General Description:

Six exhibitions are presented each year by the Department of Art in the Lord hall Gallery. These exhibitions include work by students and faculty as well as a range of nationally known established artists. The knowledge, abilities and work of these individuals have significantly broadened the academic and cultural experience of both the University and the surrounding communities. With the generous support of the Cultural Affairs Committee as well as the Department of Art, the series has been able to gain support and recognition for the quality and diversity of the artists and scholars it presents.

This coming Fall 2014, Lord Gallery is honored to host an exhibition of work by respected Maine artist Dudley Zopp. Zopp, an internationally exhibited artist, educated in both art and languages at the University of Louisville, Kentucky explores geologic events through her installations which combine painting and sculpture into immersive environments that address both environmental and philosophical issues. Zopp's work has been chosen by the Portland Museum of Art 2011 Biennial, and has received the Maine Arts Commission's Individual Artist Fellowship.

For the fall University exhibition, Zopp is creating a body of work specifically for the site of the Lord Gallery space., forming an installation of geological formations and work which will invite the viewer to interact and become an active participant. The exhibition will be open to the public at no charge, and will include a gallery talk and audience discussion , as well as a public lecture. In addition, Dudley has been generous to allow groups of art students to visit during the four day installation of the work, and give them a glimpse of what it takes to install and create an exhibition.

Publicity;

For the exhibition and lecture, publicity will be distributed through our extensive email list, as well as scheduled visits to the gallery by local arts journalists. Announcement cards and brochures will be distributed, detailing both the event, and information about the process of creating work specifically for the University space.

Dear Susan,

Thanks very much for submitting an application to the March 2014 Cultural Affairs/Distinguished Lecture Series funding competition. This round was particularly difficult for the committee, as we had many excellent proposals asking for a total of over $38,000 in CADLS support. We had only $15,000 to award, so were unable to fund some proposals at all, while the rest received less than requested. We wish we had more funds for all of the great events brought forward to the Committee.

In its meeting on April 10, the CADLS Committee awarded $900.00 for your project.

Thank you.
