The Maine Historical Society Quarterly is published at 170
Stevens Hall, University of Maine at Orono, Orono, Maine
04469, and is received by 2015 members and 135 libraries.

Manuscripts relating to any aspect of Maine history are invited.
Submissions should reflect original, previously unpublished research done according to acceptable scholarly standards and should not exceed six thousand words. Style and footnotes should be in conformity with A Manual of Style, published by the University of Chicago Press.

The authors of all manuscripts published in the Quarterly become eligible to receive the James Phinney Baxter Award of $100.00. Established to promote excellence in the research and writing of Maine history, the Baxter Award is presented at the discretion of the Editorial Board to the author of the best article appearing in the Quarterly during the volume-year.

The Maine Historical Society assumes no responsibility for the opinions and interpretations expressed by its contributors.

The articles appearing in the Quarterly are abstracted in Historical Abstracts and America: History and Life, published by the American Bibliographic Center.

COVER ILLUSTRATION: Loading lobsters into a "smack," fishermen place their catch on a "culling board" to check sizes against official state limits. The romance implied in this 1909 illustration from Scribners Magazine obscures the fact that fishermen such as these were victimized by consolidation of fresh-lobster markets at the turn of the century. As Charles Scontras points out in this issue, Vinalhaven lobster fishermen reacted by forming organized labor's first lobster fishermen's union, which in 1907 became an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.
