Faculty Council defines dismissal, suspension

by Bob Haskell

Proposed changes for the new disciplinary code were approved by the faculty council at a Monday April 13, meeting.

New provisions for the terms "dismissal" and "suspension" were presented by Robert R. Cobb, Director of Student Services.

The Board of Trustees had previously voted that the disciplinary code become effective "as soon as feasible," stipulating that these two terms be restated.

The new "dismissal" provision states that a student "shall not be considered for readmission earlier than one year from the date of dismissal, except in instances where dismissal occurs prior to mid-term in a given semester, [when] the full semester may be counted as part of the year.

This revision will be less restrictive for dismissed students than the provision stated under the former definition, Cobb feels. Under the original dismissal clause, a student could not be readmitted for at least two years after the date of dismissal. Cobb commented that many students who have been dismissed and been readmitted a year later have posed no further problems.

The revised term for "suspension" states that "At the expiration of the period of suspension and on the application of such student, he shall be automatically reinstated as a student in good standing."

The term previously provided that a student had only to request readmission at the end of his suspension in order to be reinstated.

This change in phraseology will insure that a student formally apply for readmission before continuing his education.

These revisions will be reviewed by the Board of Trustees. If they are approved, the disciplinary code will become effective as soon as it is published and the necessary committees have been established.

Although the halls of academia beckon, these students ignore the call. Most would agree green grass is a good place to conduct classes. Along with the standard paraphernalia of books and pencils, students should include a bottle of tanning lotion. After all, why not mix business with pleasure?

Vice President to speak Friday

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is coming to the University of Maine. He will speak at the Memorial Gym Friday, May 17 at 2:30 p.m. Classes from 2 to 4 Friday have been suspended by an action of the Faculty Council meeting last Tuesday.

As democratic hopeful in the 1968 Presidential election, Humphrey will be in Maine for the Democratic Convention in Augusta Friday.

Humphrey first achieved national prominence in 1945 when at the age of 34, he was elected mayor of Minneapolis, Minnesota. In 1947 he was re-elected by a margin of 2 to 1, winning the largest majority in the city's history. Humphrey was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1948, 1954, and 1960. In 1964 he was elected 38th Vice President.

The first bill introduced by the Vice Pres. as a freshman Senator in 1949 was to establish a program of health insurance for the elderly financed through the Social Security System. Sixteen years later the program was enacted as "Medicare."

Other social programs Humphrey served towards were the "Job Corps" and "Headstart."

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) was first proposed by Humphrey as Chairman of a Governmental Operations Sub-committee in 1957.

Humphrey co-authored legislation, known as the Durham-Humphrey Law, which provided the first protection for the public against habit forming drugs.

The V.P.'s proposals later incorporated in the National Defense Education Act include: Federal Scholarships for College Students, Direct Grants to Colleges for Needed Facilities, and Federal Loans for College Students.

On the international level, The Senate Disarmament Subcommittee was established as a result of a Humphrey resolution first introduced in 1955. U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency created in 1961 was first proposed by Humphrey in 1960.

First proposed by the Senator in 1957, as the President's Majority Whip, Humphrey later led the successful fight to enact the Peace Corps program.

Human rights bills proposed by Humphrey now incorporated in law include: Anti-Lynching, 1949; Commission on Civil Rights, 1951; Fair Employment Practices, 1951; Anti-Job Discrimination, 1951; Prohibiting Jim Crow in Public Transportation, 1951; Protecting Rights Guaranteed by the Constitution or Federal Law, 1951; Outlawing Poll Tax in National Elections, 1951; Protecting the Right of Political Participation, 1951.

A strong supporter of the Civil Rights bills of 1957 and 1960, Humphrey was picked as Floor Manager for the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Humphrey was born on May 27, 1911, in Wallace, South Dakota, where his father, Hubert Horatio, Sr. operated a pharmacy.

Educated in public schools, Humphrey received a degree from Denver College of Pharmacy in 1933, a B.A. (Magna Cum Laude) from the University of Minnesota in 1939 and an M.A. from Louisiana State University in 1940.

Humphrey is expected to arrive at Dow Airfield 1:30 p.m. Friday. He will conduct a question and answer period after his 2:30 speech at the gym. Immediately after his speaking engagement here, Humphrey will fly to Augusta for the Democratic Convention.

President appointed Trustees name Libby

Trustees of the University of Maine have named Winthrop C. Libby, 56, currently vice president for public services, as acting president of the university, Dr. Lawrence M. Cutler, Bangor, president of the board of trustees, announced Tuesday.

Dr. Cutler said that Libby would serve as acting president from late June, when President Edwin Young leaves for a Wisconsin post, until a new president is elected. Libby has been a member of the university faculty and staff for 34 years.

"The board of trustees is especially pleased that Vice President Libby has agreed to accept this important assignment," Dr. Cutler said. "As a veteran member of the university staff, we know he will provide the leadership and imaginative thinking which will be so necessary during this period when the consolidated university system is being created."

Libby said he expected the position would be "a most formidable one, with many interesting and far-reaching problems involved." He said he knew he could count on the faculty, students, administration, alumni, and trustees for the co-operation which would be needed in carrying out his responsibilities.

President Young announced his resignation March 15 to accept a position as vice president at the University of Wisconsin. Dr. Young will continue to handle the presidential duties at the State University through the commencement period, but will leave some time in late June.

A native of Caribou, Libby was graduated from the University of Maine in 1932 and received his M.S. degree in agricultural economics from the university in 1933. He has also done graduate work in agronomy at Rutgers and Cornell Universities.

He was appointed to the staff of the department of agronomy in 1934 and was made head of the department in 1943. He served as associate dean of the College of Agriculture in charge of resident instruction from 1950-57.

Libby was named to succeed the late Dean Arthur L. Deering as dean of agriculture in 1957. In this position he directed the work of the College of Life Sciences and Agriculture, Cooperative Extension Service, and Maine Agricultural Experiment Station.

He was named vice president for public services on January 1 of this year.

He is married to the former Elizabeth Tryon and the couple has a son and two daughters.

All referendum questions pass

by Steve Mayberry

After two weeks of counting, the Student Senate has the answers to the six referendum questions voted April 24. The ballots were all sent to Bangor to be key-punched to assure an accurate count.

Question 1 asked: Because of increased activity in the areas of the Political Lyceum, Student Action Corps, Course Evaluation and other Student Senate areas, the Student Senate finds it necessary to ask you to help support these activities by charging a small activities fee (of approximately $1.00 per semester) next year. Are you in favor of implementing such a fee? The total results were 2,718 in favor and 868 opposed. With this response, it may be assumed that the Student Senate and the trustees will take action and that the Student Activities Fee will be attached to the undergraduate bills for the Fall semester of 1968.

The 2nd referendum question was concerned with six four-hour open houses per month in the men's dormitories and fraternities. The votes on this question went: Class

Sen. Baker addresses U Maine audience

"I am opposed to a co-alition government," U.S. Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. told his University of Maine audience Friday, May 10.

The Tennessee Republican went on to say the North Vietnamese are trying to occupy and subvert the independent state of South Vietnam, and should not be given a hand in its government.

Baker predicted a continuance of the Republican Party stand for the United States to honor its commitment in Vietnam.

"You may be sure the 'have nots' in the world are finding out how much the 'haves' really have," Baker said of the world poverty crisis. Instead of direct categorical subsidy in foreign assistance, the senator recommended programs such as a de-salting plant on the Jordan River. The operation, Baker suggested, could be under the auspices of the Atomic Energy Commission; and would alleviate Middle East problems of water, food, and work shortage.

Baker attacked the present U.S. poverty program, and said the problem cannot be successfully handled from a centrally federal position. He recommended a system of job training on both government and private enterprise levels.

Also, the eligibility of welfare recipients must be determined by a new system, Baker said. The present program forces people receiving welfare, by statement and maintenance of sub-standard economic status, to barter away hope for the future.

A successful welfare program needs a combination of government responses to facilities and services, involvement of private enterprises, and deep consideration of the basic problems, Baker stated.

On domestic housing, Baker said, we should not build "high rise vertical slums in place of existing horizontal ones." The U.S. should create the opportunity for people to acquire their own homes and not attempt to regulate their living conditions for them, he added.

Sponsored by the senior class and the Political Lyceum Committee, Sen. Baker spoke to approximately 400 people at 11 a.m. Friday at Hauck Auditorium.

VISTA representatives VISTA challenge offered, wide experience wanted

by Bill Yates

"VISTA makes it increasingly difficult to sit in the sun. It provides more basis for commitment to move on. The work provides a greater understanding of the problems and frustrations of the poor," according to Gary Woods and Nick Ingram, on campus this week recruiting for VISTA.

Woods and Ingram will man a display on the library lawn until Friday. In case of bad weather, they will move to the FFA room of the Union.

Woods said information will be available on VISTA legal programs, the Mental Health Program, and the Community Action Program (CAP), as well as regular VISTA enlistments.

Discussing personnel recruitment, Ingram said, "The key thing is desire—and some demonstration of it." Woods added, "Volunteers should have a wide range of experiences, as opposed to education."

"The Peace Corps is more involved with professionals," Woods said, "whereas VISTA is more involved with grass roots people. VISTA deals with community involvement."

Woods explained established groups in a community request the aid of a VISTA volunteer. However, Ingram added, "Volunteers are open to all sorts of receptions." He said the individual may have to gain acceptance from the people he is to work with before he can be effective.

"Although the programs are aimed at the people, it is up to the individual to establish and prove himself," Woods said.

Faculty ballot to decide

Constitution awaits vote

by Alan Shevis

The Faculty Council, Monday, approved a new constitution designed to apply equally well to the present university structure or to the multiversity. The proposed constitution creates a university council for Augusta, Orono and Portland.

The new constitution becomes effective May 23 unless a majority of the individual faculty members vote against it in an open referendum this week.

Need for the new document has been illustrated by the large number of interim measures taken recently by the council. The interim arrangements required codification the faculty felt before integration in the multiversity is possible. "We must put our house in order first," said

Faculty Council President John Coupe.

A major controversy, sparked by Dr. Harold Young, issued from Young's request that five students represent the student body at council meetings. "Students," Young said, "must be given more knowledge of problems and a larger voice in running the university. If communication lags," he continued, "what happened at Columbia may happen here."

Other council members were concerned with securing proper representation for their own colleges, branches, and divisions. The entire area of representation creates problems, problems well illustrated by the question: does apportionment equal membership?

In the College of Agriculture there are part time faculty. These are also part time Agricultural Extension Agents. Extension Agents are considered faculty and therefore at times may be twice represented by membership in the faculty council. They are, however, represented by the percentage of time they spend on campus. The new constitution must prevent possibility of inequity on either side.

The text of the constitution contains six articles. The first names the authority and components to which the document applies. The second outlines the name, purpose, membership, officers, meetings, committees and disposition of council actions. The third article allows for separate councils on "each campus where there are two or more colleges." Article four pertains to the individual colleges; it outlines items such as jurisdiction, permits colleges to set their individual entrance requirements, and construct their own constitutions. The final area deals with adoption and provides for a referendum by mail.

The ten page document was introduced to the council by Dr. Walter S. Schoenberger, chairman of the committee for Constitution and By-laws. Other committee members are W. Murray Bain, John D. Coupe, Wofford G. Gardiner, H. Draper Hunt, Melvin T. McClure, John A. Spanogle, Jr., Robert V. Supple and Frank M. Taylor.

A speaker from the American Communist Party will talk on the nature of the party Monday, May 20, at 7 p.m. in the Main Lounge of the Memorial Union.

of 69, 820 in favor and 98 opposed; the Class of 70, 940 in favor and 88 opposed; the Class of 71, 1067 in favor and 80 opposed.

The 3rd referendum question asked the same question but for women's dormitories. The voting went: Class of 69, 699 in favor and 219 opposed; the Class of 70, 831 in favor and 197 opposed; the Class of 71, 954 in favor and 193 opposed.

When the voting by men and women on question 2 was broken down, it was discovered that the average of women voting for men's open houses was greater in the yes category than that of the men. The reverse occurred, however, when the third referendum question asked for open houses for women's dorms. The average of men voting yes was greater than that of the women.

The 4th referendum question asked: I favor drinking in my residence unit by those of legal age. The Class of 69 voted 716 in favor and 202 opposed; the Class of 70, 779 in favor and 249 opposed; the Class of 71, 879 in favor and 268 opposed.

The 5th question asked: I favor an optional pass-fail system to apply to all elective courses, exclusive of a major or of the prerequisites for his college. The Class of 69 went, 776 in favor and 142 opposed; the Class of 70, 839 in favor and 189 opposed; the Class of 71, 928 in favor and 219 opposed.

The 6th question asked: I favor the continuation of a published course and teacher evaluation. The Class of 69 said, 743 in favor and 175 opposed; the Class of 70, 855 in favor and 173 opposed; the Class of 71, 1022 in favor and 125 opposed.

All referendum questions were passed. The total vote for each question went as follows: (I) 2,718-868; (II) 2,827-266; (III) 2,484-609; (IV) 2,374-719; (V) 2,543-550; (VI) 2,620-473.

APO

On Maine Day, the brothers of Alpha Phi Omega, in keeping with the original idea behind Maine Day, journeyed to Pushaw Pond for a day of work. This land is owned by the University Athletic Dept. who uses the frontage for the sailing team. In order to make the best use of the land, APO spent the day cutting the brush, trimming trees and burning dead debris. In the future the brothers hope to build a beach, put out picnic tables and to keep the arena clean. All members of the University Community are welcome to use the area for picnics, swimming parties or the like.

ICC distributes concert survey questionnaire

Do you want more concerts, better concerts, cheaper concerts, folk concerts, rock concerts, all of these, none of these, a combination?

The Inter-Class Council is distributing a questionnaire concerning concerts on campus next year. The questionnaire will be instrumental in deciding who will appear at Maine next year, Gary Thorne, president of the class of '70 and a head of the survey said. The other people conducting the survey are Gene Oakes, class of '70 concert committee representative, and Dave Rand, assistant dean of men.

The questionnaire will be distributed to all dormitory and fraternity residents the end of this week. Off-campus students may pick up questionnaires in the Main Lounge of the Memorial Union.

The questionnaire will contain the instructions of when and where to return it.

In order for consideration, the questionnaires must be returned at the time designated.

The ICC asks the help of students to bring a good concert schedule to campus. The ICC expressed the hope of strong response to the questionnaire.

bag a building, baby

You say your master's thesis was discarded because 300 of its 305 pages were direct quotes from Plato's Republic? And, you were put on disciplinary probation because you got caught during a panty raid with a Bud in one hand and a bra in the other? And, your Pierce Arrow has been towed off campus until the back-log of 13,303 parking tickets have been cleared?

You got problems, brother. You're not alone. Everyone's got problems, thanks to this grand and gross, impersonal, non-student oriented, non-student governed, mass of buildings and trees called the University. What do they care?

Organize. Get together. Be forceful. How? It's simple. First, you and your gang of administratively-mistreated malcontents pack enough lunches to last a week or two.

Then, don an aura of wonteness. Ready? Move in. The presidents office. Take it over. Throw him out on his ear. Whose place is this anyway? Dig into his personal effects. Strew them around. Hunt for lewd "evidence".

An attack of conscience already? Shame. You're society oriented, man. That's bad. Withdraw that cat, he don't belong here.

Okay. Now, hang out the windows and chant obscene phrases. Look! There's the Pressman. Get his attention. Make a play for sympathy. Tell him no-one understands, and "tell it the way it is, baby".

You got it made. You're in control, and the wrongs will soon be righted. Make your demands.

First, amnesty. That's important. Next, a student-administered university. How can they refuse? Look how competent, how capable, how mature you're acting.

But, what's this? Coppers. Larry Law. The Administration. And, they're throwing you out. Blood?? Brutality! Police Brutality!

This isn't how it was supposed to happen. No amnesty? Our wrongs unrighted? Arrests? No. No. This is wrong. They don't understand. That's it! They just don't understand.

they were discomforted

The following poem was taken from the Minnesota Daily, University of Minnesota, which took it from the Wesleyan College newspaper Town and Country which took it from the University of Tennessee's Daily Beacon which got it from the Daily Tarheel which got it from a geology professor who says it first appeared in the Daily Illini about 1963. The author is unknown.

And it came to pass,
Early in the morning toward the last day of the semester,
There arose a great multitude smiting the books and wailing.

And there was much weeping and gnashing of teeth
For the day of judgment was at hand.
And they were sore afraid, for they had left undone
Those things which they ought to have done,
And they had done
Those things which they ought not to have done
And there was no help for it.

But some were who rose peacefully,
For they had prepared themselves the way
And made straight paths of knowledge.
And these were known
As wise burners of the midnight oil.
And to others they were known as "curve-raisers".

And the multitude arose
And ate a hearty breakfast.
And they came unto the appointed place
And their hearts were heavy within them.

And they had come to pass,
But some to pass out.

And some of them
Repented of their riotous living and bemoaned their fate,
But they had not a prayer.

And at the last hour there came among them
One known as the instructor; and they feared exceedingly.
He was of the diabolical smile,
And passed papers among them and went his way.

And many and varied
Were the answers that were given,
For some of his teaching had fallen among fertile minds.
While others had fallen flat.

And some they were who wrote for one hour,
Others for two;
But some turned away sorrowfully, and many of these
Offered up a little bull
In hopes of pacifying the instructor.
And these were the ones who had not a prayer.

And when they finished,
They gathered up their belongings
And went their way quietly, each in his own direction,
And each one vowing unto himself in this manner,
'I shall not pass this way again.'

Lab produces musical comedy

by V. Kerry Inman

The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd will be presented this weekend in The Little Theater at Alumni Hall. It is a humorous musical that has a serious intent and lends itself to various interpretations. Two tramps Sir, played by Phil Hayes, and Cocky, played by Barry Ceridan, are enjoying a game of circular hopscotch, while cheered on by several urchins. The game of hopscotch may be interpreted as the game of life, and the relationship of Sir and Cocky may be interpreted as class struggle. Appearing in the production will be Taffy Robinson as the kid, Kathy Norgren as the girl, Eddie Cooper as the negro, and Ron Bean as the bully. Mary Dawn Ames, Mary Blackstone, Candice Bray, Carla Bryson, Lissa Holloway, Pat LeMay, Jacqueline McCurry, Virginia McDaniels, Kathy Mutty, Kathy Norgren, and Brenda Verceles will play the part of urchins. Cheryl Cocky will accompany on the piano.

The two act musical comedy will be presented at 8:15 on May 17 & 18. Because the play is being presented as a theater laboratory production there will be a minimal admission charge. Tickets may be purchased at 310 Stevens Hall.

Concert Band gives open air performance

by Tracy Bronson

Next week will see two concerts on campus. Friday, May 17, at 8 p.m., in the Lord Hall Recital Hall, John Enis will present a piano program; and Thursday, May 23, the University Concert Band will perform in front of the Memorial Gym at 7 p.m.

Friday Evening Concerts usually feature faculty members, but John Enis is a guest performer from Yale where he is a graduate student. He is studying with Ward Davenny and making concert appearances. Mr. Enis will play Intermezzi numbers one and two from Brahms's Opus 118, Berg's Sonata Opus One, Le Tombeau de Couperin by Ravel, and Schumann's Fantasie Opus 17.

The Concert Band will present an informal pops concert in front of the gym, or inside it in case of bad weather. A special feature will be John Rynne, a trumpet soloist from Music In Maine, who will play La Virgen de la Macarena by Mendez.

The band, conducted by George Cavanagh, will also perform some familiar works including music from Camelot, Ritual Fire Dance by DeFalla, music from Lawrence of Arabia, several marches and Rodgers' Victory at Sea.

In recent years the band has had good crowds, but not good weather, for its pops concerts. This year they are hoping for a big crowd and a break in the clouds. Both the concert by John Enis and the band concert are free of charge.

Ugly, dirty beauty

Photos show Washington slums

Over the past two decades, no less than a hundred outstanding photographers have shown their wares at the University of Maine in one-man exhibitions in the Photo Salons, and only twice has the subject matter been the refuse and debris of broken architecture.

Now in the Louis Oakes Room of Fogler Library is a series of photographs in which Mr. Peter Campbell portrays partly demolished dwellings in Washington during a recent slum clearance program. As Vincent Hartgen writes, the theme of these photos is to "elevate the ugly and dirty to a level of beauty by the choice and arrangement of abandoned furnishings, decorations, debris and odd objects, sometimes sadly reminiscent of happy days and hours... sometimes drawing nostalgic feelings... sometimes touching a sound or smell of long ago."

Often Mr. Campbell will photograph a number of diverse objects in one corner of the room. These might include tasteful and ugly items such as broken toys and furniture, cracked plaster and lathes, news clippings and posters, and fingered walls and doors.

Mr. Campbell's exhibitions have been presented at Mills College in New York, Arena Stage in Washington, Everson Museum in Syracuse, Corning Glass Museum in Corning, the Berkshire Museum in Pittsfield, the Library of Congress, and in numerous traveling exhibitions.

"Objects and Atmospheres" will be up until the end of May.

The Oakes Room of Fogler Library is the setting for the works of photographer Peter Campbell, who uses the subjects of debris and refuse of broken architecture for his compositions.

Battle of defense, booters

Blue, White tie

by Scott Rodgers

The 1968 football season began for the bears on Maine-Day with the traditional blue-white game. The two teams deadlocked in the Maine-Day classic at 3-3 on two field goals.

The whites scored in the first period on a soccer style field goal by George Pratt. The blues came back to even the score on a perfect kick by Ernie Quackenbush early in the second period. From there it was a battle of the defenses.

The limited spring practice session results should not be used as a final indicator of what Maine will do on the gridiron this fall. Although the defense looks strong the offensive team will need more than a few weeks of spring conditioning to show what it can produce.

There is no question that the Bears are in dire need of a quarterback. Maine's only experienced signal caller Dave Wing, is recovering from a broken leg suffered in the final game last year Rhode Island.

There were some other familiar faces missing at spring training. Gene Benner, record holding end, was devoting energy this spring to the track team. Speedster Danny Sullivan and defenseman Don Loranger are recovering from operations. If all goes well they will re-join the team in the fall along with sophomore Mike Barra and Charlie Yannush who is suffering from a back injury.

From the limited action this spring Coach Walter Abbott made some predictions on how things will look this fall. He said the big offensive linemen will probably be going both ways because of a lack of depth up front. George Pratt, a recruit from the soccer team, made his debut as a kicking specialist on the football team. Coach Abbott praised Pratt saying "He does well under pressure and will be used in the fall if he can do the job."

Abbott said the team is strong in the defense department again this year. Ernie Quackenbush, Dave Coltin, Mark Richardson and Al Lee are all returning linebackers.

Maine has nowhere to go but up after last years first winless season in 22 years. Coach Abbott predicts the Yankee Conference teams will be stronger overall. Last year's champs U Mass are back with basically the same team except for their quarterback Greg Landry. Strong Rhode Island and UCONN will be fielding virtually the same teams.

Hofstra, Bucknell and Boston University are new additions to the Maine fall schedule. Boston College and the Citadel will be dropped, but Coach Abbott feels the schedule will be about the same as last year.

UM atop State Series

Basic Bear facts

by Russ Potter

Maine's Black Bears go into the final weeks of the baseball season with a 7-6 record. The Bears are 2-4 in Yankee Conference action and lead the State Series with a 4-0 slate. The team was 1-2 on its southern tour.

Much of the credit for the squad's record belongs to the pitchers. The mound staff looked very iffy before the start of the season. Coach Jack Butterfield points out that although each hurler has had his good days and bad days, the overall staff performance has been "above expectations."

Despite the lack of a real "stopper"—a pitcher who can be counted on to perform well in every mound appearance—the mound crew has done a creditable job. Soph left-hander Bob Curry leads the staff with 3 victories against one defeat. Curry has posted a sparkling 2.14 earned run average.

Gordie Engstrom, pitching back to his sophomore form, has a 2-0 record and an earned run mark of 3.66. Charlie Walker, working both in relief and as a starter, is 1-3.

Little reliever Joe Sontag leads the staff in E.R.A., giving up 1.17 runs per nine innings. His record is 1-0 on the season. Bruce Libby, the third sophomore on the mound crew, has pitched sparingly in relief for a 0-1 record.

Bruce Stafford has an 0-1 mark as a pitcher. As first-string catcher, Stafford has performed brilliantly defensively and sparked the whole team. While his dislocated fingers were healing, Maine won one and lost three. With the chunky receiver behind the plate the Bears are 6-1. Stafford has been plagued with hitting problems all season.

First baseman Allen Cobb has sprayed 18 hits for a .367 average, the squad's highest. George Ferguson is stroking the ball at a .333 clip. Lead-off man Steve Morin is hitting .240 and leads the team in runs scored with 11.

Morin, Cobb, and Ferguson—the first three batters in the Maine lineup, have proved to be the team's most consistent hitters. Coach Butterfield has gone for defense at the other positions. Ralph Bonna and Carl Fitzgerald have each clubbed a home run to share power-hitting honors. Bonna has batted in 10 runs.

Against Bates Tuesday Gordie Engstrom came up with his first victory, 6 to 1, since his sophomore season. The Black Bears have won 12 in a row against state Series opponents. Friday at Rhode Island, the Y.C. leader, stopped Maine 8-3. Saturday Engstrom went the route for his second straight win, beating Rhody 7-3.

Members of the UM turf team warm up. The Bears finished 16th in the New England Collegiate Championships, held last weekend in Portsmouth, N. H.

Racqueteers cuffed in YC

It was a hard week for the Maine tennis team. Saturday the squad finished fifth in the Yankee Conference Tournament and Monday Colby clinched the state title against the Bears.

Deep Massachusetts was first in the YC tourney with 11 points. Rhode Island was second with 8, followed by New Hampshire with 7, Connecticut 6, and Maine 4.

Vermont, 1965 champ and 1966 leader before last year's tourney was rained out, failed to score as key players were absent taking exams.

Against Colby, Maine battled hard before losing 7-2. The Black Bears extended Colby, also last year's titlist, to three sets in four of the matches. Len Eiserer and Lee Bragg scored for Maine.

by Russ Potter

The tireless legs of Sesibe Mamo carried Colby to its first state track title in the 69-year history of the event Saturday. Colby scored 58 points to nip Maine with 56 in the fiercely contested encounter.

Bates, defending titlist, was third with 49 points, and Bowdoin fourth with 24.

Next Saturday the Black Bears host Boston University. B.U. is lead by hurdler Dave Hemery, who has already qualified as a member of Great Britain's Olympic squad, and distance runner Peter Hoss. Hoss and Hemery combined to win four events at the indoor encounter which B.U. won 55-53.

The Maine freshman track squad also is in an action Saturday, hosting Brewer HS and Unity College. Wednesday the Baby Bears take on Deering HS and Bangor

Follow-through

Colby's Mamo shines

Tracksters edged

HS in the season finale.

Colby's Mamo won three events in the state meet, two of them in record times. He was given the Alan Hillman Memorial Trophy as the meet's outstanding competitor.

Mamo improved on his state meet record in the mile and annexed a second record in the two mile. The little Ethiopian also won the half mile with an effort only eight-tenths of a second off the record.

Mamo's performance was ably abetted by high jumper Bob Aisner who improved on the mark in his specialty by nearly 5 inches.

Despite the starry performances of the Colby aces, Maine's Black Bears came within a whisker of pulling out the meet on sheer depth. They won only the mile relay, but stayed close with a bundle of seconds, thirds, and fourths.

The Maine relay team of Pete Viehweg, Gerry Stelmok, Dave Bemis and Harry Miller cut a second off the meet mark. Steve Turner and Joe Dahl placed second in the mile and two mile.

Maine's depth was apparent as the Bears took all but the number one slot in three events. Paul Richardson was edged by a half inch in the long jump. Teammates Ed Schmid and Gene Benner moved in for the remaining two places.

Wayne Mosher, Lance Gallant, and Bill Moulton grabbed second, third, and fourth in the javelin. Moulton, John Candage and Summer Wright did the same in the shot.

Sid Gates in the hammer, Larry Richards in both sprints and Gerry Stelmok in the 440 also contributed second places. Triple jumper Hugh Campbell, 120 hurdler Benner, 440 hurdler Charlie Nichols and Al Legasse had third places. Steve Griffin, Harry Miller, and Dave Heward also scored.

Benner was lost for the season when he broke a bone in his foot in the triple jump.

The key to the meet was the strong support Colby mustered for its top men. The Mules won six events to offset Maine's steady scoring. Bates, the defending state titlist, got a strong double victory performance out of hurdler Paul Williams.
