General Alumni Association, University of Maine
An Unrestricted Bequest of $2,000

“By unceasing devotion to the highest ideals of religious and social attainment, he achieved a peculiarly high goal in his life work . . . . and was regarded as a leader in every cause for civic and social welfare.”

These words of tribute to the late Reverend Alson H. Robinson '01, were written by a member of his parish at the time of his retirement after twenty-five years of valuable service to the Unitarian Church and community of Plainfield, New Jersey.

His interests and energy seemed almost boundless. He had an unusual interest in the international situation and worked tirelessly for better world relations and enduring peace. His hard work, tactfulness, and sincerity earned for him the high esteem and confidence of leaders in his profession and in his community. When he retired in 1945 after nearly forty years of Christian service, he was honored as few persons have been honored in his community.

Throughout his busy life, he found time to maintain his interest in his Alma Mater, of which he was extremely proud. On many occasions he made known his deep appreciation of what the University had done for him and how much it meant to him. He responded generously to every call from the University.

In his will, the Reverend Mr. Robinson left an unrestricted bequest of $2,000 to the University. With the complete approval of Mrs. Robinson the money is to be used for “The Alson H. Robinson Room” in the Memorial Union. The room will be used for the offices of the Student Religious Association.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

By Greg Macfarlan '52
President of the General Senate

The University of Maine campus is a community. And like any community it requires an active government. Currently, there are three major legislative groups devoted to governing the student body.

The main legislative group, which represents the entire student body, is the General Student Senate. The Constitution of the General Senate was adopted by a vote of the student body in 1947. It has grown to assume the legislative power of concerning itself with activities of all student organizations, when those activities affect the general student welfare. It has grown to assume the executive power of committee appointment as the need for Senate action or investigation arises. It has grown to assume the judicial power of concerning itself with matters relating to student conduct and standards of behavior.

Senate Composition

In composition the General Senate represents as wide a range of student opinion as it is possible to secure. It has four officers, elected by the student body in the general spring elections, nine ex-officio members representing the Women's Student Government Association, the Interfraternity Council, the Panhelmen Council, the Off-Campus men, the Off-Campus women, and the four class presidents.

Its elected members include one representative from each of the Cabins, Trailers, and South Apartments, one from the Northern Fraternity Ward, one from the Southern Fraternity Ward, one from Oak and Hannibal Hamlin Halls, two from Dunn and Corbett Halls, three from the Women's Dormitories, and two from North Dorms. These twenty-four members meet twice monthly.

Although the floor is not open for its participation, the public is invited to attend all General Senate sessions. Professor Gerald J. Grady of the History and Government Department was recently selected as advisor to the group, and has already proven of considerable help with his experienced judgment in the field of government.

Men's Senate Abolished

The legislative power of the General Senate to concern itself with the activities of other student organizations was well tested this past fall when an investigating committee was appointed by the President to study the possibility of abolishing the moribund Men's Senate. The Men's Senate had been an effective group since its inception in 1936, however, it was evident that the delegation of powers which it had once secured was now being practiced by similar smaller men's organizations. The General Senate felt a deep interest.

Preliminary investigation revealed a condition of apathy on the part of the 1950-51 Men's Senate group.

The General Senate conducted a special ballot vote among the men on campus to determine their interest in the group. The vote, although light, registered a 16 to 1 majority in favor of abolishing the Men's Senate. Regarding this vote as a plebescite of the men students, the General Senate formally disbanded the organization. In its place, a new and more effective organization has arisen—the Central Men's Dormitory Committee.

Special Committees

The executive power of the General Senate has manifested itself in the creation of Senate Special and Standing Committees. Such committees include the Nominations Committee, the Constitution Committee, the Winter Carnival Committee, the Freshman Handbook Committee, and the Elections Committee. The duties and responsibilities of these committees are fairly obvious. From time to time it is necessary to create a committee to investigate proposed student action on questions of campus-wide interest. Most recently the General Senate created a committee to investigate the possibility of a promotional program for increased student enrollment at the University.

Each committee named by the General Senate is responsible for the presentation of an annual report in May. The responsibility for committee membership does not end on the student level. The General Senate is vested with the power to name student members to twelve student-faculty committees, the more widely known of which are the Maine Day Committee, the Good Will Chest Committee, the Union Building Committee, and the Student-Faculty Relationships Committee.

Citizenship Committee

The judicial power assumed by the Senate is vested largely in its Campus Citizenship Committee, the chairmanship of which is constitutionally delegated to the Vice President of the General Senate. Through this committee and the Senate Executive Committee, the problems of student conduct and behavior may be reviewed and courses of action recommended to the administration.

Independent projects which are attempted aside from the General Senate's established pattern of annual operation demand the leadership of responsible and interested students. At the request of President Hauck, the General Senate embarked upon a program of Leadership Conferences last fall. These conference meetings were designed to promote an (Continued on Page 4)
Alumnus Favors Greek Week

Interfraternity Council officers discuss with "Joe" McCusker '17 his proposal of a Greek Week to replace Hell Week. Left to right, John A. "It's a crime—almost a sacrilege—to paddle a pledge into a fraternity," "Joe" McCusker '17 told nearly 700 fraternity members and pledges at a meeting in the Women's Gymnasium last month.

Chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference Committee on Greek Week, Colonel McCusker, who wrote the words and music to the Maine Band Song, urged the complete abolition of Hell Week at Maine.

The New York industrialist, permanent president of the Class of 1917, charged that old-style Hell Week is a peril to health, scholarship, and chapter unity.

"Greek Week," he said, "provides a thorough and sympathetic understanding between fraternities, and forges a stronger link between the fraternities and the University."

The speaker outlined a typical Greek Week program that would occupy three or four days and begin with the members and pledges attending church in a body. A luncheon would follow with faculty advisors or alumni members as guests. An evening session could be devoted to fraternity and chapter history with accent on distinguished alumni members. Other pledge meetings could be devoted to teaching that loyalty to a fraternity fosters loyalty to its parent institution. He advocated exchange luncheons with other fraternities and stressed the need for emphasis on institutional history.

"More than 100 colleges and universities have Greek Week today," he concluded "Get in step!"

An active alumnus, Colonel McCusker is a former member of the Alumni Council and a past president of the Boston alumni group. He has also been associated with the New York alumni organization. He is often called upon to lead song sessions at campus and alumni gatherings.

COMMUNITY LECTURE SERIES

Edward Weeks, editor of The Atlantic, opened the University-Community Lecture Series on March 12 in the Women's Gymnasium.

Speaking before a large and appreciative audience of students, faculty, and citizens of the surrounding communities, Mr. Weeks devoted most of his lecture to the history of The Atlantic and the life and work of a magazine editor, which included many interesting anecdotes about the prominent people with whom he has associated.

At an afternoon meeting of students in advanced writing courses and others interested in editing and writing, Mr. Weeks spoke informally about the magazine field from both the editor's point of view and the contributor's escape.

S5,000 FOUNDATION GIFT

The Great Northern Paper Company has been named the first Multiple Scholarship Underwriter in the University of Maine Pulp and Paper Foundation.

The company has subscribed $5,000 toward the Foundation's scholarship fund.

Prof. John B. Calkin, secretary of the Foundation, said the $5,000 would be added to the Foundation's scholarship fund for "worthy students majoring in pulp and paper technology."

exchange of ideas among the administration, the faculty, and members of the General Senate regarding two specific areas student-faculty relationships and student activities. The suggestions offered for improvement in these two areas more than justified this Conference project.

Intercollegiate Conference

This year, the General Senate has realized that a need exists for more collective action on common student government problems. On April 26, it is sponsoring the first Intercollegiate Conference of Maine Student Governments to be held since 1949. Early in the year, the Campus Mayor petitioned the Senate for support in his campaign to awaken student interest regarding the office of Mayor and the duties attendant to it. The General Senate, in response, approved the annual awarding of a Mayor's Trophy to the successful candidate.

Class elections, a responsibility of the General Senate, were conducted in November. Through the administration of the election Committee, plus excellent campaigning by the candidates, the total student vote mounted 19% over last year's total to an encouraging 47%.

Women's Government

Working co-operatively with the General Student Senate is the Women's Student Government Association. Every woman is automatically enrolled as a member of the Association. WSGA encourages active participation in self-government, promotes high standards of group living, and fosters individual responsibility.

The WSGA Council, composed of twenty-seven women, acts as an executive committee for the Association. The Council represents women through the dormitory presidents, six sorority representatives, four senior residents, the president of Off-Campus Women, and elected officers of the organization.

In the fall of the year, WSGA sponsors a Student-Faculty Tea, the purpose being to develop a close harmony of interests between students and faculty. Last fall more than one hundred seventy-five women attended. Last semester the annual WSGA Leadership Conference was ably directed by Janice Boyce.

The student legislative bodies have proven only as effective as the student body wishes them to be. With continued support from all segments of the campus community, the General Senate, WSGA, and the new Men's Central Dormitory Committee will meet the needs of the student body in government, and act as a proving ground for increased student responsibility and respect.

THE MAINE ALUMNUS

APRIL, 1952
Naval Officer Promoted—

George L. Nyström '41 has been promoted to the grade of Commander in the Naval Reserve. He is currently assigned as Technical Officer for the Inspector of Machinery, USN, and Naval Inspector of Ordnance, Schenectady, N. Y.

Mr. Nyström received his B. S. in chemical engineering (Pulp and Paper) in 1941 and his M. S. in chemical engineering in 1947. In 1949 he qualified for his State of Maine Professional Engineering License.

From 1947 until recalled to active duty in November 1950, he worked for the Eastern Corporation Bangor. During that time he also served as Commanding Officer of Organized Surface Division 1-16, USNR, Bangor.

As a gunnery officer during World War II he served on the staff of several admirals for assaults at Normandy, Southern France, Iwo Jima, and Okinawa. He was awarded the Navy Commendation and the Navy Unit Citation.

He is married to the former Dorothy Wing '41. They have two sons, Harry C. and Jon W. The Nyströms now live in Schenectady.

Point 4 Director—

Dr. Paul J. Findlen '31 has been named to head a three-man commission on Point 4 to Jordan. The Acting Director of Technical Cooperation in Jordan is now in that Middle East country where he will work with Jordanian officials in establishing the organization for the Point 4 program.

Dr. Findlen is an agricultural economist with wide experience both in the United States and abroad.

After receiving the B. A. degree in agriculture at the University of Maine and the Ph. D. in agricultural economics at Cornell he was with Cornell's agricultural experiment station from 1935 to 1942. From 1942 to 1951 he was the Department of State, he was with the Department of Agriculture's extension service.

He previously served on economic missions to Poland (1947), Ireland (1948 - 49), and Jordan (1951).
With the ATHLETIC TEAMS

BY WALT SCHURMAN ’52

WO varsity and two freshman teams closed out their schedules and the intramural basketball program came to a close last month as Maine athletes wound up the winter sports program.

Coach Romeo Rankin's varsity basketeers gained one victory and suffered two losses last month to finish the season with a 7-12 record.

In a game that saw a new scoring record set in New Hampshire’s fieldhouse, the Durham Wildcats laced the Bears 86-52. New Hampshire raced away to a 26-9 first period lead and was never in trouble after that.

Colby Edges Maine

Back on the home court, Maine went all-out and almost knocked Colby’s highflying Mules right out of the sky. With a bid to the NAIB New England District Tournament in its pocket on the strength of a fine season, Colby came to Orono for a breather. The Mules went home with a 62-60 verdict, but only after Maine had pushed the state champions right down to the wire.

Showing none of the class they displayed in the Colby game, the Bears outlasted Bowdoin to wind up the 19-game schedule with a 69-64 overtime win.

Only two of Maine’s varsity hooperst will graduate this year. Capt. Jack Christie, Ellsworth Falls, and Bunny Parady, Old Town.

Series Results

Coach Rankin’s men finished the season in a tie with Bowdoin for second place in the State Series, well behind Colby’s undefeated Mules.

In the Yankee Conference Maine finished fifth with a 2-6 record.

Norris led the Black Bear scoring parade. In 13 games he averaged 15.7 points. Capt. Christie and Churchill tallied 13.4 and 13.3, respectively, in 19 games.

VARSTY TRACK

The varsity indoor track squad gained a 4-1 record in five dual meets this winter. Coach Chester Jenkins’ thinclads romped over an informal team from Springfield College 89-37, lost to Boston University 71%-54%, and edged Northeastern 63%-62½. In earlier meets they had defeated Bates and New Hampshire. Against Northeastern and New Hampshire, Maine won by identical scores.

In both meets Maine men took firsts in the final events to win by ½ of a point.

FRESHMAN TRACK

Led by Bill Calkin, Orono, the freshman indoor track team went undefeated over its three-game schedule. Calkin won 10 firsts in the hurdlers and dashes as the Yearlings defeated Deering High 7-43, Portland High 6-3-4, and Maine Central Institute 1-2-4.

AWARD BANQUET

Eighty-five students, representing four varsity and three freshman teams, received letter and numeral awards at the annual winter sports award banquet on March 18.

Team captains elected for the coming year were: varsity track, Clift Nielsen, Cape Elizabeth; and varsity rifle, Norman Schlaack, Elberon. N. J. Honorary team captains named for this year’s teams were varsity basketball, Jack Christie, Ellsworth Falls; varisty ski, Grady Erickson, Ashburnham, Mass., freshman basketball, George Burke, Wollaston, Mass.; varsity track, Bill Calkin, Orono; and freshman rifle, Jay Potsdam, North Abington, Mass.

INTRAMURALS

Phi Eta Kappa controlled a last period rally by Phi Gamma Delta to take a 48-45 victory to clinch the fraternity intramural basketball championship.

Phi Eta’s 16th consecutive win gave it possession of the Intramural Athletic Association basketball plaque.

For defending champion Phi Gam, it was the second loss in 15 games.

DR. SMALL RETIRES

Dr. G. William Small, for 22 years coach of the University of Maine tennis team, has announced his retirement as coach of this sport. Dr. Garland B. Russell, associate professor of Education, has been named as his successor.

Dr. Small will continue as a professor of English language and literature at Maine but has decided to bow out of the tennis picture because of the year-round strain of coaching.

Before coming to Maine, Dr. Small coached tennis at the University of Washington in Seattle for two years. As a student he played on teams at the University of Tennessee, Johns Hopkins, and Oxford University in England.

He came to Orono in 1929 and soon organized an informal tennis club in an attempt to revive the sport.

His coaching and training paid off in 1934 when Maine tennis players entered intercollegiate competition. The sport was then officially recognized for the year and a major "M" was awarded to outstanding players on the team. The same year a freshman club was started. In 1950 tennis was advanced to the status of a major sport.

Dr. Small organized intramural tournaments and summer school teams and the training his charges received paid off in intercollegiate victories.

Tennis soon became a year-round sport at Maine with training shifting in and outdoors depending on the weather. Following World War II, Dr. Small took his varsity players on annual preseason southern trips to Maryland and Virginia during the spring vacation.

Dr. Small’s coaching made Maine a power in New England tennis circles and brought his teams four New England Conference titles and two state championships. The 1951 July issue of International Tennis Review featured Maine as the outstanding New England team, for winning both the Yankee Conference and State titles undefeated.

Dr. Small is pleased that Dr. Russell has been named his successor: “Dr. Russell is an excellent player and a good organizer,” he said. “He will have my active support.”

FROSH BASKETBALL

Coach Bob Holloway’s frosh basketball team finished the season with a 6-3 record. The first-year men notched single wins over Coburn Classical Institute 85-54, Hebron Academy 81-51, Ricker College 65-49, Madison Academy School 65-53, and twice set back Husson College 77-61, and 61-54.

The three schools that succeeded in outscoring the frosh were Maine Maritime Academy 86-57, Maine Central Institute 87-61, and Higgins Classical Institute 67-65.
Music Festival Host—
Invitations have been sent to all high schools in northern and eastern Maine for the Eastern Maine Music Festival to be held at the University on May 17.

Prof. Lewis Niven, Head of the Department of Music, is in charge of arrangements and will be the University’s official host. An estimated 2500 music students will participate in all phases of group playing.

Professor Niven is currently serving as chairman of Contemporary Music for the Maine Music Educators. He is also a member of the national committee for Contemporary Music in American Schools.

The festival will be climaxed by an evening concert in Memorial Gymnasium by an orchestra made up of the best musicians of all the schools.

Back To Paris—
Professor Emeritus of English Stanley R. Ashby sailed for Europe on March 7. Professor Ashby and his son, after a sojourn in Paris during the first half of 1951, returned to America and visited Bangor last fall.

They decided to return to Paris once more, and sailed on the Steamship Ryndam of the Holland-America Line from Hoboken, N. J.

Poultry Speaker—
Frank D. Reed of the Agricultural Extension Service was one of the speakers at a conference of Extension poultry specialists from northeastern states at New York City last month.

His subject was the practices used in the vaccination of poultry. His address was based largely upon work done in Maine in that field during the past few years.

Do You Remember When?
Prof. Karl Pomroy Harrington (left) and Prof. John Homer Huddilston are shown here shortly after they joined the faculty in 1899 as Professors of Latin and Greek, respectively. Maine State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts had only recently become the University of Maine. These men were among the first to teach the humanities at Maine.

Professor Harrington, who came to Maine from the University of North Carolina, remained on the staff until 1905. Professor Huddilston continued as an active member of the faculty until 1942, when he became Professor Emeritus of Ancient Civilization.

Through 43 years, Professor Huddilston taught several related subjects including Greek, Greek Civilization, Greek Literature, Art History, and Ancient Civilization.

He was one of the founders of Maine’s chapter of Sigma Chi in 1902. His fraternity’s 50th anniversary publication was dedicated to Professor Huddilston for his many years of interest and help.
He now resides in Orono.

Faculty Writings—
A paper entitled “The Variations at Constant Density of the Dielectric Breakdown of Paper With Air Resistance” by Dean Emeritus Paul Cloke H’34 and K. K. Khandelwal A’51 has been accepted by the American Institute of Electrical Engineers for presentation at an Institute meeting in Binghamton, N. Y., April 29-May 2.

An AIEE fellow, Dean Cloke was Dean of the College of Technology for many years. He retired in 1950.

Mr. Khandelwal received the Master of Science degree in chemical engineering at Maine in June, 1951, and is now working for the doctorate at Syracuse University.

The paper has received favorable comment from a number of authorities.

An article written by Dr. William H. Jeffrey, assistant professor of history and government entitled ‘Mitte and Urgunza: A Chapter in the Organization of the Argentine Republic’ will appear as the July issue of the Drew University publication Drew Studies.

In his article, about 10,000 words long, Dr. Jeffrey describes the struggle for power between Bartolome Mitre and Justo Jos Urrunaga in Argentina between 1851 and 1870 and explains their ideas on the establishment of a constitutional government for their country. It is an attempt to present both sides of what is to Latin American scholars a very controversial question.

Dr. Jeffrey is the first alumnus of Drew University to have an article accepted for the Studies.

Two technical papers on Dye Adsorption on Wood Pulp were presented recently at a Paper Week session on fundamental research in New York by Dr. Edward F. Thode, associate professor of chemical engineering. Co-authors of the papers were Dr. John W. Beamesderfer, assistant professor of chemistry, and Andrew J. Chase, assistant professor of chemical engineering.

Chemical Symposium—
Presiding over a symposium on “New England Resources for the Chemical Industry” at Buffalo, N. Y., on March 25 was Prof. John B. Calkin A’28, Director of the Department of Industrial Cooperation. The session was part of the American Chemical Society’s 121st national meeting.

Among the 12 New England leaders in industry, finance, transportation, and education who took part were Prof. Eyle C. Jenness A’25, Head of the Department of Chemical Engineering, who presented a survey of the natural resources of New England; Edwin L. Giddings ’33, former Assistant Professor of Forestry, who discussed timber reserves; and Dr. Joseph M. Trefethen, state geologist and Professor of Geology, who gave a report on minerals.
Campus Comment

By Bill Matson '52

After a hectic winter period, University students left for the annual ten-day spring vacation. But in the weeks prior to their departure, they more than compensated for the vacation by engaging in feverish activity.

Under the chairmanship of Emerson Colby, Sanford, the annual Sophomore Hop was a huge success. With an effective date bureau operating, the Hop drew one of the largest dance crowds of the year. Mal Hallett and his orchestra provided the music.

The Mame Masque, under the direction of Prof Herschel Bricker, produced another hit this month. Its production of Oscar Wilde’s ever popular drawing room comedy, “The Importance of Being Earnest,” was well received by the audiences that flocked to the Little Theatre to see the four-day run Bill White, Topsham, and Martin Gerrish, Bucksport, in the leading roles, were outstanding. Jan Pratt, Brewer, and Pat Keenan, Searsport, also turned in fine acting chores in supporting parts. The Masque will feature “Detective Story” as its next production.

The registrar’s office announced that 525 students had made the Dean’s Lists. Fourteen students were also designated as receiving all “A” grades for the fall semester. In the point averages of the groups, as would be expected, Pi Beta Kappa led the field with a healthy 389 average. The All-Maine Women were the highest ranking non-scholastic group with a 315 average. Delta Zeta topped the sororities with a 289 average, and Alpha Gamma Rho paced the fraternities with a 279 mark.

Embassy Week

Also highlighted the month was the University’s annual observance of Embassy Week. With religious leaders of the three major faiths appearing on campus, students and faculty members had a splendid opportunity to participate in discussions and panel groups. As in the past, dorm and fraternity discussions were held with an Embassy leader serving as the discussion chairman. The three-day program was keyed to an assembly address delivered by Dr. John Oliver Nelson, field work director of the Yale Divinity School. Besides Dr. Nelson, other Embassy Week guest speakers were Miss Jean Fairfax, Rev. Albert C. Niles, Rev. Frank T. McGough C.S.P., Rabbi Bernard Honan, and Rev. Leonard G. Clough.

Rev. Charles E. O’Connor, Director of the SRA, said this year’s Embassy Week program was “one of the finest ever sponsored by the University.” He said, “The hard work of the committee did much to make the program the success that it was.” Co-chairmen of the Embassy Week program were Ida Morehead, Gardner, Anne Dutille, Waterville, and Ernest Hilton, Great Neck, N. Y.

Another annual campaign that was carried on in March was the Goodwill Chest Drive, under the co-chairmanship of Stan Laverly, Somerville, Mass., and Marylin Vaughan, Dixfield. The drive officially closed on March 14 with 62% of the quota collected. But the committee decided to extend the drive until many unsolicited areas had reported.

The drive was featured by a faculty auction which saw President Hauck and Dean of Women Edith Wilson purchased as tableswaers in two fraternity houses. Dean Joseph Murray of the College of Arts and Sciences was pressed into shoe shining service, while Dean of Men John Stewart worked behind the counter of the bookstore during one of the morning rush hours.

Debaters Earn Tie

The University’s varsity debate team, composed of Mark Lieberman, Bangor, George Hersey, Bar Harbor, Marguerite Floyd, Brewer, and Dalton Newell, Old Orchard, will receive a cup for its part in the annual State of Maine Varsity Debate Tournament. The Maine debaters tied with Bates with four wins and two losses to share the diadem.

Phig news around campus is the coming blood drive. The Red Cross bloodmobile will appear on campus April 21-22. Dick Stillings, Beswick, chairman of the Blood drive committee, has already received many pledges from students and faculty alike. Stillings reports that he hopes to have Mame go way over its quota and necessitate another appearance of the bloodmobile on campus. Already, posters have been set up, and late last month fraternity, sorority, and dormitory representatives met with the blood committee to discuss their role in the campaign.

Maine Day Plans

Organizational work for Maine Day is already under way. State committee chairman John Skillin, Falmouth, has decided a change is the plan to give students a chance to suggest projects for Maine Day.

Phi Gamma Delta played host to two Hollywood movie stars recently. Jeff Donnell and Barbara Hale, who were appearing in Bangor as part of a promotional campaign for the film “The First Time,” were guests of honor at a tea sponsored by the fraternity.

Theodore L. Gross, Brooklyn, N. Y., senior English major and president of Tau Epsilon Phi, is the winner of the 1952 Hamlet One-act Play Contest. Gross’ drama “Blackout” won the prize, amounting to about $45, which was instituted by the late Robert C. Hamlet ‘25, former president of the Maine Masque and valedictorian of his class.

Familiar Faces

A quarter century of service is the mark Miss Thelma Demont attains this year. For 25 years Miss Demont has extended a helping hand to practicing and embryo teachers. She is secretary to Mark R. Shibles, Dean of the School of Education.

Miss Demont remembers when the School of Education was a one room department with three teachers under the auspices of the College of Arts and Sciences. She has worked for four deans: Dr. Olin Lutes, Dr. Payson Smith, H. O., Dr. Glenn Kendall, Dean Shibles.

Teacher placement constitutes the greater part of her work. Her interest and concern for the students in education does not end when they graduate. Teachers from all levels of schools who have been away from the University for years still rely on Miss Demont for information leading to better jobs.

New York Alumni—

One of the largest local alumni association meetings on record was held in New York City on March 21. Nearly 300 Maine alumni gathered at dinner in Rockefeller Center for a delicious meal of “all-Maine” food and to enjoy a gala Maine program.

The address of the evening was given by Dr. Arthur A. Hauck with other speakers including Dr. Rome Rankin, Director of Athletics, Hal Westerman, Head Football Coach, Myron C. Peabody '16, President of the General Alumni Association, Don Taverner '43, Alumni Secretary, and Mrs. Bette Kilpatrick '42, Assistant Alumni Secretary. Coach Westerman showed the film of the 1951 Bowl-dom-Maine Football game and gave a running commentary on the film.

Joe McCusker '17 led several old time and Maine songs and cheers at the colorful meeting, and the alumni dined to accom-dication music.

Raymond Fogler '15, retiring president of the New York Alumni, presided at this highly successful annual meeting and served as Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements.

Alumni from all sections of the Greater New York area were present and were observed greeting old friends at the social hour which preceded the dinner. Former Head Football Coach E. C. Allen was greeted by a host of friends and former players when it became known that he was present.

Elected at this meeting were the following officers of the New York Alumni Association:

Frank C. Brown '30, President, Charles Pidack '44, 1st Vice President, Mrs. Emilie Joselyn '21, 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Albert B. Doherty '39, Secretary, Arnold L. Cohen '45, Treasurer.

Portland Alumnae—

University of Maine alumnae in the Portland area held their regular monthly meeting on March 6 at the Penhoke of the Gannett Publishing Company with Miss Dorothy Wardman speaking on the subject of Television. Eunice Gale Col-
omy '39, President, presided at the business meeting.

Auburn Lewiston Maine Club—

Meeting on March 20 at the American Legion Home in Auburn, the Auburn Lewiston Maine Club heard Frank W. Bjorkland, who serves as Vice Consul for Finland, Mr. Bjorklund, a resident of Norway, Maine, as a practicing attorney there. A sound film on Finland illustrated the talk.

Club President John McCobb presided at the meeting which was attended by fifty-two alumni.

Lewiston-Auburn Alumnae—

Mrs. Booth E. Lavin (Phyllis Bryant '43) was the hostess for the March 25th meeting of the Lewiston-Auburn Alumnae. Dr. Katherine Miles of the University's Home Economics staff was the speaker. Dr. Miles' professional field is child development.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following review of the soon-to-be-published book Of Love and the Kennebec by Clifford S. Reynolds '24, was written by Dr. Perrie Turner of the University English Department. Mr. Reynolds took the B.A. degree in history from the University. He is now teaching in the Bar Harbor school system.

In Of Love and the Kennebec Mr. Reynolds has written a dramatic novel about river drivers on the upper Kennebec forty years or more ago. The village of Lauren Pond has its share of saints and eccentrics, but the story centers on Henry Markham, his pagan enjoyment of life, and on Ella his wife, passionately devoted to him, sometimes conscience stricken because they were lovers before their marriage.

INDUSTRIAL FORESTRY

(The Editor's Note—This is the seventh in a series of articles about the Department of Industrial Cooperation and the people who do its research work. This month's article deals with the Forestry Department and its head, Professor Robert I. Ashman. Future articles will give details about other specialists who handle investigative work for the DIC. Persons interested in securing further information about DIC services should contact John B. Calkin, Director of the Department of Industrial Cooperation.)

The head of the Forestry Department at the University of Maine is Professor Robert I. Ashman, who has been a member of the Maine faculty since 1930. In his 22 years at Maine Professor Ashman has established a fine reputation as an administrator, teacher, and scientist.

A native of Buffalo, N. Y., Professor Ashman received his A.B. degree from Cornell University in 1913 and his M.F. degree from the Yale School of Forestry in 1929. Before coming to Maine he had nearly 15 years' experience as a teacher and administrator in public and private schools in Puerto Rico, Alabama, New York, and Kentucky.

Prof. Robert I. Ashman

While working for his master's degree at Yale he was a graduate assistant in forestry and won the Wheeler Prize in silviculture.

Besides being head of the Forestry Department in the College of Agriculture, Professor Ashman also serves as Forest and head of the Forestry Department in the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Before the Department of Industrial Cooperation became active on the campus, research by Professor D. B. Demeritt, former head of the Department, Professor Ashman and other forestry department personnel was conducted under the auspices of the Agricultural Experiment Station or the College of Agriculture. However, in the past few years special projects in utilization and logging have been done for DIC.

These projects have included studies in seasoning lumber and wood products, the testing of wood assemblies for moisture and dimensional stability, and the testing of explosive wedges for splitting large pulpwood bolts.

The Forestry Department is prepared to assist in air seasoning and kiln drying problems, testing efficiency of treatments to reduce moisture absorption, and carrying on sawing and milling efficiency studies.

Other members of the department besides Professor Ashman who are ready to assist with DIC projects are Professor Gregory Baker, Associate Professor Frank K. Beyer, and Assistant Professor Henry A. Plummer.

Maine Alumnus Isolates Aureomycin

A young University of Maine graduate making a name for himself in the world of science is Charles Pidacks '44. Ever since leaving Orono, the 33-year-old chemist has been with Lederle Laboratories, one of the world's largest pharmaceutical concerns, at Pearl River, N. Y.

One of seven Maine alumni at Lederle, Mr. Pidacks has worked mainly with vitamins and antibiotics. It was he who, in 1947, first isolated pure aureomycin from the fermentation mash in which it is produced. The results of this work enabled production experts to set up processes to extract the pure antibiotic from large-scale fermentation.

Born and raised in Rumford, Mr. Pidacks worked in a local drug store for three years after graduating from Stevens High School. He received the B.S. degree from the University in 1944. He was a member of Phi Eta Kappa fraternity and is now active in the metropolitan New York Maine alumni organization, which numbers close to 1,000 members.

Upon joining the biochemistry section at Lederle he worked on penicillin and aided in the change-over from bottle to deep tank fermentation. He later worked on the purification and crystallization of penicillin.

In 1946, the youthful chemist turned to the isolation and purification of new antibiotics and this work led to his becoming the first to isolate pure aureomycin, the "golden wonder drug" which was discovered at Lederle by Dr. Benjamin M. Dugger.

He has continued his work with vitamins and growth factors and also has devoted much time to chromatography, or separating compounds.

In addition to being a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Mr. Pidacks is president of his community's Board of Health.

His brother Robert now in the Army, was No. 1 man on the United States cross-country ski team which competed in the Winter Olympics at Oslo.

The Lederle scientist is married to the former Sylvia Belden '44. They live in Montvale, N. J., and have a daughter and son aged four years and 20 months, respectively.

Dr. Milton Ellis Prize

This year for the first time, the Dr. Milton Ellis Prize will be awarded to the senior English major who ranks highest in the English comprehensive examinations.

The prize, consisting of the interest of a sum of money contributed by friends of the late Dr. Milton Ellis '08, was established "as a token of esteem for Dr. Ellis who, as Head of the Department of English from 1919 to 1946, was a nationally recognized scholar of American Literature and a staunch supporter of high academic standards at his alma mater, the University of Maine."

Whaling

New Bedford is the New England town most associated with early whaling days. The great, graceful whalers were known over the entire world as the swiftest, finest ships afloat, and the term New Bedford Whaler was applied to all of them. Their fame will last in song and story, their beauty never fade from great paintings. They were about the only class of the great sailing ships, and so far cry indeed from the ugly, inefficient factory ships of today.

What is not so well known is that some of these same whalers were built in Portland. Neal Dow in his Reminiscences tells of seeing an old man, in a new and clean ship just built in Portland for New Bedford parties engaged in the whaling business, and so he lived in a fine class whaler.

Whales were not unknown from early days around Portland waters — in fact, blackfish and true whalers were numerous out of Portland Harbor up to the latter part of the nineteenth century. They yielded quantities of fine quality oil, but the Massachusetts town to the south had already established itself as a whaling capital and home port for the whaling industry.

The great ships were frequently seen in Portland Harbor, where they would seek shelter from storms and the sight of one making port must have been thrilling to even the most seasoned of Portlanders.

Captain Benjamin Willard in his Life, History and Adventures tells of one among incident in 1866, when all the shipping in the Harbor was alerted by the presence of a 100 foot whale. The unwelcome visitor eluded all efforts to capture him but bucked and fought all day long, churned between Vaughan's and Portland Bridge. Crowds collected on the banks and bridges, cheering when the whale surfaced to blow and peering anxiously when he submerged. Finally, on flood tide he escaped to open water beyond Portland Bridge and was seen no more. Shortly after this a seven ton blackfish was captured by Captain Willard. It measured twenty-four feet in length and twelve feet in circumference. Another whale Captain Willard tells of raising was between fifty and sixty feet long. When harpooned, he towed Willard's little ship, the "Nestor," many miles before he tired and was brought to shore.
