FCC's Lee Gives License To ETV

By PHYLLIS MAYO

Last Thursday marked the official opening of the fourth State of Maine Educational Television Network, WMEB-TV, located in the former Women's Gym.

An early morning press conference began the event. General Manager John Dunlop greeted the reporters, then turned the conference over to the afternoon speaker, Commissioner of Federal Communications Robert E. Lee, for informal comments.

Lee gave the reporters a preview look at the license to be presented at the following luncheon. Satirizing government licensing complications, he had encased the document in red tape. The presentation was to have been a surprise; however, another department had jumped the gun by announcing the event to the press earlier that morning.

Lee hoped that this opening would activate a great many more stations in the next four or five years. There are nine cities in the top 100 bracket without sets to date. Lee also has hopes for more variety to offer to the public.

The discussion turned to commercials on ETV. TV viewers have complained about the excessive number of commercials. Lee stated that Congress recognizes the problem but does not think the government should intervene here. The commission has decided to check the licenses at renewal time and make any necessary changes. Lee recognized that what is excessive is a very nebulous question but some standard must be set. The television code permits 27.2% of an hour for commercials. However, Lee warned, "Broadcasters should be careful not to kill the goose that lays the golden egg."

Viewers have also complained about the loudness of commercials. They appear louder than the shows themselves. Advertisers have technical proof, according to Lee, that the tone is the same. However, they use extraneous equipment to suppress other sounds. Lee commented that the techniques were not important; the commercials still sound louder, and this problem will have to be combated.

There is a possibility of using

Juniors Promenade To Elgart Rhythms

"Even Tide" is the theme for tomorrow night's semi-formal Junior Prom. From 9 to 1 juniors and their guests will swing to the sound of the famous Les Elgart and his orchestra in the Memorial Gym.

Elgart, who began his career as a featured trumpet player with Bunny Berigan, Charlie Spivak, Harry James, Woody Herman, Hal McIntyre, and Billy Butterfield, introduced his first orchestra in 1947. Booked at the Hotel New Yorker, they created a great reaction in the music world. A recording ban issued that year, however, handicapped the group and forced Elgart to disband.

In 1953 Elgart reorganized his orchestra and has since become very popular with most of America's dancing and listening audiences, especially college students. Employing some arrangements by Charles Albertine, Elgart created a band style, "Sophisticated Swing," that has swept the nation. The band's two-beat interpretations are conceived for dancing, but its harmonies and counterpoints are aimed at the ears of the modern musically discriminating and discerning generation.

Elgart has recorded over 15 albums, in addition to numerous singles, for Columbia Records.

Tickets for the Prom will be available free to all juniors tomorrow in the Memorial Union and tomorrow night at the door.

U-M Hosts District 8 Forensics

The District Eight Regional Debate Tournament opened at U-M today with 25 two-man teams competing for places in the National Debate Tournament to be held at West Point in April. District 8 encompasses all schools in the New England New York areas.

This is the first time that this tournament has been held at the University of Maine. The purpose of the tourney is to select the five best teams in the district for the national competition. The team of Richard Hall and Donald Quigley is representing Maine. Both Hall and Quigley are seniors in the College of Arts and Sciences, majoring in government.

Each college is represented by one two-man team, debating both the affirmative and negative side.

The tournament is planned and directed by the District 8 Committee, composed of seven professors from schools within the district. Members of the committee are Dr. James Cameron of Eastern Nazarene College; James Hall, St. Johns University; Dr. Robert B. Huber, University of Vermont; Lawrence Tribe, Harvard University; the Rev. Paul McGrady, College of the Holy Cross; and Dr. Wofford G. Gardner, University of Maine.

Besides teams from these schools, there will be groups from Brandeis University, Boston College, Brooklyn College, City College of New York, Fordham College of Education, Fordham College of Arts and Sciences, Harpur College, Marymount Manhattan College, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Middlebury College, Mt. Holyoke College, Mt. Saint Vincent College, Norwich University, Pace College, St. Anselm's College, St. John Fisher College, University of Massachusetts, and Wesleyan University.

The tournament will be power-matched. This means that in eight rounds the winners will debate the winners and the losers will debate the losers.

The Bangor Room of the Memorial Union will serve as headquarters for the tournament. Registration is scheduled for 2 to 3 p.m. Thursday in the Bangor Room. The place of the debates and any information about the progress of the tournament may be obtained there, and the public is invited to attend.

A luncheon Saturday will conclude the tournament events.

JOY ADAMSON and FRIENDS

Lion-Taming Authoress Relates Tales Of Elsa

By ELLEN TOOMEY

Joy Adamson, author of three international best-sellers about her adventures in raising a lion cub to maturity, will deliver an illustrated lecture at the Hauck Auditorium on Thursday, March 26, at 8:15 p.m.

Mrs. Adamson will speak of her life in Africa as the wife of a senior game warden. She will describe how she and her husband taught their tame lioness to hunt and to associate with other lions when she was no longer on the lions' "in" list.

The authoress has lived more than 25 years in the wilds of Kenya, and has filmed many reels of the beautiful scenery and exciting wildlife. She will show 40 minutes of these films with her lecture to personally acquaint her audience with the tame lioness Elsa and her cubs.

The Adamsons raised Elsa from a cub as a pet and eventually had to face the problem of how to dispose of a fully-grown lion: they had to choose between two alternatives, consigning it to a zoo or giving it a freedom which it was unfit to enjoy or even to survive.

They anticipated this dilemma and worked out a solution. They deliberately set out to train their lioness to kill and fend for herself. They succeeded in turning her back into the fierce wild animal Nature had intended her to be; yet, at the same time, they preserved the bond of confidence and affection which they had established with her as a pet. Mrs. Adamson relates an interesting account of this in her first book, Born Free.

Elsa went back into the wild, mated and produced three cubs, which she brought out of the bush with typical maternal pride to exhibit to her human friends. This is the episode described in Mrs. Adamson's second book, Living Free.

Unfortunately, Elsa did not live to care for her cubs. She died from a tick-borne parasite. The Adamsons saw that the cubs were placed in a game reserve where they could live freely.

At this time Mrs. Adamson began a campaign called the "Elsa Appeal," a project designed to preserve the wildlife of Africa. It is toward this project that she has given her royalties from the Elsa books and her earnings from lecturing.

There will be no admission charge for Mrs. Adamson's U-M appearance, which is part of the annual Spring Arts Festival.

Falconry Wings Into Hauck

One of America's leading authorities on birds of prey, Jim Fowler, will present a lecture-demonstration in the Hauck Auditorium on Monday, April 6, at 8:15 p.m.

This lecture, part of the Spring Arts Festival, is sponsored by the M Club. Tickets are now available from members of the M Club. They will be sold at the Auditorium Box Office on Monday, April 6, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. and from 7:00 p.m. on.

In his program at the University,

Jim Fowler, "himself a rare bird—tall, smooth, and downright handsome," according to the Rochester Ad Club, describes how fierce eagles, hawks and falcons are hunted, trapped and trained. He releases his birds to fly freely in the audience. These exceptionally well-trained creatures engage in controlled flight to return, on command, to their master's arm. Jim also gives a demonstration of the ancient art of falconry and explains its age-old traditions.

'Faustus' Heralds New Epoch In Masque Plays

By RICHARD S. SPRAGUE

Four hundred years ago last month Christopher Marlowe, whose Tragical History of Doctor Faustus opens tonight on the Hauck Auditorium Stage, was born. In 1564 there was no permanent theater in London. Twenty-five years later, when Doctor Faustus was first produced, London had several theaters, both public and private. That the Maine Masque has chosen this play for its first offering in its new quarters is appropriate. The production is not merely commemorative, it marks, as did Marlowe's plays for the theater of his day, the commencement of a new epoch in the University's theater history.

As Faustus, Al Duclos properly towers above all the others in the cast. Both in the soliloquies, which are amplified to set off tonally the searching introspection and the vaulting ambition of Faustus' character, and in the dialogues, Duclos takes confident command of the role. Even when some of the middle scenes threaten to dissolve the main theme, it is he who supplies the right momentum to the action. His reading does full justice to Marlowe's blank verse.

Satisfyingly sinister is Steve Merritt's Mephistophilis, who in manner and facial expression is adept, though he never convincingly appears damned, as it is important that he should. In the two scenes when Belzebub (Maruti Achanta) and Lucifer (Bob Tancredi) materialize, their incisive playing with Faustus and Mephistophilis is excellent; sound and lighting effects coordinate to give some of the most engrossing moments of the play.

Other notable features of the performance include the auditory and visual images of the Good Angel (Priscilla Walters) and the Evil Angel (Anna Carparelli), who externalize Faustus' mind memorably. Roy Clark's mischievous, buoyant Robin and Dave Kennedy's clown between them provide the truest Elizabethan comic flavor.

Of the spirits summoned for the deflection of Faustus, the Seven Deadly Sins (Allan Finn, Karen Garvey, Tim Amero, Donna DeCoursey, Deanna Slye, Joanna Hill, Kent Mathews) speak and move well collectively; but their costumes are not consistently well prepared. In fact, the costumes of most of the lesser characters, of which there are admittedly many, do not register well in the more brightly illuminated downstage scenes. The conjuring up of Alexander (Bruce Glanville) and his Paramour (Judy Dillaway) goes well, and that of Helen of Troy (Barbara Davis) is not disappointing though at dress rehearsal her unstable elevation from the orchestra pit was an undesirable if unintentional bit of stage symbolism.

Dance has been ably interpolated in Faustus. Female dancers are Karen Knowles, Choreographer, Ritty Burchfield, Carol Hanson, Bonnie Zink, Ann Fulton, Barbara Knox. Male dancers are Tom Winsor, Dennis Hass, Joe Raymond, Carrol Marston. The remainder of the large cast are Attendants (Stan Wentzell and Charles Small), Magicians (Bob Rand and Sherwood Reynolds), and Female Devil (Lois Ingeneri).

Generally, the resources of the new theater have been imaginatively demonstrated by Director Herschel Bricker and assistant Al Cyrus.

Seeing Doctor Faustus at this University in this anniversary year, we are privileged to be reminded of Hamlet, whose creator was born in April, 1564, two months after Marlowe. Coming before Shakespeare's tragedies, Faustus was a fulfillment and a promise; the Masque's current production delivers both anew.

Hillel Members To Hear Zinger Discuss Israeli Problems Sunday

Mr. Zvi Zinger, director of youth training programs in the Jewish Agency's Youth Department, will speak on Israel's problem of church and state at a Hillel sponsored supper in the Memorial Union on Sunday at 6 p.m.

The problem of church and state is one of Israel's most pressing and is mixed with the Arab's pronounced aim of destroying Israel as a state.

The Polish born educator and writer emigrated to Israel from England in 1950.

In England Zinger was principal of the Bachad Institute of Jewish studies and a leader of Religious Zionist Youth.

In Israel he was a member of Kibbutz Lavee in Galilee; Director of "Hodayot", the settlement's Youth Aliya Institution; Director of the Cultural Division of the Religious Kibbutz Movement; and editor of Amudim, the movement's national organ.

Those who have applied in the previous semester are reminded that they must reapply.

Saltonstall, Peace Corps Team Stress Hardships In Program

Glamour and romance he will not offer. Instead William G. Saltonstall, director of the Peace Corps in Nigeria, will offer U-M students monotony, illiteracy, mosquitoes, and a chance to help people who need and have asked for help.

Saltonstall, former principal of Phillips Exeter Academy, N. H., will speak to students, faculty, and other interested persons Wednesday, March 25, at 4:15 in the Bangor Room of the Memorial Union.

A Peace Corps team from Washington, D. C. will also be on campus March 23-26 to answer student questions and to administer the non-competitive Placement Test.

This team will man a Peace Corps Information Center in the Memorial Union every day and evening of their stay. Before students can take the Placement Test they must fill out a Peace Corps Questionnaire that can be obtained from Philip J. Brockway, U-M Placement Director.

The visit is to recruit volunteers to be among the 5,000 volunteers the Peace Corps plans to train this summer for service in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Mr. Saltonstall was appointed last March to head the Peace Corps operation in Nigeria, which is the largest Peace Corps program in Africa.

A Harvard graduate, Saltonstall has Honorary Doctorates from Harvard, Princeton, Bowdoin, Dartmouth, Williams, and Colby. He is the author of Ports of Piscataqua, a maritime history of New Hampshire.

Things have changed a lot since a Chevy was only a Chevy. Especially your ideas of what you want a Chevy to be.

So now you have the Jet-smooth Chevrolet—17½ feet of pure luxury, bumper to bumper. The size makes it a luxury car. But not the price.

Or you can choose the thrifty Chevy II, a 15¼-foot family car with all kinds of passenger and luggage space.

This year, your choice might be the new 16-foot-plus Chevelle, sized to fit nicely between Chevrolet and Chevy II (and between parking meters, with five whole feet left over).

Then, too, there's the sporty 15-foot Corvair, so right for so many people (you girls, in particular) that we've never touched an inch of it. And finally, Corvette—still 14½ feet and still too much for any true sports-car lover to say no to.

The long and short of it is, you don't have to go to any length to find exactly the kind of car you want. Just see the five different lines of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Bury The Beast

With vacation signaling the return of spring to the campus in the near future, the cartoon signals the presence of the beast which often accompanies the fine weather. There have been times when, if a poll had been conducted on campus concerning the existence of apathy, one percent would have answered positively, one percent negatively, and ninety-eight percent would have answered that they didn't care. But there is reason to believe that this year could present quite a different story.

There has been a different atmosphere on campus this year, an enthusiasm led noticeably by the freshman class. Maybe this injection of new blood will help invigorate those jaded upperclassmen who are a trifle ho hum at the mention of school spirit. Maybe we can finally bury the beast this year. Don't forget Maine Day is fast approaching, and if there is one ingredient which can guarantee its success, it is enthusiasm in big doses.

Rites Wrong

Apparently the movement to de-emphasize athletics in many colleges and universities lost its momentum before reaching the lounges of women's dormitories, the Memorial Union lounges, the library doorways and various other publicly accessible campus "playgrounds." But then, these are special athletics—the "public displays of affection"—that are creating problems for deans, advisors, friends and parents.

Specifically, the objections are directed toward those few students whose personal behavior, whose public intimacy, is damaging to the reputation of the school as well as to their own. How does an administrator explain these dormitory couch cases to an irate parent?

Most of the offenders are freshmen. Maybe this behavior is a carry-over of high school going steady habits. Maybe the problem of adjustment here at college seeks solution through regression to an earlier type of adolescent behavior.

Few persons object to the founding of mutual admiration societies and few people will deny that the proceedings of these society meetings are solely the concern of the members. However, for decency's sake, let's make them less public societies. Personal feelings are going to affect others when they form the basis for public display.

If the concern of the college administrators, the deans, advisors, parents, and the concern for personal and University reputations means nothing, perhaps the concern for sparing personal friends the feeling of being embarrassed for you, the offender, might make fertility rites less of a right in your public conduct.

Clip, Clip, Clip!

Dormitory hair clippers will probably be at a premium in the last hours before the Junior Prom tomorrow night.

Although we have the "most beautiful barber shop in the state" with five chairs and the latest in equipment, many men find it inconvenient to wait in a line of six or eight people to get a clipping by the one barber working there.

Granted, the demand for University haircuts has dropped considerably since the exit of compulsory ROTC, and five full time barbers might prove economically inefficient. But one barber alone cannot handle the job (and do it well).

University Store manager Harold L. Bruce has been searching for a new barber from Caribou to Newport with limited success. One man hired called on the day he was to begin work to say that his car could not make it to Orono. Bruce has a problem in that he can afford to hire a man only until June. One man can run the shop during the slow summer months.

One barber is out sick and the other two have left us. The fourth has his hands full. Why are they leaving us? Who knows. Perhaps they were scared off—by Beatie-Maine-ier.

Misplaced !!!

To the Editor:

It is evident to us that some faculty and administration members have been appointed to inappropriate positions.

For instance, Messrs. Chase obviously should be serving on the Campus Police Force under the direction of Chief Karl Kopp. Messrs. Abbott, Bishop, Parsons, and Soule should be associated with the SRA.

Likewise the Drs. Brush should be with the art department while Mr. Harper and Dr. Fife with music, and Mr. Clapp and Mr. Hamm with the Maine Masquers.

Mr. Bartlett and Mr. Nutting should be teaching pomology as should also Dr. Berry, who is now associate professor of clothing. Dr. Berry's present position could best be filled by Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Furrow and Dr. Gardner should move to agronomy or horticulture with Mr. Gardner Pease as head of the department.

Obviously Drs. Chuts and Major belong in the R.O.T.C. department while Col. Cobb could move to the field of forage crops. Col. Beard should go to the barber shop while Wanda Farr of the Extension Service should apparently go somewhere.

Dr. Greenwood could be transferred to the forestry department while Dr. Martin of the chemistry department could join Dr. Fox in animal science.

Dr. Bass and Mr. Fisher would no doubt make very good professors of ichthyology as would Dr. Crow and Prof. Sparrow make good professors of ornithology.

Replace Prof. Sparrow in mechanical engineering by Mr. Hammer and Mr. and Mrs. Toole.

There are a number of professors at this University who, bonded together, could offer a most comprehensive course in internal combustion engineers; to wit Messrs. Dodge, Nash, and Pachard under the direction of Dr. Carr. Dean Zink could take over Dr. Nash's metallurgy course.

Mr. Plummer could go into chemical engineering, while Capt. Bond and Mr. Jordan could enter pulp and paper technology.

Dr. Rhoads is a natural for highway engineering as is Dr. Wade for swimming coach. Also, Mr. Braun and Dr. Supple would make excellent additions to the P. E. staff. Of course Dr. Rome Rankin should be the Registrar.

Messrs. Banks and Buck along with the two Nicholls should be in economics, while Mr. Love should teach the marriage course.

The Profs. Cooke along with Baker are needed in the Commons.

Dr. Graves obviously should not be head of the Student Health Service, rather he should be in business with Mr. Coffin. Mr. Wells should become head of the Student Health Service.

The construction of new buildings should fall under the jurisdiction of Mr. Bricks and Dr. Eves.

The Office of Student Aid could best be managed by the Profs. Grant. Mr. Dunning should be made Treasurer, while the management of the bookstore should go to Dr. Leach.

Mr. Stearns would make an excellent Dean of Men, ably assisted by Mr. Bernard Sass.

Finally, Mr. Gordon Cram should hold the position of Vice President for Academic Affairs, while Dr. Peck, along with Drs. Coupe and Hatch, should be transferred to poultry science.

We are not entirely dissatisfied with the present arrangement, however, in at least two cases the appropriate choices have been made, namely Dr. Virtue, head of the philosophy department, and Dr. Bird, head of the department of poultry science.

Tremblingly yours,

Guts !

To the Editor:

The caption under the mast head of the Maine Campus, "A Progressive Newspaper Serving a Growing University," was placed there by Editor Earl Smith and his staff in 1961. Its retention must be for "solely sentimental reasons" since it has little application to the newspaper put out by the present Editor and staff.

Certainly the "University" is still "growing" but in a manner which is subject to debate. As for the adjective "Progressive" which precedes "Newspaper", the present sheet seems to lack that essential quality which any truly progressive newspaper contains — "guts".

Perhaps, the new Editor, Miss Zachary, and her staff will supply this missing ingredient.

Meaningful

To the Editor:

As a former student of U.M.P. and having many friends among the present student bodies of both U. of M. campuses, I naturally take an active interest in everyday campus happenings and keep up-to-date with current events with clippings and letters which I receive from my friends.

Recently I read an article entitled "Fake Do-Gooders", concerning the recent election of a Negro as Winter Carnival Queen.

The author of this article voiced a strong, bitterly worded, personal condemnation of those elements of the student population who are always too eager and desirous to blazon forth their heedless, irrational manifestations of pro-integration sentiments.

I, too, feel that more often than not these arm-waving throngs, vibrant with only vague conceptions of justice, patriotism, and human rights and bellowing forth a multitude of hackneyed, symbolic expressions, actually do much more to hinder the achievement of a solution to our problem of racial-equality than to advance it.

In scoffing the questionable motives underlying the voting of the students at Maine, he supports the contention that to govern our actions intelligibly in the racial merry-go-round, we must have the prerequisite of "meaningful contact" with the Negro. In his own case, this "contact" seems to be the outgrowth of his experiences on New York's West Side.

Does an experience such as he holds forth show a truly-unbiased, uninfected view of the inter-relation of races? Or rather, does it reflect a tainted acquaintance with an un-real, fanciful concept of a corrupted integration such as that which we find in New York; a mutilated, hideous inter-mingling of insensate, merely functional beings; where physical bodies associate on the streets while the intellects remain distinctly apart — locked securely in color-sensitive vaults!

Would I have voted for a Negro as Queen? I won't say Yes or No. However I will say that if I did make a choice, I'd try my utmost to make it with an open mind and with a decision based on the qualifications of the contest, as best I could interpret them.

Perhaps this sort of analysis is what the author meant to point out as so necessary to good voting conduct. However his vaguely slanted inferences leave me to wonder if maybe he himself isn't guilty of the odious crime he caustically condemned.

subscription TV in the future. A recent test in Hartford, Conn., proves that people will pay. "If it works, it will be like Coca-Cola."

After the conference, reporters toured the two spacious studios, the main control room, and office quarters. They also viewed a French class presentation taped to schools on video tape from the Orono station.

That afternoon, Lee presented the license to President Elliott. During his speech, he announced that on April 30, Educational Television will make a "giant step forward." On that date, all TV sets manufactured for interstate commerce in this country or for import for resale must be of the all-channel type.

Presently most stations are operating on Very High Frequency. These channels are all used up and in most cases, ETV has had to go on a higher frequency, Ultra High Frequency. The Orono network, now on VHF, is an exception. UHF adds 70 new channels, most of which are "sitting silent and unused, like a cavernous empty football stadium."

This is an effort to get more all-channel receivers, both VHF and UHF, into public use. Since these sets cost slightly more than VHF receivers, the Commission is attempting to get the excise tax on all-channel receivers lifted for at least two or three years, if not permanently. Legislation has been introduced in Congress.

Our world-recognized trademark—"the P&WA eagle"—has been identified with progress in flight propulsion for almost four decades, spanning the evolution of power from yesterday's reciprocating engines to today's rockets. Tomorrow will find that same Pratt & Whitney Aircraft eagle carrying men and equipment to the moon and to even more distant reaches of outer space.

Engineering achievement of this magnitude is directly traceable to our conviction that basic and applied research is essential to healthy progress. Today's engineers at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft accept no limiting criteria. They are moving ahead in many directions to advance our programs in energy conversion for every environment.

Our progress on current programs is exciting, for it anticipates the challenges of tomorrow. We are working, for example, in such areas as advanced gas turbines... rocket engines... fuel cells... nuclear power—all opening up new avenues of exploration in every field of aerospace, marine and industrial power application.

The breadth of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft programs requires virtually every technical talent... requires ambitious young engineers and scientists who can contribute to our advances of the state of the art. Your degree? It can be a B.S., M.S. or Ph.D. in:

MECHANICAL • AERONAUTICAL • ELECTRICAL • CHEMICAL and NUCLEAR ENGINEERING • PHYSICS • CHEMISTRY • METALLURGY • CERAMICS • MATHEMATICS • ENGINEERING SCIENCE or APPLIED MECHANICS.

Career boundaries with us can be further extended through a corporation-financed Graduate Education Program. UMaine Tracksters Take YC Indoor Meet

By BOB GARLAND

The Bears inaugurated the first annual Yankee Conference Indoor Track Meet Saturday with an impressive win over conference competition. Final scores saw Maine hold down a 30 point bulge over their nearest competition, Rhode Island. Scores were: Maine (69), R.I. (39), N.H. (28), Mass. (26), Vt. (17), and UConn (16).

Again a double winner for the Styrnemen was Jim Ballinger with victories in the 65 yd. low hurdles and 45 yd. high hurdles. In a trial heat of the high hurdles, Ballinger tied the University and cage records with a time of 5.8 then went on to win the event. He also won the 65 yd. L.H. in 7.8.

Getting Maine off to a good start were Nason, Hurd, and Morrison who won the first three places in the 35 lb. weight. Nason took first with a toss of 60' 3/4", only 1/2" short of his recent record throw.

Taking firsts in other events were Cowperthwaite in the 50 yd. dash (5.7) and Delaite in the shot (50' 4 1/4").

Mayland of the University of Vermont set a new fieldhouse record in the pole vault (14' 3/4") while the Maine combination of Skaling and Dean was shut out. Picking up valuable points with second and third place victories were Ellis and Shaffer in the mile run, Lahait in the high jump, Spruce in the 600, Judkins and Heinrich in the two mile run, Shaffer in the 1000, and the Maine team in the mile relay.

Rhody, by virtue of firsts in the high jump and broad jump combined with a few seconds and thirds in other events, was runner-up to the Bears. A cinderella team, the University of N.H., surprised the Redmen from Mass. to hold down third while UMass had to settle for fourth.

This meet wrapped up a very successful indoor track season for the Bears with much in store for competitors when the Styrnemen return for an active outdoor slate in April.

TONY YUODSNUKIS

The disease that ran rampant through the Atlantic salmon rearing troughs at Craig Brook hatchery the previous season was checked that year, although the cause of the disease remained unknown. About a quarter of a million Atlantic salmon eggs were purchased to continue the program of stocking the Penobscot River. The previous year about 1500 fingerling Atlantics were released in the river. Thirty adult rainbow trout were also held at the Craig Brook station, and in the spring showed spawning tendencies. However, this project was marred by disaster as the eggs produced were inferior and over half the breeder stock died.

The Green Lake station, still new and incomplete, was rather fortunate in sustaining a relatively small loss of fish. There was a slightly higher mortality rate among the lake trout where many had become covered with mysterious white spots. Observing the spots with a lens, Mr. S. G. Worth noticed that they moved freely and deduced that they were parasites, perhaps the larvae of some insect.

The station depended on wild landlocked salmon for replenishing its rearing troughs. The salmon, averaging six pounds, were trapped in the lake's tributaries, stripped of their eggs, and released. Brook trout egg collections were made from wild fish in Winkemphugh Brook, a tributary of Branch Pond. These brilliantly marked trout ranged from two to five pounds in weight.

The only fish released from the Green Lake station were 500 landlocked salmon that accidentally got free into Green Lake and 19 German carp that were liberated in Great Brook, a Green Lake tributary. The rest of the fish at the station were retained except for about 1000 salmon and trout that were shipped to the World's Fair in Minnesota for exhibition.

The above account certainly does not sound like a recent rundown on hatchery activity in the state. When did it occur? Guess, and then check this column next week for the answer.

BEAR FACTS

By Bob Garland

With the season's cumulative statistics out, we find John Gillette leading the Bears in field goal average, rebounding, and total points. Gillette averaged .430 from the floor, hauled down 253 rebounds, and collected 428 pts. averaging 18.6 pts per game, to lead the team. Meanwhile, Bill Flahive led the foul shooters with ten for ten or 1000% followed by Gillette's .725. Dave Svendsen was the only other player to average in the double figures, at 13.4. Other high averages per game included Guy Strang (8.9), Bruce MacKinnon (7.8), Bob Woodbury (7.0), Bob Brewer (6.4) and George Spreng (5.6).

Gillette also holds the high single score for a game, 38 pts against Colby on January 15th. Other individual highs included field goals for one game (16—Gillette) against Colby, free throws attempted in one game (12—Svendsen) vs Colby, free throws scored (8—Svendsen) vs B.U., and rebounds in one game 20—Strang against Bates. Teamwise, the Bears placed fifth in the Y.C. with a 3-7 record (.300) but fared much better in the State Series 7-2 (.778), their overall record being 12-11.

SHOOTERS PLACE SECOND

A four man team of Clint Hubbard, John Nichols, Ken Beal, and Jim Jenkins placed second in a rifle match held at Nason College recently. They fired a 1135 out of a possible 1200 and were topped only by Northeastern's 1141. Following Maine were B.U., MIT, Norwich, and Nason.

This Saturday the Bear Riflers will be shooting in the NECRL championships at Bedford, Mass. Teams entered include Norwich, MIT, UMass, Maine, Coast Guard, and Northeastern.

GOLF TEAMS SELECTED

Coach Brian McCall recently selected nine and seven man teams to represent the University of Maine in golf competition this spring. The varsity roster includes five of the nine man team that completed an undefeated season last year. They include Alan Leathers, Bob Hess, Norm Viger, Tom Lahaise, and Dave Leclair. Rounding out the squad are Ed Todd, Vic Nunan, Jeff Laurence, and Jack Tole. The freshman squad includes John Warren, Lenwood Ladd, Peter Martin, Ed Baum, Arthur LeGendre, Steve Swift, and Robert McGown.

BASEBALL TEAM CUT TO 25

After nearly a month of tryouts, Coach Jack Butterfield has pared the team to twenty-five players. This year's team shapes up to be a very young squad with only three seniors on it. They include the team's top pitcher, Dick Dolloff, catcher Vic Mercer and infielder Dave Thompson. Junior letter winners of the past season include Larry Coughlin, Mike DeSisto, and Vic Nelson. Rounding out the squad are pitchers Bruce Cary, Ray Bisbee, Joe Ferris, Dick Flaherty, Art Heathcote, Tom Murphy, Charles Newell, and Roger Richards; catchers, Carl Merrill and Doug Swain; Infielders John Gillette, Ron Corbin, Dick DeVarney, John Hutchins, Dick Perkins, and Dave Thompson; and Outfielders Steve Sones, Brent Keene, Dick Kelliher, and Ron Lanza.

INTRAMURAL SOFTBALL

Intramural softball competition will take place in the gym during the month of April and previous to the outdoor tournament in May. Organizations are urged to participate. Applications must be filed in the Physical Education Office by Saturday, March 21.

Fraternity Bowling Race Goes Down To The Wire

A real race to the wire looms between Theta Chi and Phi Mu going in to the last week of fraternity bowling. A win by Phi Mu coupled with a TC loss could bring about a deadlock for the top spot and possibly a rolloff. However, TC needs only two of five points this week to assure themselves of the top slot. Following the conclusion of the regular season, the top twelve teams will roll off to determine the overall champion.

Biologist Curtis To Hold Seminars

Dr. Howard J. Curtis, chairman of the biology department at Brookhaven National Laboratories on Long Island, New York, will present a lecture and conduct several seminars on the University of Maine campus Monday and Tuesday, March 23 and 24.

Dr. Curtis will begin his visit with a botany seminar on "The Effects of Radiation on Plants" in Deering Hall at 4 p.m. Monday. That evening he will give a lecture, open to the public, concerning "Space Biology: The Biological Effects of Cosmic Radiation" in 137 Physics Building at 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday morning Dr. Curtis will hold conferences with students interested in the area of Space Biology from 9 a.m. to 12 noon in 310 Deering Hall. He will discuss the biological mechanisms underlying the aging process at a zoology seminar in 15 Coburn Hall at noon.

Dr. Curtis' visit is sponsored by the University of Maine chapter of Sigma Xi, a scientific research society, and is partially financed by the National Science Foundation.
