And many suggestions from the other brothers of Rho Rho

THIS BOOK IS FOR OUR ALUMNI AND FRIENDS ... AND IS DEDICATED ...

TO "PADDY".

- * Because you were a charter member of Rho Rho
- * Because you were a friend of Gen. Benjamin Piatt Runkle and were instrumental in the establishment of Rho Rho
- * Because you have been a guiding light to Rho Rho throughout its fifty years of life
- * Because you were a professor for 43 years here at our University and your courses in Greek, Ancient Civilization, and Art History were considered "musts" by students who sought a complete education
- * Because you have come out of retirement to become an active lecturer in the Methodist Church in Orono
- * Because your extensive literature on Constantine is being considered for use in the Norman Shield and at the Workshop
- * Because you have received the Order of Constantine from the Grand Chapter of Sigma Chi for your outstanding fraternity performance
- * Because with your inspirational talks at our banquets and informal gatherings and in all of our other association with you, you have impressed the present actives of Rho Rho as you impressed our brothers before us that you are a fine man, a brilliant scholar, and a loyal Sigma Chi

. . . to you, John Homer Huddilston, this special edition of The Pine Tree Sig is gratefully dedicated.

JUST ONCE

Being that a 50th anniversary comes only once (usually at the end of the first fifty years) it is, of course, fitting that the biggest affair in Rho Rho's history should be planned for the celebration of this greatest event. We are fully aware of the common association of superlatives with events of considerably less importance than this one; therefore we hope you understand that when we say that this will be the biggest and the greatest gathering in Rho Rho's history, we use these words in the old-fashioned way, that is, actually and literally the biggest and greatest.

There are over five hundred men who were involved in making Rho Rho what it is today. Although the charter members will be guests of honor, this is a celebration for all of us five hundred plus. The present actives feel honored that we have the privilege of making the elaborate plans; we realize that the privilege falls to us only because we happened to be here at Rho Rho when the first fifty years ended. We will wager that you would like to be right back here taking part in the planning; second best, of course, is your suggestions which we will gladly accept. As for attending the celebration itself, please make your plans early so that you can fit them into your busy schedule. (Everybody is busy nowadays.)

Brother Bill Feeny (see page 22) is chairman of the 50th anniversary committee which includes active and alumni elements (Bob Patten, '48, and Bernie Prescott, '47, for the alumni; Dick Dow, Bob Bruns, and Dick Schurman for the actives). The committee has been meeting every week since the first of the year and plans are shaping up rapidly.

The actual anniversary date,

April 19, fortunately falls on a week-end, thus the big banquet and dance will be held Saturday night, April 19.

The basic outline for the week-end has been arranged by the committee and goes like this: late Friday afternoon (April 18) registration will begin at the chapter house. A buffet supper for everyone will be available at the house and later Friday night there will be an informal smoker with all the trimmings. Late Saturday morning registration will continue at the house and Saturday afternoon the actives will present a pageant-extravaganza covering fifty years of highlights at Rho Rho beginning with a mock founding. At 5:30 Saturday evening transportation will be available (for those who need it) at the house and our attention will shift to Lucerne-in-Maine, a few miles out of Bangor on the Bar Harbor road. A banquet with lobster in the starring role will start the evening (with a top-notch bunch of speakers) and a dance will follow. We feel that a good omen blessed our plans when we were successful in reserving Lucerne-in-Maine for our banquet and dance. There lies the surroundings and elements ideally fitting for such an auspicious occasion.

Sam Bullock and John Neal Campbell are being contacted as are many, many other notables. From the university we hope to have President Arthur A. Hauck, Dean of Men John Stewart, Director of Publicity Howard Keyo, and Alumni Secretary Don Taverner.

We will keep you posted on the progress and additions to our plans. When six Sigma Chi's get together every week with a special objective in mind, the development is certain to be big (using BIG with its old-fashioned meaning, of course).

BACK IN '02

Once upon a time (1891 as a matter of fact) a small group of University of Maine students got together and formed a club, the Delta Rho by name. The fellows used to meet every week in a room (in a house) in Old Town, eight miles from the university. The group was a popular one and soon expanded to a larger group and thus needed a larger room or rooms. As further expansion developed the need for a building became acute.

Within ten years of its founding the Delta Rho club had grown to such proportions and strength that its members entertained ideas of joining a larger group, perhaps even a national fraternity. After months of discussion, the members of Delta Rho petitioned Sigma Chi fraternity and expressed an ardent desire to become a chapter of Sigma Chi. General Benjamin Piatt Runkle was at that time head of the military department here at the university. Being one of the seven original founders of Sigma Chi fraternity, General Runkle took great interest in the development and proceedings of the Delta Rho club when he found that they were interested in joining Sigma Chi.

Early in 1902 the club bought a house (top photo, next page) which was located across the road from the Elms (now a girls' dorm) near the Orono Bridge.

After much investigation and a sizeable assist from General Runkle the Delta Rho club was accepted by Sigma Chi fraternity on the 19th of April, 1902 and thus the Rho Rho chapter of Sigma Chi was born.

Our best source for what went on during these memorable days comes from 1902 edition of The Sigma Chi Quarterly. General Runkle wrote a complete, enthusiastic account of the installation of Rho Rho, and Thomas Leary as the first Associate Editor of Rho Rho covered it from the initiates' point of view. Both articles were in the Quarterly. In his article General Runkle gave the whole proceedings a complete coverage. He listed the twenty-nine charter members who were initiated. Included in this list were Percival Mosher (see page 18) and John Huddilston (see dedication). (There are eleven of our charter members still living.) General Runkle described the first initiation at Rho Rho to some length, and with tongue-in-cheek, we suspect, he quoted from a Bangor newspaper's account of the initiation. We quote it here.

"A large number of students came to Bangor during the afternoon and were registered at the Bangor House on Saturday night. The preliminaries of the initiation were conducted in the square and the initiates, entwined attired in wrappers and female paraphernalia of gorgeous design and pattern, executed walks and quadrilles to the delight of an army of small boys and a liberal contingent of Bangor people who assembled to watch the fun."

From Brother Leary's article to the Quarterly we learn that Rho Rho was the second fraternity at the University of Maine to own a house and that the new members just about dominated campus activities, everything from football to the student newspaper, The Camp-ups (we suspect that this was a misprint in Brother Leary's article instead of a variation of the spelling of Campus, the name by which the present student newspaper is known).

Rho Rho's first meeting was held on April 21, 1902, with the chapter not yet moved into the house. The first meeting in the house was on May 5 of that year.

Rho Rho — 1902
BUT

Rho Rho Burned in 1935
SO

New location and new house
But It Is Still Rho Rho.

AND INTO RHO RHO CAME TWENTY-EIGHT MO . . .

December 9, 1951, can be marked down on our Rho Rho calendar of all-time highlights in great, big letters. That was the Formal Initiation day for twenty-eight new Sigma Chis, probably the largest class of initiates that we have ever had here at Rho Rho. The customary banquet was held following the final ceremony and an impressive group it was. More than eighty Sigma Chis were there. A light snow drifting down outside seem to add to the already friendly, informal atmosphere inside.

After a tasty lobster dinner we were treated to a fine program of speakers including Paddy Huddleston, Bob Patton, Bernard Prescott, Bill Feeney, Parker Cushman, Dick Dolloff, Dick Dow, and Jim Horsfal, who had been the president of the pledges. Jim reviewed the pledges' progress from the day of their formal pledging right down to the banquet that night.

On March 8 the large group of prospective Sigma Chis were formally pledged, Jim reminded us. And then for the rest of the spring the pledges eased into their orientation period, getting to know the members better, attending weekly pledge meetings at the house, and, of course, attending an occasional party.

Last fall the pledges moved into the house and pledge training gained momentum rapidly. Magister Bob Bruns started putting them through the paces of the revised training program* which built continuously until Indoctrination Week.

Jim pointed out the three social highlights which impressed him most, (1) the Pledge Party where the pledges did everything, including the entertainment, (2) the big, happy Homecoming where the pledges had a chance to meet some of the Brothers they had met in the spring and a lot more whom they had never met before, (3) and Hell Week which perhaps is stretching the word, "social," to its very limits.

Jim concluded his banquet talk with a tribute to Brother Bruns for a good job done on a big job. All agreed that a large group of fine young men had been started on the right way.

WE THOUGHT YOU WOULD LIKE TO KNOW THAT . . .

. . . Rho Rho has two Senior Skulls (Carl Wight and Dick Dow) and three Sophomore Owls (Bob Wallace, Lew Clark, and Bob Erickson) . . . our parties are really 'live' affairs. At the Pledge Party the door-prizes were real white rabbits . . . when Bill Fogler and Earl Williams graduated last spring, we lost our two number one decorators for parties. The decorations for the first couple of parties this fall left, shall we say, something to be desired. But not for long were we in this fix. To our rescue came Shirley Clark, Brother Arthur's lovely wife. Shirley is a real 'sharp' with the paint brush and is now doing the fancy work for party decorations and real fancy they are, as anyone who attended our Christmas Party will testify. The rest of the Sigma Chi Wives Club assist . . . and it was this same Wives Club which assisted Mrs. Pray in making a new Sigma Chi flag for out in front of the house. We are of the opinion that just like a pair of socks, a flag is better home-made (with apologies to Brother Balfour) . . . Al Ames and Mrs. Veasie are still with us as cook and house-maid . . . Dave Manter and John Parsons sent a photo from Alaska which they recommended for this publication. We explained to them at Homecoming (they were both here) that those Klondike tintypes do not reprint very well. (In fact, the picture faded away completely in six months) . . . Rho Rho initiated the procedure early this fall of inviting faculty and administration members down to the house for supper and an informal gathering. It was an effort to improve student-faculty relations and proved to be very successful. Other campus organizations are following the lead . . . the photo gallery in the little ante-room which connects the Desert Room with the Memorial Room is growing (the gallery, that is) . . . we would wager that this new group of members (28 of them) which was initiated this winter brings the house personnel nearer to the pre-war age level. The average age of the new group is about 20 years. Spirit abounds . . . Rho Rho has blue-printed a plan to try to get the campus to go 'western' for a week-end. Elaborate plans would include attire of the old west for all, a rodeo, a stage coach robbery, gun-fights (with real guns, naturally), cattle rustling (from the university barn), and everything else to mock those old hombres who used to ride off into the sunset way back when . . . the possibility of Rho Rho adopting a war orphan is under consideration at present . . . in an impressive ceremony which was held out back of the house by the new fence (that Bros. Duhamel and Cobb built last year) in the warm early afternoon sun on the very first day of May (breath) Mrs. Pray formally became permanently attached to Rho Rho with the formal dedication and planting of two cute little green things called honeysuckle bushes. Many members hovered around the new white fence as Brother George Shute read the detailed and amazing ancestry of these two lovely bushes from the Genealogy Of Rare Plants And Where In Hell They Come From . . . Brother Steve Hopkinson dropped in for a visit this fall. He noticed that a couple of our floor ash-trays were not quite up to snuff so he did a very noble thing. He bought us a couple new ones. Much obliged, Steve . . . a sign of the times: of the 21 Sigs graduating in June nearly two-thirds will go immediately, or soon thereafter, into the army . . . a more pleasant note: AOPi will again use the house for their formal in March. Nice change of pace for Rho Rho, having all those lovely gals taking over the house for the evening.

. . . the campus is abuzz with frantic fraternity men as the rushing period is just about to start as we go to press . . . to alumni who have not been back in the last three years, the new, modern Orono Bridge will be a pleasant surprise. The officials of Bangor and Brewer have agreed on the site for the new Bangor-Brewer bridge. It will be about a quarter of a mile down the river from the present one.

REJUVENATION

Hammers and saws and paint brushes and other kinds of constructive instruments have been worn right down to their handles here at Rho Rho in the last year or two as a real effort has been made to give the house a "brand-new" look. If you have not been back for a few years, you would not recognize the old trunk room down stairs. After a series of progressive steps in the past few years in which the room has survived such titles as The Passion Pit, The Rec. Room, The Study Room (a real misnomer), etc., it is now proudly referred to as our new Desert Room. A new knotty pine settee with a bright red upholstered seat has been created at the north end of the room by Brothers Duhamel, Shute, and Cobb. And the pledges last spring under the direction of Chet Duhamel built two knee-high tables to match the settee. Bill Fogler took over from there and painted a continuous desert scene around the walls. A lovely deer head (painted sky-blue pink) sets off the green floor. The tail-end of a real covered wagon also at the north end offers an opening through which refreshments can be had. At the south end a collapsible ping-pong table takes up the floor space during the hours when relative inactivity settles through the Desert Room.

Other progressive steps include an outside paint job this fall where everybody pitched in. The Weatherbee brothers borrowed ladders and paint brushes from their father's painting company in Bangor so all we had to furnish was the paint and effort.

The housemother's living room has succumbed to a wall-papering treatment with Brother Ken Hill doing the fancy-work under the careful supervision of Mrs. Pray, of course.

Our kitchen has been rejuvenated by the addition of a new stove. Al Ames, our cook, babied the other one along until it suffered the inevitable fate of Holmes' Old One Horse Shav. The kitchen is also due for a restocking of chinaware. The order is in . . . the living room has lost that tired look since Brother Dow got the upholstery re-done . . . and Dave Cunningham did a bang-up job on putting our radio combination back into operation . . . which all goes as further evidence that we have a house-full of mighty ingenious brothers.

It is January here in Maine (and most other places, too, we suspect) and the snow storms have made the old-timers scratch their heads and wheeze, "Gosh, jest like when I wuz a kid." And January brings more than snow; it also brings the indoor track season. Maine opened its season with an impressive win over Bates last week-end and many a Sigma Chi played an important part. Dick Dow and Carlton MacLean, tie-babies of the cross country team this fall (they finished in a hand-in-hand tie for first place in five consecutive meets), got off to a good start last week-end. They tied for first in the two-mile run. Dow is a Senior who holds the state outdoor two-mile record and the Maine state record in cross country. Dick has been a consistent winner for Coach Jenkins' track squads for three years. MacLean is a long, lanky Sophomore who has already established himself as a man of authority in the distance runs. He has two more years of eligibility. Other stellar performers last week-end included Pres Johnson, Maine's ace hammer thrower who took a first (Pres was beaten just once last year); George Weatherbee, who took a first in the pole-vault; Bruce Clifford, third in the discus; Bill Donnell, third in the hammer; Fred Dolan, a third in the broad jump.

We had four representatives on Maine's football powerhouse last fall. Lew Clark (who broke his ankle early in the season), Bob Wallace, Al Bancroft, and Fred Dolan played on Maine's first undefeated football team in the history of the school. All except Dolan are Sophomores; Fred is a Junior.

On Maine's State and New England Championship golf team, we have the men who hold down number one and number two spots, namely, Connie Bosworth and George Shute. George has been elected captain of the golf team this year. . . . And we have a couple of other captains: Pres Johnson is captain of spring track and Carlton MacLean has been chosen to lead the cross country team next year.

Carl Wight is our big wheel on the baseball squad. An outfielder, Carl was shifted to first base and it did not seem to slow down his big stick at all. Two years ago Carl led the State and Yankee Conference in hitting. . . . Dick Smith is a comer on the varsity basketball team.

In a couple of weeks the highly competitive Intramural Track Meet will be held and Sigma Chi will be the team to watch. Last year we placed third in the intramurals and second in the Charles Rice Trophy meet and this year we are considerably stronger . . . we are at present in fourth place in the intramural basketball league with Bob Ellingwood. Fred Breslin, and Co. battling for a higher spot . . . Russ Meade and Ray Douglas were eliminated in the finals of the handball tournament . . . we were eliminated in the play-offs in both softball and touch football.

HOMECOMING

Our Rho Rho campaign to our Alumni of last summer and early fall (THIS IS THE YEAR OF YEARS TO COME HOME—IT'S OUR 50TH) reaped its first harvest on November 9 when the first few of what proved to be a tremendous gang showed up. Of course, the fact that this week-end was Homecoming might have had something to do with the good turnout. A bang-up week-end followed.

A tremendous football rally Friday night in the Memorial Gym was climaxed by a huge bonfire (outside the gym). And the natural turn of events turning the way it will, Rho Rho became a bee-hive of activity later that night: old grads met young grads, young grads met actives and pledges, actives and pledges met old grads, and that is the way it went far into the night.

The next day was one that the University of Maine will never forget. About 12,000 alumni and students jammed the stands around Alumni Field to watch Maine wallop Bowdoin, 40-12. It was the win that Maine had been after for sixty years; it was the win that gave Maine the State Championship (they had cinched the Yankee Conference title earlier); it was the win that gave Maine its first undefeated football season in the history of the school.

Later that afternoon an alumni meeting was held at the house with Bob Patton, Orono Alumni Association president, in command. There was a good turnout.

Well, knowing what happens after an ordinary football victory, you can imagine what happened after this sweetest of sweet ones. It was Wednesday of the next week before some of our Alumni left. We hated to see them go. It was the first time back in as many as 20 years for some of the Sigs.

Come on back any old time.

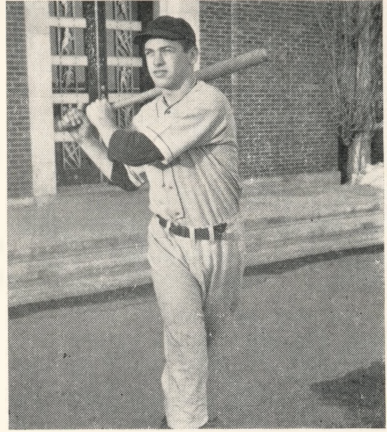

ENDS MEET: Present Consul, Dick Dow, met Rho Rho's First Consul, Percy Mosher, '02, at Homecoming.

Rho Rho continued its policy of sending as many representatives as possible to the Leadership Workshop. Last summer we sent three: Prexy Dick Dow, Magester Bob Bruns, and Quaester Earl Stevens. As usual the boys reported that it was a very rewarding experience especially Bob Bruns. We changed our pledge policy last spring to closer resemble that which is suggested by the National. Magester Bob picked up a lot of good applicable information and suggestions at the Workshop.

Probably this has been the most pinning and marrying year that Rho Rho has experienced in a dog's age. Seems that about half the Brothers got the same idea at the same time. The most recent marriage was the Fogler-Pray nuptials this winter. On November 18, Tom Fogler and Sally Pray were married in the Universalist Church in Orono. Tom is the son of Raymond Fogler, '15; Sally is the daughter of our housemother, Mrs. Mary Pray. Tom and Sally were high school 'acquaintances' at Hastings-on-Hudson high school in Hastings, New York.

From dark closets in the ram we have gathered many text books (and others) which were left behind by brothers who have graduated. With the permission of the owners we added these to a small collection that had accumulated over the years in the library of the Memorial room. Then from the active brothers we obtained a few more so that now we have a library of over two hundred books (most text). The point of the whole thing, of course, is to build up a collection that in the future will be of assistance to the brothers as reference and in some cases as money-savers.

Rho Rho has an alumni chapter in Casablanca now. Brothers George Lobozzo and Ray Douglass both '51 left for Africa last June (no photo). They have set up the chapter now and the correspondence is overwhelming (we got a telegram at Homecoming). Their official profession in Casablanca is engineering. They neglected to tell us what type.

ALUMNI PRESIDENTS

As has been stated elsewhere in this magazine, Sigma Chi is a leader in Alumni affairs here at Maine. Raymond Fogler is the chairman of the Union Building fund and has been an important leader in Maine alumni activities for many years. Two other Sigma Chis who have distinguished themselves as loyal and very capable alumni are Myron C. Peabody, '16, and Alfred B. Lingley, '20. These two gentlemen have served as the most recent presidents of the General Alumni Association; Brother Lingley served in this capacity from 1949 to 1951. Brother Peabody succeeded Lingley in June, 1951 and is present General Alumni president.

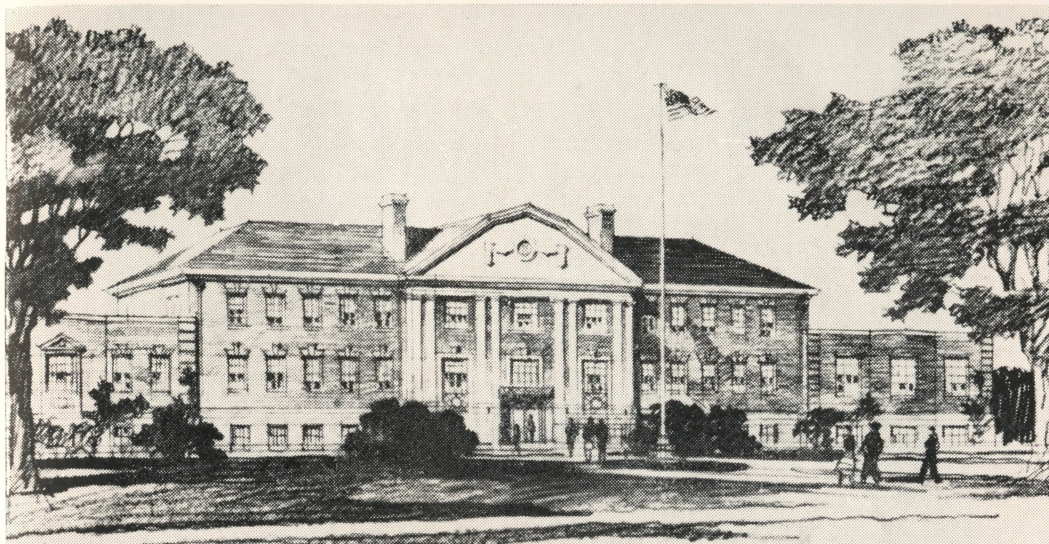

Brother Lingley has been a member of the Alumni Council for many years and has served on numerous alumni committees. A resident of Rhode Island he has been president of the University of Maine Alumni Association in that state. He has also been president of the Black Bears of Rhode Island, a group of Maine alumni who have done much to benefit Maine students. Other important actions in Brother Lingley's seemingly endless chain of alumni activities were chairmanships for Rhode Island of both the Library and Union Building campaigns. His has been the first area to reach its quota in both campaigns. In his spare time he serves as vice-president in charge of operations of the Kleistone Rubber Company of Warren, Rhode Island. Brother Myron C. Peabody was recently elected president of the Federal Land Bank and the three other units which make up the Farm Credit Administration of Springfield, Mass. These four credit units serve agriculture throughout the Northeast.

Myron C. Peabody

Alfred B. Lingley

The controversial Student Union Building (picture above) which has been the subject of much verbosity in the past few years is gradually taking shape; gradually, we say, for, although the ground was broken during an impressive ceremony last fall, progress was halted after the foundation was finished. This proposed $900,000 building is being kept in the embryo stage by the government's firm grip on scarce steel. President Hauck has been down to Washington a couple of times for our cause, but as yet there is no definite word on when said steel will be available. (Ed. Note: Steel is now available) The chairman of the mammoth Union Building Drive which has netted pledges from University of Maine students, alumni, and friends amounting to nearly $900,000 is Brother Raymond Fogler, Rho Rho '15. The undertaking of this tremendous task is a slight suggestion of the close contact Brother Fogler has kept with his University and fraternity since his graduation (see next column for further evidence).

FOGLER STORY

The Fogler clan is running out of Rho Rho actives, that is, temporarily. William A. Fogler, '09, became a Sigma Chi at Rho Rho and he really started something. Six years later Raymond Fogler, '15, became a Sigma Chi. Then after a brief twenty years another Fogler showed up at Maine. He was Henry, Raymond's oldest son, and he, too, became a Sigma Chi (consul 1939). Then a second son, John, followed suit in 1945. Still another son, Bill, in 1947. And another, Tom, (consul 1951) followed. That would appear to be quite a complete Sigma Chi family, but there is more to it than that. Not only are all of Brother Raymond's sons Sigma Chis but his three daughters have all married Sigma Chis. And there are seven Fogler grandsons, now. So it is pretty easy to see that when Tom graduates next year, it will not be the end of Fogler actives at Rho Rho. It will only be another short lull between generations.

ALUMNI CHAPTER

PEG AND BILL

The two nice people on the right in the photo above are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Feeny. Brother Bill is back here at Maine as an undergraduate after taking a little time off (thirty years, as a matter of fact) for a few escapades as one of Uncle Sam's boys. Bill started as a member of the class of '22, cut a nice nick for himself as a campus wheel (assistant military instructor as a Freshman as a result of being commissioned during World War I, Scabbard and Blade, varsity basketball and football, Sophomore Owl), but left school in 1921 for the aforementioned tour of thirty years with the Army. This remarkable tour included a look-see at a good part of the world and most recently (1947) took Bill and his wife, Peg (class of '26) to Japan for a three-year stay. It was in Tokyo that they found an international alumni chapter of Sigma Chi, the only fraternity to have an alumni chapter over there. "Everywhere we turned in Tokyo, we ran into a Sigma Chi," Peg said. Peg and Bill came back to the U. of M. in '50 and Bill enrolled in public management. Although retired from the

The Orono Association has been picking up momentum and has added a new member here and there. Bob urges any Sigma Chi alumni in this area who would like to get in on the activities to drop him a line.

At a special alumni meeting here at the house during Homecoming nearly fifty returning Sigs got together with president Patton doing the honors. Bob spoke as did Percival Mosher, Rho Rho's first consul; Paddy Huddilston; and present consul, Dick Dow.

At the formal initiation last month when twenty-eight new members were ushered into Sigma Chi, most of the interrogators came from the ranks of the Orono Alumni group, and they turned in fine jobs, each and every one. A big assist for us here at the house.

Peg and Bill (con't.)

army now Bill is still active in Scabbard and Blade and is a major in the military government in nearby Bangor. Bill attends our house meetings regularly and is our source for how things were in "the good old days." Come June, Bill will get that elusive little sheepskin that has been thirty years in the making and another door opens for remarkable Brother Bill.

MOGENS MANGLES MESSAGE

A recent rare pleasure for us was a letter from Brother Mogens Knochel from Copenhagen, Denmark. "Mouse" says that Ellie is there now and that they are engaged. Perhaps it would bring some of you up to date if we would briefly review "Mouse." Three years ago the Bowdoin Plan delivered unto us a young man: Mogens Knochel by name, Danish by nationality, and, later, a real good guy by reputation (we pledged him). He was to stay with us for a year and a busy year it was. For within those two semesters "Mouse" found time (besides his studies) to master the English language, to go through pledge training and THAT week which follows, to become a member of Sigma Chi, and to become pinned to a lovely little girl named Ellie Shima, who was also attending the University. Where did Ellie hail from? Maine? No. United States? No. Denmark? No. The Philippines, but naturally. So the news that Ellie and Mouse are engaged brings this honest-to-goodness international romance to a near-climax. We are, however, at a slight disadvantage in keeping up our end of this foreign correspondence, for "Mouse" wrote his letter to us in long-hand (undoubtedly while running for a train). He was really thoughtful, however; he not only put his return address on the letter but on the back of the envelope also. The only catch to this is that we cannot read either of them. The address in the alumni list at the back of this magazine is, we fear, hardly a reasonable facsimile. Our only chance now is that by some chance there may be a mind reader on the Copenhagen post office staff.

RHO RHO ALUMNI ROSTER

The lists of names on the following pages should include all of our living alumni. However, we are willing to concede without a blow landed that there are discrepancies to be found by even the casual eye. And this is why. Our alumni files were obviously in need of a shot in the cards; we took the obvious step and wrote to the National Headquarters for a complete list. Our request was granted pronto with the names of our alumni typed on convenient, fileable cards (a really helpful service, we might add). The National suggested that we check these cards with the University Alumni files which we did. However, the list is not complete yet. Thus, we would like to enter a request here. As you go through these names looking for old buddies would you kindly jot down any corrections that you can give us? If encouragement warrants it, we could put out a similar list periodically keeping it up to date as much as possible. Happy hunting.
