A Gift to be Proud of

In support of a major program of this University, the Class of 1972 has backed up its concerns with its money, giving $5,000 of their Senior Class gift to purchase books for the Fogler Library to bolster the collection of the New England — Atlantic Provinces — Quebec Center. The remainder of their $6,500 gift was given to support the outdoor recreation program instituted this year by the Office of Student Activities.

A gift of this kind stirs our pride in the character of our young alumni and their loyalty to the University.

One of the deepest concerns of this generation of Maine students has been the inadequacy of the library, and one of their greatest commitments has been to the growing relationship between our University and our close neighbor, Canada. In their class gift they expressed these tied together in a way that will count, to strengthen the library and lend support to the NEAPQ program.

The greatest problem faced by the library is the lack of resources to keep pace with the curriculum development that has taken place in recent years. With only half the volumes needed to support current programs, the present curriculum is seriously undersupported. This gift may well serve as an inspiration to others to give to this vital area of University need.

In their support of UMO's work in the NEAPQ Center, the Class of 1972 has made possible the purchase of books on Maine and New England as well as on Canada and Canadian-American Relations, with special attention being given to increasing the number of regional books readily available for undergraduate use in the Fogler Library.

Edgar B. McKay, director of the Center, expressed his appreciation to the Class, saying, "At a time when a growing number of political, business and educational leaders in Maine and New England are showing more active concern about closer economic and cultural relations with our Canadian neighbors, your gift makes possible a substantial addition of essential resources to 'the storehouse of knowledge' which a university library is."

The General Alumni Association is proud of the Class of 1972 for this gift to the University.

But the Class of 1972 has a not-so-serious side too. They saved enough out to give $1,500 for the purchase of outdoor recreation equipment, to be rented by members of the University community. This support of the outdoor recreation program, which was instituted this year by the Student Activities Office, is a way of saying to future generations of students, "Maine is a great place to be. Enjoy it!"

Washington is their classroom

Getting out of the classroom into the real world is considered an innovative step in education today, but it is a step that was taken a long time ago by the department of political science at the University of Maine at Orono.

The congressional internship program is one of the first, and one of the few, internships in the country that are in effect during the academic year and carry academic credit. Started in 1958 by Professor Edward F. Dow and former Professor Gerald Grady of the political science department, it is a program that puts a University of Maine junior or senior into the office of his senator or congressman in Washington and gives him six hours of academic credit in political science for being there. The student who pioneered the program was Richard E. Bennett '59, who interned in the office of former Senator Frederick G. Payne.

What kind of student is chosen to be a congressional intern? According to Eugene A. Ma-whinney '47, head of the department of political science and chairman of the program for many years, neither a 4.0 bookworm nor a 1.8 political reformer is what they are looking for. The student who makes a good intern must have academic ability, strong interest, and plenty of initiative.

This year's chairman of the program is Kenneth T. Palmer, associate professor of political science. Each fall applications are made available to students of political science, and contact is made with each Maine senator and congressman. Students who apply are evaluated by the department on the basis of their academic records and references. When the top students are chosen, Professor Palmer sends a letter recommending them to the Maine senators and congressmen who support the program. Out-of-state students, if approved by the department, are given a letter from the department explaining the program and recommending the students. These students then contact their own senators or congressmen requesting an internship.
This year the congressional interns were Marilyn Cyr ’72, a political science major from Limestone, in the office of Congressman William D. Hathaway; Glen A. Huff ’73, a political science major from Clinton, in the office of Senator Edmund S. Muskie; Margaret Schwartz ’72, a sociology major from Plainfield, Vt., in the office of Congressman Richard W. Mallory; Nancy Spieczny ’73, a political science major from Middlesex, N. J., in the office of Congressman Edward J. Patten; and Gloria Thomas ’73, a political science major from Old Town, in the office of the Senate Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations.

While summer internships are common from all over the country, the UMO program places the students in the Washington offices on February 1, almost at the start of the new legislative session. For the next five months they see the legislative process at its peak, and participate in it.

Once they are there, what the interns do depends on the needs of the offices they are in and on their own initiative and abilities. All have a good share of routine office work, typing and mimeographing.

Nancy Spieczny in Congressman Patten’s office found the duties in a small office very congenial. She was given a variety of tasks, including the interesting assignment of writing some speeches, testimonials and press releases.

Marilyn Cyr from Limestone, who worked with Congressman Hathaway, was much interested in work she was given summarizing hearings on the potato futures bill. These hearings had many Aroostook County farmers in attendance.

Gloria Thomas was introduced to a field wholly new to her, as her legislative research led her into a study of property taxation assessments.

The interns send to their supervising professors biweekly activity resumes, research reports covering some important work being carried out in their offices, and book reports on Congress and the legislative process. For the semester’s work they are given a letter grade based on these written reports and on the evaluation by the office to which they were assigned.

How effective the congressional internship program is can be measured by its alumni. Mrs. Margaret (Mednis) Phillips of Bangor, who was an intern of former Congressman Clifford McIntire ’30, continued for a time as a member of his permanent staff. Donald Mooers ’59 and Philip Hutchinson ’61 are attorneys in Washington. John Bouchard ’60 is a legislative analyst for Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Carol Ann Obliskey ’61 and Nancy Ann O’Mara ’63 were on Senator Muskie’s staff for several years. Jim Horton ’62 is an attorney in Bangor. Irvine Marsters ’62, until recently government career development supervisor at UMO, is now with the New England Center in Durham, N. H. Wayne Johnson ’64, who went on to George Washington University Law School, is now director of the Housing and Urban Development for the Federal Housing Administration Insuring Office in Bangor — at 29 the youngest field office director in the nation. Lisbeth Wiley ’64, now Mrs. Terry Chapman, became an administrator in the Department of Health and Welfare in Washington, D. C. George “Chic” Chalmers ’70 is now working in a law office in Washington.

How do this year’s interns feel about their semester in Washington?

All were enthusiastic about the opportunity to live and breathe the political and cultural life of Washington, an atmosphere totally different from Maine. In their free time they attended debates on the House and Senate floors. They watched the Supreme Court in action. They went to concerts and plays. They saw Dr. Spock and Dick Gregory among the peace marchers.

Marilyn Cyr said that this year’s experience has given her a totally new perspective. She hopes to teach government and political science. Now she feels that her teaching will have a measure of authenticity it could never have had from book learning alone. She will tell her prospective students what a congressman’s life is like in Washington and how the legislative process works. She knows a lot about it now. For she was there.
Amid the traditional activities of the 1972 June Reunion Weekend, three people were honored for three distinct kinds of service, while 511 returning alumni found a warm welcome on campus in spite of a persistent cold rain. Art Silver ’02, who always comes back, put it succinctly: “Rainiest reunion on record!”

At the Saturday night banquet President Winthrop C. Libby ’32 presented to Colonel Leslie James Bolstridge ’48 the University’s Distinguished Service Award; and General Alumni Association President Albert M. Parker ’28 presented to Mrs. John R. Furman (Mary-Hale Sutton ’38) the 1972 Pine Tree Service Emblem Award, the highest award given by the GAA. On Friday afternoon President Libby dedicated a memorial plaque in the lobby of the Machine Tool Laboratory to the late Everett Willard Davee, an instructor in mechanical engineering at UMO from 1903 to 1941, and father of Lawrence W. Davee ’22.

Col. Bolstridge, who began his studies in the College of Agriculture in 1938, enlisted in the Army Air Corps in 1941, earned his bachelor of science degree in 1948 and his master of science degree in dairy industry in 1950.

In President Libby’s words, “We lost a good farmer, however, since the Korean War changed the course of his life.” In Japan, he engineered new communications nets, electronic systems and airborne operations facilities over a vast area in the Far East. He developed the nation’s first overseas data channels and pioneered high speed telegraph operations in Europe. Receiving a master of arts degree in international affairs from George Washington University in 1964, he was appointed chief of telecommunications for the National Security Agency in 1966. In this post he built a world-wide net of modern, high speed data circuits and devised unique techniques for high speed computers. Now stationed in Hawaii, he is vice commander of a 6,000 man organization encompassing most of the free nations of the Pacific Basin from Hawaii to Thailand.

Mrs. Furman was presented the Service Emblem Award “for outstanding service rendered through the Alumni Association to the University of Maine.” The first of these awards was given in 1930 to her father, Harry E. Sutton ’09. Her grandfather, George Sutton, also was graduated from UMO, in 1893. Her son John was graduated from UMO in 1964 and her daughter, Margery, in 1967. She received a Block “M” Award in 1965 and has served as chairman of the selection committees for the GAA Alumni Career Award and Black Bear Award. She has been a member of the Alumni Council. An active member of the Greater Boston Alumni Association and a strong campaigner in the Annual Alumni Fund drives, she was also a leader in the establishment of the present Alumni Center.

The memorial plaque was given by Lawrence Davee ’22, who was present with his wife, Muriel (Goodrich ’22), their two sons, James ’50 and Robert ’59, his sister, Pauline ’39, and her husband, George P. Hitchings ’37. It cites the former instructor as “a respected and effective teacher within these walls, loyal in service to the University.”

Professor Emeritus of Mechanical Engineering Harry D. Watson, in a statement of tribute to Mr. Davee, said that he was “highly respected as an effective teacher, as a man, and as a colleague.” GAA President Parker recalled having been one of his students. “He was such a good teacher. He made you do the job right.” President Libby in his words of dedication said that students were proud of the work they did with him, that they respected and loved him.

The traditional events of the weekend provided the framework for the long-awaited moments of reminiscing, for renewing old friendships, for celebrating the many continuing ties with UMO.

Class dinners were held on campus Friday night. President Libby, addressing the Class of 1922 at its 50-year Reunion Dinner, spoke of alumni as “the backbone of this institution.” He told the Class that UMO with some 8,000 students is still a warm and friendly place, where members of the administration and faculty pride themselves on personalizing their relationship with students. The values found here are not so different from those found here in 1922—a warm feeling toward the people that make up this institution; a wonderful education; an opportunity to prepare for a job; a high regard for the individual.

At the luncheon on Saturday in William C. Wells Commons, Foster Blake, president of the Class of 1922, addressed the alumni and guests. He recalled the military atmosphere that prevailed on campus when the class entered as freshmen in 1918. Of the 187 who were graduated, the present list is 148, and 50 were present to receive their 50-year certificates from President Libby.

Also honored at the luncheon were the eighteen retiring members of the faculty and staff. Having served a total of 443 years at UMO, they were cited for the high quality of their work: Mrs. Corinne F. Blaisdell, Extension Agent Emerita, Penobscot County; Dr. Irwin B. Douglass, Planning Officer and Professor Emeritus of Chemistry; Dr. Carl M. Flynn, Professor Emeritus of Zoology and Assistant Dean Emeritus of the College of Arts and Sciences; Kenneth B. Fobes, Assistant Dean Emeritus of the College of Education; Mrs. Frem S. Grant, Extension Agent Emerita, York County; Dr. Ralph A. Hill, Research Associate Emeritus, Department of Chemistry; Mrs. Emily W. Lunt, Cataloguer, Fogler Library; Mrs. Dorothy S. Moody, Cataloguer, Fogler Library; Dr. George T. Moody, Professor of French and Head of the Department of Foreign Languages and Classics; Mrs. Jessie L. Oak, Extension Agent Emerita, Aroostook County; Frank D. Reed, Extension Economist (Marketing) Emeritus; Dr. Cecil J. Reynolds, Professor Emeritus of English; Lewis P. Roberts, Sugar Beet Specialist Emeritus; Ruth V. Ross, Extension Agent Emerita, Aroostook County; Dr. Lee H. Swinford, Professor Emeritus of Mathematics; Miss Evelyn Taylor, Associate Registrar Emerita; Moody F. Trettet, Professor Emeritus of Plant and Soil Sciences; William C. Wells, Director of Residence and Dining Halls Emeritus.

The 1908 Cup was awarded again this year to Dr. Lore Rogers '96. Dr. Rogers, now 97 years old, received a standing ovation as he went forward to receive the Cup.

The Annual Meeting followed the luncheon, GAA President Parker presiding. A moment of silence was observed to remember those who had died during the year. Reports were presented and elections held. Relected to the Alumni Council for a three-year term were Scott Weldon '52, Gordon Erikson '43 and John Ballou '49. Elected to fill vacancies on the Council were David E. Svendsen '65, Mrs. Philip R. Yerxa (Eleanor West '33) and Whitney L. Wheeler '29.

Relected to the Intercollegiate Athletic Advisory Council for a second three-year term was Roger C. Castle '21. Student members of the Alumni Council were announced, Patricia Riley '73, president, and Peter Simon '74, vice president of the Student Senate. Appreciation was expressed to retiring council members Mrs. Donald McIntosh (Margaret Mollison '50), Mrs. Furman, and Carl A. Whitman '35.

Some 70 alumni attended a rap session with President Libby, Director of Admissions James A. Harmon '40, and Director of Career Planning and Placement Philip J. Brockway '31. There was a lively exchange on a variety of topics, from the place of women at UMO to how to finance a state university.

The banquet in the evening was opened by Howard L. Bowen '24 leading the University Hymn. O. Spurgeon "Doc" English '22 and his son, Wesley '57, entertained with a banjo duet, and Joe McCusker '17 sang his "Band Song," many alumni lustily joining in.

The 1924 Cup was awarded to the Class of 1942, the 20th Century Cup to the Class of 1922, and the President's Cup to the Class of 1932. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Silver were present representing the Class of 1902, and Karl MacDonald and Herbert Green representing the Class of 1907.

Dr. Constance H. Carlson, the 1972 winner of the GAA Distinguished Professor Award, was introduced as the 10th recipient of this award. Class gifts were presented, with the Class of 1932 announcing the establishment of a Winthrop C. Libby Scholarship Fund.

With the singing of the Stein Song at the close of the banquet the official Reunion Weekend came to a close. Many classes continued their festivities into Sunday with special outings. Mr. and Lawrence Davee entertained the Class of 1922 at their summer home on Sebec Lake.

The students who had stayed on to help at Reunion Weekend, saying goodbye to their new alumni friends, had a fresh appreciation of President Libby's words to alumni, "You are the backbone of this institution." And the Class of 1922 saying goodbye to the students knew what President Libby had meant when he said, "This institution with some 8,000 students is still a warm and friendly place."

The University of Maine at Orono has stopped growing long enough to look at itself and assess its new size. Beginning in 1971, enrollment was frozen at 8,300 or so. It was time to pause, to establish goals and missions for this campus, to set priorities, to take stock of where we were.

A study of space utilization made by Planning Officer Irwin B. Douglass and Earsel E. Goode '62, director of space and scheduling, showed that the buildings in the center of the campus are used 100 to 125 percent of capacity. It showed Hauck Auditorium used heavily every day for classes. It showed Coburn Hall, one of the oldest buildings on campus, now used to capacity, though it was condemned several years ago as a fire and safety hazard.

A "yes" vote for the bond issue in November will approve the construction of a new classroom building for English, mathematics and business administration. This building will allow UMO to catch up with its growth of the '60s. The need for it is based on current use alone, not on any further projected growth; no expansion of enrollment was included in the request for this building.

The story of the College of Business Administration will be told in another issue. The English and mathematics departments, which together teach nearly every student on campus at some time, have simply overflowed their quarters.

Most faculty members are sharing offices, making concentration on course preparation and study extremely difficult. It is frequently impossible to hold a confidential student conference. Some offices are former classrooms, with make-shift partitions open at the top, satisfactory for keeping things in a desk but not for work requiring concentration or for conferences with students.

The mathematics department services three-quarters of the students enrolled at UMO. It now occupies the third floor of Shibles Hall, which was planned for use by the College of Education. Even so, there is not office space enough there to accommodate the 33 fulltime members of the faculty and 13 graduate assistants that now handle the load of 3,000 student contact hours a year. There is no large lecture hall available anywhere, and no room to expand the use of visual aids. Classes are held in Aubert, Barrows, Bennett, Little, Stevens and Boardman Halls as well as in Shibles, and the computer center is at Wingate.

The department of English tells much the same story. Their faculty offices are in Stevens, Coburn, Barrows and Little. Professor Hatlen, for example, with an office on the second floor of Little Hall, taught courses last semester in Stevens, Aubert and Boardman in one day. If he wanted typing done, or if he just wanted to know what was going on in the English department, he had to go to the second floor of Stevens where the English department office is located. English courses are now taught in Jenness, Carnegie, Boardman, Stevens, Stevens North, Shibles, Barrows, Little, Lord, Bennett and Merrill Halls, and in East Annex.

Being under one roof, no longer being crowded, having privacy, will be distinct advantages for the three disciplines most immediately affected by the construction of the new classroom building. But the advantages will accrue to everyone.

Coburn Hall can be relinquished. Hauck Auditorium can be used for the purposes for which it was built a decade ago. Sociology, history, the anthropology museum, economics, the College of Education — all can reduce their crowding by using the space that will open up.

Vote "yes" for the bond issue in November.
1904 LUTHER CARY BRADFORD, 96, of Sarasota, Fla., on April 21, 1972, in Sarasota. A native of Turner, he had been engaged in farming in Turner until retiring in 1949. Survivors: his wife, a daughter, a brother, a sister, 14 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. In 1962 he was a member of the first football team to win the state championship.

1909 HERBERT FRENCH BRANN, 85, of Winthrop on May 16, 1972, in Waterville. Born in Bangor, he received the M.S. degree from the University of Maine in 1911 and the S.M. degree from M.I.T. in 1912. He was a member of the University of Maine faculty from 1917 to 1951, retiring as a professor emeritus of chemistry. He was a member of Phi Kappa Phi honor society and Alpha Chi Sigma Chemistry honor society.

1909 CPT EDMUND BERNARD KEATING, 85, of Arlington, Va., on February 21, 1972, in Arlington, died in Salem, Mass., he served in the United States Navy from 1918 until retiring in 1965 as a captain. He was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers. Survivors: his wife, a daughter, and three grandchildren. He was one of the founding members of Gamma Chapter of Theta Chi fraternity.

1909 LEWIS FREEMAN PIKE, 85, of Wellesley Hills, Mass., on April 8, 1972, in Wellesley Hills. Born in Wakefield, N.H., he had retired from the Davidson Fan Company, Newton, Mass. He had been a vestryman at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Newton Lower Falls, Mass. He was a member of Alpha Zeta honor society. Survivors: his wife, a daughter, a son, and nine grandchildren. He was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity and a Senior Skull.

1910 HERBERT "WILFRED" PICKUP, 85, of Gloucester, Mass., on October 9, 1972, in Gloucester Pointe Born in Ipswich, Mass., he spent 39 of his 45 years of teaching at B.M.C. Durfee High School, Fall River, Mass., where he retired in 1957. He was vice principal, faculty manager of athletics, and head of the English department. He was a member of the Massachusetts Teachers Association and the National Retired Teachers Association. Survivors: three sons, three grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and a nephew. He was a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

1910 CHARLES EDWIN STICKNEY, 86, of Portland on April 17, 1972, in Portland. Born in Portland, he retired in 1963 as treasurer of Deering Ice Cream Company. Survivors: his wife, three sons, two of whom are Charles L., Jr. '44 of Cumblish Center, and Florence Gorum (Mrs. James C.) '48 of Wake Village, Texas, a son, Charles T. '46 of South Portland, two brothers, 16 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

1912 ANSEL HERBERT STEVENS, 81, of Canton on May 4, 1972, in Rumford. Born in Hallowell, he was a native of Maine for two years. A farmer by trade, he served as Canton selectman and town forester for several years. Survivors: his wife, three daughters, 16 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

1914 MAURICE GRAHAM CLARK, 83, of Winthrop on April 6, 1972, in a Florida hospital. Born in Winterport, he attended the University of Maine for one year. He was a member of the Waldo County Farm Bureau. Survivors: two sons, five daughters, and 15 grandchildren.

1916 ARTHUR JOHN BOWER, 78, of Venice Gardens, Fla., on March 18, 1972, in Venice Gardens. Born in Methuen, Mass., he was associated with the Outdoor Sports Manufacturing Company, Forestville, Conn., from 1945 until his retirement in 1959. He was a member of Alpha Zeta honor society. He served in the U.S. Army during World Wats II and II. Survivors: wife, three daughters, a sister, and six grandchildren. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

1917 GERALD COKER MARBLE, 76, of Skowhegan on May 22, 1972, at Lake Wesserunsett. Born in Skowhegan, he was graduated from the University of Maine in 1914 but affiliated with the class of 1917. He was a well-known banker, engineer, and historian. He managed the Marble Memorial Works, Skowhegan, established by his father in 1916, and was president of the Skowhegan Savings Bank. He served many years as trustee and treasurer of the Redington Memorial Hospital. He was a registered professional engineer and a member of Tau Beta Pi honor society. Survivors: his wife, William T. '45 of Wincotte, Pa., a daughter, Mrs. Alan C. Bix- pens (Mary Elizabeth '46) of Oklahoma City, Okla., 11 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and several cousins. He was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

1918 FRANK CURRIER FERGUSON, 72, of Spokane, Wash., on January 19, 1972, in Spokane. A native of New York, N.Y., he attended the University of Maine for three years and received the A.B. degree from Columbia University in 1917. He began work with the Speakerman-Review as a reporter in 1941, retiring as associate editor in 1964. He was a member of Sigma Delta Chi honor society. He was editor for Kappa Sigma fraternity from 1922-1948, a past president and long-time director of the Spokane Press Club and past president of the International College Fraternity Editors Association. He was a trustee of the Park Foundation of Spokane. He was a veteran of World War I. Survivors: his wife, two sons, ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. He was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

1918 DONALD MAXWELL LIBBY, 75, of Lim- erick on March 29, 1972, in Portland. Born in Limerick, he had a long career with the Central Maine Power Company, retiring in 1961 as manager of the Portland district. He served in World Wats II and II, becoming a colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve in Portland. He was awarded the United States Army Reserve Merit Stipend in 1972, for his service. He was a member of a Scabbard and Blade. Memorial donations may be made to Cardiovascular Care Unit, Maine Medical Center, Portland.

1919 CHARLES FRANCIS CAMPBELL, 86, of Manchester, N.H., on March 30, 1972, in Manchester. Born in Boston, Mass. Born in Boston, he attended the University of Maine for two years, and also attended M.I. T. and the University of Wisconsin. 1961 CHARLES L. FEUERSTEIN writes, "I attended the National Convention of V.F.W. in Dallas, Texas, on my 90th birthday. My first trip to Texas." Columnist Bill Coulter, who writes for the Clinton, Mass., newspaper "The Item," devoted his April 5th column "Cabbages and Kings" to the contribution by Waldo T. Davis to the Clinton Centennial Volume, published in 1956, as part of a historical series he is discussing. Mr. Davis is currently practicing attorney and was a graduate of Clinton High School and a teacher there from 1944 to 1948. An astute historian and devoted member of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Mr. Davis is now retired and resides at 98 West Street.

1962 MR. FREDERICK J. SIMMONS, 37, of Glen Ridge Parkway, Montclair, New Jersey 07042

1958 Class Notes

1962 During the years 1902 to 1906 there was no Department of Music on any campus. Yet the students established their own music clubs. 06 class played a prominent part in this movement. They were the first in the state to form a band, and the first to organize a community orchestra. The 06 class also established the first musical club on campus. On May 21, 1972, the Keene State College of the University of New Hampshire conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters (Litt.D.) on Frederick Johnson Simmons, B.A. Maine 06. Others of 06 class who have received honorary degrees are: Walter H. Burke, Eng. D., Me., ’06; Frank A. Banks, Eng. D., Me., ’06; L.D., ’44; Washington State College, James A. Colby, L.L.D., and Genetti, L.L.D., Vanderbilt, Joanna C. Coles, (Mrs. F. J. Brooks), M.A., Maine ’06.

1962 This is the last regular news item of your class reporter. There are only a few of the 06 class left, and but four or five still to respond to letters. In his book he thinks it’s time to quit. He suggests to his classmates to find something in rereading the Class History — and to urge others to write their Class Histories. The prestige of a university rests mainly on the achievements of its graduates; the recognition of such prestige by alumni is the motivating force in opening the pockets of the use of the university.

1907 Mrs. Lowell Reed (Marion Balentine) has changed her mailing address. Her name is Mrs. Paul M. Dennis, 48 Gardner Road, Brookline, Mass. 02116, until further notice as she may make further changes. Marion has improved so that with the aid of a walker she can now walk. Before she was confined to a wheelchair Earnie Hussey, Springfield, Mass., had a fall in February and cracked some bones in his back. It was not serious enough for the hospital so he remained at home. Mrs. Hussey said he was able to come to the dinner table and his walking was not broken, only cracked, and will mend in time if he is careful.
The Knights had a delightful surprise call from Margaret Gerrity (Mrs. Joe) on her way through Bangor to visit her brother and family in Cheshire. She has to hurry back to York Harbor to celebrate her birthday on May 21 when all her children and grandchildren will be there to share the festivities. She keeps busy on garden club affairs and on the board of the "Old Gaol," in York, one of Maine's oldest historic spots.

With sadness I report the death of Lew Pike on April 8. Lew had been very ill for several years, and was in no shape to enjoy the weather or spring. Our warmest sympathy goes to Vida, who has been most attentive, and to his two children, Mrs. Pearl Shaw of Waldo and Vida, who lives in Maine. We offer our condolences to all the family.

James had a fall in January resulting in a broken hip. He had been in a hospital and nursing home. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to his wife, Mrs. George Carlisle of Bangor.

MR. ALBERT K. GARDNER 362 Golf Road Plymouth, North Carolina 27962

I send a copy of the Ogumquit Breeze edited by Robby Little, and also an article from the Historical Society of the Village Corporation. It is to some 6500 guests of Ogumquit and those requesting it. Its purpose is to inform the people Ogumquit-minded when they are making plans.

The Breeze is newy, informative, chatty and can fall appeal to those who know or wish to know about Ogumquit. Zelma and I had a nice going-back-home dinner at the Holiday Inn at Bangor, Maine, in the eggs last month. My 1972 prayer, “please, please, classmates, send me your personal items for the Alumni.”

MR. GEORGE D. BEARCE 133 Franklin Street Buckport, Maine 04416

Our 86-year golfer, Ben Whitney of Bangor, had the honor of hitting the first ball to open the season at the Municipal Golf Course in Bangor on Saturday, April 29, 1972. I do not get the record of the distance of Ben’s drive, but it was a good one. As Mr. Richardson, too, had been on a European trip in April, and in addition to tasting several countries on the Continent, they expected to visit the places they spent over three years in business before the Russian Revolution. They returned to the changes after all those years. N. E. "Nemo" and Betha Smith went on a Caribbean Cruise in early April but Nemo was lost for part of the trip and spent some time in the hospital. MORAL DO NOT go to sea after you are 75. Ernest and Catherine Walker left Ft. Lauderdale in early April, and after spending two or three weeks in Long Island, N.Y., headed for their plant in New Hampshire where they will spend the summer. Parkers, Ruby Cooper left St. Pete, Fla., in late April and got to their home in Alpine by the first of the month. Mr. H. has a flower and vegetable garden and does a little brook fishing during the summer.

Believe our class is having a good time and that our family so here is the latest. We had two girls and a boy. He returned from World War II and got his master’s and doctor's degrees and finally was a professor at Bowdoin. We lost him in 1960. The girls had nine children and with George's wife, they have 12 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

MR. WILLIAM E. SCHRAMPF 84 Corte Ave. Orono, Maine 04467

Our class is preparing for the 60th Reunion. We were pleased to hear from Russ Clark, who planned or did not plan to attend the event.

63

Mr. and Mrs. SCHRUMPF

84 Corte Ave.

ORONO, ME 04467

An even more interesting one was the 60th Reunion of three classes at the University of Maine at Orono, on May 11. Bill was initiated into Alpha Zeta in 1938, and the award cited his support and interest in the society since that time.

MR. GEORGE C. CLARK 22 Everton St. Pawtucket, Rhode Island 02331

As successor to Class Secretary Clifton E. Chandler, I am aware of his wonderful, indefatigable and untiring service. My personal tribute to Clift is contained in the dedication introduction to "The Illustrious Class of 1912." The following item was sent to Clift before notice of the writer’s new appointment was received. George C. Clarke, 1914 Class Historian, has just established a new record in Kiwanis International for perfect weekly attendance of fifty years, never before equalled in the annals of that well-known service club. He was awarded the organization’s Legion of Honor 50-year certificate before an audience of 700 Kiwanians and their ladies at swanky Chateau de Ville in Framingham, Mass., on April 27 by International Kiwanis President "Bud" Ogg, on the occasion of the annual visit of that officer to the New England District. District Governor Edward Reilly has been a Kiwanian for 24 years and has been also an honorary life member of the Augusta Kiwanis Club. He has served as an International Committee Chairman and is now a member of the International Secretary Club, president, secretary of five clubs and District Historian.

Having received word that his wife celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 1, William H. Merritt writes that he is “81 years young.” He enjoys doing yard work, reading, fishing, bowling, lawn tennis, and playing golf. He has a large lawn, trees and shrubbery, which he takes care of reasonably through a ranch-type house, 10 years old. He says, “The physical exercise keeps me in good health.”

Ralph C. Hedges and his wife spend their winters in Florida and summers in Richmond, Maine, and in between at Toms River, New Jersey. Miss Elwood W. Jenison writes that Elwood is in the Paulson House, a nursing home in Bangor.

MR. ROY W. PEASLEE 60 Larrabee Street Concord, New Hampshire 03301

Sherwood Willard of Canandaigua, N.Y., has been receiving this information and is interested. We both are well for our years. Early in June Miss W and I plan to go to her Wellesley reunion and possibly into Maine for a little fishing.” Everett Harvey suffered the loss of his wife Luella Woodman in March, leaving him with three sons, one of whom is carrying on his father’s N.E. Welding Supply Company business in North Haven, Conn. Everett is a regular who would appreciate hearing from some 1914ers’ sister, Mary, who did graduate work at UMD in 1922.

Dwight Chalmers, Phoenix, Ariz., who has been happily married for 54 years, writes that they miss the snow and have bought a sun porch and children and a great grandson. For many years Dwight has been sales representative for S. K. Smith Co., distributors of some excellent equipment for schools. He rejoices now that following a cataract operation his new contact lens works to perfection. "Outlook is good," he writes. Aileen Hobart Libby, who still cherishes her home in Milford where she has lived the most of her life, and her granddaughter, who is now a grandaughter, of the late Isham Libby, who was a grand daughter. This calls for “knitting needles and baking of cookies,” she says. Between “clicking” and baking, she has strength of spirit and citizenship activities in church, schools, PTA,
Red Cross and Scouts—both kinds. Congratulations, Aileen!

Claude Weymouth, Memphis, Tenn., writes, "I'm sending my best wishes and greetings to the fine classmates I knew in the freshman class of 1914 at Maine and my brothers at PKS. I think of those days at 'Dear Old Maine' with great pleasure." Following one year at Orono, Claude completed his C. E. course at the University of Wisconsin. After 12 years with the Wisconsin Highway Commission Claude established his own Weymouth Construction Company, in which he is now associated with two of his three sons. The Weymouths also have two daughters. His company has been active in Pennsylvania, Minnesota and Wisconsin, as well as points on the Mississippi River as far south as Mississippi. His many activities have kept him well, for his letter states, "I'm feeling fine and enjoying life."

Your secretary says THANKS for sending news.

Our Alumni List of May 6 now shows 54 names with addresses. Are the following with no addresses still in the land of the living—Baggar M Bagoyan, Zu C Dage, Martin E. Hurley, Charles E. Levens and James E. Newman? Non-writers will hear from me in the fall, hopefully.

MRS. PERCY JACKMAN
(Laura P. Hodges)
31 Calais Avenue
Calais, Maine 04619

Do you remember our artist on the 1915 "Purum" board, Montford "Pat" Patten? He writes that he is still plying his brush and has one hundred thirty water colors and forty-five oils finished and feels that he has still time to catch up with "Grandma Moses." He is now living with his daughter, whose husband, John Eldredge, is head of the Chemical Engineering Department at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. He is a 22nd degree Mason Scottish Rite and a member of the Springfield Shrine. He spends his summers at a camp on Branch Lake and plans to be at Orono on June 10.

As you may recall from a previous note in this column, Major William Harshaw Mellen, R.T., is a genealogist. The National Huguenot Society of which he is "genealogist general" is sponsoring a six weeks' quest for him this fall through England and France. Already he has traced his ancestry to signers of the Magna Charta, 1215, to William the Conqueror and to Charlemagne! This item was gleaned from the Akron Beacon Journal of March 17, 1972. Congratulations.

Earle Weeks has asked that his change of address be published in the "Alumnus." It is now 2211 F Avenue, Galveston, Texas 77550.

MRS. HAROLD W. COFFIN
(Grace Bristol)
66 Eighteenth Street
Bangor, Maine 04401

1917

It will be no surprise to hear of more retirements. One is Russell Waterhouse. It would be nice to hear of his retirement activities. Frances A. Wood is a retired teacher, claiming a career of 37 years of teaching at Rogers High School in Newport, R.I. A postcard from abroad says that Bruce and Claire (Partridge) Shannon were travelling in Yugoslavia. Perhaps we can hear more about it when we get together Joe and Hildegarde McCusker were entertained at the Shanbons' shortly before the European trip took off. They tell us Claire and Bruce are both doing excellent work as artists. Joe seems to be in good health and spirits, but Hildegarde has been having a rough time with arthritis during the winter. Here's hoping summer weather brings better things.

Linwood Pitman wrote and published a book last year, Centennial History of Woodfords Congregational Church, Portland.

The class extends its sympathy to the wife and family of Geral Marbell, who died of a heart attack while battling a grass fire at his summer cottage on Lake Wesserunsett on May 23. We were shocked and deeply saddened by this news.

MR. STACY L. BRAGDON
47 Parker Road
Wellesley, Massachusetts 02181

Cliff Dennison writes: "I am semi-retired (or 75%) retired from my salesman's job for a five equipment company in Portland. I am starting my 45th year as a member of the local fire department, so you can see the fire service has had an appeal for me."

I am sorry to report the death in March of Charles F. Campbell of Milton, Mass. He was a World War I veteran, attaining the rank of captain in the 29th Field Artillery. He also served in India. He was a member of the Milton American Legion Post 114. While at Maine he was a member of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. He leaves his wife, Mary (MacPherson).

Frank W. Lord writes that he is keeping busy helping others in his age group and with the church.choir. He is on the official and Choir Board and is a trustee of the church Ralph V. Sinnett writes. "We spend the summers at our cottage in Maine about 50 miles north of Bangor My address is 110 Wigmington St, Cemson, B.C 29631"

Jessie (Prince) Wallingford writes. Vernon and I have not been back to Orono since the 50th anniversary. The fact is that we have not been well, but do our best to take good care of each other. Edwin W. Adams was an honored guest as one of the original 212 charter members of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists at their 50th Golden Jubilee Convention in Boston on May 22, 1960. Members international organization has 24 surviving charter members, 10 of whom were guests of the convention. "Transferring to Bates in 1916, I was graduated from there in 1919 Starting as assistant chemist, I finally became assistant general manager of the Lewiston Bleachery and Dye Works. In 1969 I gave the U of M a $10,000 Scholarship Fund. In the years following I have come to know and respect President Lilly. He is doing a splendid job I plan to do more. My address is 65 Summit St, Auburn 04211"

Walter L. Gordon, 48 Church St, Livemore Falls 04254, writes. After I retired we bought an Airstream Travel Trailer and spent a few winters in the South. Our most interesting trip was as part of a 47 day caravan. I pulled it around the world in 12 months visiting 27 countries. We are now living in the old homestead and I am very active in Senior Citizen work.

The Earl Kensons of North Anson observed their 50th Wedding Anniversary in February. Ralph A. Wilkins of St Petersburg, Fla, writes. "This has been the best winter we have known in Florida. It was a little cool in February and we saw some rain. Bandey Marrow and his wife Fred (both graduates of Maine College of Arts and Crafts), also Verne Beverly, who started with our class. We missed Dwight Demerit, who always attended with his wife Red Abbott, Jimmy Spears and George Ginsburg who were near us in college always attended. We will be going to Maine about once a month for a while as I am a director of a company in Norway."

Your "scribe" has just returned from Florida where he participated in the NRTA Leadership Conference in Ft. Lauderdale and the NRTA Biennial Convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

MRS. BETTY MILLS TOWNER

Norridgewock, Me. 04951

Harry D. Watson, professor emeritus at the University of Maine, was selected as Engineer of the Year at the annual meeting, February 29, of The Maine Society of Professional Engineers at the Pilots Grill. He has served his University well for many years, culminating in being head of the department of mechanical engineering. For 20 years he has been an active member of the State Board of Engineering, several of them as chairman.

"Duffy" Chadbourne and Marjorie, while exhibiting in the New Haven Antique Show, had dinner with your secretary. It was a pleasure to renew friendships and I look forward to seeing them again when they exhibit at the Ellsworth show "Stan" Currier called on your President, Verne Beverly, in Sarasota, Stan is quite a baseball fan. Verne was on a committee which planned an alumni meeting in Sarasota the 25th of February. President Libby was the speaker to an audience of 127. Incidentally, Verne and Amy must be back from a trip to Spain, Tanger, Sicily and Greece. We look forward to hearing you had a marvelous time.

The class extends its sympathy to the families of Elizabeth (Chase) Hamlin and Margaret (Mitchell) McMullen, who died in the winter.

July 1st will find me at the Towner cottage on the Surry Road, four miles from Ellsworth. Come see me and do send me news for the full issue. My phone number there is 667-2640. In September I will be back in New Haven.

21 Donald Stuart, "Spice", Saskatchewan, Canada. "So glad the class broke several records at our 50th. Sorry I couldn't help make them Friday. I plan a June (my 55th HHS) reunion. I am looking forward to seeing some of my 21 friends as I journey north.

Frank D. Law, Bristol, Conn., retired in 1957 from the Post Office. Since then he has kept busy with his garden and community interests. Rena Campbell Bowles: "Our class was represented at Sarasota Alumni Meeting by Ruth (Small) and Howard Sewall, Lee and George Ginsburg and myself. There were 127 people present. It was a delightful luncheon and I was happy to see so many people I knew. Had June birthday one day with Gladys (Maxwell) Reilly who lives in Dunedin, Fl. I see also Blanche (Tague) Stevens and her husband, who winter in Venice about 11 miles from Englewood where I live and where Ruth and Howard Sewall have a home. Expect to drive north in June."

Our deepest sympathy to Martha (Woodbury) North, of North Sandwich, N.H., on the death of her husband, Richard.

22 Mrs. Everett Stout writes that she enjoys gardening, traveling and golf. Her son Earl is manager of Grant's store in Connecticut. Son Everett is with Central Maine Power Company and lives in Cumberland Center. We all hope that Gertrude will make the trip to Orono during June 9, 10, or 11 and say hello again to her old friends.

Elwood K. Wilkins writes that he enjoys golf and bowling. His innumerable attributes are varied. Perhaps when we meet at Orono, on June 9, 10, 11, we will learn more about that busy and successful career. We hope to see you all soon. How about it?

23 Clyde A. McKean is active in the town politics of New Ipswich, N.H., where he is now living. Clyde retired in 1966 after 40 years in the field of education.

After several years with the Westinghouse Company in Pittsburgh, Pa., he taught for 19 years at the Case School of Applied Science. In 1921 he received his master's degree in mechanical engineering from Harvard University. Before he retired he was director of sales training and manager of sales personnel development for the American Standard Company in the Plumbing and Heating department. Since retirement he has become interested in weaving and has two looms in his home. He enjoys fishing and flying and belongs to the Fly Casters Club in Peterbourgh. He is a professional engineer in the state of New Hampshire and works with an architect in Peterbourgh.

Stuart M. Johnson is dealing in real estate development in Japan. He married Noriko Hosoda last December in Tokyo. Congratulations, Stuart. We will hope to see you and Noriko at our 50th reunion next year.

Fred M. Lindahl has been appointed West Springfield, Mass., Tax Collector. He has been a school commissioner for thirty years, ten of which he acted as chairman. Fred taught Junior High School in the Chippewa School System. He plans to retire from this position during 1972. He is a registered engineer with a B.S. from U. of M. and an M.S. in Business Administration from Western New England College.

Carleton "Speed" Merritt has been honored by being named one of sixteen Charter Members of the newly established Hall of Fame of the Providence (R.I.) Gridiron Club. Congratulations, Speed Phil Wood is helping to build a new wing on Gardner Community Hospital.

Now for a sentence I thoroughly dislike to write. I have just heard that Olin Callghan has just died. Olin had established a scholarship fund for students, of the Paper Technology Foundation, Inc., of Western Michigan University Friends of Mrs. Callghan also, in her honor, collected funds for the Mae Munter Callghan Scholarship Fund. Students in the founding education classes in WMU's department of engineering and technology had made bronze plaques for Olin and Mae before he died. For permanent exhibition at the university's McCracken Hall. Olin was working on a similar scholarship for the University of Maine, also. Our profound sympathy goes to his wife, Mae.

I regret to say that I missed the following deaths because of my own upset last fall: Harlan Clapp, Clarence Coffin, Phil Oak, and Clarence Sparan. The class extends its profound sympathy to their families. These class members were much beloved and will be greatly missed.

'B5 Balfour Tyndall writes that he is in "active retirement", which also applies to many of us. Dr. Charles Philipson, who retired, enjoys traveling. He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Health, London. Ray Burton, retired since 1970, was professor of physics and department chairman at Miami-Dade Community College. Florida Madeline "Mel" Field came for a look at the Campus in May, the first time in many years. Velma Oliver came over and we all had a tongue- wagging session over a cup of tea. Mel's sister, Vena, is still teaching in Winchendon, Mass, and Mel was on the way to visit her at Repshaw's new address is 522 Lois Lane, Belle Au Hufs, Fl. 33540. Pug (Harrison) Mason was installed president of the Augusta (Maine) Woman's Club, in May.

You secretary attended the inauguration of Dr. Arthur Buswell '44 as president of the University of Maine, Machias. Classmates Bob Haskell and Lincoln "Mac" Sennett were both seated on the platform. Bob to do the investiture of the new president, as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University, and "Mac" as retiring president of the University of Maine, Machias. "Mac" and Bob were both banquet speakers that evening.

Bob Haskell was the recipient of an honorary degree from Husson College, Bangor, in May. The citation read, in part, "Responsibility and honor in one great position beget recognition ever further afield. For Robert Haskell the list is long: president, Bangor Hydroelectric Company, director, Maine Yankee Atomic Power, chairman of the board, Merchants National Bank of Bangor, director, Diamond International Corporation, trustee and chairman of Finance Committee, University of Maine."

Dr. Joseph Murray was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree at the 145th Commencement at the University of Maine in June. He retired in 1966 as Dean Emeritus of Arts and Sciences and Professor Emeritus of Zoology. Joe served as Dean of Arts and Sciences for 25 years. The class extends its sympathy to the families of Ralph "Tommy" Brown, William Lambert, Raymond Lange, and Silas Mayo, who died this spring.

James Nowland writes that he was in the Class of '26 through his Sophomore year. He then took a leave of absence and taught in Fort Kent. Later returning to U. of M., with the aid of summer school sessions in a year and a half he obtained a degree, graduating with the Class of '31. He would like to be considered a member of the Class of '26. After his graduation he taught for one year in a private school and finally fully retired in 1968. The Nowlands have a son who served as first lieutenant in the Army. James has his master's degree in history from Columbia.

Harvey F. Bowden, retired Gardner, Mass., history teacher, was the speaker of the evening at a Father and Son banquet of the Monadnock Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America. Harvey has his master’s degree from Clark University and has taught for 45 years in Gardner Ruth Leman Grady also started with ’26 but interrupted her career to teach and then came back to graduate in 1927. However, she told me that Hilda Merrill Fols, who worked for many years with the Travelers Aid, is now retired.

From the Alumni Office I received two brief notices: Walter P. Morse retired, “emeritus,” in June 1971, and Fred C. Newhall, retired August 1, 1971, as president of Plymouth Five Cents Savings Bank, and is now treasurer of Plymouth Plantation.

How about a note from you fellows giving a little more detail about yourselves?

‘27 By the time you read this many of the class will have enjoyed the renewal of friendships at reunion. If I didn’t see you there, accept my thanks for the wonderful cooperation you have shown this year.

Carlton Lewis writes that he is retired but very busy and in good health. Daughter Pru graduated this June from UMO, Paul is at the University of Miami and Pam is a freshman at Butler University. Doris Rideout Huestis resides at Scottsdale, Arizona, and summers in Flagstaff. At the annual basements of the Society of American Foresters, N.E. Section, Al Nutting received the 1972 Award for Outstanding Service to the Forest Profession.

Wilder Stickney is affiliated with Ralph M. Parsons Company, Engineers and Constructors in Los Angeles, and has no plans for retirement. Last spring he received ISA membership pin for 25 years’ active service, has two daughters, one son and one grandson, auto, clock and geological and floral photography for hobbies. Building boats keeps Dan Torrey out of mischief. He has one daughter and three granddaughters. Dan Stanchfield is a resident in Bedford, N.H., has two children and five grandsons, plans to attend his 50th High School Class Reunion in Milo and our 50th in ’77.

Sherm Rounsivalle retired in ’71 from the U. of Tel. and Tel Co. He has one son, Helen Peabody Davis manages to leave North Carolina for summer months in New Hampshire and Maine. Two daughters and five grandsons. “I can still climb a mountain up to the timber line (a small mountain) if given enough time.” Helen is very active in Durham civic and church activities. Edith Merchant Turner keeps busy with a large produce garden and 11 gardens living within a 13-mile radius. She had a wonderful trip to Brazil but contracted malaria and was sick for two months after she returned home. Ken Hight is retired and enjoying traveling. A daughter was UMO ’16, three grandsons and one granddaughter.

Our sincere sympathy to Jerry Wentworth Engel and her three sons. Ed died unexpectedly April 14. Wallace Dinsmore writes briefly: Retired Two grandchildren. A delightful letter from Fred Arnes. Wish I had space to “tell all.” A report in the Alumni a few years ago of Fred’s retirement brought a letter from Charlie Parker, “a voice from the long lost past” now living in Dunkellon, Pia Fred and his wife visited the Parkers a few years ago, and as a result sold their home in New York and report ranch country Florida retirement the greatest institution since matrimony. Charlie organized and directed ski slopes and resort in many parts of country, trained ski instructors and on ski trips. Son and one grandson. and until retirement was director of Mt. Greylock recreation area for the State of Massachusetts. He has three grandchildren. A daughter from Fred: “I have met Ralph Porter at Airstream Travel Trailer activities and the amateur radio club meetings contingent to it.”

‘28 Robert F. Scott retired in January after 34 years with Southern Gas and Electric, now Southwestern Electric Power. Thelma Dudley Perkins (George ’28) sent me a resume of an article Bob’s wife had sent to him. It reads in part, “How do you take an executive of 34 years and reduce it to two pages of copy? You don’t, especially when writing about someone like Robert F. Scott, vice-president and Louisiana Division manager.”

Some of the highlights of the article inform that Bob became the new business manager in 1937, moving to Shreveport. He was appointed assistant manager of the Louisiana division in 1946, division manager in 1955, vice president in 1957 and director in 1959. "That’s a quiet out-line of Scott, SWECO employee.

But there is also R. F. Scott, volunteer. He has worked tirelessly to build this community. He has been president of nine civic organizations and officer, director or trustee of 20 other organizations and in 1961 was presented the Medallion Award for Community Service and in 1962 was named recipient of the Sertoma Club’s Service to Mankind Award — both for Shreveport and for Louisiana. In 1964 he received the Distinguished Service Award of the Louisiana Mental Health Association.”

Thelma says Bob’s wife reports he is in fine health, plays golf regularly and the morning he retired reported for a part-time job as business manager of the large Shreveport Episcopal Church of which they are members.

Congratulations, Bob, and best wishes to the Scotts.

Thelma says they and the Dr. Frederick Thomp- sons have had a fine winter in Tucson, Ariz. Suppose they will be heading back to Maine soon — even if on April 15 we still have snow.

Lloyd Bonton is the new Worthy Patron of Osceola Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Vassalboro. He took the masonic training in March at Holiday Inn, Bangor, for his 38 years in Federal Service, with the Federal Housing Admin-istration for 20 years and in the United States Army 12 years, from which he retired as a lieutenant colonel. Thanks to Dave Fuller for this information.

‘29 We are indebted to the Alumni Office for the one-bit of news we have concerning a member of our class, that being a clipping from the March 8th, 1972, issue of the Newburyport, Mass., News.

James N. Waldron was appointed project engineer by the Newburyport Redevelopment Authority, after having served as assistant. “Jim” came to the NRA with 29 years experience with the U.S. government, specifically the Navy Department. After graduating from Maine, “Jim” served
A nice letter from Col. Bud Higgins brought me up to date on his activities. He retired from the Army Signal Corps in 1963, went back to college and got an MA and worked in Civil Service for four years. Then he bought a summer camp at Big Segaso which he is remodeling, though he and Dot still live in Arlington, Va., most of the year. Son John graduated from Rutgers in 1967.

Cliff McIntire brought me up to date on his latest promotion. On May 1 he became legislative director of the American Farm Bureau Federation, where he will be administratively responsible to the director of the AFBF’s Washington office.

We extend sympathies to the Frank McCanus on the death of son Patrick, aged 12, at Boston Children’s Hospital. He was buried May 12 and Judy Lewson was one of the bearers. If you wish to further express sympathy to our class agent, contributions may be made to the Jimmy Fund.

The “talk of University Town” this month was the retirement of William Carl “Bill” Wells. And what a retirement dinner it was! After over 40 years as instructor at the University, Bill had the rare honor of having a major building named for him — the William C. Wells Commons — formerly West Commons. His lobster stew at Homecoming, his baked salmon and his apple pie will long be remembered. Best Wishes, Bill, from the Class of 1941!

Donald B. “Don” Henderson has been named vice chairman of the Governor of Connecticut’s Advisory Council for Civil Defense. Don and his family live in Madison, Conn. Kay (Jackson) Adkins (Mrs. John N.) writes that her husband retires at the end of June after a long career as a scientist in the Office of Naval Research. John is presently assistant chief scientist. After September first, they will be living in Cedarwood-on-the-Green, Weems, Va., 22576. All Mammies are urged to stop and say hello.

Amel F. Kizmuk of Lisbon Falls, former principal of Lisbon High School and former town selectman, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the Maine House of Representatives. He is married to the former Ethel Reid of Lisbon Falls and they have three children.

Rev. Morris R. Robinson of Gloucester, Mass., is retired from administering a parish after 25 years in the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts. His son Jonathan '54 lives in Falmouth, Maine. His son David (Brandon) attended an institute in France at the U. M. in the summer of '66. His great-grandfather, Martin Alexander Robinson, was a trustee from 1880-1887. When Morris was a freshman in 1922, his great-grandfather's portrait hung in the old Carnegie Library with those of other distinguished trustees. Morris' grandson, Mark Alexander Robinson, graduates from the University for admission in the fall. If he were to be accepted, that certainly would make a long line of Maine men in the Robinson family!

Mrs. H. Kenneth Smith (Marion Lee Jacques) of Bath is writing stories for children and also the biography of William King. In 1970-71, she took a trip to California and Florida.

MRS. WILLIAM J. MURPHY (Margorie Moulton) 33 Drake Street South Portland, Maine 04106

1933 Wow! A bonanza! I had letters from three classmates and news from the Alumni Office!

First was a letter from Betty and Bob Pendleton to announce that they are both retiring this year — Bob from the Maine Forest Service and Betty from teaching. Betty mentioned that Robert, Jr., '62 lives in Augusta and there is a five-year-old granddaughter and a two-year-old grandson, so we can guess how part of their time will be spent.

Clarence F. Berry, who has served as treasurer of the Katahdin Trust Company for 10 years, has become executive vice president for the company.

A clipping from the Forest-Wildlife Alumni Association Newsletter quoted Richard Millar: "I've finally decided to pull the pin in about a year (early 1973) figuring 40 years — nearly — is enough time working for one employer." That should leave Dick free for our 40th!

Back from a trip to Hawaii, Eleanor Wester was reported to be almost a Maine Alumni meeting! The '36ers included, besides Eleanor, Jim McClure and Meritta Anderson. About the first person Eleanor met after she landed at Bangor was "Ja" Mutzy enjoying a coffee break at a "Dunkin' Donut" shop! Jo is with the State of Maine Social Services in the "Aftercare and Placement" division.

Tom Desmond keeps finding people! He writes that while in Florida he not only played golf every day with Freeman Webb (Freeman beat him!) but attended an Alumni Luncheon with him. In St. Petersburg, Freeman had been president of the group for some years — is now vice president. Tom noted Bob Ingraham due home (Kitty Point) in late April after a winter of traveling in Portugal, Spain, Germany and England. Tom will be managing the Chatham team in the Cape Cod Baseball League this summer. I understand that league pays good ball — everyone cheer for Chatham!

Charles C. Ingalls retired in 1970 — he is enjoying fishing, golfing, and traveling. John C. Wright will retire in September of this year as accountant and troubleshooter at Draper Division of North American Rockwell Corporation in Hopedale, Mass. — a position he held for 28 years. Kenneth J. Dickerson has 30 years with the U.S. Government as a mechanical engineer. Ruth Irwin has been chosen to participate in the Pediatric Nutrition training program at the University of Iowa in May. Dr. Jean (Captain) Sabine is semi-retired — received the National Research Council Senior Associateship March 59 to March 71 pursued at Ames Research Center.

MRS. R. DONALD STONE (Virginia Trundy) Hilltop Road Dover, Mass. 02030

'35 Herb (Warner) Williams was keynote speaker to the Bangor area chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at a meeting in late April commemorating the 61st observance of Charter Night. During the evening program she presented the keys of the City of Bangor by Mayor William Cohen (Evel), who has lived in Baltimore since 1948, to the Center of Continuing Education at Morgan State College. Baltimore is the home of Volunteers of the Year and Woman of the Year Awards at Baltimore with her work in community groups for better housing, employment and education.
It is hard to believe that our class is nearing retirement age. Eldredge and Jesse (Naylor) Woods are now retired, but I don't have many details. Kay Hoerter wrote me a good long letter. She is retiring in July from her position as supervisor in the field services bureau of the connecticut state department of education. Myron Collette is a member of the team who will relax at his sebago lake cottage during July, go to Europe for August, then return to sebago before leaving in September to Arizona. Who else is retiring? Mrs. Marie (archer) MacDonald certainly isn't. She is now responsible for the wallpaper division at the paint pot, in Portland, and Robley Morrison isn't, because he has just become a partner of Cowditt and Colquitt, consulting engineers in New York City. He has been with the firm since 1965, and spent a year in Brazil studying transportation problems. I hope he is expected to study passenger service to Maine!

Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Stewart (Kathleen Goodwin) 811 Stilwater Ave Stilwater, Maine 04489 36 Kearny State the kav leau me tned, the State University of New York at Buffalo Henry Fales was elected vice president of the St. Regis paper Company by the board of directors on April 27, 1972.

Mrs. James A. Byrnes (Barbara Hertel) 15 Kenduskeag Avenue Bangor, Maine 04401 37 we have a long letter from Jeanette (MarcKenzie) Wilson, and with you could read the whole thing, but due to lack of space here is the high points. Jeanette's husband, Frank, is consultant for commercial Affairs for the U.S. Embassy, last post four years in New Delhi and now in Sydney, Australia. The Wilsens have four children: Oldest son, Sandy, a captain in the U.S. Air Force; currently at king sley Field, Klamath Falls. One daughter, Betsie, a graduate of Cornell, was recently married and she and her husband will continue their education in counselling fields, and working with young people. Son Malcolm, 15, is at school in India, and son richard, 11, at an Australian school. Richard and Frank commute to Sydney on a ferry from Mosman, a suburb.

Daphne Everet, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rudolf Everet (Joan Caves) is a freshman at UMO this year. Daphne's younger sister, Juliana, will be a freshman next year. Mrs. Carl Sublett (Hein Davis) writes that they spend the summer at Port Clyde and would love to see old friends there.

Mr. George Tsoulas 26 Beecher Park Bangor, Maine 04401 38 jo proftula, President of the Southern Pennobscot Alumnae Association '71-72, was reelected for '72-73. Under J. P.'s direction the Southern Pennobscot Alumnae Association has provided many scholarships for needy students to attend the U. of M. Leonard Berkowitz, vice president of Eugene Market, Inc., has been appointed community professor in the School of Hotel Food and Travel Services at Florida International University, the new state university in Miami.

40 I am on a visit in the U.S. as the time for another column comes due so Art has volunteered to submit a few items in my absence.

The saddest news to report in a long time is the death of Mrs. Kenneth E. (Rachel Kent) Clark '41, a lifetime friend, as active in extra-curriculars through her adult years as she was in high school and college and as competent a wife and mother as they come. Our deepest sympathy to Ken and family.

James A. Harmon, UMO admissions director, was to represent the New England Association of College Registrars and Admissions Officers (NEACRAO) at the annual meeting of the American Association of those officers in April in Cleveland. Sounds as if he had a busy time in the immediate past president of NEACRAO and serves on the executive committee Dorothy Babcock '40 is retired as a guidance counselor and Maine guide. Paul R. Patterson '40 has recently been named manager-timberlands and forestry, Great Northern Paper Company. He started his career with Great Northern in 1941 and has been with the company ever since.

Another U. of M. man, John T. Mamee, vice president of land management, released the information.

The Weathersbees have been traveling again — details later about Hong Kong, Tehran, France, Italy, Monaco, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, Germany, Holland and England.

MRS. NORMAN L. DANFORTH (Beatrice Gleason) 12 Ethel Road Sudbury, Mass. 01776

'41 The first news item, and I'm sure first in his thoughts these days, in a new 32-story building for the Keystone Corporation in Boston which George Ellis will occupy in the future. George has been president of Keystone since 1968 and before that, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. Congratulations on your success.

Brooks Brown has filed as a Republican candidate in the June primary for one of the seats in the Maine House of Representatives. If he is the one you receive this copy, you'll know if he won. Good luck!

Frederic Cavan has been appointed chief forester, Maine District Woodlands, for the St. Regis Paper Company. He previously served in New Hampshire and Vermont as unit manager. Fred is active in many organizations connected with forestry and was honored as New Hampshire Wood Conservationist of the year in 1966. He has three sons and one daughter.

U.S. Air Force Captain John McFarren received the Bronze Star for meritorious service during military operations in Vietnam.

The class of '44 has three second-generation boys at UMO. They are Roslyn Willey's son, Roger Paul Dunne's son, Max and Christopher Douglas, son of the late Earl Douglas. Earl passed away suddenly in January, 1972, and we extend our sympathy to the family.

Please send me more news over the summer.

MRS. DONALD W. BAH (Josephine Blake) 70 Wildevore Avenue South Portland, Maine 04106

'42 By this time you'll get to see our 50th Reunion will be held on the fall Alumni for a full report. As this is my last column I wish to say "thanks" to the many who have kept me supplied with news of family and classmates.

Brinks Chosen to attend the Institute for Educational Management at Harvard this summer is Evelyn Nicholson, dean of women at Lock Haven State College, Lock Haven, Pa. This program is designed for college administrators at the management level. Vice Commandant of Air Force Audio-Visual Service, the USAF is William Gifford. Pat Ryan is a captain at Yakisho School District, son, Bill, is a captain in USAF, and John and Katie are students at U. Cal, Riverside.

MRS. FRANCIS C. DONOVAN (Frances M. Donovan) 62 York Drive Hudson, Ohio 44236

'43 After a rather hectic Spring to you the last issue I regret that we are sent us to you the Alumni Office. Martin M. Scher has been elected President of the Tuskegee Division of the American Paper Institute at this group's recent annual meeting held in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City. Martin, director of Corporate Planning and Development of the Irving Paper Mills, Evans, Mass., was appointed President after serving as a vice president for the past two years. He and his wife and two sons live in New York City. The Franklin (Mass.) Sentinel of March 2 carried a lengthy item on the upcoming elections for the Board of Selectmen of Wrentham, Mass. The incumbent chairman of the Board, and a candidate for reelection is Francis R. L'Hermant of our class. He resides at 573 East Street, Wrentham, with his wife, Eleanor. They have one son, Lt. Commander David L'Hermant, a naval aviator, who served three tours in Vietnam with the 7th Fleet. Francis is an assistant manager with the A and P Tea Company in Walpole, Mass. That's all! A happy and glorious summer to one and all!

MISS MARGERITA A. COFFIN 2034 Oak Street, Santa Monica, Cal. 90405

'44 A recent clipping from the Lewiston Sun-Journal shows Robert Fose in aming a Sebago Lake landlocked salmon with a co-worker at the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Game. Bob is an assistant chief of the Fishery Division. Another of those lucky people whose work takes them into the great outdoors (Ioney) in gals' families is busy these days! Jane, the youngest, spends all her spare time riding her horse. The next oldest, a sophomore at Wheaton, is a Williams College for an exchange year. The oldest son, Jerry, has accepted a position with Pierce, Atwood, Skees, Allen and McKusick in Portland, upon graduation from Harvard Law School. He and his wife live in Cambridge (Mass.). Rob, the second son, is a senior at Brown University but at present is spending a semester in Iran, an exchange student at Pahesi University. Joe has been a foreman at Pettee and company. His job is with a new 25 million-dollar antipollution plant at Georgia Pacific. Joe invites any of U of M classmates to stop by—Route 12 north of the New York Thruway, Utica East, to Todd.

Back in March, Lawrence Litchfield ("Lass") '50 was out on the West Coast visiting his brother Lee (California Academy '45) and his family. My sister Judy Golightly '49 and I spent an afternoon with the Litchfields at a Linton Ship Systems Sailing Club race in Long Beach (California). We're all salt-water people and it couldn't have been a more enjoyable time and place.

After four great years at the beach, I've moved into a garden cottage at the top of the Mar Vista slopes. Shade as well as sun, and songbirds all day long! Enjoy the wilderness this summer and preserve it, everyone!

MRS. HAROLD R. FRAY, JR. (Harriet Stemmer) 8293 California Ave. S.W. Seattle, Washington 98116

'46 Shirley (Hathaway) Sibley writes that she is working in a federal program of tutoring with 26 students on the eighth grade level. She has moved to 35 Highland Ave., P.O. Box 184, Lincoln 01773. Shirley's husband, Francis, is assistant paper mill superintendent for the Wrentham Paper Company. Their eldest son, Lee, 23, is a graduate student at the University. He has been practicing law at Great Barrington. A federal program called Pride has a BIA in political science from U of Delaware, Clinton, 21, is a SPS in the WAC stationed at T.I. Mixer,
Va., and is working in an audio-visual agency at the Pentagon. Keith, 14, is in eighth grade, and likes basketball. Julia, 4, keeps everyone on their toes.

George L. Chalmers is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Penobscot County Commissioner in the June primaries. George has been chairman of the Bangor Republican City Committee for the past two years, and his wife, Rita, resides in Bangor. They have a son, Dale, and a daughter, Susan, who is now attending the University of Maine.

After July 1 my address will be the above. Harold will be senior minister of the Faulkner Community Church. The church has 1200 members and the YMCA is housed in the church building. We will live three blocks from the water where we can get a few of Fungen Sound from our windows. Three of our children will be in college in the fall—Susan, University of Minnesota, majoring in pharmacy; John, University of Massachusetts, majoring in political science; and David at the University of Washington, majoring in fisheries.

I will be long from Maine and will need to hear from more of you if there is to be a news column in the Almanus. Please Help?

53 Charles J. DeBlase recently graduated from the advanced management program of the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration. The 11-week program prepares experienced executives for the responsibilities of top leadership. Charles is currently product group manager for the Packaging and Friction Materials Division of Johnson-Manville Sales Corporation of New York.

Robert G. Osborne, who studied forestry at Maine after getting a B S in business administration at the University of Massachusetts, has joined National Life Insurance Company in Montpelier, Vt., as assistant director of real estate operations. Osborne has 13 years’ experience as a real estate investment specialist.

And yours truly has ventured outside the home again for a fruitful employment at the new Tucson area hostess for Luncheon Is Served, a nationwide organization now operating in 30 major marketing areas in this country and Canada. I do the purchasing and supervise the preparation of a three-course meal, for up to 200 persons or more, and discuss the foods served during the meal, as well as giving away door prizes. The program helps organizations raise funds and affords food manufacturers a line of direct communication with consumers. And it gets me away from the chatter of a three-year-old, the trials of a 12- and 15-year-old, and the soul-sapping problems of a 17-year-old, occasionally.

What’s new with YOU??

MARIJOY ROBBINS LALIME

Vassalboro, Me. 04969

54 Happiness! My address this summer is Popham Beach, Maine. The house is a small, eight-room cottage with a porch and a garden. The beach is a lovely place to swim and take long walks. The town of Bath is nearby, with its fine beaches and downtown area. I would love to hear from you.

In May I attended a dieticians’ meeting in Orono with Jane (McGinnis) Lavelo, Mickey and I visited with Andrea Lalime ’75, (my daughter since she was 4) whose major is wildlife management. The only way to keep up with Orinio is to have a son or daughter there! Andy sees my little brother Wally Robbins (Feb. ’54) quite often in the forestry building where he teaches, and you may see both of them in the ’72 issue of The Maine Forester. Andy, on page 10, is the one with the short hair.

Downdown the road a piece from Petticott Farm in Vassalboro, there’s a beautiful place called Nanticoke Golf Course, and I’ve just learned it’s a real Maine-type operation, built, owned and managed by Paul ’79 and Lucy ’38 (Cobb ’38) Browne. To date, three of their seven children have graduated from the University of Maine, and are married to gals who are also grads of UMO. William ’64, Robert ’65, and James ’72. Paul Browne also has a married daughter, a son at Paul Smith’s College, one daughter at Cove High, and a son in grammar school. When time and vacations permit, each member of the family contributes to this friendly Maine enterprise.

Mary Jane (Chapman) Leeper is a teacher and director of the Campus Day Care Center at the University of Missouri. Judge Nicholas Dan- ton, who attended UMO, was graduated from the Portland Law School and recently was appointed by Governor Cuthbert to the position of Judge of the 10th Maine District Court. Alexis Cote has been named to the board of trustees of the Osteopathic Hospital of Maine. Cote lives in Florence Street in Portland, has his master’s degree in music from Gonzaga, and is organist and choirmaster for the Immaculate Conception in that city.

H. Allen Fernald has been appointed vice president and general manager of the combined college divisions of Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc. Edwin H. Pert was elected chairman, board of selectmen, Georgetown Thomas Pike is now head trainer of the athletic staff at U Conn. Herbert Duten is new owner of an engineering consulting and land surveying business at 128 State St., Augusta. He makes his home at 71 Perinton Ave., Augusta. Send a card or aerogram of your news soon!

55 Dana Baggett, director of the UMO’s Student Veterans Office, was elected to the national council of the American Society for Public Administration at the group’s national conference in New York City in late March. (When I found his office in the old building, he was on campus last fall, ‘those fatal pigs, before second lunch’ came to my mind.)

Calvin (Llew) Calkins writes, “I recently switched jobs, still with the schools but I’m now the social worker for our street academies. There are seven of them for junior high school kids, who can’t make it in the regular program— either they would be drop-outs or excluded because of behavior. The program started about one year ago after one street academy was a two-year experiment. Lots of things still need to be ironed out, but it’s a challenging job.” That late March weather in the Denver area had the Calkins playing tennis and skiing in the same week.

We congratulate Dr. David Shirley who was among five scientists presented the Ernest O. Lawrence Memorial Award for 1972 by the Atomic Energy Commission at ceremonies in Germantown, Md. on April 13. David received his Ph.D. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1959 and joined the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in a research capacity. He later transferred to the Department of Chemistry and became department chairman last year. In 1966-67, he spent a sabbatical year in Oxford, England and from June to December 1976, he was on a sabbatical in Berlin, West Germany. A pioneer in the study of the physical interactions in solids, his accomplishments have been recognized by his selection in 1970 for the California Section Award of the American Chemical Society. David was one of the organizers of the 1967 International Conference on Hyperfine Structure and Nuclear Resonance, and in 1971 he organized the International Conference on Electron Spectroscopy. He and Virginia have five children.

See you next fall.

DISTINGUISHED MAINE PROFESSOR

The Distinguished Maine Professor Award is made possible each year by a gift of $1,500 by the General Alumni Association.

Janet R. Reid ’74 Chairman, selection committee

Why was Constance H. Carlson, associate professor of English, chosen as the Distinguished Maine Professor for 1972?

The first and most obvious reason is that she satisfied the criteria against which each nominee is evaluated. But the more compelling reason was the kind of person she is, which the selection committee began to discover as they went through the careful process of evaluation.

A general election is held in the spring, at which time students may write in the name of any professor who they feel is qualified for the award. To be eligible, the faculty member must have taught at UMO for at least three years including the present year. A selection committee, consisting of 25 students (one from each class from each college, including five graduate students), tallies the nominations, taking the top seven percent from each college as a foundation with which to work. These names are carefully measured by the committee, using the criteria that the award be given for the professor’s respect for, and devotion to, education and his students; for his teaching effectiveness; and for his professional and scholarly accomplishments. When this year’s selection committee had the names narrowed to fifteen, they obtained detailed resumes concerning the professional and scholarly accomplishments of the potential award recipients.

Dr. Carlson’s achievements were seen to be outstanding, as is evidenced by her work as leader of Project English, which aimed at improving the writing ability of high school students. Begun in 1964, it was an attempt to bridge the gap between secondary school and college composition courses and to focus attention on the importance of better written communication. Mrs. Carlson gave ungrudgingly of her time. After the program was over, she continued to meet with those high school teachers who had participated, hoping to get feedback for improving the program. This extra work was done entirely without compensation, thus showing her dedication.

The nominees were eventually narrowed to six, at which time the investigation became intensive. A nucleus of ten to fifteen students took an active part in this work. Each member tried to see every nominee whether in class, in the office, or in a discussion group.

This provided the final and perhaps most important criterion for our decision.

One committee member went to her office and inquired about possible English courses which he could take as electives. Though he was a non-major, Dr. Carlson encouraged him and helped in making suggestions. This reinforced our opinion of her devotion to students, whether they be English majors or not.

As a member of the People to People — Students to Alumni group, I approached Dr. Carlson after class one day to see if she would be interested in hosting a dinner party for twelve strangers who had UMO in common. She enthusiastically expressed interest in the program with its goals of facilitating communication between students, faculty, administration, and alumni. A few weeks later she held a delightful dinner party in her home, where the talk revolved around university programs.

The committee checked in an old course evaluation book called “... of cabbages and kings...” to see what the response had been to Dr. Carlson in 1967. She was described as being “enthusiastic with a good sense of humor.” She was “sensitive to the needs and interests of her students.” This is still true in 1972 as Dr. Carlson uses her dry wit and sparkling sense of humor to make the literature come alive for her students. She is extremely aware of students’ needs and problems. At the present she is working on President Libby’s task force to investigate special needs of women students at UMO and Bangor.

Whether we talked to English majors, non-majors, graduate students or faculty members — all shared in their high estimation of Dr. Carlson as a professor.

But we found her to be much more than a good professor. She is a real person, a warm human being whose sincerity comes across as she reacts to her students as individuals worthy of her respect. By respecting them she has earned respect for herself, and gained recognition as the Distinguished Maine Professor of 1972.

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES CENTER RECEIVES FORD FOUNDATION GRANT

The UMO Environmental Studies Center has received a $100,000 grant from the Ford Foundation to utilize its technology and resources in assisting three Maine governmental agencies to implement the shorelands zoning act passed by the 105th Maine Legislature.

The grant, for a period of 15 months starting May 1, 1972, will enable the Environmental Studies Center to set up an operation which will aid in the preparation of needed criteria, drafting of model ordinances and dissemination of the material to the various municipalities in time for legislation in compliance with the time schedule for implementation of the act by June 30, 1973.

The program provides for administration by a combined effort of an executive committee representing the three state agencies, the Environmental Improvement Commission, the Land Use Regulation Commission and the State Planning Office. This committee will employ a director who will be responsible for correlating information, preparing and administering contracts and working with regional and local agencies.

The shorelands act will require all municipalities, subject to state-level guidance, to adopt protective zoning for shoreland areas. Areas affected are those extending 250 feet in width from all navigable lakes, ponds, rivers and tidal waters in Maine.

WILLIAM C. WELLS COMMONS

At a testimonial dinner given for William C. Wells ‘31, retiring this year as director of residence and dining halls, announcement was made that the board of trustees of the University of Maine has authorized the renaming of the West Commons Dining Hall as William C. Wells Commons.

While Mr. Wells was a student he was head proctor in the men’s dormitories and a head waiter. He earned varsity letters in baseball and basketball and was captain of the baseball team in his senior year. He was cadet colonel of the ROTC detachment and was a member of the Sophomore Owls and Senior Skulls.

He became steward at UMO upon graduation, dormitory manager in 1939 and director of residence and dining halls in 1955. During the year 1958-59 Mr. Wells was president of the Association of College and University Housing Officers. He is married to the former Beulah Osgood of the Class of 1926.

DR. CARLSON APPOINTED UMB DEAN

Dr. Constance H. Carlson, associate professor of English and this year's winner of the Distinguished Maine Professor Award, has been appointed Dean of Instruction and Coordinator of General Studies at the University of Maine at Bangor, effective July 1. The appointment was made by the University's board of trustees.

The position of Dean of Instruction will be a new one, with the dean becoming the school's chief academic officer.

A 1937 graduate of Vassar College, Dr. Carlson received her master of arts degree at UMO in 1945 and her doctor of philosophy degree from Brown University in 1971.

WMEB-FM "OFF AND RUNNING"

WMEB-FM, UMO Radio, has begun a fundraising drive to obtain the $5,000 needed to permit daytime broadcasting to the University community. Letters have been mailed to some 700 former members of the old Maine Radio Guild, carrier current station WORO, and the present station, WMEB-FM.

The station's efforts to secure additional space and funds were rewarded with the acquisition of a room adjacent to the present facility in 75 Stevens Hall and the pledging of $4,500 from two student organizations. The remaining $5,000 is needed to equip an on-air studio presently under construction.

Of the campus radio station, President Winthrop C. Libby '32 has said, "WMEB-FM is off and running. The station's programs, built carefully around the concerns and needs of the campus community, have reached a responsive and involved audience. The University is delighted with the programming and management policies which have made this campus radio station the voice of the community. The future is a promising one."

Friends who wish to contribute to this fund may send their donations to WMEB-FM 5,000 Fund, Department of Speech, 310 Stevens Hall, Orono, Maine 04473.

TRUSTEES' MEETING

The Board of Trustees, meeting on June 14 at Gorham, voted to ask the 1973 legislature for $74.6 million in appropriations to meet part of the 1973-75 biennium. This figure is $2.7 million less than was requested for the current biennium, but $20.2 million more than the 1971 legislature actually gave the University.

Other action taken included a policy stating that it is illegal within the University system to deny employment to individuals simply on the grounds that their close relatives are employed in the same (or other) University department.

BOOKS

This book contains the familiar theme of Dr. Ames that school entrance and promotion should be based on a child's behavioral age rather than his chronological age. Controversial issues in education are discussed and the authors' recommendations are based upon clinical experience. They do emphasize the need to know more about each individual child and how he learns, and the need for diagnosis. They stress that readiness must be considered, that there should be more variety in the school curriculum and that there should be homogeneous grouping according to behavior.

The authors explore the more common causes of school failure, of which the predominant one is overplacement. Many suggestions for promoting school success are discussed.

The book, intended primarily for parents, is of value to teachers and school administrators. If there were more books such as this, we would be well on our way to a cooperative effort to minimize school failure.

(Louise Bates Ames is a 1930 graduate of UMO.)
ALUMNI RECEIVE HONORARY DEGREES

On May 21 the Keene State College of the University of New Hampshire conferred upon Frederick J. Simmons '06 the honorary degree of doctor of literature.

At the June commencement at UMO Marion E. Martin '34, Maine Commissioner of Labor and Industry, received the honorary degree of doctor of laws; Joseph M. Murray '25, dean emeritus of Arts and Sciences and professor emeritus of zoology at UMO, received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Unity College conferred upon President Winthrop C. Libby '32 the honorary degree of doctor of humane letters on May 28.

"DOT" PREBLE RETIRES

"Dot" Preble (Mrs. Wesley), who began her work at the University proofreading and stitching at the University Press, then worked part-time on the 1952 alumni directory, is retiring this summer after 21 years as recorder for the General Alumni Association.

DR. DAVID A. SHIRLEY '55 RECEIVES ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION AWARD

Dr. David A. Shirley '55, chairman of the department of chemistry at the University of California, Berkeley, was one of five men in the nation to be presented the United States Atomic Energy Commission's Ernest O. Lawrence Memorial Award for 1972 in April. He was cited "for his contributions in experiment and theory to the chemical nature of matter employing interactions of the nucleus with its electronic environment."

Dr. Avery E. Rich '37, professor of plant pathology at the University of New Hampshire, has been appointed associate dean of the College of Life Sciences and Agriculture beginning July 1. The new dean joined the UNH department of botany in 1951. He

DWIGHT B. DEMERITT SCHOLARSHIP FUND

A Dwight B. DeMeritt Scholarship for students in the School of Forest Resources at UMO is being established by his friends. Contributions may be sent to Professor Edwin Giddings, treasurer, Forestry School Alumni Association, University of Maine at Orono, Orono, Maine 04473.

Professor DeMeritt died in Dunedin, Florida, on February 6. His obituary was carried in the last issue of The Maine Alumnus.
EDITOR, CHAPLAIN RESIGN

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Lewis, editor of The Maine Alumnus for the past two years, has resigned, following the resignation of her husband, the Rev. Theodore W. Lewis, who has been Episcopal chaplain at UMO since 1957.

Father Lewis is entering Boston University this fall as an advanced graduate student in counseling and will be part-time assistant at the Church of Our Redeemer in Lexington, Mass.

Mrs. Lewis has been appointed administrative secretary and editorial assistant to the president of Northeastern University in Boston, beginning September 1.

They will be living with their two children in Arlington, Mass.

NEW EDITOR APPOINTED

Margaret A. Rode, a 1971 UMO graduate in Journalism, has joined the General Alumni Staff as the new editor of The Maine Alumnus.

Miss Rode worked on the Maine CAMPUS for her four undergraduate years and was editor of the 1970 PRISM. Following graduation she worked on a newspaper in Columbia, South Carolina.

She is from Portland, Connecticut but plans to make her home in Maine. Miss Rode also intends to take courses on the graduate level at UMO.

PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS ELECT ALUMNI

Among new officers elected at the annual meeting in May of the Maine Society of Professional Engineers were: president, Howard A. Crosby '43; second vice president, James A. Bement '52; secretary, Lawrence F. Cote '36; national director, Donald W. Weston '41; a state director, Charles K. Sawyer '33; and secretary of the Professional Engineers in Private Practice, a section of the state society, Guy Susi '40.

GAA HONORS CADET CORPS

The annual Review and Awards Ceremony of the First Maine Cadet Brigade, Reserve Officers Training Corps, rained out of Alumni Field, was held in the Memorial Field House on May 4. GAA President Albert M. Porter presented the Charles A. Rice Sabre Award to Cadet Colonel Vitalis J. Knuble of Bangor, who was chosen as outstanding cadet in the brigade.

The General Alumni Association sponsored a reception afterwards in the lounge of the North Hall Alumni Center, to honor the 21 cadets who received awards.

UMO HOSTS YANKEE PEERS

Donald M. Stewart '35, executive director of the General Alumni Association, Dr. Harold L. Chute, director of development, and Howard A. Keyo, director of public information, all served as chairmen of discussion sessions at the two-day conference of alumni, development and public information officers of the original six New England state universities held at the UMO Darling Center, Walpole, in June.

Speakers for the Yankee Peers conference were Senator Bennett Katz of Augusta, chairman of the New England Commission for Higher Education, and Dr. Edward A. Myers, assistant to the director of the Darling Center.

CLASS OF 1927 ELECTS HONORARY MEMBER

Mrs. Harry Hartley, wife of the late Harry Hartley, who died in 1969, was made an honorary member of the Class of 1927, with all privileges of class membership, by vote of the Class at its 45th Reunion in June at UMO. Mrs. Hartley is a long-time devoted friend to the University.

ALUMNI HONORED

Horace A. Pratt '30, engineer emeritus of UMO, was granted the ASTM Award of Merit and named a Fellow of the American Society for Testing and Materials at a New England Dis-
Purpose

1 ton natural Wiscasset Women of the Year was distinguished son of the Meeting of the Award at the Founders Day banquet of Alpha Zeta Honor Society on May 11.

Harry D. Watson ’20, professor emeritus of mechanical engineering, was selected Engineer of the Year by the Maine Society of Professional Engineers at its annual Engineers Week meeting this spring.

Mrs. Allan G. Stewart (Millie Simpson ’62) was selected Woman of the Year by the Maine Press Radio-TV Women at its annual meeting at Bath in May. Mrs. Stewart is a women’s writer for the Portland Press Herald and Maine Sunday Telegram in the Wiscasset to Freeport area.

Wallace H. Elliott ’26, former head of the UMO department of agricultural education and for many years advisor to the Maine Future Farmers of America, was awarded the FFA’s Distinguished Service Award at the Future Farmers convention held at UMO in June.

Advisory Committee which meets annually for the cooperative forestry research programs established under the McIntire-Stennis Act.

On this occasion of the 10th anniversary of the legislation, both Senator Stennis and former Congressman McIntire received citations. The presentation to Mr. McIntire was made by Professor Nutting, director emeritus of the UMO School of Forest Resources.

Also present for the event was Victor B. MacNaughton ’29. Mr. MacNaughton, who has been with the U. S. Forest Service in Mississippi for 40 years, was planning to retire on June 30.

New President Arthur D. Little, Inc.

John F. Magee, B.A. Bowdoin, M.B.A. Harvard, and M.A. UMO, was elected president of Arthur D. Little, Inc., at an April meeting of the company’s board of directors.

He received his master of arts degree from UMO in mathematics and economics in 1952.

UMO Receives Enthusiastic Support From Alumni

Under the first-year leadership of national chairman Gordon Erikson ’43, the Annual Alumni Fund is assured a record total of contributions.

Reunion class gifts swelled the annual fund to near $200,000 figure. This reflects an increase of $35,000, or about 21 percent more than in 1970-71.

New techniques of fundraising were employed, including phonathons, which were held in Bangor, Portland, Boston, New York, and Washington (D.C.). Alumni volunteers telephoned more than 1,000 alumni, asking their participation in this year’s campaign.

Mr. Erikson reported that the fund had already reached a new all-time high of $193,087 on June 20, with ten days remaining in the fiscal year. The funds represent alumni gifts for unrestricted uses to support on-campus alumni activities and university projects, plus restricted contributions for class funds, which are used primarily for student loan and scholarship assistance.

SPORTS

SPRING LETTERS AWARDED

A total of 116 athletes have been awarded freshman numerals and varsity letters for competing in spring intercollegiate athletics. One athlete, Gene Toloczko of Auburn, Mass., hit the jackpot — he was awarded both a junior varsity numeral and a varsity letter in baseball.

It happened because Toloczko played much of the season with the junior varsity club as a freshman outfielder but was brought up to the varsity for the final five games of the campaign and contributed materially to the success of the varsity club by hitting .471.

Letters were awarded in five spring sports — golf, tennis, sailing, outdoor track and baseball. Two of the teams, golf and track, won Maine State championships, while the baseball team had a second place finish in the Yankee Conference and the Maine State Series.

BASEBALL

The University of Maine at Orono varsity baseball team under the direction of Coach Jack Butterfield has concluded one of its most successful seasons ever, posting a 20-7 record and taking second place finishes in both the Yankee Conference and the Maine State Series. This was the ninth consecutive winning season for the Black Bears.

Percentage wise, this 1972 record was better than that posted in 1964 when Maine won 21 and lost eight and finished third in the College World Series. The 1972 mark was just slightly below that of the 1970 team that won 18 and lost six.

Highlights of the recently concluded campaign include the club's nine straight wins after an opening season loss to Princeton; the twin defeats of Massachusetts, ending that club's 13-game win streak; coach Jack Butterfield's 200th baseball coaching win, over Bowdoin; and Maine's first-ever wins in baseball over Holy Cross.

An inability to defeat either Connecticut or Colby cost the Bears shots at both the Yankee Conference and Maine State Series titles.

The Bears' greatest strength was in defense, where they handled 1,002 chances in the field and made only 29 errors for an excellent .971 fielding average. That excellent average is expected to place the Bears very high nationally among university division teams.

The 1972 Bears set one team record and tied two individual UMO marks. The new team record is for most doubles in a season, 37. John Coughlin of Augusta, junior outfielder, tied a university record for one season with nine doubles; and Len Larabee of Greenfield, Mass., junior first baseman, tied another UMO record with five home runs in one season.

John Coughlin and shortstop Dennis Libbey of Mattawamkeag have been named co-captains of the 1973 team. Both will be seniors next year. The Bears should be a top contender in both conferences again next season as only four will be lost by graduation. They are third baseman Frank Davis, second sacker Alan Livingston, pitcher Dennis Lyonais and outfielder Rick Arnold.

YOUTH SPORTS CLINICS

A series of four Summer Youth Sports Clinics has been instituted this year by the department of physical education and athletics. Youngsters between the ages of 12 and 15 are coming to campus for nearly a week and receiving top-notch instruction in one of four sports: baseball, basketball, football, and swimming.

There are 55 boys enrolled in the baseball clinic; 110 boys and girls in the two swimming clinics; 170 boys in the two basketball clinics; and 50 boys in the football clinic. Most of the youngsters are from Maine and some have come from New Hampshire and Massachusetts. The clinics are being conducted by athletic department coaches and leading Maine high school coaches who are giving those attending as much individual instruction as possible. The pupil-instructor ratio is no more than 10-1.

Purpose of the clinics, as explained by Woody Carville '53, clinics coordinator, is "to encourage proper attitudes in sportsmanship, teamwork, and safety, and to permit those attending to enjoy a week at one of America's most beautiful college campuses."

The daily program includes time for recreation swimming in Maine's handsome new pool and other leisure activities as well as organized instruction.

University facilities being used are one inside and two outside baseball diamonds as well as inside and outside batting cages; seven basketball courts; one game and four practice football fields; and the new indoor eight-lane Olympic-size swimming pool with additional diving area featuring two one-meter and one three-meter diving boards.

Three UMO head coaches are conducting clinics in their sports: Jack Butterfield '53 in baseball, Tom "Skip" Chappelle '62 in basketball, and Walter Abbott '58 in football. The Swimming Clinic Director is Penny Estes, women's varsity swim coach at Nova High School in Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

This year's clinics are proving so successful that the department of physical education and athletics is planning to expand them for next summer. Alumni parents who would like their sons and daughters to participate in next year's program may write to Stuart Haskell at the Memorial Gymnasium for information and registration forms.

SILVER AND GOLD "M"s

When Homecoming rolls around again this fall, there will be new awards given, Silver and Gold "M"s, marking the first of what will become an annual event.

The idea for these awards was sparked by "Sam" Sezak '31, professor emeritus of physical education and athletics.

The Silver "M"s will be given to all men who earned their "M" in any sport at UMO 25 years ago, the Gold "M"s to men who earned their "M" in any sport 50 years ago.

In "Sam" Sezak's words, "Because this is a new project, we will have some catching up to do. We, therefore, will make these awards retroactive so that all "M"-men from 1947 and back would receive Silver or Gold "M"s."

At this year's Homecoming the certificates will be awarded at a stag banquet to be held on Saturday evening at a nearby restaurant under the sponsorship of the UMO Athletic Department and the Graduate "M" Club. Wives of the recipients will be dining in the same restaurant in a separate room.

At the Homecoming luncheon, the GAA is inviting all Silver and Gold "M" recipients to attend, sit together and be recognized. After the luncheon they will attend the football game together and again be recognized.
