Biographical / Historical

The University of Southern Maine was founded in 1971 with the combination of the University of Maine in Portland (UMP) and Gorham State College of the University of Maine (GSC), into the University of Portland-Gorham (UMPG). Lewiston-Auburn College was created in 1988, as part of USM. GSC in turn has its roots in Western State Normal School that opened in 1878, and grew into the College. UMP was created by the combination of Portland Junior College, which occupied the current site, and Portland University, which included a law and business school.

Arrangement

Intellectually the processing archivist felt the records of University of Maine at Portland-Gorham should be in the same finding aid as University of Southern Maine as Portland-Gorham would eventually become part of the University of Southern Maine.

Physically the folders are arranged by subject. Some file names and dates were changed to make them more meaningful and to correct errors. Material was rehoused into archival quality storage. Originally the Other University Of Maine Campuses record groups were stored in their own individual boxes, but the processing archivists consolidated the materials into two boxes to allow for space savings.
