A Loyal Alumnus

A Devoted Teacher

And A Warm Friend

Professor Benjamin C. Kent served the University with devotion for thirty-three years. Beginning as an instructor, he rose through the ranks to become head of the Department of Engineering Drafting, the position which he held at the time of his tragic death nearly two years ago.

Ben, as he was affectionately known by hundreds of alumni, faculty and friends, was always ready to help a student who he believed was earnestly striving to do a good job. His enthusiasm, geniality, and sincere interest in individual students were reflected in his teaching and devotion to his work.

He was a loyal alumnus who served on many alumni committees and gave generously of his time and ability for alumni activities.

His interests, however, were not confined to the University. He was an ardent lover of sports and staunchly upheld the finest traditions of good sportsmanship. He served his city as a councilor and chairman of the Bangor City Council. He was a leader in his church and gained state and national recognition in fraternal circles.

In all of his achievements and service to his fellowmen, modesty was a conspicuous characteristic, and yet he was one of the first to praise another for his attainments.

To perpetuate Ben's memory and in grateful appreciation of his unselfish service to the University, a group of alumni, faculty, and friends have established the Benjamin C. Kent Scholarship Fund. This fund, which is held in trust by the University of Maine Foundation, currently amounts to $5,253. It is still open to receive gifts from those alumni and friends who would like to share in an appropriate and useful tribute to Ben, a loyal alumnus, a devoted teacher, and a warm friend.
"Faculty for Dessert - - -\"

In case you are fearful of the omnivorous propensities of Maine students, we hasten to clarify the above front-page headline appearing in a recent issue of Forward, newsletter of the Student Religious Association. Actually, twenty-seven members of the faculty are sharing in an SRA-sponsored "Dinner and Discussion" series in dormitories and fraternities during the winter and spring terms. Featured are such topics as "The Next Million Years," "What is Maturity?" "Man and Alcohol," "The Changing Roles of Women," "Where Do We Think We Are Going?" "Courtship and Marriage," "Group Dynamics," and "Little Known Facts About Maine." Aimed to bring closer student-faculty rapport, this SRA program will involve hundreds of Maine students in nearly all campus resident units.

"The Purpose and Value of Student Elections" and "What About the Memorial Union?" have been successive themes of Thursday afternoon Coffee Hours in the SRA Building. Faculty and students have profited greatly from this new venture, thanks to the able leadership of Professor Gerald J. Grady of the Government Department and Director Charles E. Crossland of Student and Public Relations. The SRA Sponsoring Board, with its three Alumni representatives: Mrs. Edward L. Herlihy '16, Morris D. Rubin '38, and Howard M. Goodwin '38, shared in the Memorial Union discussion on January 15.

Brotherhood Week

Brotherhood Week observance at Maine, February 15-18, promises to get deeply into the roots of prejudice and discrimination on local, national, and international levels. International student speakers and the Hillel Choir will highlight the Brotherhood Banquet on Sunday evening. Mr. Walter White of New York City, Executive Secretary of the N.A.A.C.P., will speak at the University Assembly on Monday morning. Panel discussions during the three-day program will consider Fraternities and Brotherhood, Prejudice in the State of Maine, Discrimination on the National Scene, and International Aspects of Brotherhood. Showing of the film "Lost Boundaries," a dramatic script by the Maine Radio Guild, and Library displays are planned. Maine's Brotherhood Week is coordinated with the nationwide observance sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The SRA's traditional Embassy Week, March 16-18, opens with a keynote address by a prominent Catholic layman on the theme "Faith for the Future." This program of religious emphasis will bring to the campus leaders of all faiths to serve in seminars, classroom talks, house discussions, worship services, and individual conferences. The 1953 Embassy promises to be the religious highspot of the year.

The Freshman Club, social and service club for all freshmen, is booming. Already four class-wide mixing socials have been held. A freshman newspaper, dramatic production, and Freshman Handbook for next year are club projects now being developed by an 18-man planning board.

Another SRA project is the International Club composed of all the foreign exchange students and a good number of interested American students. An United Nations observance with Dean Arthur L. Deering '12 as speaker, an evening with President and Mrs. Hauck, participation in a Bangor International Fiesta, and numerous cultural and social meetings have kept the International Clubbers busy this semester.

Each year several hundred Maine Alumni contribute to the support of the SRA through its Sponsoring Board. Last year 22 per cent of the Board's budget came from this source. Such an active and vital student program merits increasing encouragement from Maine graduates.

The familiar strains of the Maine Stein Song were originally written by a "long hair," so says Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, noted writer, lecturer and broadcaster.

Dr. Spaeth says that the song is from one of the lesser known Hungarian dances of Brahms.

The composer of the march from which the Stein Song was adapted was E. A. Fenstad, a native of Denmark. Lincoln R. Colcord '05 wrote the lyrics and University professor Adelbert W. Sprague '05 arranged Fenstad's adaptation.

CORRECTION

The story on Homecoming in the December issue contained an error which your editors wish to correct at this time. This story indicated that "Bill Williams '16" flew from California to see the Maine-Colby Football Game. William T. "Bill" Faulkner '16 of Torrance, California, is the gentleman who flew from the West Coast to Orono for the Colby Game and then returned to California that night in order to see the Rams play in Los Angeles the next day.
ed forestry instruction at the University.

The objectives of the new curriculum were stated as follows by the forest commissioner in his report: “The department of forestry offers a four years’ undergraduate course which may serve not only as a basis of practical work in forestry but also as a liberal education. First, it gives an opportunity for all students of the University to acquire a general knowledge of forestry since all of the courses which are offered are open to election by those who desire them. Second, it may be taken as a major course by any student who wishes to specialize in forestry and make that his profession. Third, it gives students in agriculture special training in the management of the farmer’s woodlot.”

Professor Spring served the University from 1903 until 1905, going later to Cornell and finally to the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse as Dean, retiring as Dean Emeritus several years ago. Dean Spring died last year.

Professor Gordon E. Tower, also a graduate of Yale, succeeded Professor Spring in 1905 and served until 1910 when he was succeeded by Professor John M. Briscoe, M.F. Yale 1909.

Senior Camp Established

John Briscoe’s long career at Maine (1910-1933) coincided with a period of rapid development in forestry throughout the wood land regions of the United States. Like his predecessors he began his work as the sole member of his department but in September 1913 he was joined by Carleton W. Eaton, A.B., M.F. Yale, who remained in the department until 1917. During the war period of 1917-1919 Professor Briscoe was alone, but in 1919 Chauncey W. L. Chapman, B.S. Maine 1914 (M.S. 1921), known to many generations of Maine foresters as “Chappy,” was appointed to the department and served continuously until his death in May 1946.

In 1923 the staff was increased to three by the appointment of Dwight B. Demeritt, B.S. Maine 1922, M.F. Yale 1923. The Senior Camp curriculum was established and D. B. Demeritt was placed in charge. The Camp season began at the end of the first half of the fall semester and from 1923 until the winter of 1930-31 was held on lands of the Great Northern Paper Company. For a number of years one Company forester and one representative of the Maine Forest Service assisted in conducting the work of the camp which consisted of instruction in logging engineering, cruising and mapping, and management. Some instruction in forest entomology was usually given by a member of the forest commissioner’s staff.

In 1926 Professor Demeritt resigned to take a position in the South and was replaced by Gilbert I. Stewart, B.S. Michigan State 1922, M.F. Yale 1926. Stewart resigned in June 1929 to head up forest fire research in Michigan and Robert I. Ashman, A.B. Cornell 1913, M.F. Yale 1929, was appointed to fill the vacancy.

It had been apparent for several years that the nomadic character of the winter camp was undesirable. In the summer of 1931 Curtis Hutchins of the Dead River Company made funds available to assist in the construction of a permanent log camp on Indian Township in Washington County. Five cabins were built, one to be used as kitchen, mess hall and drafting room and four to be used as dormitories. Later the CCC constructed four more cabins. The work of mapping, subdividing, cruising, and mapping the Township was begun the same fall.

Professor Briscoe died in the summer of 1933 and D. B. Demeritt who was teaching at Iowa State College was appointed head of the department but was unable to report for duty until September 1934. In the meantime the affairs of

BY PROFESSOR ROBERT I. ASHMAN

Head of Department of Forestry

(Editors' Note: The author and your editor wish to acknowledge with thanks the valuable assistance of Prof. Gregory Baker of the Forestry Department in preparing the personnel data contained in this article.)

During the last decade of the nineteenth century interest in the conservation of our forests and other natural resources increased rapidly. Especially among scientists and legislators representing the eastern part of the United States. The people of the State of Maine alarmed by heavy cutting in some areas and especially by disastrous forest fires established a forest commission in 1892.

The few foresters in the United States at this time were Europeans or Americans who had received some forestry training in Europe. It was apparent that our progress in forestry would depend upon personnel trained in America and acquainted with American conditions. Short-lived schools were established near Asheville, North Carolina, and at Cornell, followed in 1900 by the Yale School of Forestry which served as a reservoir of practitioners in all branches of the forestry profession, including teaching.

Beginnings in 1903

The Maine legislature provided for forestry instruction at the University by appropriating $2,500 for each of the academic years 1903-1904 and 1904-1905. Quoting the forest commissioner's report for 1903-1904, "The larger portion of this sum has been used in establishing and maintaining a chair of forestry at the University of Maine, and the balance for investigation and research along the line of public instruction." Samuel Newton Spring, M.F. Yale 1903, was appointed Professor of Forestry and initiat-the department were conducted by Assistant Professors Chapman and Ashman until Allen W. Goodspeed, B.S. Maine 1928, Yale 1929, joined the staff as Associate Professor in January 1934.

In September 1935 Gregory Baker, B.S. Maine 1924, with a background of several years' experience in industry, was appointed to the staff as replacement for Professor Chapman who was granted leave to study at the University of Washington. This appointment was made permanent in 1936, giving the department a teaching staff of five men and making possible a much higher degree of specialization than had formerly been possible.

A Sophomore Camp was inaugurated in the summer of 1936 at Hastings Clearing on the White Mountain National Forest where students from the departments of civil engineering and forestry received field training under excellent conditions. This camp was moved to Orono after the University Forest was acquired.

In the same year (1936) a wildlife cooperative research unit was established at the University with funds provided by the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Game, the University of Maine, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, and the Wildlife Management Institute. Clarence M. Aldous, B.S. Utah 1917, M.S. Minnesota 1923, was appointed unit leader with the rank of Associate Professor and Gustav A. Swanson, B.S., M.A. Minnesota 1932, was made assistant leader. Graduate and undergraduate instruction in Wildlife Conservation was started and a program of research was developed.

In 1938 Mr. Swanson returned to Minnesota to continue graduate study and since then has had a brilliant career with the U.S. Fish & Wildlife and as head of the Department of Conservation at Cornell. Howard L. Mendall, B.A., M.A. Maine 1934, was appointed Assistant leader of the Wildlife Unit to replace Mr. Swanson. Allen W. Goodspeed accepted an appointment at Iowa State College and was replaced by Robert W. Hess, B.S. Iowa State 1934, M.F. Yale 1936. Gregory Baker was granted leave to study for his M.F. degree at Yale and John B. Quinn, B.S. Maine 1934, substituted for him. Professor Hess resigned in 1939 to accept an appointment at Yale and James D. Curtis, B.A. Sc. U.B.C. 1930, M.F. Harvard 1935, was appointed Assistant Professor of Forestry.

University Forest

In the same year the Federal Government formally granted the University a long term lease on 1700 acres of land in the Stillwater area, a short distance from the campus. This area includes some large pine formerly owned by J. W. Sewall, other stands in various stages of development, plantations established by the Resettlement Administration and by the department, and a little open land suitable for planting. Approximately two acres are being used by the State Nursery for growing transplants. The present superintendent of the University Forest, Roger F. Taylor, came to us in September 1946.

John Pearce, B.S., M.F. Syracuse 1935, replaced C. M. Aldous as leader of the wildlife unit in 1940 and was called to the Boston office of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service in 1941. Howard Mendall was promoted to the position of leader and Charles P. Brown, B.S. Syracuse 1935, acted as his assistant and was awarded his M.S. degree in Wildlife Conservation in 1942.

In 1943 three members of the department received Maine Agricultural Experiment Station appointments and Robert J. Ashman was granted leave which was extended until December 1945 when he was appointed head of the department to replace Professor Demeritt who resigned to take a position as Manager of Woodlands with the Dead River Company of Bangor. In the same year Jay S. Gashwiler, B.S. Oregon 1937, M.S. Maine 1939, became assistant leader of the Wildlife unit, replacing Charles P. Brown.

Early in 1946 Edwin L. Giddings, B.S. Maine, M.F. Yale 1934, a long-time employee of the U.S. Forest Service, recently returned from service in the Navy, joined the staff. In May of the same year Professor Chapman died of a heart attack. Arthur G. Randall, B.S. Yale 1932, M.F. Yale 1933, a veteran of twelve years' service on the national forests of the West, and Henry A. Plummer, B.S. Maine 1930, who had been employed for several years by the New York State Conservation Department, were appointed to the teaching staff in the summer of 1946. At the beginning of fall semester instruction in photogrammetry was initiated.

Junior Camp

Because of very small enrollments during the war years both the Sophomore and Senior Camps had been discontinued.

In the summer of 1946 a Junior Camp was organized and conducted on Indian Township replacing the old Senior Winter Camp which was abolished because of the broken schedules of nearly all students registered in forestry. The work of Sophomore Camp was included in the curriculum given during the academic year. During part of the summer of 1947 and all of the summers of 1948 and 1949 (Continued on Page 6) and has been appointed by the government to various National Advisory Committees.

A well-known figure in the business and civic life of Baltimore, Mr. Totman is also a frequent visitor to Maine in connection with his many business interests here.

An ardent advocate of research for the promotion of Maine agriculture and industry, he and his companies have given a number of grants for this purpose.

He has also been active in university alumni affairs, serving as a member of the Council, president of the Baltimore Alumni Association, and chairman of various alumni fund drives in the Maryland area. In 1953, the university awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

Dr. Arthur A. Hauck, president of the University of Maine, said today the gift from Mr. Totman and the Summers Fertilizer Company would be of "enormous value" in providing scholarship and loan assistance to students in the College of Agriculture and in sponsoring agricultural research by graduate assistants in the Agricultural Experiment Station.

the students in Wildlife Conservation occupied the old N.Y.A. Camp on the Moosehorn Refuge in Meddybemp, which offered excellent opportunities for summer training and relieved the congestion at the sixty-man camp on Indian Township.

James D. Curtis resigned at the beginning of the second semester in 1947 to accept a position in silvicultural research with the United States Forest Service in the Rocky Mountain Region. Frank K. Beyer, B.S. Cornell 1929, M.S. Wisconsin 1930, was appointed to fill this vacancy. Professor Beyer came to us after successful professional experience in teaching and in the field. During the war period he was employed by the United States Forest Products Laboratory to assist in conducting short courses in kiln drying for the industry.

Because of research commitments necessitating frequent and extended absences from the campus, the personnel of the Cooperative Wildlife Unit had found it difficult to do any undergraduate teach-

NAMED ONE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE'S YOUNGEST JUDGES

William W. Treat '40

One of the youngest justices in the State of New Hampshire is Attorney William W. Treat Jr., judge of Seabrook Municipal Court.

Mr. Treat was named by the governor's council of New Hampshire in December to succeed Judge Ralph O. Bragg whose death left the position vacant. Mr. Treat has been practicing law in Hampton, N. H., since 1949 when he was admitted to the New Hampshire Bar.

A former resident of Portsmouth, N. H., Mr. Treat owns Perry's Inc., which operates a tropical nut house in Seabrook. He and a brother own a similar establishment in Belfast, Maine.

Mr. Treat was born in Boston and educated in the elementary schools of Winterport, Maine. He was graduated from the University in 1940 with a B.A. degree in government and economics and from Columbia Law School in 1945 and from the Harvard School of Business Administration in 1947. He was a member of the Harvard faculty for a year after his graduation and then moved to Portsmouth. He later moved to Hampton to establish a law practice.

Mr. Treat was admitted to the U. S. Supreme Court Bar two years ago and served as a naval officer during World War II. He is married and lives with his family at 24 Towle Avenue in Hampton. The Treats have two children, Mary Esther C. Treat, two, and Jonathan B. Treat, one.
Union Building Fund Grows

Nearly $10,000 in gifts and subscriptions for the Memorial Union building or equipment have been made since the annual meeting of the General Alumni Association last June.

Of this amount about $2,000 came from new and additional subscriptions all of which were made voluntarily by alumni and faculty members who recognized the need for more funds. Fourteen hundred dollars were given or pledged to make it possible to install a tile floor in the Snack Bar without which gifts this much needed floor could not have been laid. With the exception of the cafeteria counter (as distinct from the snack bar counter) this large room will be completed under the present contract.

Memorial to T. W. Monroe '24

Recently the University received an unrestricted bequest of $1,000 from the late Mrs. Theodore W. Monroe in memory of her husband, a prominent member of the class of 1924, who died in 1943. By vote of the University Trustees this bequest was allocated for use in the Union with the understanding that it shall be used to create a memorial to Mr. Monroe.

$8,6500 Gifts for Equipment

Through President Hauck two anonymous donors have generously subscribed $2,500 for use in furnishing the Memorial Room. These same donors who are not Maine alumni, had previously contributed $5,000 for the room and also gave a valuable Winslow Homer etching which is to be hung in that room.

The University Store Company at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors voted to contribute $4,500 more to the Union Building. This gift is to be used for billiard and tennis tables to be placed in the Game Room. This generous gift will make it possible to purchase the game room equipment much earlier than had been expected. As funds become available at a later date the bowling alleys will be installed.

In 1947 the University Store Company subscribed $10,000 for a room in the Union.

Members of the Boston Alumnae Association, desiring to have a share in providing needed equipment, have given $50 for the purchase of Maine Wedgwood cups and saucers and dinner plates. This fine china will be most helpful when "teas" or "coffees" are held in one of the lounges. Much more of this attractive china will be needed. In this connection it should be said that the Eastern Massachusetts Alumnae during the Union Building Fund campaign exceeded their quota of $4,425.

The recently organized Auburn-Lewiston Alumni Club, too, has pledged $75 for an etching, picture or similar piece to be hung in one of the lounges. The selection of an appropriate gift, preferably by a state of Maine artist, is being made in collaboration with Professor Vincent Hartgen, head of the Art Department at the University.

Construction Progressing Rapidly

All of the room partitions are in place and most if not all of the plastering will be completed by the time this issue of The Alumnus reaches its readers. The attractive glazed tile has been set in the spacious Snack Bar and in the serving room on the first floor.

The contractors expect to continue their rapid pace and have the painting, the floor tile in the rooms and the terrazo floor in the main lobby and corridors done by mid-March.

The outlook for an opening of the Union in April becomes more encouraging every day.

CHADBOURNE HALL

The University's newest women's dormitory, built in 1947, and previously called West Hall, will be known as Chadbourne Hall, starting next July.

By vote of the University Trustees, the dormitory is to be named in honor of Dr. Ava H. Chadbourne '15, beloved member of the Maine Faculty from 1915 to 1942. Dr. Chadbourne received her master's degree from Maine in 1918, and in 1928 was awarded her doctorate by Columbia.

A native of Mattawamkeag, Dr. Chadbourne had extensive teaching experience in primary and secondary schools before attending the University. Appointed to the University faculty in 1915, she held the rank of full professor at the time of her 1942 retirement.

Dr. Chadbourne, who was always regarded as a "thorough, patient and kindly teacher," is an authority on the early history of education in Maine. She is a member of the national scholarship societies, Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Beta Kappa, and has been honored with membership in many historical and professional societies.

Currently Professor Emeritus, Dr. Chadbourne has been an active member of the General Alumni Association since her graduation.

The dormitory named in Dr. Chadbourne's honor is located at the south end of the campus near the women's athletic field. It is now used to accommodate 156 freshman girls.

Dr. Ava H. Chadbourne '15
Two former classmates at the University have been promoted to new positions within the Du Pont Company.

Charles E. Fogg '29 has been appointed manager of the company's Yerkes Film Plant in Buffalo, N. Y., to succeed Emory F. Ridlon '29 who has been assigned to special duties in connection with the new $10,000,000 plant which Du Pont will build near Circleville, Ohio, for the manufacture of "Mylar" polyester film. When the Circleville plant is ready to go into operation, Mr. Ridlon will become plant manager.

Even though the Circleville plant is not scheduled to go into production until early in 1955, the appointments were effective January 1 so that Mr. Ridlon may keep in touch with continuing development and improvement of the production process of the new film and train the nucleus of technical and key supervisory personnel which will be required for the new plant. Mr. Ridlon is the first production man to be assigned to the Circleville project.

After their graduation from the University in 1929 with degrees in chemical engineering, both Mr. Fogg and Mr. Ridlon joined Du Pont as student operators in separate plants in Buffalo.

Mr. Fogg was for many years in supervisory work in Du Pont plants in Buffalo, Richmond, Va., Old Hickory, Tenn., and Clinton, Iowa. During most of the war years he was service superintendent of the Kings Mills, Ohio, plant of Remington Arms Company, a Du Pont subsidiary. Until he went to the Yerkes plant in 1951, he was assistant sales manager for cellulose bands and sponges at the company's headquarters in Wilmington, Delaware.

Mr. Ridlon from 1946 to 1949 was manager of the neoprene plant which Du Pont had built and at that time was operating for the United States government in Louisville, Kentucky. He was superintendent of tetraethyl lead production at the company's Chambers Works, Deepwater Point, N. J., from 1949 until his appointment as manager of the Yerkes Film Plant in 1950.

Railroad Promotes—

Two University alumni have been promoted by the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad.

Willard J. Strout '29, chief engineer, has been appointed mechanical superintendent for the railroad, and Robley H. Morrison '36, formerly principal assistant engineer, is now assistant chief engineer. Mr. Strout, who has been acting mechanical engineer since 1951, will continue to serve as chief engineer.

Mr. Strout was first employed by the railroad as trackman and machinist's helper, while he was a student. After his graduation from the University, he was made special engineer at Houlton. In 1932 he was made superintendent of buildings and bridges and was named chief engineer in 1941.

Mr. Strout is a director of the Maine Association of Engineers, a trustee of Ricker Classical Institute and Ricker College, a director of the Houlton Water Company and a registered engineer.

Mr. Morrison was educated in Norway schools and received his B. S degree in civil engineering from the University in 1936. He was first employed by the B & A in 1940 a superintendent of buildings and bridges. He was made principal assistant engineer in 1945. Before entering railroad service he was an engineer with the bridge division of the state highway department.

He is a director of the Aroostook General Hospital, a director and treasurer of the New England District of the YMCA and a registered engineer.

New Lynn Superintendent—

Paul R. Welch '44 has been named acting general superintendent of the Lynn Gas and Electric company of Lynn, Mass., succeeding Mr. Ivan A. Patten who had been with the company for 41 years.

Mr. Welch was graduated from Bangor High school and did post-graduate work at Hebron academy before attending the University. He received his B.S. degree in electrical engineering from Northeastern University. A veteran, he served three and one half years in the Signal Corps, three of which were overseas.

Mr. Welch is married to the former Marjorie Talbot of Bangor. They have two children, Paul and Mark.

Dr. Roland A. Struchtemeyer, head of the Department of Agronomy at the Agricultural Experiment Station, and Dr. Lincoln H. Taylor, assistant agronomist, represented the University at the national convention of the American Society of Agronomy held in Cincinnati, Ohio, during November.

Dr. Struchtemeyer and Dr. Taylor were joined later at the meeting by Dr. Kenneth Nielsen, also of the agronomy staff, who presented a paper summarizing research for his Ph.D. degree at Ohio State University last year. Dr. Nielsen also attended a radioactive isotope course at the national atomic installation at Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

Dean Winthrop C. Libby '32, associate dean of instruction in the College of Agriculture and president of the northeastern section of the American Society, was unable to attend the national meeting.

Agricultural Engineers Meet—

Professor Frank W. Peikert, head of the department of agricultural engineering, attended the winter meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers held in Chicago in December.

Professor Peikert served as chairman of the committee on graduate study in agricultural engineering and also as a member of the committee on student branches of the ASAE and of several committees studying irrigation problems.

English Professor Elected Director—

Professor Hilda M. Fife of the English Department has been elected a Director of the New England branch of the College English Association.

The College English Association is composed of teachers of English in universities and colleges all over the country. The New England branch holds meetings twice every year, once in Boston and once in some other college town of the region.

Attend Language Meeting—

Professor G. William Small, Professor Cecil J. Reynolds, Professor George W. Sanderson, Professor Hilda M. Fife, Professor Herbert J. Edwards and Mr. George K. Manlove, all members of the English Department, attended a December meeting of the Modern Language Association held in Boston.

The Modern Language Association is a society of scholars and college teachers in the fields of English and other modern languages. Its annual meeting is held during the Christmas vacation of each year.

With the FACULTY

Elected YMCA Committee Chairman—

Reverend Charles E. O'Connor, Director of the Student Religious Association, was elected chairman of the Advisory Committee for YMCA Student Work in New England at an annual meeting held in Boston in November.

Mr. O'Connor and State Secretary Chester A. Baker of Waterville represented the State YMCA Executive Committee at the meeting which was attended by YMCA men from all parts of New England.

Speech Convention—

Speech Department head Professor G. Wofford Gardner attended joint conventions of the Speech Association of America, American Educational Theatre Association, National Society for the Study of Communication, and American Forensic Association held in Cincinnati, Ohio, in December.

Professor Gardner presented a paper on “Discussion as Training for Debate” in a sectional meeting on “Administering the Forensic Program.” He also served as a member of a panel that discussed “Departmental Administrative Problems.”

Economics Professors In Chicago—

Professor H. Austin Peck and Professor Robert P. Shay of the department of economics attended meetings of the American Economic Association held in Chicago during the month of December.

Professor Shay also served as a discussant on the subject “Direct Regulation of Consumer Credit” at the annual meeting of the American Finance Association also held in Chicago.

BETTE KILPATRICK TO WED

The announcement of the engagement of Bette Barker Kilpatrick '42, Assistant Alumni Secretary, to the Rev. Gilbert Y. Taverner of Boston, will be received with interest by Bette's many alumni friends.

The widow of the late Lt. Donald M. Kilpatrick '42, Bette has ably served as Assistant Alumni Secretary since 1948. Along with her many duties in the Alumni Office, she has served as editor of the "Persons at Alumni." The Rev. Mr. Taverner, brother of Alumni Secretary Don Taverner '43, is a graduate of Colby College and Boston University School of Theology. He is currently pastor of the Hyde Park Methodist Church in Boston.

Since an August wedding is planned, Bette will continue her duties in the Alumni Office in June. The Alumni Office joins with the alumni body in extending best wishes.

Frank C. Brown ’30, President of the New York Alumni Association, has asked your editor to bring to the attention of all alumni in and around the Great-

that a grand gala meeting will be held some time in April.
Last year, nearly 300 alumni from New York City, Long Island,
New Jersey, Westchester County, and points north, east, south and west gathered for one of the most successful and enjoyable alumni meetings in history. This year’s meeting promises to be fully as inviting.
Circle the month of April on

Perleton Pert's article on athletics will be a regular feature for the remainder of the 1953 school year. A senior journalism major, he was formerly sports editor of The Maine Campus before taking over his current job as city editor.

Pert worked on his hometown paper, the Bath Daily Times, during the past summer, and is currently doing part-time work as sports assistant for the Bangor Daily News.

With one game left to play before mid-term examinations, Coach Rome Rankin's Black Bear basketball team had compiled a record of five wins and five losses in overall play.

In State Series competition, the Bears were in third place with two wins over Bowdoin and losses to Colby (2) and Bates. In the Yankee Conference the Rankinmen lost to Connecticut in their worst defeat of the season and held wins over Vermont, New Hampshire and Rhode Island. The Rhode Island victory was the first for Maine over the Rams since 1921.

The record as of January 17:
Maine 76  Bowdoin 64
Maine 66  Bates  67
Maine 88  Vermont 77
Maine 86  Colby 87
Maine 80  Northeastern 75
Maine 66  Connecticut 87
Maine 81  Rhode Island 79
Maine 86  New Hampshire 80
Maine 72  Bowdoin 68
Maine 68  Colby 87

Score 768 Points
Statistics-wise the Bears had scored a total of 768 points in the ten games for an average of 76.8 points per game. Total points tallied by Maine's opponents was 771.

Six-foot five inch John Norris, Bangor, was still leading the point parade for the Rankinmen with a per game average of 25 points. Bob Churchill, Kekar Falls, was next with a 17.9 average for the ten games.

Maine looked good in the first game of its three game Christmas vacation road trip by dumping Northeastern, 80-75. Leading 41-30 at half-time, the Bears effectively held off a last period rally by the Boston team to preserve the win. Capt Woody Carville's field goal and foul shot and guard Bob Nixon's two pointers in the final two minutes gave the Bears the victory.

The following night the Pale Blue ran into trouble against the class of the Yankee Conference, Connecticut. A full court press and extra sharp shooting provided the UConn's their eighth straight win of the year. Bob Churchill led the Maine scoring with 21 points, while usual high scorer Johnny Norris was held to 16 by the Huskies.

Against Rhode Island at Kingston, Norris enjoyed his second best night of the year by scoring 30 points as the Bears beat the Rams for the first time in 32 seasons. It was the third triumph for the Bears in a 45-game series.

Back on their home court, the Bears added another Yankee Conference win to their record by clipping New Hampshire 86-80. With Norris pacing the way with 27 points for the night, Maine caught fire in the third period after trailing by three markers at the half. The 27-point team effort in the third quarter was sparked by guard Keith Mahaney, Fort Fairfield, who dunked in 19 for the night. The win brought the Bears' Yankee Conference record to two wins against one loss.

Maine blew hot for three periods against Bowdoin in the second meeting of the year between the two clubs, but the Bears had to go all out in the final period to post a 72-68 win. Norris was high man again with 27 points.

Colby Defeats Bears

In the second clash between the Bears and the Colby Mules, anticipated to be as interesting as the early season duel between the two teams, didn't quite live up to advance notices as the Rankinmen absorbed their second worst defeat of the year 87-68. Colby's six-foot seven inch forward Rollie Nagle paced the Mule attack with 28 points while his team effectively bottled up John Norris and his mates. Norris was held to 16 points, which was high for the Bears for the night.

The Colby game left Maine with only seven contests remaining to be played. The Bears will play Bates, Connecticut and Rhode Island at home and Bates, New Hampshire, Colby and Bowdoin in away games.

INDOOR TRACK

Indoor track coach Chester A. Jenkins had little to be displeased about concerning his team's first indoor dual meet of the season as the Black Bear thonclouds soundly trounced Bates 82-44 in the University fieldhouse.

Sophomore Bill Calkin, Orono, starred for the Pale Blue as he captured three first places and one second place for a total of 18 points. Calkin took firsts in the 45-yard high hurdles, 65-yard low hurdles and the 300-yard run, and second in the 50-yard dash.

Footballer Ed Bogdanovich, Providence, R. I., won first place in the 16-pound shot put and came in second in the discus throw.

Nielson Wins 50-Yard Dash

Iver Nielson, Capt Elizabeth, was one second off the meet record and only two seconds from the fieldhouse record in winning the 50-yard dash in 5.6 seconds. He also finished second in the 300-yard run.

The Bears made a clean sweep in the pole vault with Ken Lincoln, Arlington, Mass., and George Weatherbee, Bangor, tying for first place at 12 feet.

Other firsts were taken by Ed Perry, Bangor, in the mile run; Dave Dearing, Bangor, in the two-mile run; Ed Touchette, Rumford, who jumped 19 feet 4½ inches in the broad jump; and Colwyn Haskell, Norway, who outran former

Lack of snow forced cancellation of the Maine Invitational Ski Meet scheduled for Orono Jan. 16-18 between the ski teams of Maine, Bates and Colby. Despite the absence of snow and lack of practice for Coach Ted Curtis' Maine team, however, the home team showed fairly well in the Franconia pre-season Open and the Lyndonville Eastern Intercollegiate meet.

Wes Scrone, Rumford, placed ninth among a field of fifty-one in the men's cross country event at the annual pre-season slalom and cross country tournament held at Cannon Mountain, Franconia, N. H., Dec 21-22. Ralph Chase, Ashland, and Lehan Edwards, Monmouth, placed thirty-first and thirty-second, respectively, in the same event. Bob Irish, Falmouth Foreside, placed thirty-second in the slalom event.

The Maine team as a whole finished sixth in a field of nine teams at the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Meet held at Lyndonville, Vermont, Jan 3-4. A relay team of Scrone, Edwards, Chase, and Ralph Baxter, Ashland, placed fifteenth in a seventeen team relay meet at Dartmouth College January 10. Maine's cause was hurt in this meet when anchor man Scrone broke a ski.

Next competition for the Maine team will be at the Colby Winter Carnival at Waterville Feb. 13-14.

Only two teams remained undefeated in the fraternity division of the intramural basketball league as frat hoopers entered their sixth week of competition.

Kappa Sigma was resting in first place with a 6-0 record with Phi Mu Delta close behind with a 5-0 slate.

Beta Theta Pi crept into third place by whipping previously undefeated SAE 75-53. Beta also knocked Theta Chi from the undefeated ranks 46-35, putting the Theta Chi team into fourth place with a 4-1 record. Beta's record was five wins against one loss.

SAE dropped to fifth place after suffering another defeat at the hands of Sigma Nu 65-61 in an overtime battle.

In the spring of 1948 Gordon L. Chapman, B.S. Maine 1939, M.S. Vermont 1941, (Ph.D. Yale 1950) and Harold E. Young, B.S. Maine 1937, M.F. Duke 1946, Ph.D. Duke 1948 were appointed to the staff, the former to teach the courses in Silvics and Silviculture with one class in Photogrammetry and the latter to handle the work in Forest Mensuration, including the application of aerial photographs to Mensurational work. Both of these men had had considerable experience. Chapman had assisted in Silviculture at Yale and had worked in photogrammetry for the U.S. Geological survey during the war and Young and been employed by the United States Forest Service before World War II when he served with the paratroopers.

In the same year Jay Gashwiler resigned as assistant leader in the Wildlife unit to accept a position with the United States Fish and Wildlife Service in Utah. His loss was the more serious since he took our secretary, Melva Horne Gashwiler, with him. Gashwiler was replaced by Malcolm W. Coulter, B.S. Conn 1942. M.S. Maine 1948 who came to us after a year's experience in Vermont. Replacements of secretaries have been difficult and painful.

There has been only one change in our other personnel since the fall of 1948, excepting that Earl McClesney, B.S. Syracuse substituted for Henry Plummer in the spring of 1950 while Plummer was completing work for his M.F. degree at Yale. Dr. Kutz resigned at the end of the spring semester 1950 to accept an appointment as head of the biology department at Norwich University. (We were shocked to learn recently that he had died in a hospital in Pennsylvania of a heart ailment.) Horace F. Quick was appointed to the vacancy caused by Dr. Kutz's resignation thus bringing the number of our staff up to ten. Quick, B.S. Penn. State 1937, M.F. Michigan 1940, with all requirements for the Ph.D. degree completed excepting his thesis, has had wide field experience in the Rockies, in British Columbia and in Alaska, has taught at Colorado A & M College and has lectured extensively. He is teaching Game Management and General Conservation and is employed on a half-time basis by the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Game.

Freshman Camp

Since the War a majority of our students have come from urban areas and have had little knowledge of the woods. To overcome this deficiency to some extent the department inaugurated a two week's Freshman Camp in 1948 to which entering Freshmen are invited and which Freshmen of the preceding academic year are required to attend unless they have been employed in woods work for at least two months. Thus far there has been no difficulty in securing summer employment for all men who are interested and we feel that such work is an important part of their training. Every year the greater part of the Freshman and Sophomore classes as well as a few entering freshmen take advantage of these job opportunities.

Research began in 1943 and was active during the War in Silviculture and products, the most important contribution being a survey of the primary wood-using industries of Maine, headed by Professor Baker. For several years after the War the department had a small dry kiln on loan from the United States Forest Products Laboratory which enabled Professor Baker to carry on seasoning experiments in cooperation with the Federal Government and with industry particularly with beech.

At present four members of our staff work part-time with the Experiment Station and studies are being conducted in wood utilization, the marketing of forest products, the silviculture of white pine, the management of small woodland areas, and the development of forest plantations in Maine. Some other projects requiring less time are being carried on by members of the staff and not connected with the station. The most important of these is a study of the results of varying intensities of commercial pulpwood cutting in cooperation with the Eastern Pulpwood Company on Indian Township in Washington County.

The Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit has carried on studies which have won recognition throughout this country and Canada. The work of personnel of the Unit on woodcock and fur bearers is especially noteworthy. Graduate students working with unit personnel have made important contributions to wildlife management and many of these men have continued in research after graduation and are highly regarded by the profession.

The number of graduate students has been kept small to permit the closest contact between instructor and student.

Since 1903 the University has awarded 716 B.S. degrees and one M.S. degree in Forestry and 102 B.S. degrees and 24 M.S. degrees in Wildlife Conservation.

The peak enrollment was reached soon after the War when the student body in forestry and wildlife totaled 296. We now have a yearly average of approximately 200 students of whom about 20% are in wildlife conservation. We feel that this number is the optimum for our department and barring a decrease in Freshman applications because of demands by the Military, we feel that it can be maintained.

A committee of the forestry staff is perfecting plans for the celebration of our Golden Anniversary early in October 1953, and we all hope that a record number of alumni will be with us at that time.
Campus Comment

Damage in the Balentine Hall fire and the South Apartments fire was repaired before students returned from the Christmas holiday.

Store Company Gives Profits

By a unanimous vote of the Board of Directors of the University Store Company, the entire amount of the net profits of the store in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, will be given to the University to buy billiard and table tennis tables for the new Memorial Union building. The entire gift will amount to $4,529.

Previously the Store Company has made two subscriptions totaling $10,000 for a room in the Union. Raymond H. Fogler, chairman of the Union Building Fund Committee, expressed the appreciation of the committee for the "further generous interest of the Store Company in the Union."

Officers of the Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, and Naval Air Force will be on campus Feb-12-13 for a two-day advisory program.

Dean of men, John E. Stewart said the men will discuss officers candidate training and other enlistment opportunities with students interested in the field. The various service representatives will conduct group meetings, show slides and movies, and hold individual interviews.

Dean Stewart said the program would be a chance for men to meet and hear informed representatives of the services so that they may more intelligently decide what branch of the service they want to enter.

Helen Johnson's column of "Campus Comment" will be a regular feature in this year's issue of The Maine Alumnus. A senior history and government major, Miss Johnson has served as city editor of The Maine Campus during the Spring and Fall semesters of 1952. She is one of the very few women in the history of the University's newspaper ever to hold that position.

During the past summer, Miss Johnson was a reporter for the Eastport Sentinel. She is currently working part-time for the Bangor Daily News.

By Helen Johnson '53

The clock on the wall has made another turn and the time has come when the big news on campus is again final examinations. I don't imagine students feel much different about it now than they did when members of the Class of 1904 or 1944 took exams. In a symposium the Maine Campus conducted recently on the question, "What do you think of finals?" the answers were uniform if not original.

One freshman, about to enter upon his first examination period, said, "I guess finals are all right if you pass them." All in all this is probably the most realistic viewpoint.

The end of a semester brings another graduation. Seventy-seven seniors are scheduled to get degrees January 30. Ten graduate students will receive Master's degrees in the College of Agriculture; 18 in the College of Technology; 19 in the College of Arts and Sciences, and 20 in the School of Education.

Senate Efficiency Committee

The General Student Senate decision to establish an efficiency committee to investigate other committees is one of the most talked-about events on campus. C. Donald Stritch, Sanford, was appointed chairman of the committee. Other members are Eini Rutta, Warren, and Warren Noyes, Fair Haven, N. J. The duties of the new committee, formed after much Senate debate, are:

1. To see that other committees meet at least once and name a chairman.
2. To have the committees report in order of their election.
3. To combine some committees to make stronger committees.
4. To find out what part the faculty plays on committees.

The formation of the committee was finally approved after the most spirited discussion the Senate has had this year.

Fires Damage Buildings

About $4,000 damage was done in fires involving University buildings or students during the past month. A fire in Balentine Hall, women's dormitory, resulted in about $3,000 damage according to the office of Henry L. Doten, business manager. The fire started in a metal waste paper chute on the day that students left for Christmas recess. The chute was equipped with a sprinkler system but flames passed through the joints of the metal before the sprinkler went into operation.

Damage was done in the basement area, the large living room at the south end of the building, the lobby on the second floor, and eight student rooms. The major part of the damage was caused when holes were cut in partitions so firemen could play water on the flames.

A fire in building No. 21, South Apartments, started in the upstairs apartment of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Grove, Orono, and burned through the floor into the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Knowles below. Both couples were away for the holidays. The fire is believed to have started when an oil burner flooded and oil, dripping to the floor, was ignited. Books and personal belongings were damaged by smoke and water.

Lincoln Abbot, Camden, was treated for superficial burns following a fire in his Star Route cabin. The inside of the cabin was badly burned, but Orono firemen saved the building. Abbot lived alone in the one-room structure.

The fire started apparently from a flooded oil burner while Abbot was cooking his dinner. He was burned when he tried to put the fire out with a rug. He lost all his clothes and books.

Abbot was treated at the University infirmary and released. He is scheduled to graduate Jan. 30.

THE MAINE ALUMNUS
A PARTING SHOT

Doubtless there are among you, my gentle readers, many who in quest of a few moments of freedom from the cares of a strenuous college life, have ventured across the spongy mire lying just east of our vast "parade ground" to the solitude of the forest beyond. There can scarcely have escaped your notice, a shady little grove in the center of which are loosely scattered about several broken-down seats and tables. Enveloped in the mantle of your own thoughts has it ever occurred to you that, though they have the appearance of not having been used for ages, yet perhaps, there was among you a certain clique which regularly held its meetings upon this isolated spot and partook of the many good things that the near-by farm affords? Fancy to yourself on a moonless night, a crowd of dusky forms taking seats about such a table, lighted only by a single dingy lantern. Leaving you to picture in your imagination such a scene, I will proceed with my story.

Now, of course, the all important essential of such a gathering is a toastmaster, and upon this occasion there was none lacking. As he arose to speak the stillness of the night was broken by the far-off hooting of a belated owl. With face saddened to the degree of painfulness, he began in a trembling voice: "Boys, this is undoubtedly the last time that we shall meet together under similar circumstances, for in a few weeks we will be scattered to all quarters of the globe. In this, our last gathering around our sumptuous board, it gives me great pleasure to call upon one of our members to give us a farewell talk, a member who, though he has had the weight of the social part of the class resting upon his right shoulder and the religious part upon his left, has not only been able to carry these loads, but has, furthermore, in his Senior year borne the burdens of the class Presidency, a man who, though he is a self-professed woman-hater, is, we understand, a secret member of the Bangor Y.W.C.T.U. Boys, it gives me great pleasure to present to you, Mr. Simpson."

The man (?) thus magnanimously eulogized arose, hitched up his trousers and spoke as follows. "Members of 1903 and fellow classmates, I take great pleasure in being thus called upon to address you at this our last grand assembly. We have had many in the past two years, and now, it is only fitting that I should give you some fatherly words of advice as well as to reveal to you some startling facts concerning the members of our honorable body, the class of 1903. In a few weeks we are going away and it is for us to consider what kind of examples we are leaving with the classes beneath us. Probably had it not been for the fellow that sits opposite me at the further end of the table who was our president during our sophomore year, there would not be as many underclassmen chasing to Bangor nights as there are at the present time, yet, boys, didn't Steve Harris always kick about the grub at Oak Hall when he boarded there, and has it ever been any better since?

"Here on my left is a base ball and foot ball man who has been so tied to an apron string in Washington County that he has never met any of the fair sex either in Bangor, Orono, or Old Town. And I will leave it to Bill Cole or Fred Collins if he has got as much out of his college course as he should have?"" "Sitting next to him is a fellow who knows every inch of the car track between the college and Old Town. Boys, that fellow ought to have taken the civil engineering rather than the pharmacy course.

"There is a foot ball hero whose familiar face is not present with us tonight, but let's see, this is Friday night, doubtless he has important business on hand which will keep him in Bangor until Monday. This business matter would be a great saving to him if he boarded at the Hall where for three days absence, board is deducted."

On my right I see two faces that have been familiar to the class only during the past year. I know most of you fellows are disgusted with them, but boys remember it will be but a few weeks longer, so try and keep a stiff upper lip, appear not to notice them and everything will turn out all right.

"There now remains but one question, what is going to result from all this? I would be willing to stake all the fortune that I expect to amass during the remaining portion of my life that somebody that any of us come back here next year, we would find "Pete" Bean deeper than ever in the toils of love, Scabbo Flanders taking St Small's place as a regular visitor at the Hen Coop, Willie Trask going it alone, and the spirit of Bill Cole hovering about the Mystic Ten."

"But, I perceive that it is beginning to grow light in the East and I am afraid that if we do not hurry the sun will be up before we get to bed. Now for the last time, let's give three times three for the old class."

As the faint echoes died away, the whole band arose as one man and silently clasped hands. There was a tear in many an eye, in many a mind the resolve to turn over a new leaf as they stole away in the fast fading twilight. Soon the blazing rays of the morning sun filtered through the tree tops and all that was left to mark the scene of the night's revelry was a broken table, a keg, and a few feathers.

Did you all make a New Year's resolution to write to your class secretary so that she will have your address to put into this column? I made a resolution to have something interesting in this column each month, and I shall need the help of many of you to carry that out.

Mail should still come to me at the Maryland address since I continue to stay with my husband. Our holiday was made happy and pleasant by the homecoming of their son, "Skip" Hull, who is junior at Maine.

A news clipping which has come to me from the Alumni Office indicates that Tom Mangan, who was a state delegate to the meeting of the New England Council recently, was elected to a three year directorship in that organization. I had a Christmas card from Tom (he lives in my home town). He said that he plans to leave on February 19 for Jamaica for his annual winter vacation. He will stay at Montego Bay on the north west corner of the island. He was there five years ago and found it so delightful that he is returning. Let's wish him a pleasant vacation.

A Christmas card from Alice Poore Rollins informed me of the arrival of a new grandson, Rex William Hagerling, born on November 10 to Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hagerling of Pittsburgh, Pa. Congratulations to the proud grandparents.

Surely some of the other members of the class of 1916 have hobbies, and grandchildren, and activities which would make interesting reading. It would be so nice to have a flood of letters coming to me!

With a mailing address of No. Scituate, R. I., RFD 2, to quote Mabel, "It is 17 miles out and has a lot of woods and fresh air around." Must remind them of Piney Knoll? Their daughter, Mary Helen, is being married this month and she and her husband plan to go to India as missionaries come summer.

From Albany, N. Y., comes the news that William M. Foss is the new head of that state's forests and lands. Starting there 28 years ago as a timber cruiser, the New Bill has advanced steadily to this important position. An Albany newspaper says of him, "Mr. Foss today: Managing a chunk of the Conservation Department that spends from 3 to 5 million dollars yearly and keeps busy some 500 rangers, camp guards, game wardens, and others."

"His responsibility: 3 million of state-owned land in the Adirondack-Catskill preserve, over half a million acres of timber, and abandoned farmland."

My husband and I are just back from an interesting trip to Salt Lake City where his bust was sculptured for the Hall of Fame of the Sons of the Pioneers. We met many of the leading Mormon citizens and a finer group of people would be difficult to find. By hard work and Christian living they have produced one of the loveliest cities in this country. Their University is also top notch and includes a medical school and a dental school, which they started on a shoestring from a few surplus Government buildings. The whole experience was a thoroughly pleasing one for us.

How about a new year resolution to send us some news about yourselves?

Mrs. Merrill Henderson (Anne Thurston)

Evelyn also reports that Milton and Anna Lyon Sims live in Atlanta with their 14 year old daughter. Mrs. Milt has a very responsible position with the W. T. Grant Company. Thanks very much, Evelyn, for your nice letter with the additional lead you gave me about other members of our class. I'll try to follow up on these leads soon.

Please forgive the lapses now and then in '34 news. This has been a year in the Russ household! Maybe '35 will be a little more serene.

I had two interesting letters lately—one from Ruth Hamor and one from Win Cushing.

Win has been a Health Specialist, Institute of Inter-American Affairs, Ciudad Trujillo, Republica Dominicana. She said nothing extraordinary, so perhaps little is still doing the same thing. Ruth spent two and a half months last summer in Bar Harbor, went to a football game at Maine in the fall and didn’t see a fillin face! She has been spending a few weeks with her folks at Barahuana before re-turning to Trujillo Sounds like a trave-logue!

The Christmas mail is always a boon to discouraged "Alumnus" editors. News at long last!

This year, among all the cards and messages, came the nicest batch of snapshots of handsome children we've yet received. And the resemblance between the children and the Mommas and Poppas, whom we haven't seen for nigh on twelve years, is simply terrific. The "old folks" hardly need to sign their names!

There were Peggy (Hauck) and Ted Ladd's three pretty daughters, Gail, Anne, and Allison. And from Ft. Fairfield a picture of Rachel (Kent) and Ken Clark's two girls, Nancy and Betsy. Polly (Jellison) and Art Weatherbee sent greetings by way of two of their handsome sons, Steve and Dick, and their sister, Sue.

I love the Christmas season almost as much for the reasons I gather on cards from you all. This year I think I have quite a lot. Betty and Clem Silvestro (Betty is living in a new apartment very near the campus of Wisconsin)--663 State St., Madison, Wis. A darling card from Ruth (White) and Bill Wight shows each of their four children popping out of a jack in the box. They have three boys and a girl and their ages range from 9 to 3. Ruth says they are busy all the time with Cub Scouts, trumpet lessons, ballet class, church pantomimes. Sounds like fun, huh? They hope to make homecoming each year—and are still hoping. They live at 750 Mamaroneck, Conn. A lot of news about the Ellis family too. First of all there is a new little member of the family, George Martin ("Gidge") who was born on Aug. 6. Congratulations to you all. Secondly they have sold their house in Oroko and bought a stone house in Wellesley, Mass. And George adds, "to my duties as an industrial Economist have been added the responsibilities of Manager of the Research Department at the Federal Reserve Bank. That all sounds wonderful, except that we are not sure what they have moved farther away. Their new address is 177 Benevente St., Wellesley, Mass. Speaking of dogs, away, Helen (Wormwood) and Len Pierce and daughter, Susan, are moving to Kalamazoo, Michigan. Len is associated with the St. Regis paper Co. and has been transplanted out there. Helen and Susan will be in Portland until they find a place to live in Kalamazoo. We certainly shall miss seeing them, but they promise to come back as often as possible. Dave Greenlaw, a former Eastman Kodak, Co., color control division, and their Christmas card was colored, too, showing their two sweet boys. They live at 183 Westover Rd., Rochester, N. Y.

I also had a newsletter from Peg West Blake from which I shall quote in part: "Had a Christmas note from Cody Comstock, Weston saying that both she and her husband have assistant professorships. Cody teaches social sciences at the University of Houston, and her husband, Hank, is in physical education at Rice Institute. Her address is Mrs. Arthur Weston, Jr., 3212 Purdue St., Houston 5, Texas. Our girls are growing fast. Barbara is now 9, and Deborah is almost 6. Both are in school. Cliff is at the Y M. C. A. in Portland as director of Boy's and Youth's Activities. I keep busy teaching noon school mornings at a private school near here. It's my second year and I really love it." Mrs. Jose Cuetera (Barbara Sivern) 76 Prospect St., Wellesley Hills, Mass.

The duration of our flight and flight time took us en route to Edenton, North Carolina, and the Christmas card notes from some of you were accidentally left behind in the rush of packing. So, I wish to apologize for that and for the short and hastily written news this month. Jose is attached to Marine Air Group 12 and are living just about 50 yards from Rt. #17 which is the Ocean Highway in case any of you are going for a vacation to some out-of-town versus. We have a furnished fishing lodge on a creek and the prospect of camping, with more than adequate conveniences, in the wintry time is quite an appealing feature to the Cueteras.

A card from Marge and Dick Franz gives their address as Box #994, Bryan Air Force Base, Texas.

A lovely family picture of the William Giffords came from 206 Sands St., Ft. Bragg, North Carolina. Bill is a major and stationed at Pope Field where the Giffords have been for a year. The children are Billy 6, and John 2, and Katharine who was born on September 15, this year.

Greetings were also forwarded to us here from John, Rita, and Jackie Gorman who are in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

A terrific card was one from Arnold and Margaret (Mouton) McKee who are living at Manor Club Estates, Rt. #3, Rockville, Maryland. They have a house and a housetop and ink sketch of the whole McKee family opening their Christmas gifts around their tree which from the attitude of Marme and Arthur we seem to be the early AM on Christmas morning. Margaret and Jimmy are going on ten now, Bobby and Dickie are three and Ben is seven and Ginny is about 1½ I believe.

All for now, friends, and for the present please use my Western address, the mail will be forwarded to us here. We hope to bet down to Southern North Carolina (1) Bee Bud and Katy Rourke and Betty (Price) and Dick Carlin who are at Camp Lejune, N. C.

Their bet was how Texas would vote for President in the election. Harold Hancock, 122-pound Democratic state representative from Casco, lost the bet. (He also lost his own election in the state Senate.) He paid off the bet by wheeling 230-pound Casco Selectman, Allen E. Denton, also a Democrat, a half mile along Casco's Main Street in a wheelbarrow. The affair of the ride was publicized in the Maine papers, and a picture of an accidental (?) upset appeared in the Portland Sunday Telegram. James S. Fitchett has moved to 90 Court St., Machias, Maine. He is a biologist for the Atlantic Sea Run Salmon Commission. He writes that he recently had a visit from Ben "44" and Libby White ("49") Hodges, now living in Berlin, N. H. George E. Maxim is a physicist with the Navy Ordnance Works, Silver Springs, Md., and lives at 1908 Laredo Road, Silver Springs.

Harold J. LaCroix is now living at 1348 Green Street, Lake Charles, La. The Earl B. Langley's are living at 128 Stillwater Avenue, Stillwater, Maine.

Word comes from Dr. and Mrs Oscar Wilbur that their second daughter, Anne Lawson Wilbur, was born on October 29, 1952. Oscar is on the staff. of the Johns Hopkins hospital and Medical School in the Pathology Department. Another second daughter, Patricia Ann West, whose parents are Bruz (Capt. Clifford) and Pat Ramsdell West, arrived on October 28, 1952. Bruz, Pat, Nancy, and Patsy live at 2634 South Troy Street, Arlington 6, Virginia. Pat's letter contained one sentence which has aroused my curiosity: Quote. Did you know Charlotte Gifford Sinnett has joined Cliff in Japan with their three boys? Unquote. No, I didn't. So why don't you expand it into a letter for us, Charlotte?

The girls have it this month. Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Lincoln, Jr., (Barbara Leadbeater) announce the arrival of Brenda Barbara on November 5, 1952, in Waterville, Maine.

I've wondered many times throughout the year
Why from you all I did not hear.
So let us make a pledge—it won't be hard—
Do me a favor and send me a card!

(Babs Haines)
901 Mansion Ave.
Collingswood 7, N.J.

Many thanks to all of you who sent notes with your Christmas cards. At least we have news once a year!

I'll start with the news which traveled farthest. Jo Otto Graves wrote that she, Bob, and the two children are all thrilled to be together again and are enjoying life in Japan. They are due to return home in June, however, and insist that there's still no place like the United States. The overseas address for the family is c/o Lt. Robert A. Graves, 01977307, Station Dispensary, Camp Drake, APO 613, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

From Southern California came two long reports. Romaine Littlefield Kupfer (Mrs. Doc) left home from Claremont in November for a vacation. She attended homecoming but said she didn't see a single 45er there. The Kupfers spent their Thanksgiving holiday in Death Valley on a "busman's holiday" and are both back at work for the Geological Survey—Romaine on a part time basis. Annette Steele Ewers and her family are still in Burbank, Calif., while Grant is a supervisor for Lockheed. Both Toni and Grant are active in a light opera group which did a television show on December 21st. Their family now includes Scotty (6), Vicky Sue (3), and three fighting fish.

The new Maine Playing Cards are available in both single and double decks. These cards with their engraving of the University seal in blue are Brown and Bigelow's top quality cards with a patented plasticized finish that resists wear and wipes clean with a damp cloth. The Tuck case is cellophane wrapped as is the deck itself. Each deck has an extra joker for Canasta.

a fatal heart attack on New Year's Eve. Ginny's address is 4642 La Paloma Rd., El Sobrante, Calif.

The Pincet family is planning a trip to New Mexico early in April. Will any of you who are "on the way" between Philadelphia and their destination send me your address? We're hoping to have brief stops with a lot of old friends along the way.

1946 Mrs. A. D. Gamber (Terry Dumas) 6 West Court Appleton, Wisconsin

It's nice to greet the new year with news of another '46 addition—a baby girl, Carol Grace, to the Oliver B. Tappe family (Mary Jane Hoyt) in Ellsworth on December 17th. Received a Christmas card from B. Imogene Farris in Phoenix, Arizona. Gene, who is an instructor of "Food and Nutrition" at Phoenix College, can be reached at 3002 N. 17th Street in that city.

One of us was in the news not too long ago—perhaps you saw Dave Holmes' picture in the Portland Sunday Telegram and Press Herald on November 23rd. The photo showed Dave working on a revolutionary device for use in radio and television—the transistor. To quote the Press Herald: "The Dick and his little partner...a pea-sized gadget which amplifies radio signals without the heated filaments of ordinary vacuum tubes...the transistor may cut the price of TV receivers in half, experts say." Dave whose work is promising to help him earn some money, is an electronics engineer at the David Sarnoff Research Center of RCA in Princeton, N. J. So help me, Dave looked stout in that picture—any answer to that, Mr. Holmes?

Indirectly I've also had news of Mrs. Carl Robbins (Harry Young). Evie and her husband are living in Searsport. Carl is in the undertaking business while Evie is with the Belfast office of the state bureau of Child Welfare. The Robbins also have a young daughter in their household.

Spent December 27th with Dewey and Jeanne (Ross) Nelson in Green Bay, Wisconsin. It certainly was grand to talk about the "classmates", of course. Dewey and Dave polished off the paper industry while Jeanne and I reminisced. Needless to say, the Nelson youngsters were having a grand time still experimenting with Christmas toys.

Had told me some time ago that Donald Dodge was teaching at Morse Memorial High School in Brooks, Maine. According to the Class Directory his address is Box 131 in Brooks. One classroom that is long overdue in sending us news is Angie Veronis, in case some of you have been wanting her address—here is the latest one I have 1031 Baldwin Ave., Arcadia, California. Another address you might like to file away for use is Pete Richter's. Pete is listed as working for Otis Elevator in Boston, his home address is 634 Main Street, Saugus, Mass. Send along a Christmas card that you may find pertaining to people in our class, it's more fun to get them from you with your comments than as a routine matter from the Alumni Office. Thanks for the many Christmas cards—you'll be hearing about those in subsequent issues.

1947 Mrs. Walter Brooks (Peg Spaulding) 212 French St., Bangor Mrs. Philip Shaw of 238 Sweden St., Bangor Married December 26th. Our mail of late has proved that some Jennie Manson Hermanson did the improbable and bumped into Ken and Barb (Akety) Seaman while shopping in Hampstead, N. Y., one day last fall. Jennie reports that the Seamans were purchasing birth announcements which they planned to "any day" and that Ken is teaching in the Sea Cliff area. How about one of those announcements and an address, Barb?... The latter also see Hal and Harriet (Stennett '46) Fray quite regularly, as they live within 20 miles of each other.

During the holidays, Grace Wentworth King, husband Ed, and young Andy were in town visiting her brother John. The whole family looked wonderful, and Andy is now a young husky of almost two. The Kings live at 501 W. 121st St., New York 27, N. Y. Grace passed on the information that Thelma Peacock is teaching at the University of Tennessee this term.

The last word from Carolyn Chaplin Bradley is that they have sold their home in Natick and planned to move to Portland the first of the year. Bill has a new job selling for General Electric in the Portland area. To really finish off their busy holiday season, 5 year old Linda acquired chicken pox just before Christmas.

Ethel Fenderson Kelley was celebrating the Christmas season by nursing her daughter, Marcia, through a siege of measles and bronchitis—fully expecting little Larry to join the sick list. Christmas certainly doesn't seem to stop germs from settling on children... The Paul Kellers are living at 13 Elm St., Calais, Maine.

Dana Whitman has a wonderful new job to start the year right. After receiving a master's degree in public administration, Dana was assistant to the city manager of Birmingham, Michigan. Then he was recalled to service for a year at Fort Riley, Kansas, as an instructor in basic training for overseas replacements. Released from the Army late in November, Dana was appointed town manager for Holden, Mass., early in December. He and Helen (Herrick '46) were honored at a banquet by the Board of Selectmen. Lots of luck in your new venture, Dana.

Helen Stacy McDevitt (Mrs William F.) has a new address: Box 83, Kenduskeag, Maine. We are told her that her friends would like to send their sympathy to Ginny Stewart Hall (Mrs. Eugene), whose father had Betty (Brown) '50 and Jay Calkins are the publishers of an annual U. of M. Trailer Colony Newsletter. This year it is a sixteen page affair full of news of U. of M. 'ers. Jay was good enough to send me a couple of lots of '48ers among its pages. Now all I have to do is persuade him to take over the column for a few years. The newsletter shows he'd be good at it, and it certainly shows a terrific amount of work. Here are some of the items on '48ers he and Betty have collected:

Snow falling from the elm tree accounts for the white streak at the right.

It is such scenes as our cover which impress the many visitors to the Maine campus.

A Meeting at Bowles’ Tavern

On April 3, 1826, a meeting important to Portland’s future took place at Bowles Tavern at the corner of Federal and Temple Streets. There, on that Monday morning, were assembled nine men influential in civic and business affairs of the fast growing city. There were: Woodbury Storer, Cotton B. Brooks, Phineas Varnum, Nathaniel Mitchell, Josiah Pierce, John Fessenden, John T. Smith, Els Longley and Samuel Adams. They were met to adopt a set of by-laws for the newly incorporated Canal Bank. Later, at this same Bowles Tavern, they met and voted. That a lot of land be procured on Union Street for the purpose of erecting a building for the Bank. From this start, for a hundred and twenty-five years, the Canal National Bank of Portland has served Maine business without interruption, through political, economic and social upheavals.

Bowles Tavern, where the Bank’s incorporators first met, had a long and varied career. Started as a Public House in 1823 by Mr. Bowles, the original 2-story brick structure was built in 1791 by Eben Storer for a dwelling. After it became a Tavern, operated by Mr. Bowles, it was the most popular and stylish public house in Portland. The various owners who succeeded Mr. Bowles added rooms, until it was also the largest tavern in Portland.

Samuel Haskell owned the place about 1831 and on it name became The Elm House. It was the headquarters for all stage lines serving Portland — there were twelve stage daily by 1835, and both Federal and Temple Streets were at times crowded with arriving and departing coaches.

When Portland was the capital of Maine, State Senators and Representatives lived at The Elm House for months at a time. Many important decisions on the new state’s business and political affairs were made there. Hannibal Hamlin boarded at The Elm House while he read law at the offices of Fessenden and Debelius. The Tavern was burned in the Great Fire of 1866.
