Scholarship Funds Honoring the Memory of Husband and Wife

Under the will of the late Lucy Griffin, of Bangor, the University of Maine received in 1950 a bequest of $6,000 in memory of her husband, the Reverend Henry L. Griffin. The income from this fund, which is known as the “Henry L. Griffin Scholarship Fund,” is to be used annually for the benefit of a graduate of Bangor High School during his or her first year at the University. The terms of this bequest also stipulate that awards are to be made on the basis of character and scholarship.

In 1950, Jane B. Pickering, of Bangor, bequeathed $10,000 to the University of Maine Foundation to establish the Lucy F. Griffin Fund in memory of her sister. The income from this fund is used for the benefit of needy students who demonstrate by their general standing during their freshman year at the University an earnest desire to acquire an education.

Thus the memory of both the Reverend and Mrs. Henry L. Griffin will be perpetuated through these funds which, through the years, will help many fine young men and women secure a college education.

The University is deeply grateful for the interest and generosity of the Griffin family and Jane B. Pickering.

"Thought I'd call you up and find out if you arrived OK.

"No, it didn't take long. Seemed like I'd just given the operator the number when I heard your voice.

"Good thing I remembered to jot down Aunt Sue's number when you were there the last time."

YOU'LL FIND THIS IS A GOOD IDEA FOR YOU, TOO...

Call By Number

You save time on out-of-town calls when you give the Long Distance operator the number you want.

So here's a helpful hint. Write down the out-of-town numbers you already know.

If there's a new number you don't have—or an old one you've forgotten—be sure to add it to the list when the operator gives it to you.

MY QUESTION TO THE G-E STUDENT INFORMATION PANEL:

“How does your business training program prepare a college graduate for a career in General Electric?”

...CHARLES O. BILLINGS, Carnegie Institute of Technology, 1954

The answer to this question, given at a student information meeting held in July, 1952, between G-E personnel and representative college students, is printed below. If you have a question you would like answered, or seek further information about General Electric, mail your request to College Editor, Dept. 123-2, General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

R. J. CANNING, Business Training Course . . . General Electric’s business training program offers the college graduate the opportunity to build a career in the field of accounting, finance, and business management in one of the most diversified companies in the country.

Since its beginning in 1919, more than 3,000 students have entered the program—one of the first training programs in business to be offered by industry.

The program’s principal objective is to develop men well qualified in accounting and related business studies, men who can become administrative leaders in the financial and general business activities of the Company.

Selection of men for the program is based on interviews, reviews of students’ records, and discussions with placement directors and faculty members. Selection is not limited solely to accounting and business administration majors. A large number of men in the program are liberal arts graduates, engineers, and men with other technical training.

When a man enters the program he is assigned a full-time office position in accounting or other financial work and enrolled in the formal evening education program. This planned classroom work is a most important phase of the program. The material presented is carefully selected and well integrated for the development of an adequate knowledge of accounting and business theory, procedures and policies followed by the Company, acceptable accounting and business practices of the modern economic enterprise, and as a supplement to the practical experience provided by the job assignment.

In general, the program trainee is considered in training for three years during which time advancements are made to more responsible types of accounting work. After completing academic training the trainee’s progress and interests are re-examined. If he has demonstrated an aptitude for financial work he is considered for transfer to the staff of traveling auditors or to an accounting and financial supervisory position. From here his advancement opportunities lie in financial administrative positions throughout the Company. Trainees showing an interest and aptitude for work other than financial, such as sales, purchasing, community relations, publicity, etc., are at this time considered for placement in these fields.

Today, graduates of the program hold responsible positions throughout the entire organization. Management positions in the accounting and financial field throughout the Company, such as Comptroller, Treasurer, finance managers, secretaries, and others, are held in large part by graduates of the course. Men who have transferred to other fields after experience in financial work include public relations executives, managers of operating divisions and departments, presidents of affiliated Companies, officials in personnel, employee relations and production divisions, and executives in many other Company activities.

This partial list of positions now filled by former business training men is indicative of the career preparation offered by the business training program, and of the opportunities that exist for qualified men interested in beginning their careers in accounting and financial work.

You can put your confidence in—

GENERAL ELECTRIC
AUSTRALIAN INAUGURATION

(EDITOR'S NOTE: At the request of President Hauck, Mrs. Eva Chase Comber '39, a resident of Sydney, Australia, represented the University at the installation of Lord Bruce, former Prime Minister of Australia, as First Chancellor of the Australian National University in Canberra. The following letter was written to President Hauck by Mrs. Comber describing her experience.)

DEAR President Hauck,

"Lord Bruce was installed as First Chancellor of the Australian National University in Canberra on Thursday, October 23rd (1952). After a month of glorious, sunny Australian spring, the weather reverted to cold, rainy winter, perversely enough, for just the few days set aside for the celebrations. Had it been fine, the ceremony would have taken place on the University campus, as it was, hundreds of guests were disappointedly turned away from the Albert Hall where public space was limited to 400. This was the only negative factor in an otherwise thoroughly impressive and stimulating round of festivities.

"On the Wednesday evening preceding the main function on Thursday, the ninety-five representatives of the visiting universities were presented individually to Lord Bruce in a short, formal ceremony at the Albert Hall. We gathered beforehand for the purpose of "robing" in a marquee adjacent to the Hall where the atmosphere had all the excitement of backstage on opening night. There was a brilliantly colorful impression of medieval pageantry with every variety of academic dress from myself to a Greek High Priest. I might point out I would not have known but for this that there was a hood specifically designating a B.A. from the University of Maine. Quite inadvertently, since Mr. Hohnen's full details of the program did not arrive until the day before we were due in Canberra, I had learned from a friend that caps and gowns would be worn. The emphasis on this custom in British countries could not better be borne out than to know that one of Sydney's main department stores has a man who deals exclusively and authoritatively with any question related to academic dress. I sought him out and found that I could "get by" with renting an Australian undergraduate's cap and gown because it was similar enough to an American one, but I would have to have a hood made, and I did. It was an attractive black taffeta lined with Maine's pale blue and bordered with a narrow white ribbon.

For it, in that gathering of distinguished and mainly elderly scholars, I could have felt a conspicuous upstart. I was most grateful—and more than a little proud.

"The important bit of procedure in Mr. Hohnen's instructions pertaining to the ceremony of being presented to Lord Bruce was part of the aforementioned scholars, male. There were only three women to consider, and in this lone instance, we weren't. The representatives were ushered individually to their seats in front of the Hall, and I was relieved to find myself just behind Mrs. Cockram, who with her husband, the British High Commissioner, was representing the University of Michigan. We established that we should not doff our caps, as would the men, and sat back to await the moment when our University and name should be called. It duly was, and with it the opportunity to shake the great man's hand. I was gratified to find what I had felt could scarcely be anything but a perfunctory gesture to be a warm, sincere, personal greeting.

"Lord Bruce is a charming and amiable man, who knew a stormy political career when he was Prime Minister here back in the twenties. He has since served this country's interests supplantatively in England, his great ability in business and diplomatic negotiations was fully recognized there and he was raised to the peerage.

"This formal presentation was followed by a reception at the Hotel Canberra, which was the first of three very enjoyable social get-togethers. The Prime Minister, Mr. Menzies, entertained at a reception on Thursday evening, and on Friday the program concluded with a luncheon followed by informal and amusing speeches by Lord Bruce, Mr. Due...
Fraternity Costs Low

A recent study on fraternity costs as conducted jointly by the Interfraternity Council and Council of Chapter Advisors has found that the cost of joining a fraternity and living in a fraternity house at Maine is remarkably low.

The study was based on the total cost of operating and maintaining each fraternity which has a house at the University, and is based on the figures for the full year 1951-52.

Misinformed parties inclined to comment to the effect that "fraternities are exclusive clubs for the wealthy few" will do well to peruse the figures brought forth by this cost study.

The survey points out that the average cost per student living in one of the fraternity houses at Maine is $614.09 for the full academic year. This compares favorably with the dormitory cost on campus of $550 for the same period when one considers that the average of $614 per fraternity resident includes all the fraternity social, athletic and house activities. Recognizing that the University keeps dormitory charges to a minimum, the small difference between this dormitory charge and the average per man fraternity cost indicates that Maine fraternities are operating in a modest and business-like manner.

Another impressive fact brought forth by the study is that the student fraternity members are managing their finances and administration without adult or professional assistance. The grand training in management given to members of the fraternities by this democratic and cooperative endeavor is invaluable for future business and family activities.

The study further revealed that the average fraternity house at the University handled $24,035 during the year 1951-52. This sizable sum is gathered and administered by the student fraternity men themselves, with major budget decisions being made by members in "House Meetings."

Wages paid weekly in fraternity houses averaged $108.37, with these wages paid to the chef, housemother, steward, maid, treasurer, house manager, and dishwasher. It is interesting to note that four of these seven "employees" are student members of the house. Of the average weekly payroll of $108.37, $22.73 is paid to student workers and is normally applied to their house bills.

The survey showed that the average fraternity has 38 members living in the house with 16 members who are non-residents. After his initiation fee, the average fraternity member who does not live in the house pays $410 monthly as dues. These small monthly dues give him house privileges such as house parties, etc., and entitle him to eat an average of four meals per month at his house without extra charge.

When it is considered that the average cost per year of $614 to the fraternity man includes the cost of major alterations and house repairs in several of the fraternities participating in the study, we can be proud of the grand job of administration and group living being done by University of Maine fraternity men.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given the alumni body that, in accordance with Article VI of the Constitution of the General Alumni Association, a proposal to amend Article II of the By-Laws to increase the membership of the Alumni Council by two members, will be voted at the 1953 Annual Meeting of the Association to be held on campus, June 13, 1953.

Nelson B. Jones

Nelson B. Jones, Taunton, Mass., has been appointed director of the Memorial Union at the University, President Arthur A. Hauck has announced. He will commence his new duties on March 9.

A graduate of Brown University where he has been serving as director of the Student Union, Jones has achieved national prominence in the Association of College Unions. He is a past president of this association and a regional adviser in New England.

During his service at Brown, he was instrumental in increasing the scope of the Student Union program. The building at Brown known as Faunce House which includes the university store and theatre was nearly doubled in size during the time he served as director. For several years he was treasurer of the committee on dramatic productions and is now director of the University Picture Lending Library and director of the Brown University Outing Reservation. Because of special ability to organize and carry out events, he has served on many committees at Brown. He has been active in the Brown Alumni Association.

In announcing the appointment, President Hauck said that Mr. Jones will be the first such director ever appointed at the University, since the University has not previously had a Union Building. Mr. Jones will be responsible for the supervision of the building operation including the food service and game room, and in cooperation with a student committee will develop an extensive program of educational, recreational, and social activities.

It is expected that the Union Building which is now under construction will be formally opened in May.
Preti Scholarship Announced

The establishment of the Frank P. Preti Scholarship Fund at the University of Maine has been announced by Dr. Arthur A. Hauck, president of the University.

The Fund was set up by a gift of $5,000 from Frank P. Preti '17, Portland attorney, who attended the University's College of Arts and Sciences and was graduated from its Law School in 1920. The income from the Frank P. Preti Fund is to be used "for a scholarship to be awarded annually by the University Scholarship Committee to a male student on the basis of need, promise of academic success, physical ability, and capacity and promise of leadership and future success."

As an undergraduate Mr. Preti was an outstanding member of the track, cross country, and relay teams. He set a new state and college record in the two-mile run and was a member of cross country teams that won New England and National honors. He was also active in the glee club, "M" club, athletic association, interfraternity council, and other campus organizations. He is a member of Phi Eta Kappa Fraternity.

A prominent attorney in Portland for more than 30 years, Mr. Preti is a director of several business concerns and a member of a number of professional and social organizations. He was recently tendered a testimonial dinner by the Portland Hammer Club for his "untiring efforts in behalf of boys and his unflagging devotion to community causes."

Seventy-Eight degrees were awarded at the 97th commencement exercises of the University held in the women's gymnasium on Jan. 30.

Sixty-eight students were presented the bachelor's degree and ten students the master's degree.

Dr. Herbert G. Espy, Commissioner of Education for Maine, was the commencement speaker. Prayer was offered by the Rev. John L. Scott, Jr., chaplain at the Canterbury House.

Candidates for the degrees were presented by the deans of the various colleges. The degrees were officially conferred by President Arthur A. Hauck.

In his commencement address, Dr. Espy urged members of the class to "defend university education against those who would attack it."

Continuing, Dr. Espy said, "When freedom of teaching and learning are being attacked by people in high places, when even the defense of freedom is not always wisely conducted, when even the traducers of freedom use the language of freedom to beguile the unwary, then indeed it behooves the true alumnus to defend the freedom of education valiantly."

Prior to the commencement exercises the General Alumni Association held a dinner for the graduates and their relatives and friends in Estabrooke Hall. Professor Weston S. Evans '18, head of the civil engineering department, acted as toastmaster.

The principal address at the dinner was given by George E. Lord '24, associate director of the Extension Service and vice president of the General Alumni Association. Mr. Lord told of the organization of the alumni association and the many ways in which it can be of service to graduates.

Lawrence A. Wright '33, Stratton, spoke as the representative of the graduates. Certificates of merit were presented to about 20 wives of seniors by President Hauck.

Seated at the head table for the dinner were President Hauck, Dr. Espy, Mr. Lord, Mr. Wright, Professor Evans, Frank Hussey, trustee, Miss Jessie Fraser '31, trustee, and Mrs. Bette Kilpatrick '42, assistant alumni secretary.

THE MAINE ALUMNUS

MARCH, 1953
With the ATHLETIC TEAMS

Perleston Pert's article on athletics is a regular feature for the 1953 school year. A senior journalism major, he is city editor of the Maine Campus.

Pert worked on his home-town paper, the Bath Daily Times, during the past summer and has worked as part-time sports assistant for the Bangor Daily News.

By PERLESTON PERT, JR. ’53

BEFORE starting with a review of the past month's sports activities, we'd like to correct an error in fact made in this column two issues back. Coach Chester A Jenkins is now in his 25th year as track coach and not his 24th, as previously reported.

The veteran mentor's varsity runners ran into trouble against a University of New Hampshire team Feb 13 in the University field house and were outpointed by the Wildcats 69-57.

Sets New Record

A new meet record in the 45-yard high hurdles was established and the meet record in the 65-yard low hurdles was tied by Maine's Bill Calkin, Orono, who was top individual performer in the meet with 18 points. Calkin set a new time of 5.9 seconds in the high hurdles and equalled the low hurdles time of 7.5 seconds set by Jack Curry, South Portland, last year.

Besides winning the hurdles events, Calkin also took a first in the 300-yard run and a second in the 50-yard dash.

Maine was three points away from tying with three events to go, but New Hampshire won the 1,000-yard run and earned half of a four-way tie in the pole vault to win the meet.

Other Maine Firsts

Other Maine firsts included Ronald Herzberg, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., with a broad jump of 21 feet, 8½ inches; Frederick Maher, Mechanic Falls, with a high jump of five feet, 10 inches; Ken Lincoln, Arlington, Mass., and Cherylis Smith, Great Works, in the four-way pole vault tie at 12 feet, three inches; Ed Bogdanovich, Providence, R. I., with a shot put heave of 45 feet, 6½ inches; Iver Nielson, Cape Elizabeth, running the 50-yard dash in 5.7 seconds; Carlton McLean, Ashland, with a time of 9.524 in the two mile run.

THE MAINE ALUMNUS

Maine's varsity ski team came through with a first place win at the Colby Winter Carnival held at the Farmington Ski Club because of lack of snow at Waterville.

Coach Ted Curts' slab experts compiled a total of 383.68 points in the four events stretched over a two-day period. Colby was second with 376.24 points, followed by the University of New Hampshire with 355.59 and the University of New Brunswick with 196.07.

Bob Irish, Falmouth Foreside, who won the slalom racing and was fifth in the jumping event, won the skimeister trophy for the second consecutive year. Maine captured the first two places in the cross country race through the efforts of Wes Scorne, Rumford, and Lehan Edwards, Monmouth. Scorne set a blistering first place pace, going the course in 56 minutes and 11 seconds.

One week earlier, Scorne won the Eastern Intercollegiate cross country race over a field of more than fifty competitors at Lyndonville, Vermont. Ralph Chase made the longest standing jump of the meet, which was won by Bowdoin. In winning the meet, Bowdoin also carried off its second straight Maine State championship.

BASKETBALL

On the hardwoods, Maine's varsity hoop team absorbed a ten-point loss to Connecticut, 76-66, but not before Coach Rome Rankin's fired up five had extended the highly rated UConn's to the full limit.

Sparked by the floor play of guard Keith Mahaney, Fort Fairfield, and the 25-point output of center John Norris, Bangor, the Bears held period edges of 18-17, 32-27, and 54-52. But an all court press and fresh reserve talent produced 13 straight points for the Huskies in the fourth period for the ten-point spread and the ball game.

Feature of the game was Keith Mahaney's midcourt fling, with two seconds to go before the third period buzzer, which swished cleanly through the nets.

INTRAMURAL TRACK

Phi Eta Kappa took top intramural track honors and Sigma Chi captured the Charles Rice Cup in the annual Rice-Intramural meet.

Phi Eta collected 42 points to retain the Intramural Trophy and Sigma Chi picked up 51 in winning the Rice Cup.

Second and third places in the Intramural events and the individual performances of Ed Touchette, Rumford, and Colwyn Haskell, Norway, figured in the Phi Eta win. Touchette took first in the broad jump, second in the high and low hurdles and third in the 300-yard run for a total of 12 points. Haskell earned 10 points by winning the 1000-yard run and the 600-yard run.

Varsity performer Bill Calkin was the big gun for Sigma Chi, coming up with four firsts in the Rice competition and two wins in the Intramurals. Calkin won the high and low hurdles, 50-yard dash, and the 300-yard run for 20 points in the Rice events.

Since the last issue of the Maine Alumnus, Helen Johnson has become Mrs. Sidney J. Fogel. Mrs. Fogel's column, "Campus Comment" is a regular feature of this year's Maine Alumnus.

A history and government major, Mrs. Fogel works on the state desk at the Bangor Daily News.

By Helen Fogel '53

As this column is written, the icy blasts which have been few and far between this winter are really rippling across the campus. Students have a pale blue tinge which is particularly appropriate for this University.

The Winter Carnival was only partially dimmed by lack of snow. A heavy snowfall a week before enabled students to gather enough snow together for the sculptures in the annual event.

Sally Stanford, Melrose, Mass., and Linwood (Woody) Carville, York, were chosen to reign over the carnival this year which was based on the theme, "Olympian Holidays." The royal couple were picked from a field of eight candidates. Others nominated were Janet Lu Oliver, Orono, Nancy Karakas, Providence, R.I., Alice Kelso, Westbrook, Sally Stanford, Melrose, Mass., Thomas Seavey, Gardiner, John Knowles, Bangor, and Allen Anderson, Chatham, Mass.

Classes Recessed Friday

Classes were recessed Friday at noon and the week end was devoted to celebration of King Winter's reign. The ski slope across the stillwater was temporarily transformed into Mount Olympus, home of the gods and goddesses. Friday evening, the annual ice revue was given featuring centaurs, satyrs and the god of wine and good times, Bacchus. The ice revue, King Jupiter and Queen Juno were crowned. At 9 p.m. the crowd adjourned to the Coliseum, sometimes known as the Memorial Auditorium, for the Intramural Ball.

The spotlight returned Saturday morning to the Coliseum for an indoor track meet with Boston University, appropriately called the Olympics.

Saturday evening, the Maine Outing Club sponsored its Ski Dog Dance. Sunday marked the end of festivities with a hockey game in the afternoon.

Brotherhood Week

Students observed Brotherhood week this month with a program of movies, speeches, panel discussions and a banquet.

Dr. Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was the featured speaker at an assembly. Dr. White, who is well known in the field of interracial relations and education, spoke on the influence of prejudice on the national and international scenes.

Dr. Milton McGorrill, widely-traveled minster of the Church of Universal Fellowship in Orono, was speaker at the Brotherhood banquet.

The movie "Lost Boundaries," adapted from the book by Dr. White, was shown in the Louis Oakes Room Monday afternoon and evening. A series of panel discussions on the various aspects of prejudice were held Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. Church and other organizations also took part in discussions.

Clayton Sinclair, Kittery Point, and Joan Letourneau, Biddeford, were co-chairmen of the observance.

Campus Radio Station

One of the biggest events of the month was the long-awaited opening of radio station WORO.

After several years of ups and downs, the first broadcast was presented Feb. 15 at 8:15 p.m. Professor Russell Woolsley was master of ceremonies. President Arthur A. Hauck spoke as well as many faculty and administrative personnel.

Radio personalities from near-by Bangor also appeared on the show.

The station is only heard within the campus area. Under Federal Communications Commission regulations a station such as WORO can operate on a limited amount of power without buying a license. So the broadcasting facilities have been constructed in a different manner than other radio stations.

WORO engineers have found the most successful means of transmitting programs is over direct telephone lines from main utility lines to various buildings where the program is to be heard.

Because lines have not been constructed to all campus buildings the listening audience is limited so far. The programs will be heard at different frequencies in different buildings until the transmission is changed.

Cleveland. He is married and his hobbies are archery and gem cutting. He has a summer business of real estate and very kindly suggests that it would perhaps be profitable to any University of Maine graduates coming to Cleveland to look him up so that they will not locate in undesirable sections!

Every month I have been sending out six notes to members of the class asking for news. Surely everyone has something about which to write or she can write to make our column interesting. I would like very much some note to be surprised and thrilled with some answers to my notes and maybe a little unsolicited news in addition. I expect to be here in Silver Spring for some time and shall be glad to hear from anyone, or if anyone should be coming to Washington, do look us up.

TO THE CLASS OF 1938:

Everything points toward a tremendous turnout of '38ers and a big time at the Reunion in June.

For most of you it will be your first opportunity in fifteen years (and your last for a long time) to again see the old gang, the Professors, and the campus. So—don't miss! It's not too early to start thinking about it. Yes, bring your husband or wife, and bring the kids too; everybody is welcome. More news later.

Remember, "It's a June date for '38!"

A December 2nd hire in which the entire stock of 31 head of purebred registered cows and calves died, only the bull being saved, almost put Sam Smiley out of the dairy business. He said almost. Sam's associates in the Kennebec County Jersey Cattle Club met in the Winslow grange hall a few nights before Christmas to plan what would happen to the farming whose real purpose, although he didn't know it, was to help Sam re-establish his herd. They presented him with a dozen or more prized Jersey heifers, one of which was a seven months old heifer from the University. Come spring he'll be building a new barn, this time a pole barn with pen stable and milking parlor. Meanwhile the calves are making themselves at home on his father's farm. June, we begin to feel the need for some money to take care of mailings and other details related to reunion. Your class officers due to inertia and foreign travel have failed to tap you for the $1.00 per year dues as voted at the 1950 reunion. In view of this "break" for 1951 and 1952, won't you please "roug" up your sack and send it along to class treasurer John F. Grant, The Merrill Trust Co., Bangor. Remember you're getting off easy! If your officers had been on the ball, you'd have been hit twice before, but we'll let bygones be bygones for $1.00 now! News about reunion doings will be reaching you soon.

Another month, another column! Well, here it is March— the month of Income Taxes! For a lot of us, it is the first time we've ever had to bother with things like that—and then for others this year finds them in a different status—They used to check "single" but that's another change this year has brought!—There are so many marriages and engagements this month that I'm concentrating on that.

Engaged.

Jan Lapworth, Hopedale, Mass., is engaged to Raymond Grant, Hopedale. John Gibson, who has a contracting business at Cousins Island, to Sally Duncan of Brunswick.

Harold Wilson of Orono, who went to Springfield College after a year at Maine, is engaged to Sylvia Bliss of Iowa City. Hal plans to do graduate work in the field of psychiatric social work.

Bob McEvoy of Jericho, Vt., serving with U.S.A., is engaged to Joan Whiting also of Jericho.

Fred Littlefield, 2nd Lt., to Nancy Kelley. Fred is now at Fort Benning, Ga., and upon completion of Officer's School will be assigned to the West Coast. Nancy's a senior at Maine.

Mary Carrillo, staff of the operating room of E.M.G Hospital in Bangor, has become engaged to David Chadwell of Shelbyville, Ky. Mr. Chadwell is attending the University of Kentucky majoring in Electrical Engineering.

Miah Allen Beal, who is now studying for her Doctorate degree at Scripps Institution of Oceanography, University of California is engaged to Phyllis Cudde of Milo. A summer wedding is planned.

From "Will You" to "I Do"—

Marine Murray became Mrs. Alan Pease in Hampden on December 27. They are now at Fort Benning, Ga.

Harrett Johnson and Bill Currie were married late in December in So. Portland. Mr. Harrett is attending Andover-Newton Theological School and Bill is with the Army at Fort Tilden, Long Island, N. Y. Also, he is employed by E. L. du Pont de Nemours Co at Wilmington, Del. They are living at Belle Harbor, L. I., New York.

Bev Chadheway has been Mrs. William I. Cameron since Nov. 22. (Nothing like dated news!) Bev is teaching kindergarten at the Valentine School in Bangor and Bill is a senior at Maine. They are living in Bangor.

Hortense waited 'til after Christmas (Dec. 27 to be exact) before she changed her name, Noel, to Mrs. John H. Needham. Both are from Orono and Hortense will be the wife of John who is finishing Officer's Candidate School, U. S. Naval Training School, Newport, R. I.

Well, another column written and still not a mass of letters acknowledged. Honestly, I do love to get letters from you all, and if I don't answer them in next month's column, it's not lack of concern—but column will get to them all soon. I think I could write a book each month rather than just a half page!

Market Place

If any one location could be chosen in Portland that has more than all others known for its history and triumph of the city from the layout of the first streets to the Great Fire in 1866, it would be what we know as Monument Square.

When there were but three streets in the town (Fore, Middle and Back), a blockhouse for refuge from Indian foray was built there. It housed successively a refuge, a jail, a market place, and in 1825, a proud and lovely Town Hall. The Square was the social and political heart of the town — it knew its strolling couples, its dray boys, swirling mists. There, the town Fishers installed the first hay scales, beside the town well. There, the farmers brought the products of their fields in to There, stood the town wood pile — the gift of the Widow's Wood Society where the needy could get fuel to keep them warm. There, the soup kitchens of the dreadful depression days of the Embargo of 1807 fed the populace. There, Stephen S Foster was brutally assaulted by a pro-slavery mob intent on tearing and leathering him. There, the new and inexperienced town government met and gradually forged laws for the protection of the people, and justice under the law, if not mercy, was dealt to the crime once. There, the firing or story of Lloyd Garrison spoke against slavery of any peoples, any groups. There, the first recruits of the Army between the States were sworn in.

Even after the Town Hall was built in 1825, 'The Square' was a market place. In the lower floors of the Town Hall were stalls for selling country produce, but many of the farmers on pleasant days, set up their displays on wagons in front of the Hall. At night flaring torches lighted the scene.

On the southwest side of the Square was the Portland Museum where were displayed stuffed animals, waxworks, paintings of foreign lands and battleships and Indian scenes. It was a substitute for the theatre. The dignified brick mansion of Edward Preble — later the Preble Hotel — fronted the Square. The first newspaper was printed in a room that overlooked the Square's various activities. It was, as the center of population, but it was unquestionably the heart of a town.
