Spring 3-21-1968

Maine Campus March 21 1968

Maine Campus Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.library.umaine.edu/mainecampus

Repository Citation
Staff, Maine Campus, "Maine Campus March 21 1968" (1968). Maine Campus Archives. 439.
https://digitalcommons.library.umaine.edu/mainecampus/439

This Other is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@UMaine. It has been accepted for inclusion in Maine Campus Archives by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@UMaine. For more information, please contact um.library.technical.services@maine.edu.
Orono anti-draft union
organized by students

by Marcia Due

Orono's anti-draft union has recently been organized by eight University of Maine students. Purposes of the union are to counsel those eligible for the draft, regardless of political affiliation and draft status, and to promote anti-draft publicity. Familiar with draft system options, the union is prepared to counsel on such procedures as how to appeal a suspected false classification. Service hours of the Anti-Draft Union are 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Sunday through Wednesday in the Organizations Room of the Memorial Union.

Anti-draft publicity will range from "we won't go" ads to organized demonstration in support of draftees who are refusing induction at the draft board. "The best way," said one student, "to physically oppose the war is by attempting to reduce the number of draftees," said a spokesman for the union.

An anti-draft teach-in next week will be the first activity of the union. The Boston Draft Resistance Group, the American Friends Service Committee, and the Committee on Non-violence Action will be represented. When and where of the teach-in is to be announced.

Chalk one up!

Testimony to the humanity of one of our academic superiors in 335 Boardman.

Off-campus housing problems confronted

by Tom Atwell

Off-campus housing has been the subject of several meetings held recently at Bangor, Orono, and Old Town official offices. The meetings were held to probe the problems in apartment complexes, and to try to discover a solution to some of the problems. The problems are the same for all three communities - high and fire hazards, high costs, and inability to obtain corrective action.

Forest M. French, the Orono town manager, said that the major problem was that the number of students living off campus has been decreasing rapidly whereas the number of housing units has not expanded. He also said that the problem would be helped somewhat if the town officials knew which apartments were accepted by students.

William Chapman, Orono code enforcement officer, said that he is making a check on all known dwelling units in Orono. However, such a systematic inspection takes time. If students have a problem with their apartment, they should contact Mr. Chapman and he will see that the Orono housing code is enforced.

Bangor also has a dwelling code, and any complaints should be made to William Shook, head of the Bangor Health Department.

It was felt that Bangor's housing problem may be addressed somewhat by the phasing out of Dow and the re-use of part of the Dow facilities as a public housing project.

All officials agreed that none of the problems can be helped if the towns do not know of the problems. As a result, the O-Campus Housing Committee is going to distribute questionnaires to all students who live in apartments. This questionnaire will try to discover what the major problems concerning facilities and landlords are. It is hoped that the students will fill out the questionnaires in order to aid the officials in alleviating some of the problems.
Austrians make music
Vienna Chorus to perform
by Tracy Bronson

Austria gave the world the Strauss family, and the Vienna Boys' Choir; now it sends...in the U. Memorial U; "Some Aspects of Literature," will be held...will discuss German authors Dürrenmatt and the Vienna Boys' Choir. This mixed ensemble of twenty-four will appear in the Memorial U. Chorus, comprised of twenty-four...may get tickets at the Lord Hall organized the Vienna Academy to cover all fields of music. Although the Academy has now expanded to cover all fields of music, the accent is still on choral work. In 1946 Ferdinand Grossman organized the Vienna Academy Choir comprised of twenty-four graduates of that school. That was the beginning of a group that is now enthusiastically welcomed all around the world.

For several years the Choir appeared only in Vienna, then it began to travel Europe and Scandinavia. Since 1951 they have been annually invited to the Edinburgh Festival, and since 1952 to the Salzburg Festival. The Academy Chorus has toured Italy with the Vienna Daily masses. Until Easter, Father LaVoie of Newman Center will be holding daily masses at Drummond Chapel on the second floor of the Union. Monday through Friday these services will be held at 9:45 a.m.; Saturday's service will be at 1 p.m.

Chamber Orchestra and by itself has visited nations from Egypt to Argentina. This year marks the group's sixth tour of the U.S. Music performed in Chorus concerts includes international choral literature, some of it centuries old, some of it brand new. They have often performed world premiers and have several works dedicated to them. The music of their own Austria is emphasized by the Vienna Academy Chorus.

Conductor of the Academy Chorus is Vienna-born Dr. Xavier Meyer who studied composition, conducting and piano at the Vienna Academy and holds doctorate degrees in German and psychology from the University of Vienna. Before being appointed to the Vienna Academy Chorus in 1961, Dr. Meyer directed the Vienna Boys' Choir and the Vienna Philharmonic. The Ashai Evening News, Tokyo, said, "Xaver Meyer is a very fine musician who combines talent with reverence."

The program for the Orono concert is divided into three major sections: Austrian music of the Renaissance, Contemporary Austrian Choral Music, and European Choral Music of the 20th century. Under the first heading come "Regina caeli lucture" by Isaac, "Ave verus dilectior" by Sven and Lechner's "Das Hohelied Salmo- musa." The second division includes "God's Return" by Shonberg and Lechthaler's "Rosa mystica." The 20th century works to be performed are "Trost Chansons" by the French composer Ravel, "Six Chansons" from German Hintemith, "Trost Chansons" by France's Debussy, "Metrei képek" by the Hungarian Kodaly, and Orff's "Catuli Carmina."

SRA Possible constitutional changes concerning representation to the SRA will be voted on at the next SRA meeting on Tuesday, March 26 at 6:30 p.m. A revision of the SRA brochure will also be under consideration. The meeting on the second floor of the Union, is open to the public.

Military Ball features "Salute to Spring"

The honorary colonel of the First Cadet Brigade will be selected at the annual military ball scheduled for Friday night March 22 from 9 to 1 at the Memorial Gymnasium. Five university coeds are candidates for the title: Leah Rae Bailey of Presque Isle, Donna Cates of Brunswick, Sara Chandler of Gor- ham, Cynthia Fowle of Levant, and Lois McPhee of South Portland. The new honorary colonel will be crowned by last year's winner, Louise DeBliss of Lewiston, and the announcement will be made by Col. John Gerety, professor of military science at the university.

The honorary colonel will serve at ceremonial events of the First Cadet Brigade and will present the top awards at the brigade's annual review. She will be elected by those attending the ball.

Following this year's theme of the military ball, "Salute to Spring," the Gym will be decorated with flowers, rock gardens and open parachutes. Refreshments will be served. The ball is not restricted to the military and tickets are available now at $3.50 per couple from any girl in the Pershingettes and are sold this week outside the Den.

Colonel candidates

Five U of M coeds are vying for the title of honorary colonel of the First Maine Cadet Brigade, ROTC. The winner will be selected at the annual military ball Friday, March 22. Left to right are Sara Chandler, Cynthia Fowle, Lois MacPhee, Donna Cates, and Leah Rae Bailey.

Exciting opportunities are open now at American Chain & Cable ... leading manufacturer of diversified products that are serving many of today's growth industries.

Recent engineering graduates are working at ACCO now in such varied specialties as sold-state electronics ... aerospace component design ... metallurgis ... oceanography ... inertial guidance ... instrumentation for utilities and process industries ... data processing ... sophisticated material handling systems. Upper rung positions can open up for you sooner ... because of ACCO's unusual organization into "groups." Over-all, ACCO is big. Financially, in geographic spread, in markets served, and in scientific contributions. Yet all operating units in every ACCO group are small enough to let you establish identity fast.development of new products and change for an interview with the ACCO recruiter. He will be on campus...

Tuesday, March 26

American Chain & Cable
An Equal Opportunity Employer

Getting caught short is great fun in this "Never Press" Fully washable mini-trench of 50% CELANESE® FORTREL® and 50% cotton; and it's fully protected against oily and greasy stains with DU PONT ZE PEL® rain and stain repeller. In Melon (shown), Ivory, Maize and Ice Blue. 6-16, New Pastel Shades.

Open Fri. aite 'til 9:00 P.M.

Ben Sklar Inc.

Men's, Boy's, Women's Apparel & Footwear
107 Center St., Old Town — Citywide Free Parking

Pier 4 present

A Division of Jonathan Logan

of Boston

Men's, Boy's, Women's Apparel & Footwear

107 Center St., Old Town Citywide Free Parking
A university of Maine student and a fraternity chief were arrested Tuesday morning in connection with the armed robbery of an employee of the Rapid Transit gas station in Silloware.

State Police detective Carl Bunchar arrested Thomas Lane, 19, a sophomore; and Jesse Leach, 21, the chief at Kappa Sigma fraternity. The two were charged with robbing $53 from the person of George Pretto, 66, at 1:30 Tuesday morning. Pretto, a night attendant at the gas station, was alone at the time of the incident.

Lane was apprehended on Mill Street in Orono approximately two hours after the robbery. His bail was set at $500. Leach was apprehended at the fraternity house by campus policeman Cecil Powers. Bail has not been set for Leach.

Dr. Hans Butow to lecture on modern German literature

The German writer Dr. Hans Butow will give a series of lectures in the U.S. and Canada as a guest of the German Center of the Arts in Boston. He will speak March 27 at the University of Maine at 7:30 in the Bangor Room of the Memorial Union. His topic will be "Some Aspects of Modern German Literature." In this lecture—which will be held in English—Dr. Butow will discuss which other modern German authors—in addition to the already well-known Brecht and Durrenmatt—may claim international rank. He will explain the extent to which this new literature is typically German and why this is so.

Dr. Butow was for many years editor-in-chief of the "Frankfurter Zeitung" and also director of the Federal News Agency in Hamburg. He is the author of 4 books and has written numerous essays. Being of partly British descent he is greatly interested in Anglo-Saxon literature and he has translated many works into German. Dr. Butow is a member of the PEN-club and of the Free Academy of Arts.

Meet a group of young Boston bankers. They are executives of The First National Bank of Boston, New England's oldest and largest. They're men on the move... sharp, talented, aggressive and making a dent in the business.

A short time ago they were doing some soul-searching, too. "Graduation, and then what?"

Quite honestly a few of these men never thought about banking. One of them is Spanish and now is a credit man with our South American operation where the language comes in handy. Another studied Geography and Geology; today, he's an Operations Officer in our highly specialized electronic data processing complex. At The FIRST, we look for diverse educational backgrounds. Specifically, we want men with flexibility who can meet the demands of unusual and challenging situations.

If you are looking toward a career in a growth business, take a good hard look at The FIRST. We have the opportunities... we'll even make a position for the right man.

One of our Personnel Officers will be on campus soon. We suggest that you contact your Placement Bureau to set up an interview. If you'd like to jump the gun, write to our Mr. Emory Mower, The First National Bank of Boston, 67 Milk Street, Boston; he'll be glad to send you a special booklet about working at The FIRST.
Lizards are distinguishable from snakes-in-the-grass by the presence of limbs. One of the biggest lizards is the "creeping" lizard and they exhibit many modifications for locomotion in the different areas. For example, the lizard of the United States, is a knob on the belly, the knob has a long, broad, flattened, then it has a light-colored, up to a thousand. This is a way that the lizard, the Colorado Lizard said in an editorial: "Our don't understand the younger generation and its dependence on drugs," says the advertising executive as he washes down a "tension-relieving" pill with his third luncheon martini. "We need stronger laws to keep those horrible kids from using marijuana and LSD and all the rest of that junk," says the suburban housewife as she swallows two "activity-altering" pills.

A leading "stay-away" pill, one of the most innocent of the socially acceptable and commercially available mind benders, has launched an advertising campaign claiming its product will not only keep you awake but will sharpen your mind if taken immediately before the big exam. (Increase your sensitivity to the realities of your environment.)

A leading "tension-reliever" promises a state of euphoria which will enable nervous brides to check the wedding. Experiments take place regularly on the campus of Yale and in the office of Dow and still retain the sunny countenance needed for promotions and a Christmas bonus. Husbunds take it to get them over the "new life" in the new female. Is this the escape of the real people or a frightening situation?

One "activity-booster" is advertised as the thing to take when you're just too tired to go looking for the shopping or going with the girls or bowling with the boys. (How's that for dissociating your mind and your body?)

Letters

genocide

To the Editor: We, Vietnamese in North America, are deeply concerned about the war in our country. At the moment, in the name of the highest-sounding principles, the most sacred of all missions, the Vietnamese in this country are fast reducing our villages and cities with the rage of the machines, tearing apart the whole fabric of our country.

To our widows and orphans, to our civilians, mangled and burned beyond recognition, to our dead rolling unburied in the streets and ruins, we owe nothing less than this: this is not a struggle for freedom and democracy; it has become war of genocide.

It is clear that there is a limit to what American power can do in Vietnam. On the other hand, there are no limits to what American power can do to Vietnam. Unpeeling on a small country the most destructive firepower ever known to mankind, the United States has brought our nation to the brink of awful responsibilities. We, the American citizen, that "to save Rome it became necessary to destroy it," plainly reflect the moral, political and military bankruptcy of this country. Both self-interest and moral responsability, together, impress upon the people and government of the United States the need for a change in this conflict.

Nguyen Hoi-Dang, Université de Montréal
Nguyen Quang-Hoc, Université de Montréal
Trinh thi Hôn-Hai, Université de Montréal
Nguyen thi Loan-Anh, Université de Montréal
Ngo Vinh-Long, Harvard University
Le thi Mai-Van, Yale University
Nguyen Ngoc-Phuong, Université de Montréal
Cong Huyên Tu Nha, Université de Montréal
Nha-Trang, Berkeley
Nguyen Tô-Huon, Macalster College
Vo the-Nguyen, Université Laval
Nguyen Thuy-Hoa, Université de Montréal
Nguyen Math-Tuong, Université de Montréal
Nguyen Hsi-Chen, Radiology College
Nguyen Van-Nha, Université Laval
Vinh-Lam, Université de Montréal
Dinh Van-Phuc, Université de Montréal
Luan Chau-Phuc, Université de Montréal
Nguyen Thao-Ngoc, Université de Montréal
Ngo thi Kim, Université de Montréal
Tâi Long, N.Y.
Nguyen Thao-Huu, Université de Montréal

To the Editor: We have written letters in the hope it will be printed, since letters not "published" exactly the same way. We have been able to get through the censorship. We have been told that it has been the thought about the new isolationist" that has crept into the thinking of the Faculty and students. But then we can have a change in the Campus editorial opinion too.

Allan Rodway,

editor's note:

Mr. Rodway seems to forget that he cannot write one writing letters to the main Campus. In the last three weeks, we have been able to print only 12 of the 20 letters we received. (By the way, those letters were not all "published" exactly the same way.) A reading of "identity" seems obvious to any reader who reads above letters as submitted.

"Millard K. Rodway be referring here to the domino theory?"

impressed

To the Editor: Concerning the letter in the Campus, the writer of the letter, a college student from Maryland—who obviously is not one of us can't, next page

And then there are the sleeping pills. Not too many are used, but it seems a lot of people over 25 do. Or antihistamine cold tablets. All antidepressants cloud your judgment. Have you ever read the fine print warning used against driving operations or dangerous machines? It dropped a couple before driving to work? People like you shouldn't be allowed on the highway, endangering lives and property, with your mind all bogged down by these things.

Then there's the stuff you can get a prescription for if you're respectable. A diet pill used by thousands of fad diet buffs contains Dextroamphetamine, a strong stimulant of the central nervous system (known as "speed") to those who don't get it in diet pills). To keep the chubbies from coming back down on you, the pill contains also sodium amobarbital, which has a strong tranquillizing effect and is in the same drug family as phenobarbital (the "gimmie, gimmie, gimmie"") drug.

So what's the point? Are we moving toward the soma society of Brave New World? Probably. Should we therefore legalize marijuana, hashish, LSD, STP, peyote, cocaine, heroin, and birth control pills? Probably not.

Whatever the advocates of these illegal drugs say, there has been little research into the effects of these substances. In addition, there is the questionable morality of a Great Society stove on diet and pep pills, these drugs have at least been approved, presumably after extensive testing by the Food and Administration (known as the Feds to those who don't get their speed in diet pills). While these drugs may screw your head around, they aren't likely to deform your liver.

Candidate organizations, we hope, will acquaint government officials with the problem, with the necessity of "law and order." Our organization, we hope, will acquaint government officials with the problem, with the necessity of "law and order." Our organization, we hope, will acquaint government officials with the problem, with the necessity of "law and order." Our organization, we hope, will acquaint government officials with the problem, with the necessity of "law and order." Our organization, we hope, will acquaint government officials with the problem, with the necessity of "law and order."
Suzakawa without US in Southeast Asia (Thailand,lland, and South part) just can't drain the way we have done that appearance e pays. We see the 1,000 Silver Bars per year. But we know that it's a big deal. We have to consider the question of "How Can We Do It?"

I want to ask you about something I've noticed about the campus. It appears that some students are not taking the necessary precautions to protect their personal belongings.

There is a recent incident where several bicycles were stolen from the bike racks near the library. I believe this is a serious problem, and I think we need to address it as a community. We should consider implementing security measures such as additional lighting and surveillance cameras.

As a student, I feel that it's important for us to take responsibility for our own belongings and also to support the efforts of campus security. Let's work together to make our campus a safer place for everyone.
Old Sorrow reviewed by Manlove, Inman

by V. Kerry Inman

What happens when one of America's great dramas is played in a university's educational theatre? In the case of the Maine Masque Theatre's production of Eugene O'Neill's play, Long Day's Journey Into Night, the result is hardly disappointing. On the contrary, this theatre group has done an exceptional job with the play. It is one of the better productions this campus has ever seen.

It is quite likely, however, that not every one in the audience will be as thrilled by the play as were the members of the Tyrone family, but not just any family. It is a family, involved in tense psychological conflicts. It is a family that grew up in cheap hotels and on the road, a family with no home "except this cheap summerplace ... in some hole." It is the family of America's greatest dramatist, re-created in an autobiographical play.

Caroline Dodge plays the role of Mary Tyrone, a decent girl who went to a convent school and had two dreams in life: to become a concert pianist or a nun. But Mary Tyrone wins up the wife of a tight-axed, neurotic woman. In her role as Mary, Dodge does an exceptional job. She portrays quite vividly the woman who can no longer put up with the pain and strife of life. By the time she does, she can do nothing more than escape the only way she knows how. As a woman who refuses to face herself, she becomes an alcoholic, throwing off her old face and trying to forget what life is all about. Miss Dodge is most convincing.

James Tyrone is a difficult character to understand. When he confides his love for his wife he is unquestionably sincere, but never, even in the slightest way, does he show his love to be of any earthly good. He has property valued at a quarter of a million dollars but tries to send his ill son to the cheapest hospital available. In this difficult and puzzling role, Joe Foster does an exceptionally good job and is most convincing.

Edmund, the pseudonym for Eugene O'Neill, remains nothing more than an onlooker for the first three acts of the play and, then in the fourth act he comes out of the background to participate in O'Neill's greatest scenes. Frank Milten, who plays Edmund, is not quite what one pictures as O'Neill but nevertheless does all right in that role.

As Edmund's older brother, Al- den, playwright and the setting of the most dramatic, moments in the play, Jamie is a broken person who had hoped that if madness had broken the game he could also. He cannot speak. He is now completely distracted and even then does not sound entirely convincing to himself. Jeanne Gervais as the maid is terrific. She adds both humor and contrast and does both amazingly well.

The play reaches a climax in the fourth act when Tyrone and Edmund, the rival as the greatest act in realistic drama. Their scene between Edmund and Tyrone is one of the most tragic of all time. O'Neill has used real life, of realizing the value of a dollar, and the four of the poorest. Edmund tells the story of his life, of being able to fit in anywhere and of his always being loved in little in love with death. "Drowned moribund" responds Tyrone. "I won't have it in my house."

Credit goes to the whole cast as well as the director, James Bost, for this exceptional production. Compliments on the set are also in order. No serious theatre group will be disappointed with the Maine Masque's production of what is one of America's greatest dramas.

Myth in Bible is MCA topic

Is the new testament a pot-pourri job? Father John L. McKenzie, presently a professor of theology at Loyola University and received his Master's Degree from the University of Notre Dame in 1964 and his Doctorate in Sacred Theology by Weston College. From his family with his penny-pinching, weakling, he has property valued at a quarter of a million dollars but

First John L. McKenzie, presently a professor of theology at Loyola University and received his Master's Degree from the University of Notre Dame in 1964 and his Doctorate in Sacred Theology by Weston College. From his family with his penny-pinching, weakling, he has property valued at a quarter of a million dollars but

The clear concise language of O'Neill's play is. The play reaches a climax in the fourth act when Tyrone and Edmund, the rival as the greatest act in realistic drama. Their scene between Edmund and Tyrone is one of the most tragic of all time. O'Neill has used real life, of realizing the value of a dollar, and the four of the poorest. Edmund tells the story of his life, of being able to fit in anywhere and of his always being loved in little in love with death. "Drowned moribund" responds Tyrone. "I won't have it in my house."

Credit goes to the whole cast as well as the director, James Bost, for this exceptional production. Compliments on the set are also in order. No serious theatre group will be disappointed with the Maine Masque's production of what is one of America's greatest dramas.

The play reaches a climax in the fourth act when Tyrone and Edmund, the rival as the greatest act in realistic drama. Their scene between Edmund and Tyrone is one of the most tragic of all time. O'Neill has used real life, of realizing the value of a dollar, and the four of the poorest. Edmund tells the story of his life, of being able to fit in anywhere and of his always being loved in little in love with death. "Drowned moribund" responds Tyrone. "I won't have it in my house."

Credit goes to the whole cast as well as the director, James Bost, for this exceptional production. Compliments on the set are also in order. No serious theatre group will be disappointed with the Maine Masque's production of what is one of America's greatest dramas.

The clear concise language of O'Neill's play is. The play reaches a climax in the fourth act when Tyrone and Edmund, the rival as the greatest act in realistic drama. Their scene between Edmund and Tyrone is one of the most tragic of all time. O'Neill has used real life, of realizing the value of a dollar, and the four of the poorest. Edmund tells the story of his life, of being able to fit in anywhere and of his always being loved in little in love with death. "Drowned moribund" responds Tyrone. "I won't have it in my house."

Credit goes to the whole cast as well as the director, James Bost, for this exceptional production. Compliments on the set are also in order. No serious theatre group will be disappointed with the Maine Masque's production of what is one of America's greatest dramas.
everybody's doin' it

by Karen A. Marks

March 21, 1968
Orono, Maine
The Maine Campus
Page Seven

There will be a dance at Maine's Canterbury (Hilltop Cafeteria) from 8 to 12 this Friday, sponsored by the Castles, Somersett, Oxford, and Knox. Open to all Lanecots and Gowersees.

Brace yourselves before attending the U.M.O.C. dance (You know the initials by now) this Friday at Memorial Gym from 8-12.

The Maine Flying Club is planning a day trip to the wilds of Acadia this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Sigma Phi Epilson will be setting its alarm clocks early this Saturday morning: their Sweethearts' Wake-up Breakfast is slated from 8-9:30 a.m.

It will be a few minutes of your time to attend Stodder DAm's Orphan's Day this Saturday at Stodder and the Union between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The keen competition between the frats for the Uplift of Them Well (courage, health) makes the March 23 movie, The Blob, most appropriate. The show will be from 2 to 5 at 130 Little Hall.

House parties this weekend are as follows: Friday, Phi Eta Kappa, 7:30-1:00 a.m.; Tau Epsilon Phi, 8:30-12 p.m. Saturday, Alpha Gamma Rho will hold their Woodchop per ball to the music of Pustman's Backstreet Carnival from 8:00-12. Lambda Chi Alpha will have their "Light Circus" from 8-12 to the tunes of the Sound Waves. Also, KKE is having a splash party at the YMCA in Bangor.

Relay team upset
UNH, Maine tie

by Russ Potter

The University of New Hampshire relay team upset Maine's Yankee Conference champions in the final event of Saturday's dual meet to give the hosts Wildcats a 52-52 tie.

The running upset overcame outstanding performances by Ed Schmid, who tied for first in the long jump, second in the high jump, and third in the low hurdles, and by Joe Dahl, who set a UMaine record in the two mile despite a week's absence due to illness.

The Black Bears also got strong showing from Gerry Stelmack, who won the 440, Harry Miller, who was just nipped in the 1000, Bill Moule, who took first in the shot put, and Paul Richardson, who tied with Schmidt for first in the long jump.

The Maine freshman were edged by the UNH scalpers 14-10 in a near carbon copy of the varsity meet. The hosts pulled out the win in the mile relay.

Bob Witham paced the Baby Bears with firsts in the shot and hurdles, and a third in the long jump.

The Maine varsity concluded the indoor season with a 1-2-1 dual meet record and a second place finish in the 8K meet. The freshman team finished with a 3-2 slate.

Coach Ed Stryda said he was very pleased with the improvements the teams showed throughout the season.

How would you fit into Du Pont's Project X?

You are the only person who can answer that question.

To do it, you should know as much as possible about the 160 new plant units Du Pont has built since the end of World War II. You'd then choose from one of the many lively fields of interest at Du Pont - design, construction, production, marketing, research and process improvement (to name just a few).

Involvement starts the day you join. There is no training period. You go into responsible work right away.

Your professional development is stimulated by real problems and by opportunities to continue your academic studies under a tuition refund program.

You work in small groups where individual contributions are quickly noted and appreciated.

The work is significant and behooves the party. You're part of the most exciting technical environment available today and tomorrow, and facilities and associations are the best.

How could you fit in? Why not sign up for a chat with a Du Pont interviewer and find out? The coupon will also bring you more information about us.

Finally, what is Project X?
We don't know yet. Could be we're waiting for you to tell us.
Campus champs determined

Wrestlers have intramural meet

by D. A. Steward

Last Saturday the Wrestling team held its annual Intramural Tournament, open competition for anyone who cared to enter.

In the 137-pound class, Steve Losawich from ATO, in his first year of competition, was defeated by the more experienced Ray Brudzite, representing Corbett Hall, by the score of 8-3. Freshman Peter Panacee from Dunn pinned Art Amedio of Gannett after one minute of the second period to win the 152-pound crown. Another frosh, Dennis Appen from Cumberland, won the 160-pound title 5-2 over Robert Shuman of Lambda Chi Alpha. Al Soucie (off campus), who usually wrestles in the 137 class, lost the 145-pound tilt to Dan Placek by the score of 9-2. Rick Coffie, who was himself trying to make a comeback from an injury earlier in the season, won the 167-pound title by default when his opponent, Dick Work of Corbett, came up with an injury. Ron Cullenberg of PEK and Keith Kalman of ODT, both were the contestants in the 177-pound class, with Kalman ending quickly by pinning his opponent after 1:45 of the first period.

Mike Siviski and Bob Miliken, both representing PMD, were the opponents in the 191-pound class. Siviski pinned Miliken at 0:55 of the first period. Work out-wrestled Ralph Marshall of Sigma Nu 2-0, Cullenberg barely edged past Tom Jordan of PEK 4-3, and Kalman pinned Robert Hitchcock of PMD at 0:55 of the first.

Coach Ewen MacKinnon has already scheduled Bowdoin, the University of New Hampshire, and the University of Connecticut for competition next year, with more to come.

Golf meeting

There will be a meeting for all upperclassmen and freshmen interested in golf at 7 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium, Monday, March 25.

Intramurals

Some of the action in the Campus Championship game last week. The Kappa Sigs, after having gone 7-0 in the regular season and defeating PEK 68-52 for the Fraternity Division Championship, came into the final contest as heavy favorites. Oxford 2 went 8-0 on the season, downing the team from Bowdoin 49-64 for the Dormitory Division Championship. Kappa Sig, this year’s intramural football champs also, won the basketball title 61-54.

Majorette tryouts

Majorette Tryouts will be held at 7:00 on March 25th in the entrance to Lord Hall.

Track candidates

Spring track practice begins April 8. Candidates for both the varsity and freshman squads should notify Coach Styrna of their intentions prior to the opening of practice. Candidates for the weight events are particularly needed.

If you want to rock the boat, it’s fine with us.

It could help us to keep moving ahead. We discovered that during our pioneering years in a dynamic, young industry. It still applies today. Imaginative, inquiring minds are providing the impetus for progress in our exciting world of advanced VTOL aircraft systems.

Are you a factual innovator… impatient with status quo? Does a fast-paced engineering challenge turn you on—rather than pat solutions? Then Sikorsky Aircraft can be your environment—in which to explore, expand and enrich your capabilities. You’ll enjoy the stimulus of seeing your ideas become three-dimensional in ultra-sophisticated airborne vehicles of tomorrow.

Professional growth? Your demonstrated ability will create all the opportunities you can handle. And we think you’ll appreciate our "engineer’s atmosphere" that encourages an active interchange of ideas with some of the top men in your field.

If you’re ready to take on responsible and demanding assignments, you’ll find them here in: aerodynamics • human factors engineering • automatic controls • structures engineering • weight prediction • systems analysis • operations research • reliability/maintainability engineering • automation systems • computer technology • manufacturing engineering • information science • marketing… and more. And your career advancement can be materially assisted through our corporation-financed Graduate Study Program—available at many outstanding schools within our area.

Consult your College Placement Office for campus interview dates—or—for further information, write to Mr. Leo J. Shalvoy, Professional and Technical Employment.
Marauder withdraws

Ugly men got fouled up

by Alan Shevis

"It would have made a better gross-man contest," a student said, commenting on the U.M.O.C.

The tone of the U.M.O.C. was such that it caused Alpha Phi Omega, the service fraternity sponsoring it, to rethink their position on the subject. It also caused Richard Emerick to withdraw his name (Midnight Marauder) from the contest. Further, the unprintable name of one contestant was changed to Super Sport.

A letter from A.P.O. states the committee's position:

"A committee met on Thursday, March 21, to re-establish Alpha Phi Omega's set objectives of the U.M.O.C. contest consistent with the high ideals and objectives of Alpha Phi Omega. National Service Fraternity."

On Monday, March 25, there was a general review of the U.M.O.C. contest and it was felt by the participants of this review that the ultimate goal of the U.M.O.C. contest were satisfied.

The letter is signed by Michael T. Parker, President; Eliot Farnsworth, Vice President; William F. Stranans, Advisor; and Robert J. Seunlin, U.M.O.C. chairman.

Dr. Emerick dissociated himself from the contest on Thursday night after becoming aware of the "blatant" insult. "I bitterly assumed," he said, "that the University had sanctioned the affair, but if it was going on the University must have permitted it." Dr. Emerick accepted "with resignation" his responsibility to question the sense of the contest, but was limited by a heavy schedule from more than a cursory examination until Thursday afternoon. He extricated himself from the affair, he said, "because to stay would endanger the tone of the contest."

William Stranans, faculty advisor of A.P.O., said Tuesday, that the A.P.O. committee which met last week decided not to use the Library steps any longer, because of the question of good taste raised by the skits. "We did not want to reevaluate fraternity objectives, but those of the U.M.O.C. itself. We are satisfied with those goals," he continued.

Stranans also pointed out some of the projects that A.P.O. has completed. The fraternity has hosted 350 Explorer Scouts each year and treated them to meals and a football game. They ran a used book mat at the beginning of the present semester. They care for the ride board in the Union.

Mr. Cobb, director of student services, defended A.P.O. for their many services to the University Community. He mentioned that they have made possible the bus service between campus and the Bangor airport. They have run ski trips to Squaw Mountain.

Cobb, an honorary member of A.P.O., received several complaints about the skits in his office and felt they were widespread before he contacted A.P.O. Then he said he expressed his hopes that they would either clean up the skits or cancel them. Members of the fraternity had already taken steps to do just that, he said.

"I am sure," said Cobb, "that there is such a thing as being in good taste, or in bad taste." He was happy, he indicated, that A.P.O. knew when the skits were offensive, that they took the initiative in stopping them.

Panel discusses liquor on campus

About 325 concerned University students gathered Saturday morning to hear a panel of experts, faculty and students discuss the University's liquor regulations. Following introductions by panel moderator Allen Hughes, President of the Student Senate's A.C.T.O.N. committee (A Committee To Implement New Code), State Liquor Inspector Timothy Murphy surprised many in the audience by announcing that there are no state liquor regulations which are specifically applicable to state college campuses as "public institutions."

The same regulations apply to the University of Maine as apply to Bates, Bowdoin, or Colby," he said. He further stated that there was a state law which prohibited the granting of a liquor license to a campus racketeer. If it were a building whose main entrance were within 300 feet of a residential building, church, or parish house. The audience then heard Dr. Robert Kesey, Delta Fraternities at the University of New Hampshire, describe the history of liquor regulation at that school. Conditions there were similar to those on campus six years back with a "dry campus" that was a "success story" in which it was really dry (an experiment which he termed "unsuccessful").

The present policy allows drinking in dorm rooms and at social functions for those 21 or over.

It was this current policy which the dean defended without major resistance.

Further discussion covered areas of concern to many of those present. In response to questions, Dean Keese said that the academic attitude in New Hampshire's off campus dorms had not suffered as a result of the change, and that there had been no rise in the amount of damage.

Dr. William Pease, speaking directly to the audience, called for action in the form of political pressure groups to effect changes in the University's regulations. Action of this kind must come from an aroused student body, he felt.

Panelists Russell Woodley, James Turner, and Mrs. Paul Cote, and members of the audience added to the two-hour discussion. It climaxed a weekend of meetings, beginning Friday night with a joint meeting of Student-Faculty-Administration Committee and the newly-formed Student Life Committee, at which Dean Keese had been the featured speaker.

In concluding Saturday's panel, Hughes turned to audience to "spread the word about what you have heard here," and pledged that his committee would not "let the bill drop here", but would thoroughly prepare its case and patiently continue the effort to effect changes in University policy.

Coeds eliminate curfew; security system passed

by Karen Woodard

The "No-Curfew" referendum was passed with an overwhelming majority of votes. 90% of the co-ed population turned out last Thursday, to make the election one of the most successful in years.

Commenting on the subject, Dean Zink said: "A self-imposed curfew system is based on the belief that college women are responsible young adults, capable of making use of the role of the AWS to help provide for and encourage the development of adult responsibility in the University community."

Results of the ballots are as follows:

I. I am in favor of the principle of a self-imposed curfew on women students. YES 1762 NO 74

II. If you answered YES on Question I, answer either A or Part B.

A. I am in favor of a self-imposed curfew system for all women students. YES 242 NO 179

B. I am in favor of a self-imposed curfew system excluding first semester freshmen. YES 1,487 NO 21

Passed by the women students, the results will be given to a committee from the AWS, working in close cooperation with the Dean of Women office. This committee will set up the "working mechanisms" of the new system (regulations, procedures, etc.).

The proposals then go back to the Selective Service and any suggestions from the students. From there, the bill will go to the Governor, who will present it to the students in the form of proposed amendments to the by-laws of the AWS constitution. This will take place sometime before the end of this semester.

(Continued on Page 8)

Panel members Dr. William Pease, Dr. Robert Kesey, Steve Hughes, and State Liquor Inspector Timothy Murphy discuss the liquor question before 125 university students who were genuinely interested in the subject.

Students polled

Draft law effects vary

by Steve Potter

The new Selective Service regulations issued recently will end deferments for nearly all graduate students except those in medicine, dentistry, and the ministry. Additionally, deferments end for 339,474 men who have jobs in 40 "critical-skill" occupations, 49 top officials to colleges and universities will now be considered for special consideration because of their role in stopping them.

The "No-Curfew" referendum was passed with an overwhelming majority of votes. 90% of the co-ed population turned out last Thursday, to make the election one of the most successful in years.

Commenting on the subject, Dean Zink said: "A self-imposed curfew system is based on the belief that college women are responsible young adults, capable of making use of the role of the AWS to help provide for and encourage the development of adult responsibility in the University community."

Results of the ballots are as follows:

I. I am in favor of the principle of a self-imposed curfew on women students. YES 1762 NO 74

II. If you answered YES on Question I, answer either A or Part B.

A. I am in favor of a self-imposed curfew system for all women students. YES 242 NO 179

B. I am in favor of a self-imposed curfew system excluding first semester freshmen. YES 1,487 NO 21

Passed by the women students, the results will be given to a committee from the AWS, working in close cooperation with the Dean of Women office. This committee will set up the "working mechanisms" of the new system (regulations, procedures, etc.).

The proposals then go back to the Selective Service and any suggestions from the students. From there, the bill will go to the Governor, who will present it to the students in the form of proposed amendments to the by-laws of the AWS constitution. This will take place sometime before the end of this semester.

(Continued on Page 8)

by Karen Woodard

The "No-Curfew" referendum was passed with an overwhelming majority of votes. 90% of the co-ed population turned out last Thursday, to make the election one of the most successful in years.

Commenting on the subject, Dean Zink said: "A self-imposed curfew system is based on the belief that college women are responsible young adults, capable of making use of the role of the AWS to help provide for and encourage the development of adult responsibility in the University community."

Results of the ballots are as follows:

I. I am in favor of the principle of a self-imposed curfew on women students. YES 1762 NO 74

II. If you answered YES on Question I, answer either A or Part B.

A. I am in favor of a self-imposed curfew system for all women students. YES 242 NO 179

B. I am in favor of a self-imposed curfew system excluding first semester freshmen. YES 1,487 NO 21

Passed by the women students, the results will be given to a committee from the AWS, working in close cooperation with the Dean of Women office. This committee will set up the "working mechanisms" of the new system (regulations, procedures, etc.).

The proposals then go back to the Selective Service and any suggestions from the students. From there, the bill will go to the Governor, who will present it to the students in the form of proposed amendments to the by-laws of the AWS constitution. This will take place sometime before the end of this semester.

(Continued on Page 8)

by Karen Woodard

The "No-Curfew" referendum was passed with an overwhelming majority of votes. 90% of the co-ed population turned out last Thursday, to make the election one of the most successful in years.

Commenting on the subject, Dean Zink said: "A self-imposed curfew system is based on the belief that college women are responsible young adults, capable of making use of the role of the AWS to help provide for and encourage the development of adult responsibility in the University community."

Results of the ballots are as follows:

I. I am in favor of the principle of a self-imposed curfew on women students. YES 1762 NO 74

II. If you answered YES on Question I, answer either A or Part B.

A. I am in favor of a self-imposed curfew system for all women students. YES 242 NO 179

B. I am in favor of a self-imposed curfew system excluding first semester freshmen. YES 1,487 NO 21

Passed by the women students, the results will be given to a committee from the AWS, working in close cooperation with the Dean of Women office. This committee will set up the "working mechanisms" of the new system (regulations, procedures, etc.).

The proposals then go back to the Selective Service and any suggestions from the students. From there, the bill will go to the Governor, who will present it to the students in the form of proposed amendments to the by-laws of the AWS constitution. This will take place sometime before the end of this semester.

(Continued on Page 8)
Draft teach-ins inform students

by Tom Atwell

"No deferment is safe," said a member of the Boston Draft Resistance Group at an anti-draft teach-in Monday night. He pointed out that the graduate student deferment was abolished for two reasons. First, the war in Vietnam needs officers, and college graduates are the best officer material. Second, the common pool of draftable men was getting shallow. In order to have more draftable men, the Selective Service abolished the graduate 2-S deferment.

The students were informed that the undergraduate 2-S deferment could be abolished as soon as the army felt another shortage of men. As it stands now, 30 to 40 per cent of the seniors and grad students in college will be drafted in the next nine months.

The Selective Service System serves for more than to get men into the army; it helps channel them into their "proper" position in society. The abolition of the government job deferment list was supposed to eliminate this channeling. However, according to the Boston Group member, this just made it more effective. It put the deferments in the hands of the local board, and the local board knows better than Washington what jobs are aiding the war effort in its area.

Students were informed that they should be creative in seeking deferments. If they fill out a conscientious objector form, it will have more force if the applicant has participated actively in anti-draft and anti-war movements earlier. It will also help to pass out anti-draft literature and to talk to the other men about the war at the induction physical.

The Boston Group member said that the army is afraid of people who do not do as they are told. If a person causes a commotion, he will be more likely to get a 4-F or 1-Y deferment.

Three student publications at the University of Maine in Orono have elected editors and business managers for the 1968-69 year. Top photo, left to right: Maria Due, editor, and Bruce Plimpton, business manager of The Maine Campus. Discussing newspaper composition is James Hallo of Business Week magazine, guest lecturer in journalism. Right photo, left to right: Harry Silverman, editor, and Alan Shevis, business manager of The Maine Campus. Discussing university composition is Thomas Plimpton, editor of The Maine Campus. The Ubris is a literary magazine which features short stories, poems, and essays, and is published once each semester. The Prism is the university yearbook.

Hudson Bus Lines will pick up at the Airlines Terminal and the Greyhound Terminal meeting all incoming airplanes and buses starting at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday morning and continuing through all incoming arrivals until midnight.

The Department of Student Services, in cooperation with Hudson Bus Lines, will provide bus service during the Spring Vacation period as follows:

Friday — March 29

Hudson Bus Lines will have a bus on campus, starting at the York Hall complex at 4:15 p.m. The bus will then proceed to Hilltop Cafeteria, East Commons, Hancock Hall, and Stodder Hall to pick up passengers, arriving at the Airline Terminal for the 5:30 p.m. flight. Since the regular bus service connecting with The Greyhound Lines will be in effect, no special buses will be provided to this terminal on Friday.

Sunday — April 7

Hudson Bus Line will pick up at the Airline Terminal and the Greyhound Terminal meeting all incoming airplanes and buses starting at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday morning and continuing through all incoming arrivals until midnight.

Buses will leave terminals as soon as passengers and luggage are loaded. Regular $3.50 fare will be charged. (After April 1, fare will be $3.40.) Any member of the university community, including faculty and staff members, is welcome to use this service.

Junior Year in New York

Three undergraduate colleges offer students from all parts of the country an opportunity to broaden their educational experience by spending their Junior Year in New York

New York University is an integral part of the exciting metropolitan community of New York City—the business, cultural, artistic, and financial center of the nation. The city's extraordinary resources greatly enrich both the academic program and the experience of living at New York University with the most cosmopolitan student body in the world.

This program is open to students recommended by the deans of the colleges to which they will return for their degrees. Courses may be taken in the School of Commerce, School of Education, Washington Square College of Arts and Science.

Write for brochure to Director, Junior Year in New York

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY
New York, N.Y. 10003

OFFICIAL NOTICE

SPRING VACATION BUS SERVICE

Friday, March 29, and Sunday, April 7, 1968

The Department of Student Services, in cooperation with Hudson Bus Lines, will provide bus service during the Spring Vacation period as follows:

Friday — March 29

Hudson Bus Lines will have a bus on campus, starting at the York Hall complex at 4:15 p.m. The bus will then proceed to Hilltop Cafeteria, East Commons, Hancock Hall, and Stodder Hall to pick up passengers, arriving at the Airline Terminal for the 5:30 p.m. flight. Since the regular bus service connecting with The Greyhound Lines will be in effect, no special buses will be provided to this terminal on Friday.

Sunday — April 7

Hudson Bus Lines will pick up at the Airline Terminal and the Greyhound Terminal meeting all incoming airplanes and buses starting at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday morning and continuing through all incoming arrivals until midnight.

Buses will leave terminals as soon as passengers and luggage are loaded. Regular $3.50 fare will be charged. (After April 1, fare will be $3.40.) Any member of the university community, including faculty and staff members, is welcome to use this service.

Changing of the guard

Have you heard of student savings? Would you like to receive a discount at many local merchants? If so, contact the Student Discount Service. 5 Grove St, Orono 866-4605. Ask Your Friends.

Junior Year in New York

Three undergraduate colleges offer students from all parts of the country an opportunity to broaden their educational experience by spending their Junior Year in New York

New York University is an integral part of the exciting metropolitan community of New York City—the business, cultural, artistic, and financial center of the nation. The city's extraordinary resources greatly enrich both the academic program and the experience of living at New York University with the most cosmopolitan student body in the world.

This program is open to students recommended by the deans of the colleges to which they will return for their degrees. Courses may be taken in the School of Commerce, School of Education, Washington Square College of Arts and Science.

Write for brochure to Director, Junior Year in New York

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY
New York, N.Y. 10003
Enjoying it less

Clinic smokers go cold turkey

Graves also points out that Don's list students smoke less than say two point students. Further, two pointers smoke less than others with lower grades. This study then may lead to a direct connection between the ability to think and the use of cigarettes.

Graves hopes that more clinical sessions will be held after vacation. His receptionist will list applicants who telephone 7511.

A coed who gave up smoking nine days ago finds she can drink more and without a hangover. Another, a Phys Ed. major, took a physical proficiency test recently and did better than ever.
Indicted draft critic speaks at UM

by Melanie Cyr

Michael Ferber spoke to university students of his work in the draft resistance movement in a town hall meeting on January 5th. He stated that the indictment was based on the activities of the draft resistance movement, which he described as a legal and moral movement.

Ferber was indicted for his participation in the drafting of a 100-person draft card, which he described as a “modest and legal” act. He also spoke about his participation in the Vietnam War protest movement, describing it as a “mass movement” that was made up of “ordinary people” who were opposed to the war.

Ferber also spoke about his involvement in the Selective Service System, which he described as a system that was designed to draft young men into the military without their consent. He said that the system was “inherently unjust,” and that it was “impossible” for young men to refuse to be drafted.

Ferber also spoke about his involvement in the anti-war movement, which he described as a “mass movement” that was made up of “ordinary people” who were opposed to the war.

The speaker was especially impressed with the actions of 70 priests in Irish-Catholic Boston who recom- mended celibacy to priests. He also praised the actions of other draft resisters who had been convicted of violating the Selective Service laws.

The speaker ended his talk by saying that he was “fully prepared to go to prison.” He also said that he was “fully prepared to be thrown in jail.”

The event was well-attended, with hundreds of people attending the meeting. The speaker was supported by a large group of people who were opposed to the war and to the Selective Service System.

The speaker ended his talk by saying that he was “fully prepared to go to prison.” He also said that he was “fully prepared to be thrown in jail.”

The event was well-attended, with hundreds of people attending the meeting. The speaker was supported by a large group of people who were opposed to the war and to the Selective Service System.
William Keinbusch is to be first Artist in Residence

The Art Department at the University of Maine has hired its first Artist in Residence. William Keinbusch will occupy his post during the months of March and April.

Five minute evaluation planned this semester

by Bob Haskell

During the week of April 8-12, the Student Senate will sponsor its third annual course evaluation program.

The goals of this year's evaluation are threefold. According to Bob Henderson, committee chairman, the program will inform students about courses and professors so they may select the courses and instructors best suited for them. It will serve to inform instructors of the areas in which their teaching is effective and ineffective. This project will also give students the means to constructively and unemotionally improve the education for which they are investing a significant portion of their lives and incomes.

The Course Evaluation Committee will attempt to evaluate all academic courses in which ten or more students are enrolled. Opinions derived from classes of less than ten students will not present a true evaluation of the course, the Committee feels.

In requesting class time, the Committee will not ask the professor to leave the classroom during the evaluation.

The results of the course evaluation program will be published in booklet form and sold for $2.50 a copy early next week before the November pre-registration period for spring semester.

Before publication, a statistical and written summary of each course will be shown to each respective professor. He will be left to complete the form at his own convenience. The Committee feels that professors will be willing to allot a segment of a class period during the evaluation week for their course evaluation. It is felt that students will approach the evaluation much more seriously in class.

If, however, a professor does not want his course evaluated during class time, the evaluation questionnaires will be distributed to students before a class period. The students will be asked to complete the forms during their spare time.

The lack of available class time will not mean that those courses will not be evaluated.

If students fill out the forms in their living quarters, a course may not be as accurately evaluated as if it were evaluated during class time. All of the forms will probably not be sent back to the Course Evaluation Committee. If the forms are filled out while the students are conducting a "bull session," the course may not be fairly evaluated.

The Committee feels that it is the interest of each professor to have the evaluation conducted during a class period. The final decision, however, will be left to each professor.

The Faculty Council will not be asked to review the course evaluation project this year. In this way the evaluation will be conducted on a strict student faculty basis. Each faculty member will not be influenced in deciding whether or not to allot class time for his course evaluation.

In requesting class time, the Committee will ask the professor to leave the classroom during the evaluation.

Preparing for a Graduate School or Professional School Exam? Test yourself with an ARCO Exam Preparation Book

Over 250,000 Candidates Have Succeeded with ARCO

How to Pass High on the Graduate Record Examination Aptitude Tests

417 pages $4.00

All books have complete sample tests with answers

G.E.A. ADVANCED TESTS ($3.95 each)

Biology

Business

Chemistry

Economics

English

Education

French

Geography

Geology

Government

History

Law School Admission Test

Medical College Admission Test

Law School Admission Test

Dental Aptitude Tests

Graduate Business Admission Test

Graduate Management Test

Officer Candidate Tests

Prof. Engineer Exam—Chemical (5.00)

Prof. Engineer Exam—Mechanical (5.00)

AT YOUR COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

ARCO PUBLISHING CO.

129 Park Ave, South, New York 10003

You can improve your intelligence in a short time by

1. Some outlook you have. Ed.
2. What's that? Ed.
3. Cool.
5. You sure play it safe.
6. Who's the guy?
7. I like to feel secure whenever I am.

Art, and life are hectic in New York...it's good to get away for a while.

Kienbusch's work has been exhibited in major cities across the nation. New York, Baltimore, Chicago, Cincinnati, Des Moines, Denver, Houston, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, San Francisco, St. Louis, Santa Barbara, and Toledo to name but a few. He has held one-man exhibits at Carnegie Hall, Princeton University, at Cornell University, at the Art Students League, and at several other centers of art. His art has received over ten awards, and he is represented in the private galleries of over fifty art collectors.

Kienbusch's appointment was made possible through a grant from the Eva Gebhardt-Graupel Foundation in New York. Upon leaving the University of Maine, he will return to his teaching position in Brooklyn. Until then, his office in Carnegie Hall is open to all.
high and dry

A Committee to Implement Our needs—A.C.T.I.O.N.—is an ad hoc committee of the Student Senate, presently exploring possible changes in University of Maine drinking regulations. Our present drinking policy was established when the University, perhaps, fit the overworked definition of a “cow college”—an isolated academic community specializing in agriculture. Who knows how many jugs our Twagi ancestors had stashed in the hay loft? But we would be willing to wager that there are quite a few pints in the dorms and fraternities these days. And short of a whole-sale, Sherlock Holmes style purge by the administration, the prospects of more University control over student drinking habits seems less efficient now than in 1868. There is no state law denying students on any college campus the right to drink in dorms or fraternities—or in a racktarker—provided that student is 21 and obeys the “State of Maine Laws Relating to Liquor.” Present University policy is controlled by the Board of Trustees and, with proper encouragement by students, could be modified. At present there are over 500 graduate students and more than 500 undergraduate GI’s on the Orono campus. A good many Juniors and most Seniors are 21. They have the right to drink, unrestricted by University supervision, subject only to the laws all Maine and United States citizens are.

University rules are not intended to restrict students, but establish some kind of necessary order in our University environment. In the case of alcohol, as in women’s hours, if we want a change it must come from our work—our insistence. The administration is not denying our every vice. We are. Maine has lagged behind other New England state universities in investigating realistic drinking policy. We may be left high and dry in the middle of the 20th century...

pentagame

I can hear them now—the President and his advisers, General Horsey, his storm troopers—all gathered together to discuss The Problem. “General Ky needs more men.”

“No, take the college men…”

“Yes I will” says Horsey.

“No, no, I mean as an example.”

“We’ll make examples of ‘em too.” replies Horsey, lost in a vision of khaki.

“You can not have the college men. And that’s final,” the President declares. “Their parents would scream.”

(Horsey sinks in his chair, toying with his bayonet.)

“Chief,” (the President is also Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces), “how about conscripting a few Detroit-type rioters?”

“Good idea.”

“No, it’ll never work,” sighs Lynn, “the Civil Liberties Union would have ‘em out in a couple o’ days. No, what we need is someone unprotected; someone that no one cares about.”

“I got it! I got it!” shouts Horsey, his eyes glazing. “You’ll love this one, Banes boy. We’ll draft graduate students. They got no one.”

“What about the next generation? Who will give leadership? Who will educate? Who will guide?”

“Hell, America is a nation of leaders, and look where its gotten us today.”

hope within the “system”

We salute those who voted on the curfew proposal and those on the AWS Executive Committee who brought it before us. We should all really rejoice that the wave of Student Power is at last lapping on Maine shores. Perhaps the fact that 90% of the university’s women got out and voted is not all that stupendous. Their motives were probably more selfish than libertarian. Of course, people tend to flock to the polls when the question is an offer of special privileges to those who want it. The point is, however, that the AWS elections and curfew referendum captured a surprising degree of attention among coeds. And that’s nothing to sneeze at on a traditionally apathetic campus. What’s more, Maine students have gotten a dose of an almost addictive medicine for their bitter resentment at being treated like mindless, helpless children for so long. The potion: the exercise of Student Power.

We recognize this 1960’s phenomenon, a kind of Jeffersonian Revolution, as the most exciting collegiate development in history. It is manifested in student protest movements, demands for a campus constitution (like the Disciplinary Code), and the maneuvering of student leaders to force radically liberal innovations (like drinking on campus). The AWS no-curfew proposal and coed approval is but a part of the greater demand for student freedom and insistence on self-government.

out-ranked

The UMC Contest Committee has released the list of prizes to be presented to the winner of that event. In selecting the prizes, the Committee attempted to keep up to the standards of the general theme of the contest. The winner received:

A recording of Admiral Gonzalez’s fire-up speech, given just before he and his crew met Dewey at Manila Bay.

The remnants of Van Gogh’s ear.

An autographed 8"-10" glossy of Prince Charles.

A Truman Capote voice simulator.

A “Take an arm-pit out to lunch this week” button.

Quotes of Chairman Mao, complete on three rolls of colored toilet tissue (red, of course).

A “John Reed’s alive and well in Canada” button.

A fifty pound sack of Lady Bird brand guano.

A “Ronald Reagan takes silicon injections” button.

The recipient of these prizes picked them up at the University Barn, where he also received a guided tour of said establishment.

odd

bodkins

The campus may even get wise. Next year, no curfews, girls may in passing dorms and fraternities. The campus may even get wise. However, there’s one thing that deserves some attention. After four years of same revolving food, I’d like to leave this place really hope for the sake of our deacons to come that the system will be changed.

grubby
Apartheid literally means separateness. This is the government policy of South Africa and Rhodesia, a policy that enforces segregation, political and economic discrimination against all non-European groups. If apartheid was used to develop separate states, it would be within a larger structure, then maybe the levels of apartheid would be of lesser concern to all. But apartheid means subjugation crushes us so completely it is not of European descent. Apartheid means blacks vote, whites vote, then making them lose their control of their destiny. South Africa has imposed repressive laws to pull back the development of non-whites—the Ban- tu Authorities Act of 1951, Bantu Education Act of 1952, Population Registration Act of 1950, Law and Order Maintenance Act of 1962 with its House Arrest Act. These laws have removed all opposition in South Africa. Rev. Ambrose Reeves, Professor Leo Kuper, Father Trevor Huddleson, Mandela and Chief Luthuli were either exiled or detained indefinitely because they opposed the government's policies.

South Africa and Rhodesia are countries that should aim at a multi-racial society, yet the government's aim is at a double culture. This creates hate among the various groups and a complete breakdown of communications. The worst evil of apartheid is that its legis- lates human behavior and oppresses change in the status quo. I write about my country so that it can be taken for what it is—a hell for all non-whites of the world. Yet it exists under western opinion, masquerading as a delin- quent, but as an equal and honorable member of the U.N. (even though this opinion op- poses the U.N. charter and human rights in South Africa justify its jailing non- Europeans for demanding their rights? How can it talk at the U.N. about world peace when it is a police state with Robin Island at its political prison camp? How can Rhodesia be called a rebel government and be ostracized from the world community when South Africa, its teacher and brother, is not? How can two standards exist in world opinion on the same crimes? In fact, how does the world reconcile its atti- tudes toward these races? The South African gold and diamonds are so big as to buy-off all these atrocities.

If South Africa goes unchecked, its influence will spread to Mozambique and An- gola. Rhodesia is already following South Africa's footsteps. Maybe it too will stop being the delinquent country and will be accepted, as South Africa is. Apartheid means Apartheid domination, which means that all other European groups will enjoy one and a half class citizenship, the Asian and mixed races second class and the African third class—in that order.

I'm sure we've all heard repeated- ly the same facts about the war which Senator McCarthy recited to us. Was I perhaps being presumptu- ous in assuming that we would hear some concrete proposals for the withdrawal from Viet Nam? Per- haps I was mistaken in expecting to learn precisely why he deserves our support. Can we be expected to support a candidate whose policy we don't even know? Perhaps on the Presidential ballot, there should be a space for each voter to write, in twenty-five words or less, how she thinks Senator McCarthy should stop the war. That's as good a guess as anyone could have made after Monday night.

I'm not saying that the ideals are wrong. I would merely like something concrete with which to back up these ideals. In this expectation I was bitterly disappointed.

Instead, 3500 people were sub- jected to a series of amusing and pointed, but rather irrelevant, sarcas- tic remarks. Any politician can stand at a podium and make politi- cal gags, and any idiot can laugh. Maybe Senator McCarthy should reverse the trend, and get out of politics and into show business.

Vicky Bose
Harriet Wilgen

basket-bawl

To the Editor:

Comment on Duncan Reno- old's letter last week, I would like to say that I, too, think it's a little ridiculous for him to decide to broadcast the same tournament games. However, I feel that the students of radio in a great way to let those people who are interested in, but unable to attend the games, "LX' the action.

May I remind you that the pro- fessional sports have a great place in the world. Yet it exists under the name of Senator McCarthy, not Senator McCarthy. I'd he eating better than you ever did. The food here isn't bad just hasn't been prepared to your liking. Either that or his mother is a lousy cook.

Vicki Winters

basket-bawl

To the Editor:

Recently an enormous pile of rub- bish was dumped in the private road to my house in the middle of the night. There was reason to be- lieve that it should be equally concerned about recognizing and certifying civil liberties, which students are also responsible for.

Recentley an enormous pile of rub- bish was dumped in the private road to my house in the middle of the night. There was reason to be- lieve that it should be equally concerned about recognizing and certifying civil liberties, which students are also responsible for.

Recently an enormous pile of rub- bish was dumped in the private road to my house in the middle of the night. There was reason to be- lieve that it should be equally concerned about recognizing and certifying civil liberties, which students are also responsible for.

Recentley an enormous pile of rub- bish was dumped in the private road to my house in the middle of the night. There was reason to be- lieve that it should be equally concerned about recognizing and certifying civil liberties, which students are also responsible for.

Recentley an enormous pile of rub- bish was dumped in the private road to my house in the middle of the night. There was reason to be- lieve that it should be equally concerned about recognizing and certifying civil liberties, which students are also responsible for.

Recentley an enormous pile of rub- bish was dumped in the private road to my house in the middle of the night. There was reason to be- lieve that it should be equally concerned about recognizing and certifying civil liberties, which students are also responsible for.

Recentley an enormous pile of rub- bish was dumped in the private road to my house in the middle of the night. There was reason to be- lieve that it should be equally concerned about recognizing and certifying civil liberties, which students are also responsible for.

Recentley an enormous pile of rub- bish was dumped in the private road to my house in the middle of the night. There was reason to be- lieve that it should be equally concerned about recognizing and certifying civil liberties, which students are also responsible for.
CLUG anyone?

Students play games

by Russ Potter

"Gimme four more houses."
The players voice echoed through North Stevens Hall Saturday morning as Professor Heidorn's Municipal Administration class played a game titled The Community Land Use Game for the first time. The game was originally developed by Dr. Allan Feldt of Cornell as a means of communicating knowledge about urban and regional planning, law, public administration, education, and related secondary school courses. According to Dr. Feldt, the game has been played with equal enthusiasm and involvement by professional planners, businessmen, and students.

The Bureau of Public Administration, part of the Department of Political Sciences, has acquired the Community Land Use Game for its state-wide educational program. According to Dana R. Baggett, director of the Bureau, operational gaming is a fairly recent innovation in planning education and has shown good promise as a means of communicating knowledge and experience not easily adapted to systematic teaching and not easily acquired by a person occupying a single position in public affairs.

CLUG is a miniature world in which a player may try out community planning ideas and profit from his mistakes without running the serious risks of the real world. CLUG challenges teams of players to build an urban utopia. Using a board representing a city of 500,000 people, data from the 1960 census, and 46 pages of rules, the players act out a range of civic roles. The teams compete against each other, but the fortunes of each team, as in the real world, are dependent on the fortunes of the whole community. Teams may cooperate, and collude against each other. They may enter into, and break, agreements.

The operator pays income to industries and interest on capital, collects taxes and transportation fees, sells all the services that the community needs but does not supply for itself, and enforces and interprets the game rules. He is a combination of God and the rest of the world.

Another operator keeps the books, assesses taxes, and in general acts as town clerk. The players collectively set tax rates and decide where utilities are to be built.

Even a good businessman can be hit by disaster in CLUG. Property depreciates. It can be renovated, but it may still be lost. Renovation simply reduces the odds.

The game of CLUG is not a rainy-day diversion. A set costs $10 and requires several hours just to learn. To play it successfully demands an understanding of urban planning, the financial know-how of a banker, the tax expertise of an accountant, and the marketing know-how of a computer. In fact, the directions include an IBM program to help with the bookkeeping.

ARE YOU ONE OF THE 800 ON CAMPUS STUDENTS who has not yet picked up his PRISM? Please check before the Wednesday after Spring Vacation at 103 Lord Hall.

PRISMS are now on sale at $7.50.

Lambda Chi Alpha and Chi Omega submitted these winning photos in the PRISM Greek Group Shot Contest

Chi Omega — Sorority on the Move

Lambda Chi Alpha

KEEPSAKE
— DIAMONDS —

DeGrasse Jewelers

watch and jewelry repairing

University of Maine

CLASS RINGS

Complete line of fraternity and sorority charms

38 Main St. Orono

Tel. 866-6032

UNIVERSITY STORES

"majoring in service"

I.A.W.S. REGION IV

CONVENTION

MARCH 30 - APRIL 3

YORK HALL

SAT. 9:00 to 7:30 P.M.
MON. 9:00 to 5:00 P.M.
TUES. 9:00 to 5:00 P.M.

BE SURE TO SEE THE UNIVERSITY STORES
DISPLAY OF MAINE BLACK BEARS
WITH SPECIAL A.W.S. RIBBONS

THE UNIVERSITY STORES IS OWNED AND OPERATED BY THE UNIVERSITY OF MAINE—SERVING THE CAMPUSES OF AUGUSTA, PORTLAND AND ORONO.

MAINE SUMMER

13Week Session —

Three-Week, Six-Week

Regular 6-Week Session —

July 8 to August 16

Enjoy the refreshing Maine climate while earning degree credits and graduate course work. Orono and Portland. Outstanding faculty and visiting lecturers. Conference, institute, workshop, tours. Arts Festival and Playhouse dormitory accommodations centrally located to lakeshore for recreation.

For details and registration information, write:

DIRECTOR OF SUMMER SESSIONS

Box 4, University of Maine

Orono, Maine

MAINE SUMMER
Young G.O.P. digs in, organizes for Nixon

The Young Republicans corps has entrenched itself in every college campus in Maine. Once having established itself, the troops work to influence each campus. Their methods include: sponsoring local Republican speakers on campus; sending delegates to the YR State Convention; hosting the local party banquet; and organizing "Go - Nixon - Run" campaigns.

Tentatively planned for lecture on the Maine campus are: Eldred Shurtleft, candidate for the National House of Representatives; and Steve Stern, V.P. of each house have the responsibility for arranging the menu, selling tickets and decorating the ballroom.

Most of the fanatics here at the University elect their officers at the beginning of the spring semester. A few of the houses have elections semi-annually and will vote again in the fall.

The president and vice-president of each house have the responsibility of making policies governing honors, pledging, finances, and especially, house rules.

The president or newly elected officers are:

Daniel Schorr, a CBS correspondent whose reports from the news capitals of the world have been familiar to television audiences for the past 20 years, will speak at a University Open House general session Tuesday morning, April 2, at the University of Maine’s Orono campus.

The lecture, which is open to the public without charge, is one of four special general sessions which have been scheduled during the three-day Open House which features a wide variety of topics and speakers. Many of the programs will revolve around the theme, In Quest of Excellence—Our Environment.

Schorr, who will be introduced by Dr. H. Austin Peck, U. M. vice president for academic affairs, will speak on East and West—The New Confrontation. Schorr has a broad assignment specializing in America’s social problems. From Capital Hill he travels around the U.S. covering major stories connected with poverty, urban renewal, social security, Medicare, air and water pollution and human and civil rights.

Schorr started his reporting career with the Christian Science Monitor and the New York Times, for whom he covered the Benelux countries. In 1953 he joined CBS News in the nation’s capital, and in 1955 he was sent to Russia to reopen the CBS News Bureau in Moscow which had been closed by Stalin. Three years later he was back in Washington for a second time after he had been excluded from Moscow.

From 1960 to 1966 Schorr was head of the CBS News Bureau for Germany and Eastern Europe. His departure from Germany was noted in the German Press and an editorial in Die Welt said Schorr painted for America "a picture of Germany characterized by objectivity and fairness. Schorr was always critical, but just." He was awarded the German Young Republicans are open to everyone and are staged on the first Wednesday of each month. Their scheduled pow-wow time is 7:30 in the Tootman Room. President Doug Dunton will be conducting with Russ van Arsdale on second half. Jonathan Makalip holds the pursesstrings and Luana Johnson serves as secretary.

Doug Dunton feels that participation in YR activities provides "an opportunity to express interest in and to work for the Republican Party." He mentioned that his club does keep in touch with national and state G.O.P. organizations, but most of our activity is local.

Last week’s winner:
No Winner
Quotation from Plato, The Republic
REMINDER: bring complete answer (the name of the speaker and occasion) to the store before Saturday at 5:00 P.M. following the ad.

The winner will receive a choice of any two Ship ’n’ shore blouses in stock.

Schorr's reporting career included covering the First Lady in Moscow and reporting on the World’s Fair in New York. Schorr was always critical of the Soviet Union, which he said was "out of orbit.

Extra Curricular Quiz

The landscape print, alive with color and movement, is 50% polyester, 40% rayon and 10% linen. Mandarin pop-on with easy-care ways, wonderfully soft. Sizes 28 to 38.
Maine's historical past finds home in library

Maine's historical past will have a new home at the University of Maine. The university hopes to house approximately 40,000 items in a new wing which measures approximately 40 by 120 feet. Eventually the university hopes to have approximately 60,000 items available. "This will mean that we can really get busy on valuable memorabilia of Maine's past," said C. MacCampbell, director of the library.

The proposed Collections Room and its adjoining stacks will be housed in a wing which measures approximately 40 by 120 feet. Eventually the wing will be large enough to contain a museum which will house other items of interest.

Among the Maine collections already in the university’s archives are the papers of Hannibal Hamlin, vice president under Abraham Lincoln, whose papers now reside in the library; the papers of Frank Condon, vice president under George Washington, who lived in the State of Maine, and the papers of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, 1742; and an 1841 shipping invoice, rules of work originally adopted by the members of the Town of Boston in 1774 and revised in 1800; and Baller’s Stage Register containing a full account of the principal events of the stage on the roads, including many of those published in Maine newspapers and magazines of the early and mid-1800s, including many of those published in Augusta in its publishing heyday.

A large number of books are included among Dr. Taylor’s gifts, including several of the papers of Hannibal Hamlin, vice president under Abraham Lincoln; the papers of Frank Condon, vice president under George Washington, who lived in the State of Maine, and the papers of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, 1742; and an 1841 shipping invoice, rules of work originally adopted by the members of the Town of Boston in 1774 and revised in 1800; and Baller’s Stage Register containing a full account of the principal events of the stage on the roads, including many of those published in Maine newspapers and magazines of the early and mid-1800s, including many of those published in Augusta in its publishing heyday.

A large number of books are included among Dr. Taylor’s gifts, including several of the papers of Hannibal Hamlin, vice president under Abraham Lincoln; the papers of Frank Condon, vice president under George Washington, who lived in the State of Maine, and the papers of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, 1742; and an 1841 shipping invoice, rules of work originally adopted by the members of the Town of Boston in 1774 and revised in 1800; and Baller’s Stage Register containing a full account of the principal events of the stage on the roads, including many of those published in Maine newspapers and magazines of the early and mid-1800s, including many of those published in Augusta in its publishing heyday.

A large number of books are included among Dr. Taylor’s gifts, including several of the papers of Hannibal Hamlin, vice president under Abraham Lincoln; the papers of Frank Condon, vice president under George Washington, who lived in the State of Maine, and the papers of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, 1742; and an 1841 shipping invoice, rules of work originally adopted by the members of the Town of Boston in 1774 and revised in 1800; and Baller’s Stage Register containing a full account of the principal events of the stage on the roads, including many of those published in Maine newspapers and magazines of the early and mid-1800s, including many of those published in Augusta in its publishing heyday.

A large number of books are included among Dr. Taylor’s gifts, including several of the papers of Hannibal Hamlin, vice president under Abraham Lincoln; the papers of Frank Condon, vice president under George Washington, who lived in the State of Maine, and the papers of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, 1742; and an 1841 shipping invoice, rules of work originally adopted by the members of the Town of Boston in 1774 and revised in 1800; and Baller’s Stage Register containing a full account of the principal events of the stage on the roads, including many of those published in Maine newspapers and magazines of the early and mid-1800s, including many of those published in Augusta in its publishing heyday.

A large number of books are included among Dr. Taylor’s gifts, including several of the papers of Hannibal Hamlin, vice president under Abraham Lincoln; the papers of Frank Condon, vice president under George Washington, who lived in the State of Maine, and the papers of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, 1742; and an 1841 shipping invoice, rules of work originally adopted by the members of the Town of Boston in 1774 and revised in 1800; and Baller’s Stage Register containing a full account of the principal events of the stage on the roads, including many of those published in Maine newspapers and magazines of the early and mid-1800s, including many of those published in Augusta in its publishing heyday.

A large number of books are included among Dr. Taylor’s gifts, including several of the papers of Hannibal Hamlin, vice president under Abraham Lincoln; the papers of Frank Condon, vice president under George Washington, who lived in the State of Maine, and the papers of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, 1742; and an 1841 shipping invoice, rules of work originally adopted by the members of the Town of Boston in 1774 and revised in 1800; and Baller’s Stage Register containing a full account of the principal events of the stage on the roads, including many of those published in Maine newspapers and magazines of the early and mid-1800s, including many of those published in Augusta in its publishing heyday.
Draft opinions

"(Continued from Page 1)"n a highly motivated individual wants to enter graduate school today—not four years from now. Therefore, this system could develop a cultural set-back for our society and a personal set-back for an aggressive individual."

Jim Henneberry, Graduate M.B.A.

"The new regulations will not affect me anymore, since I joined the National Guard. It did defer me last semester however, as I was taken out of school and sent on active duty. I am still against re-moving grad. school students. What will happen in 5 years if the war is over we'll have to do doctors and dentists running banks and building bridges and running the country and economy as a whole? I hate to think about it, I believe this will definitely leave an educational gap that will take many years to refill. Can we afford that?"

Penny Robinson, Senator.

"I am a girl, so this new ruling doesn't directly involve me. However, when all the economists, political scientists, businessmen, engineers with technical know-how, potential lawyers, have gone to Vietnam or elsewhere, perhaps it will effect me—there won't be anybody left to draft but women. Trying to disregard my personal involvement in the Vietnamese war, perhaps, I resent this new ruling because our brains are needed in the mainten- ance of a united nation, not for fighting in a frugal attempt to win an unjust war."

Joy Jettew, Senator.

My fiance was accepted at law school. I had applied for a job in social work. Tentative arrangements were made for an ap-parition. Both the jobs were set aside for July. This was our situation before last year's ruling was made, technically, called changed. Now, no law school in the state has any openings for women anywhere for either of us to go. Yes, the new ruling has greatly affected our lives and left us in a state of in-decision, as it has of many of our friends. I am in opposition to our present policy in Vietnam and think it's a shame that American women leave their families and homes and face the future in which we can't even call our own!"

by Karen A. Marks

The biggest and only event scheduled for this week will be a dance this Thursday night in Langelot Hall. Sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, the tunes will continue from 8 to 11:30 p.m. Have a great vacation!!

The Orono Restaurant catered its Delta Zeta's initiation Sunday, March 24. The girls also enjoyed a savory dinner prepared by Alpha Gamma Rho March 21.

Best wishes to the new officers of Lambda Chi Alpha: Robert Worley, President; William Force, Vice President; Ron Randole, Secretary; John Waterhouse, Treasurer; Bob Shuman, Pledge Trainer; Stan Cowan, Social Chairman.

Congratulations to Sandra Scott, U. of M. School of Nursing, Portland, pinned to Bruce MacPadden, Washing-of the University of Maine, presents: ANNIVERSARY AC-niest in the Orono area.

The Maine Campus

March 28, 1968

UMSCC

Maine debate team impresses in D.C.

Two opposing records with the magic number being two were wracked up this last weekend by Maine debate team. Larry Cole and Joe Pietraski returned home with an outstanding 4-2 record from the American University in Washington D.C. They took their only losses from the universities of Michigan and Vermont. Their victories were well-executed over Southern Florida, Lassale, Loyola, and Swarthmore. Larry and Joe's record was especially notable since even the team which won the tournament, out of thirty eight schools, compiled only a 5-3 record.

On the other end of the scale two changed places and saw a 3-4 record brought back from the University of Massachusetts novice tournament. Two new team combinations, Diane Johnson and Paul Despres, and Ellen Conant and Mary-Louise Ramsdell each lost three out of six. One out of eight schools represented, Maine's final standing was seventh. Since there were so few teams there, either one team or the other met all the schools. The two victories for the day were over Emerson and URI. A rebuilding year for the Maine debate team? Let's hope so. If it is, next year's team has a lot of experience to lose in starting off with.

A Corvette digs in to make one of the turns laid down on the Steam Plant parking lot last Sunday. Despite still-visible snow banks, the University of Maine Sports Car Club decided to set out the cones for a gymkhana. This was the first event of the spring for the UMSCC, whose capers last fall came to be quite popular among Sunday afternoon sports fans.

Sports Calendar

Monday, April 2—Varsity Baseball, Wake Forest at Wake Forest, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Tuesday, April 2—Varsity Baseball, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Wednesday, April 3—Varsity Baseball, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Thursday, April 3—Varsity Baseball, Pfeiffer College at Methodist, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Friday, April 5—Varsity Baseball, Elon College at Elon College, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Saturday, April 5—Varsity Rifle, New England Championship at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, 9:00 p.m.

---

UMSCC

Maine debate team impresses in D.C.

Two opposing records with the magic number being two were wracked up this last weekend by Maine debate team. Larry Cole and Joe Pietraski returned home with an outstanding 4-2 record from the American University in Washington D.C. They took their only losses from the universities of Michigan and Vermont. Their victories were well-executed over Southern Florida, Lassale, Loyola, and Swarthmore. Larry and Joe's record was especially notable since even the team which won the tournament, out of thirty eight schools, compiled only a 5-3 record.

On the other end of the scale two changed places and saw a 3-4 record brought back from the University of Massachusetts novice tournament. Two new team combinations, Diane Johnson and Paul Despres, and Ellen Conant and Mary-Louise Ramsdell each lost three out of six. One out of eight schools represented, Maine's final standing was seventh. Since there were so few teams there, either one team or the other met all the schools. The two victories for the day were over Emerson and URI. A rebuilding year for the Maine debate team? Let's hope so. If it is, next year's team has a lot of experience to lose in starting off with.

A Corvette digs in to make one of the turns laid down on the Steam Plant parking lot last Sunday. Despite still-visible snow banks, the University of Maine Sports Car Club decided to set out the cones for a gymkhana. This was the first event of the spring for the UMSCC, whose capers last fall came to be quite popular among Sunday afternoon sports fans.

Sports Calendar

Monday, April 2—Varsity Baseball, Wake Forest at Wake Forest, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Tuesday, April 2—Varsity Baseball, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Wednesday, April 3—Varsity Baseball, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Thursday, April 3—Varsity Baseball, Pfeiffer College at Methodist, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Friday, April 5—Varsity Baseball, Elon College at Elon College, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Saturday, April 5—Varsity Rifle, New England Championship at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, 9:00 p.m.

---

UMSCC

Maine debate team impresses in D.C.

Two opposing records with the magic number being two were wracked up this last weekend by Maine debate team. Larry Cole and Joe Pietraski returned home with an outstanding 4-2 record from the American University in Washington D.C. They took their only losses from the universities of Michigan and Vermont. Their victories were well-executed over Southern Florida, Lassale, Loyola, and Swarthmore. Larry and Joe's record was especially notable since even the team which won the tournament, out of thirty eight schools, compiled only a 5-3 record.

On the other end of the scale two changed places and saw a 3-4 record brought back from the University of Massachusetts novice tournament. Two new team combinations, Diane Johnson and Paul Despres, and Ellen Conant and Mary-Louise Ramsdell each lost three out of six. One out of eight schools represented, Maine's final standing was seventh. Since there were so few teams there, either one team or the other met all the schools. The two victories for the day were over Emerson and URI. A rebuilding year for the Maine debate team? Let's hope so. If it is, next year's team has a lot of experience to lose in starting off with.

A Corvette digs in to make one of the turns laid down on the Steam Plant parking lot last Sunday. Despite still-visible snow banks, the University of Maine Sports Car Club decided to set out the cones for a gymkhana. This was the first event of the spring for the UMSCC, whose capers last fall came to be quite popular among Sunday afternoon sports fans.

Sports Calendar

Monday, April 2—Varsity Baseball, Wake Forest at Wake Forest, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Tuesday, April 2—Varsity Baseball, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Wednesday, April 3—Varsity Baseball, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Thursday, April 3—Varsity Baseball, Pfeiffer College at Methodist, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Friday, April 5—Varsity Baseball, Elon College at Elon College, North Carolina, 3:00 p.m.

Saturday, April 5—Varsity Rifle, New England Championship at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, 9:00 p.m.
Riflers top wins at NRA match

by D. A. Steward

Last Saturday a four-man contingent from the University of Maine won both the international and conventional type matches of the New England National Rifle Association Sectional competition held at Norwich University, Northfield, Vermont. The four gunners from Maine also swept the first four places of the individual competition, with Dennis Burgess taking top honors and thus making himself an All-American candidate.

This was the first time the Maine Bears had ever attended the NRA match, despite the fact that they have gone undefeated in dual matches for four straight years and 27 matches. Maine has also won the New England Championship for the last two years.

In conventional shooting, Maine took first with 1113 points, and host Norwich was second with 1126. The UMainers also won the international national match with 1079, with Boston College seconding at 1026.

The primary differences in the two styles of shooting is the type of target used, and offers shooters from all basic positions in both styles. Also attending the matches were Boston University, Nassau College, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the Coast Guard Academy.

Of the 83 individual competitors, Burgess, a senior co-captain from New Sharon, Maine, posted the high total of 675 for both matches. His scores will be sent to an NRA committee to be compared to those of other regional champions on the basis of overall shooting averages, scholastic achievements, and NRA sectional scores, with the purpose of selecting this year's 10 All-American shooters.

The coach of the Bear rifle team, Mr. George Pritchard said, "Burgess has an excellent chance to make the All-American list." Pritchard also disclosed that Burgess has an exceptional record in fact already been nominated for the spot by some area coaches and will be an official. Selection of the 10 shooters will be made in May.

Jim Bedford, a senior at Maine, posted the second-place score of 666, followed by Dave St. Cyr, Maine junior, at 558, and Charles Smart, another UM junior at 549.

Maine and Norwich worked all the way to compete at this year's New England Championships, to be held at Maine April 6. Maine will be trying for its third consecutive New England title at this time.

A four-man rifle team from the U of M copped top honors at the New England National Rifle Association Sectional Match held at Norwich University. The Black Bear riflemen won both the international and conventional style matches at Norwich. Members of the team are, l. to r., Charles Smart, James Bouf, David St. Cyr, and Dennis Burgess.

Shootin' bears

Track roundup for season shows success

The Bears in dual meets won one last two and first one had placed a surprising second in the Yankee Conference Championships held at Orono.

Among the highlights for the season was Joe Dahl's new university two mile record of 9:579 set in the meet against New Hampshire. Paul Richardson winning leap of 22.5" in the Yankee Conference long jump. Dick Stetson's near university record in the 60 yard dash despite being nipped by New Hampshire's Bob Crellin, who ran the distance in 6.2 seconds. The Maine relay team's Yankee Conference one mile record of 3:24.5. Running on the relay team when the mark was established were Gerry Stelmak, Stetson, Dave Benis and Pete Viehboy.

The Maine Frosh also had a successful season, winning three and dropping two in dual meets. Leading the way for the Frosh was Jim Johnson who set a new university freshman record of 1:4:11.4" in the pole vault. Bob Whalen in the hurdles, long jump and shot put, and Tom Freed in the 100 yard run.

Track candidates

Spring track practice begins April 8. Candidates for both the varisty and freshman squads should notify Coach Stevens of their intentions prior to the opening of practice. Candidates for the weight events are particularly needed.

The University of Maine indoor track team developed rapidly this season, headed by several promising sophomores and juniors. The Black Bears finished a surprising second in the Yankee Conference. Shown, front row, left to right, are assistant coach Jim Ballinger, Alan Howard of Orono, Tim Marceuller of Bangor, John Godfrey of Metanurk, R. L. Charles Nichols of Windsor, Conn., Sid Edmund of Bangor, Mass., Dave Howard of Sebago Lakes, and assistant coach Ivan Braun, Second row, left to right, are coach Edmund Stevens, Paul Richardson of Dexter, Larry Richards of Dexter, Doug Homan of Temple, Pa., Gerald Stelmak of Auburn, Dick Stetson of Burlington, Arla, Dave Benis of Portland, and Gene Bemiss of Auburn. Third row, left to right, are Joseph Dahl of Old Town, Al Legasse of Bangor, Dave Brown of South Portland, Peter Viehboy of Manhasset, N.Y., Dale Small of Waterville, and Steve Turner of Augusta.

Why should a traditional tattersall have a medallion on the back?

It keeps the point properly centered and the front of the tie neater. Colorful classic, this tie lamellar with its British hunt inheritance adds special dash to any traditional wardrobe. Resello, Empire State Bldg., N.Y., N.Y. 10001.

P.S. All Resello traditional ties have a medallion on the back.

HERFF - JONES

presents

Official University of Maine Class Rings

on display

Main Lobby . . Memorial Union

Tuesday and Thursday 1-3 P.M.

Labyrinth is COMING

The Student move to the story, brick by brick, interaction between Halls and.

The new integral computer building. Six floors to be completed. Partial population required. The computer center and a place where the students have been trained will be provided. All of these equipment will be utilized.

A large kitchen is also incorporated. Dr. Graves is of the patients' art of old beds, a center system will be used in the nurses' lounge with a tele use by patients.

April

Bill Yates

CHOICE 48, a legislative presidential idea of Bob Harrington, State University President, Harris was indicated as the candidate who college students on the same time in one day.

Last summer, Harris was a candidate for the college's new president. Harris then selected leaders from around campus serve as a Board, formulate policy and ballot.

More efficient and increased by two major improvements. A computer center and a place where the students have been trained will be provided. All of these equipment will be utilized.

A large kitchen is also incorporated. Dr. Graves is of the patients' art of old beds, a center system will be used in the nurses' lounge with a tele use by patients.

N"