

A recent grant to the University of Maine's department of animal pathology provides for a study of funga infections in birds.

Prof. Holds Auditions For U-M Music Groups

Professor Herrold Headley will hold auditions for the University Singers and the Chorophonic Society Wednesday and Thursday January 22 and 23.

Interested students may sign the schedule card on Professor Headley's door, Rm. 101, for five-minute audition periods between 1 pm and 3 pm on those days.

If a student cannot be free, he may make other arrangements with the dept. secretary on any morning.

The Chorophonic Society will sing the Cherubian Requiem Mass later in the spring with the orchestra.

Former Director Of Development At U-M Heads Pittsburgh TV Network

Donald V. Taverner, former director of development at the University of Maine, has been elected president of the nation's first community-supported educational television corporation in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Taverner, now president of the Metropolitan Pittsburgh Educational Television Corporation which has operated educational TV stations WQED and WQEX since 1954, is a 1943 graduate of the University of Maine.

Before acting as director of development, Taverner was executive director of Maine's General Alumni Association for eight years. He left the staff of the University's Orono campus in 1962 to become general manager of the Pittsburgh ETV stations.

ETV Finally Settles In Permanent Home

Educational television at the University of Maine finally has a permanent home.

Until just before the Christmas recess, the ETV offices were scattered over the campus, some in Lord Hall, others in South Stevens.

The ETV network is housed in Alumni Hall. On the first floor there will be a storage area, with a dark-room located in one corner. Much of the stage scenery will be constructed here.

The business and transmitting complex is on the second floor. There are two studios, both 52' x 36'; a 60' x 34' control room; four offices and a reception room.

The control room is not finished yet, but Dunlop said he is having all vital equipment duplicated in the new room and it will be operational in about six weeks. In the meantime, WMEB-TV is still transmitting from the Library offices.

Off the control room is a small area that will contain two videotape machines. The television network has one machine now, and will have another in the near future.

The third floor will be all office space. The art department, Francis Hamabe, as well as Dunlop and Robert MacLaughlin, have offices here. Dunlop said this upstairs area will be partitioned off as offices when the need arises.

This move is costing WMEB-TV about $130,000, according to Dunlop, and renovation is still going on.

The entire complex will not be ready until next spring.

Dunlop noted that there are 16 full-time employees and three part-time workers there now. He said there will probably be 24 full-time workers within a year and added that there will be more and more part-time positions for students arising in the ensuing year.

UNH Sponsors Hootenanny Contest

The University of New Hampshire Winter Carnival during the weekend of February 15, will include a Hootenanny Contest.

Opportunities

Two national scholarships for college senior girls are offered for 1964-1965 by the Katharine Gibbs School. These awards were established in 1935 as a memorial to Mrs. Katharine M. Gibbs, founder and first president of the School.

Each scholarship consists of full tuition ($985) for the secretarial training course, plus an additional cash award of $500, totaling $1,485. The winners may select any one of the four Gibbs schools for their training—Boston, New York, Montclair, or Providence.

Winners are chosen by the Scholarship Committee on the basis of college academic record, personal and character qualifications, financial need, and potentialities for success in business.

U-M may recommend two candidates, and each candidate must have this official endorsement. Students who may be interested in competing for one of these Katharine Gibbs awards may obtain full information at the Placement Office.

EXTENSION MEETING

The annual meeting of field and staff members of the University's Cooperative Extension Service was held here this week.

The conference will be concluded Friday by Winthrop C. Libby, Extension Service director. He will summarize the Service's first year of operation since its reorganization a year ago.

McCall's Hoopsters Face Rough Schedule; Play Five Straight Road Tilts This Week

The Black Bears, returning after a week's vacation, will travel 1,400 miles in the next week to try and bolster their 5-4 season record.

They will play 5 games during the fast and furious tour, meeting New Hampshire on the 7th, Bowdoin on the 8th, Rhode Island on the 11th, Connecticut on the 13th, and Colby on the 15th.

The circuit, which will allow no rest and very little practice except actual games, sends them home to a tenacious Bates club on the 18th.

Looking back on basketball action over the Christmas vacation it appears the Bears ran hot and cold, winning only one of the three games played.

On Saturday night, December 21, Maine stormed to a seemingly stable 17 point half-time lead against Boston University. The tables turned, however, in the second half when a strong BU five took advantage of the frozen Blue to come up with the win, 80-70.

In the Down East Classic, Maine lost their initial game to Bowdoin. After putting on a miserable performance here at Orono, the Polar Bears were impressive as well as damaging, downing Maine, 85-80 in an overtime battle.

Maine did regain some prestige

in the Down East Classic by salvaging a double overtime contest with Bates, 96-89.

The Frosh will put their 4-0 record on the line tonight at MCI. Maine is favored in the contest, but the reportedly strong post-grads are capable of pulling a few surprises.

The Baby Blue hoopsters have chalked up wins of 97-94 and 74-63 over UMP, 75-72 over the Colby Frosh, and 100-41 over the Aroostook State Teacher, Frosh.

Dick Billings has averaged, 15.0 points per game; Terry Carr, 14.0; Pete Webb, 11.5; and Bob Francoeur, 10.8, to help keep the team's field goal percentage at a strong .434. As a team they have earned a respectable 86.5 points per game average, nearly 20 points more per game than their opponents.

Outdoor Angle

TONY YUODSNUKIS

Now that the final tally of the deer kill has been mulled over for about a month, the condition of the herd is the present topic of speculation. A few isolated reports indicate that the herd is in fine condition after a season in which less than 30,000 deer were registered by hunters. Warden Supervisor Curtis Cooper of Stockholm reported a 50 per cent decrease in the kill compared to 1962, with a ratio of about three bucks registered for every doe. He is of the belief that because of the low fawn and doe kill, the herd in his area is in excellent shape. Just as a point in passing, his division had 794 non-residents registering deer as against 716 residents.

This past fall Warden Supervisor Jack Shaw of Strong observed a woods oddity concerning a snow-shoe hare. He was in the Eustis area when he observed a hare jump off a bridge into a brook and float under the bridge and off downstream. Interested and curious, Shaw looked again and saw the hare swim upstream awhile and then scramble ashore. After spending 25 years in the woods this was the first time Shaw had seen a hare deliberately go swimming.

For the campus sportsmen the next few weeks will be occupied with intense studying, but in those precious spare moments ice chisels and augers will be sharpened, tip-ups prepared, and a supply of line and hooks laid in for the coming salmon and trout ice fishing season. Bob Garland got an early start this year. Bob gave his tip-ups and jig lines a workout on Massachusetts ponds over the vacation and strung up some fine pickerel, the largest being 28 inches.

WAA Ping Pong Meet Commences This Week

The first set in the women's singles ping-pong tournament has been scheduled and must be played off by January 15.

Participants are: Guppy vs. Stevens, Colwell vs. Libby, Brown vs. Thorpe, Woods vs. Perkins, Alkalay vs. Bradley, Glew vs. Hollinshead, Garret vs. Hennessey, Nardino vs. Grant, Guinon vs. Morrison, Garner vs. Gavaza, Johnston vs. Wing, Genest vs. Fairbank, McCluskey vs. Olson, and Arbour vs. Ferguson.

Results should be reported to Jane Thompson, 410 Penobscot.

GILLETTE LEADS SCORERS

After nine games, John Gillette leads the Bears in scoring with an average of 17.9 pts. per game followed by Dave Svendsen with 12.8. Gillette dunked 29 points against Colby for his personal high of the season so far. In State Series action, Bowdoin's Mike Napolitano compiled a .568 floor shooting average to lead the league followed closely by Maine's John Gillette, .556, and Guy Strang, .514. Maine leads the State Series (3-0) while they're in the cellar of the Yankee Conference (0-2). Also in State Series play, Ted Krzynowek of Bates leads the free throw shooting with a .857 while Ken Federman, of Colby leads in rebounding, averaging 14.3 per game.

HOCKEY A REALITY

Shortly after writing the story of a proposed hockey rink for our school in the last issue of the paper, I was informed that money had been appropriated and action would soon begin on building a rink. Shortly afterward, a meeting was held in the field house with an overwhelming turnout of 72 prospective players in attendance. An Intramural League was organized and practices scheduled beginning this week. Upon returning from Christmas vacation I found that a fully boarded in rink had been completed with lighting facilities for night games. An enthusiastic group of players will report for practice beginning this Wednesday. Twenty-four players will report per session on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights.

This is a good beginning and indeed a speedy one toward our ultimate goal, which is to restore hockey on the varsity level here at Maine. With a combination of varsity and Intramural hockey on our campus, Maine could satisfy both the ardent fans who like the excitement of college hockey and the enthusiastic students who like to get out there and play themselves.

Political Year Breaks

The dawn of a new year has broken with bright rays of interest in the world of American politics. Diverse speculations range from the prospects of Mrs. John F. Kennedy becoming the first United States Vice President of her sex to Richard M. Nixon becoming United States Senator from the State of Maine.

HUBERT TOPS LIST

With little question of who the next Democratic Presidential candidate will be the party has turned the spotlight on several possibilities as President Lyndon B. Johnson's running mate. In a poll conducted by the Associated Press, about twenty percent (710) of the Democratic county chairmen throughout the country have expressed their choices for the vice-presidential candidate. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota topped the list of preferences. Running a close second to the Senator was Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy. Third in line was Adlai Stevenson, ambassador to the United Nations and twice Democratic presidential candidate. Additional choices included Robert F. Wagner, mayor of New York; Sargent Shriver, head of the Peace Corps and brother-in-law of the late President; Edmund G. Brown, governor of California; Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota; Senator Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut; Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., assistant secretary of commerce; Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri; and several others including the widow of the late President.

SHRIVER FOR PEACE?

Many of the Democratic leaders feel that the choice of a running mate should be made by the President himself, and one "inside" forecaster has claimed that Johnson will groom Sargent Shriver for the spot. There is no doubt that Johnson wields the power to choose his co-pilot. His decision will probably not be an easy one, however; many of the men fill the basic requirements—northern liberal, dynamic, well-known, and of the JFK philosophy—needed to make a winning team so the President will likely choose the man whom he feels would be most capable of filling the office of the Presidency.

DIFFERENT PRINCIPLES

"Dynamic" personalities have also erupted on the Republican horizon where Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater decided to enter the race "because of the principles in which I believe, and because I am convinced that millions of Americans share my belief in those principles," and where New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller entered "because I believe in certain basic principles—principles on which this country was founded and which have been responsible for its rise to greatness—and because I want to further these principles and to serve the American people."

COLORFUL SCENE

Maine's part in the GOP national scene should be unusually colorful this year. U. S. Rep. Stanley R. Tupper, R-Maine, is New England coordinator of Rockefeller's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. The New York governor was born in Maine. Maine's Senator Margaret Chase Smith is coyly deliberating (while she can sit back and survey the Rockefeller-Goldwater conflict) before disclosing whether or not she will make a bid for the GOP presidential nomination. And in Bangor "a living referendum," Al-David Bernstein, has launched a "campaign to draft Richard M. Nixon as Maine's next United States Senator." Bernstein has announced that he will run for the senatorial seat in the Maine Primary Election in June as a Draft-Nixon-For-Senate candidate. After winning the primary he will resign his nomination thus giving Nixon full mandate to run in a required second primary election. Bernstein does not intend to relent on this campaign before November "at which time, I expect to see Mr. Nixon elected either a Senator from the State of Maine, or President of these United States," he stated.

EMPHASIS ON V. P.

When dusk falls on 1964 a new chapter will be written into the History of American Politics. New leaders will have emerged in both parties. Tradition will have wrestled with innovation—conservatism with liberalism. We all will have played a part in the outcome. The main emphasis in that chapter will probably be on the new Democratic Vice President (who, by that time, may have earned the capital V and P).

Typing Room

To the Editor:

I would like to suggest that the library establish a typing room, possibly complete with typewriters, for the students' use. There was a time when typing facilities were available; however, that space seems to have been used for faculty offices. I feel that the establishment of the above would be a great improvement over the present facilities—which are nil.

Mark Hambleton

Changed Mind

To the Editor:

I wish to compliment Professor Matthew McNeary on his Freshman Orientation classes. The well-organized agenda has given such a concise outline of the College of Technology that no one should end the first semester in doubt about the future.

When I first came here in Sept. I had my mind made up that I wanted to be in Electrical Engineering. I was still of that feeling before the last Freshman Orientation class (12-11-63). Before that time I had thought the classes were interesting and informative but of little value to me. After hearing Professor Clarence Bennett speak about Engineering Physics, I realized the true value of the course. In the period since, my mind has changed completely and I attribute it all to the outline of Engineering Physics in Freshman Orientation.

So now, to all you freshmen who think Freshman Orientation class is a farce, I say get with it. Freshman Orientation is the most important class on the schedule for it will in the end determine your future. Don't try to catch up on the sleep you missed the night before; it can wait, but the class, the opportunity can't.

Thomas C. Pendleton, Jr.

Watchdog

To the Editor:

For several weeks I have been observing the behavior of some of the employees in the Commons who seem to fit the description of Watchdogs. It was somewhat a relief to learn that Stodder also has these sentinels, for I had been thinking that perhaps the Commons was a maximum security cafeteria to which I had been assigned for some wanton bit of social deviation.

With trepidation (for who knows how many plainclothes men may be assigned to patrol amongst the angry throngs who three times each day threaten the well-ordered nothingness of our dining facilities) I did some research and found that Commons watchdogs are called headwaiters and that their duty is to assist the dietitians in snatching second glasses of prune juice from passing trays.

Our watchdogs are armed with large monkey wrenches with which they occasionally assert their authority by mercilessly beating the lid off of a milk can. In view of the bloodshed which could result from such violence, I would urge the Commons to disarm its watchdogs and accept in place of their weapons a written statement from each of us that we are not now and have never been a member of any organization which advocated open anarchy in the Commons.

Name Withheld Upon Request

What Logic?

To the Editor:

"Waste of Space"—a letter to the Campus in the December 19th issue—certainly was adequately titled. May I ask the writer what logic was involved in the simple reporting of the article he refers to: "Drinking Termed Destructive Enemy of Fraternities"? Or for that matter, what logic is ever involved in true reporting? If any logic was involved—which, of course, I can't recognize, never having had a course in "third grade logic" as he puts it—it was merely that of some of our country's top educators and fraternity men participating in the National Interfraternity Conference.

Mr. "Name Withheld Upon Request" also states the article said nothing that people shouldn't have already known. Perhaps as a frat man he fails to realize the ignorance that exists on this campus towards fraternities. For instance, I have had several people ask me where the list is that they sign to join a fraternity—not realizing that they have to be asked to join; and only after careful consideration by the fraternity. If people don't know the basic information about fraternities—how to join—what more can we expect them to know?

I suggest that you read the article that you referred to again—perhaps you can learn something.

Excellent Idea!

To the Editor:

In answer to M. Haxton Barnes: No, we cannot do less. For all of the very good reasons enumerated in the letter in the December 12th issue of the Campus, the proposal to change the name of Alumni Field to Kennedy Field is an excellent idea.

McCall's Hoopsters Face Rough Schedule; Play Five Straight Road Tilts This Week

The Black Bears, returning after a week's vacation, will travel 1,400 miles in the next week to try and bolster their 5-4 season record. They will play 5 games during the fast and furious tour, meeting New Hampshire on the 7th, Bowdoin on the 8th, Rhode Island on the 11th, Connecticut on the 13th, and Colby on the 15th. The circuit, which will allow no rest and very little practice except actual games, sends them home to a tenacious Bates club on the 18th. Looking back on basketball action over the Christmas vacation it appears the Bears ran hot and cold, winning only one of the three games played.

On Saturday night, December 21, Maine stormed to a seemingly stable 17 point half-time lead against Boston University. The tables turned, however, in the second half when a strong BU five took advantage of the frozen Blue to come up with the win, 80-70.

In the Down East Classic, Maine lost their initial game to Bowdoin. After putting on a miserable performance here at Orono, the Polar Bears were impressive as well as damaging, downing Maine, 85-80 in an overtime battle.

Maine did regain some prestige

in the Down East Classic by salvaging a double overtime contest with Bates, 96-89.

The Frosh will put their 4-0 record on the line tonight at MCI. Maine is favored in the contest, but the reportedly strong post-grads are capable of pulling a few surprises.

The Baby Blue hoopsters have chalked up wins of 97-94 and 74-63 over UMP, 75-72 over the Colby Frosh, and 100-41 over the Aroostook State Teachers Frosh.

Dick Billings has averaged, 15.0 points per game; Terry Carr, 14.0; Pete Webb, 11.5; and Bob Francoeur, 10.8, to help keep the team's field goal percentage at a strong .434. As a team they have earned a respectable 86.5 points per game average, nearly 20 points more per game than their opponents.

P&P Summer Institute Set

The University of Maine will offer three programs during the Summer Institute for the Pulp and Paper Industry between July 13 and August 21.

The programs will be in pulp and paper and computer technology.

A yearly three-week paper technology program will open July 31, to decline some applications.

The pulp technology program will open August 3 and close August 14.

The computer technology program, offered for the first time, will be in three parts. A student may take any one, two or all three units. The first part, August 3-7, will include basic instruction on or an introduction to computer technology. August 10-14 segment will include industrial production on a high level for those with some knowledge of computer systems.

The final week's program, August 17-21, will include practice and programming techniques for the pulp and paper industry.
