THE School of Education of the University of Maine was organized primarily to give professional training to prospective secondary school teachers, school administrators, and supervisors. In addition to offering regular collegiate work leading to baccalaureate and advanced degrees in Education it is equipped to render service to Maine schools in the fields of

1. Teacher Placement
2. Educational Surveys
3. Testing Programs
4. Curricular Problems
5. Organization Programs
6. Building Surveys
7. Financial Consultation

May we be of service to you? We shall be glad to help you with your problems.

Registration Is 50 More Than Last Year

New Freshman Policies Now In Effect

If the comments and optimism heard during and following the eighth annual freshman week are based on facts, then Maine has not only one of the largest, if not the largest entering class, on record, but also one of the best. That remains to be seen.

Statistics speak emphatically as to size of the entire student body, not alone the freshman class. According to the latest data available when this article was written, a total of 1563 students have registered, said to be a record figure. Doubtless this will be increased somewhat by late arrivals. There were 1510 students last year. Some people had expressed belief that economic conditions might tend to reduce the size of the upperclasses.

There are 312 seniors, as against 258 in 1929-30; a slight decrease in juniors, 40 more sophomores, and 24 more freshmen, with other small differences in the graduate, special and two year agricultural groups.

As for this quality claim about the newcomers,—that is based upon the fact that a greater proportion of those admitted were without any entrance conditions. This is especially pleasing to University officials.

An Important Year

In some respects this marks the beginning of an unusually important year. The new policy of having freshmen reside in dormitories goes into effect. It is impossible however to accommodate all non-resident freshmen on the campus.

The ruling prohibiting fraternities from pledging freshmen before a specified date next spring goes into full effect this year. For five years the fraternities have been operating under a plan which permitted them to pledge and initiate a smaller number each year until in 1930-31 they could pledge no freshmen before the date agreed upon, and cannot initiate them until the opening of the next college year.

With the beginning of this year, the School of Education

Dr. Caroline Colvin Honored

By Dr. Ava Harriet Chadbourne '15

It is with a peculiar pleasure, a feeling of great satisfaction, and a lively sense of the fitness of things that the faculty, graduates and under graduates of the University of Maine learn the name of the new women's dormitory which is being opened this Fall—Colvin Hall.

For to them the name stands for a long period of faithful service well performed, for high standards of scholarship worked for and attained, for fine ideals of personal conduct inculcated, for loyal devotion to an institution, and for inspiration and counsel in the lives of young men and women.

Dr. Caroline Colvin, in whose honor the building is named, came to the University in 1902, having at that time the distinction of being the first woman on the university faculty and the first teacher of a distinct department of history. Later she became the first dean of women of the institution.

The splendid type of work which she has always maintained opened the way for other women to become members of the faculty and has in a great measure been responsible for the more nearly equal opportunities for faculty women that is enjoyed at Maine than is found in most co-educational institutions.

Those who have been privileged to carry on their college work under her supervision and guidance have been inspired by her thorough knowledge and presentation of subject matter and the continued expansion of the department of history, always maintaining its high quality of scholarship, attests Dr. Colvin's greatest achievement upon the campus.

As the first dean of women, Dr. Colvin made use of the same thorough methods and standards which she employs in her teaching, to develop personal and social standards of conduct among the women undergraduates. Women's Student Government had her hearty support and girls' athletics were encouraged. Perhaps one of the honors which Dr. Colvin has appreciated most was her election by the All Maine Women as their first honorary member.

Dr. Colvin has received recognition outside the University as a member of many scholarly organizations, among which are the American Historical Society, the American Academy of Political and Social Science and the American Association of University Professors. She is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi.

But it is above all for her long and conscientious service as a teacher in the department of history that Dr. Colvin is best known and loved. Her interest in students, the wonderfully fine inspiration and valuable advice which she offers to them, her well-known capacity of dependableness and rare loyalty, her high standards and ideals, her fairness in dealing with both students and her fellow members of the faculty are the outstanding reasons why it is most fitting that the new dormitory should be named as it is,—Colvin Hall.

Heads Engineering Education Society

President H. S. Boardman was elected president of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education at the 38th annual meeting of that Association, held at McGill University, June 26 to 28. President Boardman has been active in the organization for over 30 years. In 1920-22, he was a member of the council. With Dean O. J. Ferguson of the University of Nebraska, he held the office of vice-president during 1923 and 1924. President Boardman, through his untiring service in this national society, has brought honor not only to himself, but, through this latest election has also honored the University of Maine.

Men's and Women's Debating Teams Make Good Showing

The debating teams at the University carried on an extensive and ambitious program last year under the direction of Mr. Herschel Bricker of the Public Speaking Department.

The women's team, managed by Alice Bagley, was especially successful, debating on the question: Resolved, that American College education is a failure. The Maine team, upholding the negative side was composed of Caroline Cousins, Florence Ward, and Margaret Hammel. It returned to Maine after a five days' trip undefeated, having met veteran debaters at Radcliffe, Springfield International, Pembroke and Hunter.

At the same time another group of women was working on the question, Resolved: that legal censorship should be abolished. Some weeks later Frances Fuger, Fanny Fineberg, and Louise Bates were Maine's affirmative representatives at Bates. Although defeated, the team, presenting fine argument, managed to win one of the three votes of the judges.

Unusual interest was shown by the men last year in debating work. From the competitors were picked two teams. One, composed of Harry Moyers, John Gehring, and Charles O'Connor, met Mass. Agricultural College, New York University, and Colby on the question, Resolved: that a complete plan of disarmament should be adopted by all nations, excepting such forces as are needed for police protection.

John Barry, John McGowan, and William Roche, making up the negative team on the same question, met and were defeated by Colby. Many interesting preparatory contests were held among the students before the final debates, and a survival-of-the-fittest process eliminated the less fit, and determined the eventual teams.

Mr. Bricker recently attended a meeting in Boston of the debating directors of the New England State Colleges, the purpose of which was to organize a league of Debate Directors and Managers who will map out a definite schedule satisfactory to all colleges concerned. At present there is no system of choosing a question of mutual interest and consequently the subjects are practically unlimited. Parker Spear, manager of the men's teams, did a great deal in making possible this conference.

This year's debating season is looked forward to with great anticipation.

Colvin Hall Has a Homelike Atmosphere

By Jenny R. Hutchinson '30

OUR new women's dormitory, named in honor of Dr. Caroline Colvin, who has served the University for many years as professor of history and government and dean of women, looks out through its ready-made setting of spruce and maples upon Balentine and the setting sun. Its small, one-step-high porch, colonial pillars, and green painted door spell welcome in a modern way. If anyone had said even as short a time ago as one year, that there were to be pale green painted doors on our campus buildings, we would have thought "why, how out of place", but here they are on Colvin Hall and an interesting, modern touch they prove to be. It may be these very doors, and perhaps the lantern porch lights, too, which are responsible for the homelike atmosphere which lingers around in place of the cold, forbidding air of most dormitory entrances.

Colvin Hall, which is of modern colonial architecture, has two entrances; a side entrance faces the residence of Mr. Morton; some day it will face another dormitory since Colvin Hall is the first of a series of three buildings to be erected in close proximity. Another entrance, the main one, faces the road which winds back of Balentine. Over this entrance is a tall, arched window with iron balcony, and over this—in the gable—is a rose window. On the north-eastern side of the building is the new home economics building, not yet completed.

The interior does not fail to fulfill, in warmth and homelike qualities, the promise of the exterior. Just beyond the entrance hall and to the right is the matron's suite. Something which predicts a charming interior is the sight, as one goes past the doorway of the matron's living room, of a tall colonial secretary and a most inviting tapestry wing chair, and, as one ventures closer, the glimpse of the golden brown tone of maple bedroom pieces. On the opposite side of the hall is a suite consisting of a study room and two bedrooms which will be occupied by four students. Beyond this, there is no long length of monotonous corridor to traverse because almost immediately it opens, on the right, by means of wide arched doorways, to the formal reception room and to the wide reception hall which opens from the side entrance vestibule.

On the left, also entered by wide arched doorways, is the large living room and to the left of this, the sun parlor. The living room with its fireplace at one end, the reception room, and the hall are furnished with beautiful persian patterned rugs and furniture in colonial style—gateleg and butterfly tables, fan and comb back Windsor chairs, and ladderbacks with rush seats—combined in complete harmony with modern easy chairs, davenports and love seats of light and graceful lines.

The furniture in these rooms is of brown mahogany and the upholstery of the cushioned pieces, mostly tapestry, blends perfectly. The Chippendale mirror and banjo clock in the reception hall, and the Cogswell chair and Sheraton console table in the living room are worthy of mention, not only because they are pleasing in themselves but also because they contribute enormously to the homelike atmosphere of the dormitory.

The sun parlor, two steps lower than the living room and entered by French doors, has colonial reproductions in beautiful maple wood and harmonizing modern pieces upholstered in tapestry in which soft browns and orange predominate. One especially interesting piece here is a davenport with a butterfly arm at each end which can be dropped or raised, taking the place of an end table. The floor, as in the vestibules and bathrooms, resembles inlaid linoleum and is mottled green laid off in large blocks with a very narrow gold line.

At the lower right of the living room and connected by French doors is the attractive dining room. The square tables which seat eight are supplied with fan back Windsor chairs in maple. Even the dishes are different, being of solid color—an old rose, with a hint of yellow in it. All the window draperies downstairs are of cream net, except in the dining room where gayly flowered cretonne is at the windows. All walls

Changes In Faculty

President Boardman has announced appointments of twenty-three new faculty members and resignations of fourteen (1929-30) members, as compared with twenty-five appointments and twenty resignations last year. Appointments include two associate professors, six assistant professors, and fifteen instructors, while among the resignations are six assistant professors and eight instructors.

Members of the faculty who failed to return are: Lieutenant Richard G. McKee, Professor of Military Science and Tactics; assistant professors: Evelyn Buchan, Economics and sociology; Irving T. Richards, English; Gilbert I. Stewart, Forestry; Alice L. Hart, Education; Herbert S. Robinson, English; William H. H. Newell, Civil Engineering; instructors: Frederick G. Fassett, Jr., English; Gordon M. Ferguson, History; Grant G. Lavery, Mathematics; Elsie F. Brickett, English; Laura G. Pedder, English; Elizabeth L. Sawyer, Zoology; Elford S. Durgan, Chemistry; Frank D. Donchez (Sergeant), Military Science and Tactics; Graduate Fellow; Carl H. Wedell, Psychology; Karl D. Larsen, Physics; Millard G. Moore, Chemistry.

The following comprise the appointees with a brief statement concerning each:

Capt. Andrew J. McFarland, Military Science and Tactics.

Associate Professors—Stanley R. Ashby, B.A., U. of Texas, 1904, B.A., Oxford, 1907; M.A., Oxford, 1923; M.A., Harvard, 1925; Ph.D., 1927, English. Ernest Jackman, B.A., Colby, 1912, M.A., Columbia, 1924, School of Education.

Assistant Professors—Robert I. Ashman, B.A., Cornell, 1913; Master of Forestry, Yale, 1929, Forestry. R. Crawford, B.A., Culver-Stockton College, 1924; M.A., State U. of Iowa, 1929. ## Lucius H. Merrill '83 Is Made Professor Emeritus

By Charles A. Snow '20

LUCIUS H. MERRILL
Professor Emeritus

Professor Lucius Herbert Merrill, B.S.; Sc.D., a graduate of the University in the class of 1883, and a member of the faculty in various capacities since 1887, signified his wish to retire and was made Professor Emeritus effective September 1.

Professor Merrill was born at Auburn, Maine, Oct. 1, 1857. He received the degree of Bachelor of Science at the University in 1883 and of Doctor of Science in 1908.

His first teaching experience was obtained in the High School at Auburn where he served for two years as teacher of chemistry.

In 1885 he went to the National museum at Washington where for two years he served as assistant curator in the Department of Lithology and Physical Geography. During this time, in collaboration with Professor Drew, he procured and sent to the University museum a very large part of the mineral specimens which were on display in Coburn Hall. Many of these specimens were collected by Professor Merrill and his brother and many were obtained by them from the National museum. For years Professor Merrill has been building up the University collection of minerals which is now one of the best in the State. If for no other reason he were known, this collection in the museum would identify Professor Merrill with the University for all time.

Professor Merrill resigned his position in Washington in 1887 and came to the Experiment Station, then in Fernald Hall. Since that time he has been daily at his post except for six months spent in experimentation in Germany. With Dr. W. H. Jordan '75 as director of the Station, Mrs. J. H. Waite, now of Orono as secretary and Dr. J. M. Bartlett as chemist, he served as analytical chemist until 1896. Of this group Dr. Bartlett alone remains on duty.

During his years of service in the Experiment Station Professor Merrill spent much time and study in the chemistry of digestion and in testing for the relative digestibility of food products. In 1898 he spent six months in Germany where he worked on experiments in food analysis.

In 1888 he began his long service as a biological chemist of the College of Agriculture first as instructor and later as professor of biological chemistry and still later as professor of agricultural chemistry. During the latter part of his service he also served as professor of geology and of economic geology.

In 1929 he was appointed state geologist by Governor Gardiner. This important position now requires much of his time. He travels widely about the State for the purpose of investigating its geological resources and furnishing information on matters of geology and mineralogy.

Prof. Merrill resides with his family at his fine home in Orono.

He is a member of the Society of Agricultural Chemists, Society for the Promotion of Agricultural Science, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Society of Biological Chemists, the American Chemical Society, the Maine Mineralogical Society and the Bangor Historical Society. He is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Zeta, Alpha Chi Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi.

During all the years of its existence no man has served the University of Maine with more patience, faith, love and skill than has Lucius Herbert Merrill.

Joe McCusker's Prize Song Is Making Big Hit

If comments mean anything then Joe McCusker's new song, "The University of Maine Band" is a real hit.

Joe has answered three requests to sing it, first at the Commencement Alumni banquet last June, next at the York County alumni meeting and third at the dinner given in honor of Rudy Vallee at Portland and in each instance the audience has been enthusiastic about it.

It apparently is going to take a place along with the Stein Song and For Maine, the football song.

George O. Hamlin, 1900, of New York City has advanced funds to finance publishing the song. Mr. Hamlin gave the money offered for prizes in the Song Contest conducted last year.

Not only is the music catchy and the range such that it can be sung easily but the words have a deep meaning, paying a tribute to our band and especially the war service it rendered.

At Joe's suggestion a brief history of the band was included so that for those who wish more than what the words tell, they can read the story.

The cover is specially designed. A characteristic picture of Joe, "ready to go" is prominent and again at Joe's suggestion there is a picture of Bananas.

Association Owns Copyright

After our recent Stein Song episode, a question frequently asked is "Who owns the copyright?" Joe has signed over all rights to this song which bears both a United States and international copyright.

All net income from the song is to be turned over to the Memorial Fund towards the Gymnasium. This too is at Joe's request.

Every alumnus should have at least one copy of the song. Better buy two or more, first because it is an excellently good song and second because the income is to be devoted for our greatest alumni project. Order from the General Alumni Association. Price, twenty-five cents per copy, postage paid.

It is said that one of the University of Michigan's great benefactors, an alumnus who gave the institution many million dollars for buildings and endowment, did not visit the campus to see the beautiful buildings, but preferred to accept the architects' prospectives as the picture.

PAULINE HALL, '30

1930 Class Personals to Be Written by Secretary

In one respect at least if in no other to date, the class of 1930 has set a precedent for others to follow and gives preceding classes an idea to think about. The personals about members of the class are to be written by "one of their own family."

Pauline Hall, secretary of the class is definitely charged with the duty of assembling, writing and forwarding personals concerning her classmates. In undertaking this assignment, which is no mean one, she is signing up a few lieutenants to share the load.

It is expected that because of the more intimate knowledge of the members of the class, that the personalia could be written in a different style than by one not a part of the organization.

comes into existence. Many believe this school has great possibilities. In a later number, if possible, an article will be published setting forth the plans for its future development.

New Buildings and Improvements

During the summer there was much work done in the form of upkeep and repairs, and in new building.

Colvin Hall was completed and rapid progress was made on the new home

Mitchell, 1900, Comments on Coolidge Educational News

Fred C. Mitchell, 1900, principal of Lynn (Mass.) Classical High School, by invitation of the Boston Post commented in the Sunday edition, September 7, in editorial form on ex-President Calvin Coolidge's views on education which had appeared a few days earlier. The article occupied double column position on the front page.

One brief sentence sums up Mr. Mitchell's comments. It read: "Those four short paragraphs (written by Mr. Coolidge) contain a great deal of truth and sound educational philosophy with which I most heartily agree." He then discussed in some detail the points emphasized by Mr. Coolidge.

Heads Druggists

Lewis O. Barrows '16 of Newport, Maine, one of the most widely known druggists in the eastern section of the state, was elected president of the Maine Pharmaceutical Association at the 63rd annual meeting of that organization in June. Roy M. Hescok, ex-1899, of Monson, Maine, was elected first vice-president, and Leon H. Marr, '06, of Farmington, Maine, was elected second vice-president.

economics building, both on the south end of the campus. A new experimental poultry plant was built on the back "farm road".

Oak and Hannibal Hamlin Halls, both boys' dormitories, were thoroughly overhauled and much new furniture placed in the rooms to give the freshmen a good start. Several thousand dollars was spent in making alterations and installing new equipment in the heating plant. Some of the other buildings were "brought up to date".

The straightaway section of the running track was widened a few feet to make six lanes possible. This involved lengthening the ends somewhat so that now Maine has an excellent track. Then too, a section of a new field directly north of Alumni Field was made level, which together with more field to be handled similarly later will be used for a baseball diamond.

These are only some of the high lights incidental to the summer's activity on the campus and the opening of another college year.

New Manager of The University Book Store

Mr. Frank L. Manwaring, who has acted as Manager of the University Book Store for twenty years, is retiring from his present position, being succeeded by Mr. H. L. Bruce, the new Manager. Long and devoted indeed has been the service of Mr. Manwaring in serving and aiding many Maine classes. It is with great regret that the student body views his retirement, for his untiring application to the wants and needs of the students and faculty has been without reproach and has endeared him to their hearts. Mr. Bruce, who has been with the General Ice Cream Corporation for eight years, will take up the management of the Book Store where Mr. Manwaring leaves off.

The Book Store holds a romantic place in the hearts of all Maine men and women. It is one of the best known buildings on the campus. How often one hears the well-known phrase, "Meet you at the Book Store." The management has aimed at, and succeeded, in continually improving both the service and the equipment of the store. It has become an institution that no alumnus will forget.

Gifts amounting to over $1,500,000 were made to Cornell during the last college year.

"Frank" Barrows '31 Named Assistant Alumnus Editor

Franklyn F. Barrows '31 of West Hartford, Conn. has been appointed assistant editor of The Alumnus for the current college year to relieve Alumni Secretary C. E. Crossland '17 of certain phases of the work and permit him to devote time to a new activity which will be announced in the November Alumnus.

Frank is described in the 1931 Prism, of which he was editor-in-chief, as being "A scholar, explorer, writer and gentleman." He certainly demonstrated beyond doubt his ability as an editor.

He has been active in track, the Contributor's Club, a member of the Rifle Team, of which he was captain last year, and while acting as president of his fraternity house, represented it on the Interfraternity Council. He was recently elected president of Kappa Gamma Phi, honorary journalistic fraternity.

As assistant editor he will be responsible for writing "On the Campus", Athletics, short news items, and for the detail involved in the mechanical processes incident to publishing the magazine.

C.E.C.

President K M Sills of Bowdoin College announced at Commencement the receipt of a gift of $30,000 the income from which is to be used for scholarships.

Fred Davis '01 Appointed Class Secretary

Fred M. Davis of Chicago has accepted the secretaryship of his class which includes the general supervision of the reunion of the class of 1901 which is to be held next June.

For some time there has been a vacancy in this office because the person who last filled that office is listed as "lost." Mr. Davis has accepted the secretaryship until the reunion of the class when an election of officers will be held.

Under the Dix plan the class of 1901 is scheduled to reunite in 1932 but because of a peculiar combination of circumstances it seems best in the opinion of several 1901 members to hold the reunion on the occasion of their "thirtieth."

Professor Peterson Director of 1931 Summer Session

A recent announcement from President Boardman states that Professor Roy M. Peterson, head of the department of Spanish and Italian since 1918, will act as director of the Summer Session next year. Prof. Peterson has had contact with summer session work, for he made preparations for this summer's session, one of the most successful in the history of the University. He will succeed Irving H. Richards, this year's director.

Be An Active Contributing Alumnus

Every undergraduate of the University of Maine should become an active contributing alumnus. That to me is so obvious that it is difficult to find grounds for discussion. I should not be here though if there were nothing to talk about. Were it possible for me to bring to you as much pleasure and general satisfaction as contact with you brings to me, the next few minutes would indeed be well spent. And if I could give to you just a fairly complete understanding of the real satisfaction and the outstanding achievements which come to men and women who meet obligations in the spirit that makes them privileges, you would listen not only with respectful courtesy characteristic of Maine men and women, but also with intense interest. It would be obvious to you too that every Maine alumnus should be an active contributing alumnus.

You know that we do things very largely to satisfy needs. Possibly you do not realize that the recognition of needs is a very great factor in determining how much we do and how important it is.

Maine men and women have the characters, intelligence and the will to work, and they can if they will do much that is important. Let us then consider very briefly one of the very important needs which you will have after you become alumni. I shall express it as I recently heard it expressed by Dr. Harry A. Overstreet, Head of the Department of Philosophy at Columbia, "You will need morale—a sense of joy, of obligation, and of fellowship in the common good."

While in college it is easy to satisfy this need, because of the close associations and the common interests. It is not as easy though during the first few years out of college, because of new environments, greatly diversified interests of associates and of the apparent unimportance of the work. In general you are important in this new environment only to yourself. Maintaining morale under such conditions is difficult but it can be done and one of the most effective helps is to take your college with you.

Surely no one will question that there will be greater joy and fellowship for the men and women who maintain after graduation in so far as possible contacts with the University and associations with her sons and daughters.

Looking Back to Alumni Day

More classes held special programs in connection with their reunions than did the returning groups a year ago.

1880 men were the guests of the University for luncheon at Lucerne-in-Maine. 1885 went to Searsport Inn. 1890 held a Sunday noon luncheon at Lucerne. The 1892 men held a class luncheon Friday evening at the Penobscot Exchange in Bangor. 1900 took luncheon together Saturday noon at the Penobscot Valley Country Club. 1905 enjoyed a Sunday get together at Parker's Lobster Pound while 1910 and 1920 each had a special party planned.

Officers Elected

Reports of elections of officers have been received from most of the classes. 1885—J. N. Hart, Orono, continued as secretary.

1890—Allen C. Hardison, Santa Paula, Calif., President; Fred G. Quincy, Bangor, Vice-Pres.; Edward H. Kelley, Orono, Sec.-Treas.

1900—Guy A. Hersey, Bangor, President; H. F. Drummond, Bangor, Sec.-Treas.

1905—A. W. Sprague, Bangor, President; H. A. Hilton, Bangor, Vice-Pres.; R. R. Drummond, Orono, Sec.; Mary Williams, Winterport, Treas.; G. S. Williams, Augusta, H. A. Thomas, Camden, J. H. McClure, Bangor, Committee Members.

1908—Raymond Fellows, Bangor, President; J. A. Gannett, Orono, Sec.-Treas.; Warren Trask, Melrose Highlands, Mass. To select own Committee.

1910—A. S. Moore, Brockton, Mass.; President; C. A. Hall, Bangor, Vice-Pres.; H. W. Wright, Bangor, Sec.-Treas.; Grover T. Corning, Swampscott, Mass., E. W. Lamb, Brookline, Mass., A. E. Libby, So. Portland, Committee Members.

1911—G. D. Bearce, Dalhousie, N. B., President; Harry Homans, Bangor, Vice-Pres.; B. O. Warren, New York City, Sec.-Treas.

1920—A. B. Lingley, Providence, R. I., President; Verne Beverly, Presque Isle, Vice-Pres.; W. W. Chadbourne, Orono, Secretary; J. Eleanor Jackson, Stoneham, Mass., Treas.; G. A. Potter, New York City, F. H. Friend, Skowhegan, Stewart F. Walker, Lancaster, Pa., Committee Members.

1928—George F. Dudley, Portland, President; Andre Cushing, Bangor, Vice-Pres.; Frances Fuller Giddings, Augusta, Sec.; Horace E. Bell, Orono, Treas.; Virginia Smith, Bangor, Charles Stone, Fort Fairfield, Frederick Chandler, Orono, Committee Members.

Cyrus K. Curtis, recently elected trustee of Bowdoin, gave that college an unrestricted gift of $500,000. The gift was announced during the summer.

Harold M. Pierce '19 Is New Finance Committee Member

1929 Women Make Record

Harold M. (Pete) Pierce, class of 1919, of Bangor has been appointed by President R. H. Fogler as a member of the Finance Committee to serve for three years. Maurice D. Jones, 1912, of Orono serving his third year, is chairman and Theron A. (Spike) Sparrow, 1924, also of Orono is serving his second year.

During his college course Pierce was prominent in the R.O.T.C. being elected to Scabbard and Blade, was active in the Christian Association and in the Glee Club. Since graduation he has made an excellent record as representative of Harris & Forbes Company which position he recently resigned to manage the Bass Estate. He has shown much interest in the General Alumni Association by supporting various activities and assisted in staging the last reunion of his class.

Alumnae Equal Alumni

If there have been any misgivings as to whether our alumnae have been carrying their share of the load, the data resulting from several analyses of the 1929-30 dues payments should remove the doubt, for the women practically equalled the men on a percentage basis, scarcely more than one percent separating them.

To the 1929 girls should go a considerable part of the credit for fine mark made by that class for 39, exactly half of all the women of the class paid dues. This figure of 50 percent surpasses the mark of 45 percent made two years ago. The 1927 girls were not far behind with a figure of 45 percent.

But credit should be given to those faithful women back in the earlier days the classes of 1887 and 1896. In each case there was but one woman in the class. Both paid dues—thus rating the female side of their class as 100 percent. 1905 women scored 80 percent.

1882 Heads

Taking classes as a whole 1882 was well in the lead with an 85 percent payment. This class has been consistently outstanding. 1894 was second with 64 percent and 1885 third with 63 percent.

In passing out bouquets, recognition should certainly be given to 1929 with 38 percent of all grads and non-grads paying their first year out. They just barely missed the 39 percent mark made by 1927 their first year. Incidentally 1927 ranked among the leaders of the large size classes being second only to 1929.

Proctors Freshman Dormitories

Along with the establishment of freshman dormitories has come the appointment of fifteen proctors who will take care of student affairs in Hannibal Hamlin and Oak Halls. Charles O'Connor has been appointed head proctor, aided by nine seniors and five juniors, all chosen for their leadership and ability to handle college men. It is hoped that this new system will create a more unified freshman class and, in even this short time, results seem to indicate that the plan will be successful. Following is a list of Proctors by classes:

CHARLES E. O'CONNOR, '31

Charles E. O'Connor, Head Proctor	1931
Theodore R. Bickmore	1931
Thornton F. Conant	1931
Darius D. Joy	1931
Merrill E. Kilby	1931
Donald F. Marshall	1931
Samuel Sezak	1931
Arvo A. Solander	1931
Parker H. Spear	1931
William C. Wells	1931
Lovell C. Chase	1932
Everett A. Gunning	1932
James M. Sims	1932
Asa H. Stanley, Jr.	1932
Herbert I. Trask	1932

New Record Total

For the third consecutive year a new record was made, 1970 having paid dues, an increase of 63 over the preceding year.

The goal for this year is over 2100, being determined by the budget adopted by the General Alumni Association at the annual meeting last June.

"Answer the first call" is the urge of the committee.

Follow the lead of 16 of the class of 1930 who have already done their part. Oh yes, and of E. M. Blanding '76 of Bangor who again this year sent his check soon after the new fiscal year opened.

Adoption of Pension Plan Recommended by Committee

Following is the report of the faculty retirement committee as submitted to the General Alumni Association.

This Committee, authorized by vote at the annual meeting of the General Alumni Association meeting in June, 1929, and appointed after conference with the president of the University, recommends the adoption by the University of a definite insurance and pension plan.

The important reasons for this recommendation are:

1. It will insure to the individuals affected protection against economic risks for dependents and for their own old age.
  - a. Because of this protection morale will be improved and more effective service rendered.
2. It will make any position in the University a more desirable one. This assumes that the University will contribute toward the protection.
3. As soon as the older employees reach pension age, and these cases are adjusted the obligation of the University for pensions will be definitely established and subject to the same effective budgeting and control as all other normal expenditures.

This is submitted only as a report of progress and we suggest that the committee be continued to make further study and submit further report.

Tri Delt's Have New Home

Alpha Kappa chapter members and alumnae of Delta Delta Delta have at their disposal the first sorority house, as such, on any college campus in the state of Maine. The house was formerly owned by Professor W. W. "Duffy" Chadbourne '20, and is located on College Avenue. It has on the first floor a sun parlor, living room, dining room, kitchen, and pantry, and on the second floor a matron's room and four studies. The third floor has been converted into a large sleeping room.

Mrs. E. L. Hesse of Orono has been selected from a long list of applications as most capable of acting in the capacity of house mother.

Football Ticket Regulations

Each fall the difficulty presents itself of getting in touch with Alumni who wish tickets for the various football games of the season.

The Alumni Office wishes to be of the greatest assistance to all Alumni in purchasing football tickets. Applications have been sent to all Alumni in New England, New York, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania. Should any other Alumnus wish to purchase a ticket for any game, the Office, upon receipt of a letter or card, will immediately send out an application form, to be filled out and returned.

The following are the regulations concerning the purchasing of tickets:

1. Applications for each game close eight days before date the game is scheduled.
2. Orders will be acknowledged promptly as received.
3. Tickets for each game will be mailed one week prior to date of game.
4. No order will be honored unless accompanied by check, money order, or cash.
5. Applications will not be accepted over the telephone.
6. Applications for tickets will be filled in the order received, giving preference to Alumni who pay dues regularly and to the Memorial Fund subscribers.
7. Applicants wishing to sit together should pin applications together. If such applications fall into different groups in order of preference, the tickets will be allotted from the lowest group.
8. No tickets will be redeemed within 48 hours of a game.
9. No change of seats can be made after the original allotment.
10. Do not include payment for Alumni dues in check for tickets. Send a separate check.
11. After the closing date for receiving applications for each game, unsold tickets will be offered for sale to the general public.

Be An Active Contributing Alumnus

And no one will question the fact that there are many obligations which the undergraduates have to the University, nor that there is much greater satisfaction when these obligations are met in full than when they are avoided.

I wonder if you realize that you will have greater obligations to the University as alumni than when undergraduates. You are obliged in many ways—first to yourself to make good, to achieve and to be a leader, for you have had many advantages. To almost everyone there is a heavy obligation to parents for sacrifices which they have made. You are very definitely obligated to those Maine

Maine Night, Oct. 31

Maine Night, held the evening before the last home football game, will take place this year October 31 in the Field House.

A committee of eight alumni, faculty and students has been appointed to prepare the program and make arrangements. Prof. L. S. Corbett, Dean of men, is chairman. The other members are E. H. Kelley '90, of the treasury department; Prof. Harry Watson '20, Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the University; Theodore S. Curtis '23, recently appointed faculty manager of athletics; Charles E. Crossland '17, Alumni Secretary; Erma Barton '31, president of the All-Maine Women; Donald Marshall, president of the Athletic Association; and Linwood Cheney, president of the Senior Skulls.

The Alumni Service Award will be made for the first time this year. The plan for selecting an alumnus who has rendered outstanding service especially to local or General Alumni Association, or both, and to the University, was announced in the June number of The Alumnus.

It is hoped that the November Alumnus will be mailed in time to bring the details of plans for Maine Night to all those within a few hours mail service of the campus.

men, and women who have gone before you and to those who will come after you. The obligations to those who have gone before is to make bigger contributions than have they to the arts, the sciences, the professions and to commercial life, because you have benefited much from what they have already accomplished. The obligations to those who will follow is to set high standards in order that there may be continuous advance. Possibly the most important obligations are to the University; a spiritual obligation because you are indebted for participation in her ideals and traditions, and a very material obligation for you have only partially paid your way. Much more than you have contributed to your education has come from other sources—mostly from the state. This is something you should never forget.

Need I say more to make it obvious that every University of Maine alumnus shall be active in alumni affairs and be contributor to alumni activities as generously as circumstances will permit. To do so will mean high morale—and a greater sense of joy, of obligation and of fellowship in the common good.

1931 Class Reunions

Right now is a good time to take a look ahead to the classes scheduled to reunite in 1931. They are as follows:

1881	1901	1923
1886	1904	1924
1887	1906	1925

The Dix plan called for 1885 to meet but they held their reunion last June under the old five year plan. 1901 sentiment seems to favor its thirtieth reunion next June rather than in 1932 and meet under the Dix plan. Likewise 1905 is supposed to meet, but observed their 25th this year and is unlikely to assemble next. 1907 is supposed to be a part of the 1904-7 group but in view of their 25th anniversary in 1932 they may prefer not to attempt even an informal meeting next June. 1911 held a small meeting this year preparatory to a real reunion to observe their 20th in 1931.

It will be up to 1923, 1924, 1925, and 1926 together with 1929 to furnish the bulk of the registration, color and activity. So start the planning machinery in motion early this fall.

Presenting Three Mayors

Benjamin W. Blanchard, '04L, is serving his first term as mayor of Bangor. Ever since graduation from the Law School Mr. Blanchard has been an attorney at law, in business alone. He has always been active in local and state politics, a devoted member of the Republican party. In 1912 he was a Presidential Elector. He has served both branches of the Bangor City Government, has been city solicitor and for eight years, ending in 1920 was judge of the Bangor Municipal Court. He is a member of the I.O.O.F., the Tarratine Club, Condukeag Canoe and Country Club. He is a graduate of Bangor High School, married a Bangor girl and has one son, Willis. Gardening is his hobby.

Lloyd H. McFadden, '15, mayor of Auburn. He took the civil engineering course, was a member of Theta Chi fraternity and active in the Glee Club. For fifteen years Mr. McFadden has been associated with the Androscoggin Foundry Company formerly as superintendent, now as partner. Born in Auburn, he attended the local high school and later Hebron Academy. He was a member of the School Board 1915-17 and a City Councilor 1926-30. He is a member of the several Masonic orders, the Odd Fellows, Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club of which he is past president. Mr. McFadden was married to Estelle M. Sharp in Columbus, Ohio in 1915. They have one son, Lloyd.

Stephen R. Bussell, '20, mayor of Old Town, a partner in the lumbering business of S. J. Bussell & Son for the past ten years. In college he specialized in economics, was unusually active being manager of baseball, on the Prism Board, Treasurer of the "M" Club, member of class baseball, basketball and football teams and other class offices, a Junior Masque and Senior Skull. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi. Since graduation he has been equally active being a member of The Elks, Knights of Pythias, American Legion of which he has been commander, the several Masonic orders, Rotary Club of which he is president. For five years he has been chairman of the School Board; in 1925 he was an alderman and began his term as mayor this year.

Editorials

"A duty to the class"

In this day when so much is being said about the decadence of the college class spirit, it is refreshing to have a prominent, successful and busy alumnus write—"I may have a duty to the class"—and therefore accepted the position of class secretary.

It becomes increasingly evident that no small share of the real progress which the General Alumni Association makes rests upon the classes. It may seem strange and somewhat puzzling that some classes are live, active groups and others quite the opposite.

Some alumni who have been out a few years lament over the changed conditions, the passing of the "paddle stick" and the real class scraps, feeling that they were important factors in building class spirit. If they were, why is it that classes back fifteen or more years, when there was a "reign of terror," may from most angles be placed in the inactive category?

There is an important factor which, no matter what conditions prevailed during the college career, is fundamental—namely, outstanding leaders whose interest in the University and class causes them to give their time and often money in promoting alumni activities, for in so doing they are in a very important manner rendering a service to the University. Paddles or no paddles—it is active, interested leadership which makes for successful class reunions and the quickening of response to the support of all alumni projects.

The passing of the razoo and other similar events is by no means peculiar to Maine. It apparently is more or less general. Students are not interested in that form of class spirit. It is not surprising that there should be as radical changes in student ideas as in the ideas which have brought about extremes in changes in our everyday life and which most of us are prone to approve.

Class meetings are rare on the campus. The 1930 class met only once during their senior year just before graduation. This is typical of others. Everything is done by committees. The class dues are put on the term bills. An official of the University treasury department virtually controls the finances.

Last year a committee of nine undergraduates and two faculty members made a study of "Class warfare and college spirit" at Rutgers and at a limited number of other institutions. Some of the points already mentioned were included in their report. That college loyalty depends upon reaching emotions deeper and more permanent than those which physical combat involves, and further that there is no proof as to decrease of lack of college spirit but rather it is expressed in different forms, were two of the conclusions reached.

An analysis of the recent graduating classes seems to support the conclusions of the Rutgers committee. From the angle of supporting alumni activities financially and otherwise they compare favorably with classes which preceded them:

Three points are emphasized by this same committee as methods of fostering class spirit under present day conditions: (1) Having all freshmen live in dormitories entirely set aside for their use, (2) having a common eating-place for all freshmen which they will be required to patronize and (3) have a rushing system which defers affiliation with any fraternity until the class spirit has been thoroughly built up.

At Maine beginning this year, we have these points quite well taken care of. If the development of better class spirit hinges to any extent on these recommendations then we may look forward in future years to even better class spirit than in the past. But being a conservative, we wonder if these future generations will be any better than our good classes of today? The answer seems to be, only if the leadership and interest are greater.

Whether you sing or not

Maine has a new song "The University of Maine Band" which may well bring added fame to the University. It is by no means just another song. It is far more than that. Its swing and words are impressive and inspiring. The tune is decidedly different from any of our other songs. For years we have justly been proud of the quality of our bands. The words of the song reflect that pride.

Every alumnus out of a sense of interest and pride whether he sings or not, should have a copy of this song which should take a place along with our other foremost songs.

• • With The Local Associations • •

New York Alumni Notes

The New York Association held the first of its bi-weekly luncheons with a turnout of 25.

Luncheons are held at 12:30 at the Fraternities Club, 38th Street and Madison Avenue the first and third Tuesday of each month. Visiting Alumni are always welcome. We are particularly anxious to have the 1930 graduates with us.

Plans are being made for the next luncheon to be held September 23rd and at that time final arrangements will be made for an informal party to be held at the Fraternities Club on the evening of September 26th.

We expect to have a large delegation of alumni in the Metropolitan area at the Yale game on the afternoon of the 27th. Alumni from Washington, Philadelphia, Schenectady, and other points who plan to take in the Yale game are cordially invited to take in our informal party on the 26th and go along with us to New Haven. Arrangements have been made to take care of any out-of-town guests at the Fraternities Club at a nominal cost.

We expect to have the headquarters of the local association at the Fraternities Club and definite announcement will be made concerning the arrangements.

George A. Potter '20,
Secretary

Western New York Socialize

According to reports the alumni of Western New York held a very successful meeting May 6 at the Buffalo Consistory.

After supper and a brief address, the evening was devoted to dancing and card playing. Over 30 present.

York County Alumni Hold Summer Outing

York County alumni concluded an active year by holding a real party at "Hamp" Bryant's new summer hotel "The Atlantis" at Kennebunk Beach. Some 50 or more attended.

The afternoon was devoted to golf and bridge; a banquet and entertainment was part of the program. Joe McCusker came up on special invitation to sing his new songs and lead the singing of the group.

Hinckley '13 Elected President of Western Penn. Alumni

One feature of the program of Western Penn. alumni which is observed annually is the picnic held this summer at the home of John W. Brown '99 in Wilksburg, Pa. Thirty-five attended.

Rain as usual—but it did not prevent ball game and horse shoes altho those present had to take to cover for their baked beans.

H. W. Hinckley '13 of Rennerdale, Pa., was elected president, W. H. Anderson '20 of Wilksburg, Pa., vice-president, Clifford P. Larrabee '19, secretary-treasurer and F. S. Stickney '22, chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Larrabee had previously served as secretary of the Washington Alumni Association. Sixty dollars was collected for two scholarships.

Northeastern New York

For those who could not possibly get back for the real thing, the Northeastern New Yorkers had an Alumni day of their own. Although lacking the atmosphere of the Maine campus, the Wampum Club served the purpose well. Twenty-three loyal Maine people enjoyed the activities and the dinner. It's well that the following day was a day of rest.

Philadelphia Alumni Have Annual Picnic

The Philadelphia Alumni Association again went over the top at its annual picnic on Saturday, June 28th. On this date Mr. J. A. "Shy" Hayes, Maine '00, and Mrs. Annie Merrill Hayes, Bates '02, invited the alumni of the two institutions to their home in Upland, Pennsylvania, for a combined picnic. This was the eighth annual picnic for the Maine alumni and, we believe, the first for Bates.

All conditions were favorable to make this the largest and best picnic in our history. The weather was fair, the temperature cool and refreshing, following a period of hot, humid weather such as is characteristic of Philadelphia summers.

The total attendance, including alumni of the two institutions, their families and friends, was seventy. The main feature of the picnic as usual was the baked bean dinner. This was held on tables spread under the trees on the spacious

I have neglected writing for some time but thought I'd better not put it off any longer.

I meant to report on our meeting last March but thought that one of the others was taking care of it until too late. You recall that Mr. Weeks and myself agreed to work up some interest among the alumni by making personal calls on each one. This we did and on March 25, seventeen of us gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and spent a very enjoyable evening.

This gathering was the first opportunity for Maine folks to get acquainted and we sure did. We left in good spirits thanks to the hospitality of our host and hostess.

On June 17 through the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Walker we gathered at the Woman's City Club for a dinner followed with an evening of bridge. Ten of us were present and again we spent a sociable evening. Two new faces were present in Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Poor. It was rather late in the season for such a meeting but regardless we considered it successful. When fall rolls around we expect to have a nucleus of interested alumni. I'm sure that in another year's time we'll be ready to organize.

We have lost an enthusiastic worker in Mr. Weeks who recently moved to Toledo with his family. I am inclosing his new address along with some others.

lawn of the Hayes' homestead. Preceding the dinner there was a baseball game played with an in-door baseball on the lawn, and the different members of the party engaged in various sports, such as: tennis, quoits, swimming in a nearby creek, croquet and golf. Following the dinner there was an exhibition of esthetic dancing by Miss Mary Betty Belcher, daughter of Wallace E. Belcher of the class of 1899, and of "tumbling" by Mr. Richard D. Case, son of A. D. Case of the class of 1904. This in turn was followed by dancing in a cottage located on the grounds.

Bates was honored by having present the Rev. A. P. Houghtaling, a graduate of Cobb Divinity School in the class of 1873, who is the oldest living graduate from that school. Maine was honored in having present Mr. W. D. "Pep" Towner of the class of 1914, former alumni secretary and at present working in Philadelphia on a temporary assignment.

ATHLETICS

Varsity Presents Promising Outlook

With a heavy line, a shitty backfield, and a comparatively large group of men to act as substitutes, Coach Brice has a more promising outlook ahead of him than at this time last year. Eleven letter men returned this Fall for early practice, and, at the present time, the squad numbers approximately forty-five men. Among the lettermen are: Captain Hank Horne, Fat Davis, Jack Elliot, Les Fickett, Charlie Gowans, Art Lufkin, Ray Smith, and Hubie Tracy in the line with Walt Riley, Sims, and Jackie Moran working out for the backfield.

Cliff Curtis, a senior, has come to the front in the secondary defense with a burst of speed that places him on a par with all contenders for right half. He will see plenty of action before the season closes, as he is a strong headsup runner.

Keen competition is being displayed in the fullback position, with Munie Romansky competing against Newt Churchill for honors. Romansky is one of the stars of last year's yearling team, and is the opposite of Churchill, being fast and shifty, while the latter is a hard running line smasher.

Freshmen Have Much Green Material

The class of 1934 is producing a large group of men who, although untrained in athletic events, are manifesting a real desire to learn. Conditions for the freshmen are ideal this year, with most of the men living in the Dorms. This situation is conducive of a spirit of cooperation and class spirit hitherto unknown in the entering class.

Coach Jones had his hands full the first day of practice when sixty-eight men reported for the squad. Although his charges are less experienced than last year's men, he still has hopes of whipping into shape a line and backfield that will withstand the charges of its opponents throughout the season.

Coach Jenkins reports a turnout of thirty-five men for freshman cross country. At this early date, as in the case of the frosh football squad, no certain predictions can be made concerning the season's outcome.

Five Letter Men Back for Cross Country

Although the outlook for cross country is not quite so promising as it was last year with Richardson and Lindsay running off with National honors, Coach Chester Jenkins is still optimistic. Of the nineteen men who reported for practice the first day, letter-men included. Captain Perkins, Mank, Gunning, Austin, and Brooks, together with last year's freshman Captain, Booth. With this nucleus in good condition, Maine should look forward to a battling cross-country team that will do its best to equal the illustrious record of last year's squad.

Captains and Managers of Track and Baseball

Raymo White '31 was elected Captain of Track for 1930-'31 with W. Libby '32 as Manager.

In baseball, William Wells was elected Captain for the ensuing year, and Samuel Calderwood, Manager.

George Berry '31 was elected secretary of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association last spring at the New England Track Meet. The treasurer was also from the State of Maine—John Flint of Bowdoin.

ON THE CAMPUS

Maine Outing Club Enjoys Unusually Successful Year

The Maine Outing Club has just completed an active program. Corn chowder parties, steak fries, and weenie roasts have been held frequently during the year.

An informal sport togs dance started off an outing club weekend the first of February. The popularity of the evening for the last two years will probably see this an annual event.

A dual winter sports meet with Bates was held on the campus. Snowshoe dashes, and cross country and skiing races were events of the morning; and the ski jumping of the afternoon.

Lake Placid, N. Y. Intercollegiate Carnival found three Outing Club members, Cutting, Sorenson and Davis participating, M.O.C. having sent them.

Rumford Winter Carnival, one of the biggest in New England had three M.O.C. people present.

Seven representatives of M.O.C. were picked for the Maine Intercollegiate Carnival at Bates. Because of adverse weather conditions, the meet was not held.

The club has a little over $200 toward a new cabin.

A steak banquet at Eddington with the awarding of insignia and shingles rounded off a successful and eventful Outing Club year.

Sophomore Owls

The rights and privileges of the class of 1934 will be carefully watched over by the following newly-elected Sophomore Owls:

Harry E. Booth, Lewiston; Samuel H. Calderwood, Roxbury, Mass.; Donald McKiniry, Portland; Herbert Lewis, Wollaston, Mass.; Swen Hallgren, Portland; Gilbert Robersshaw, Union Village, R. I.; Monroe Romansky, Hartford, Conn.; Philip Havey, West Sullivan; Clark Abbott, North New Portland; Robert Pendleton, Lewiston; Carl Hand, West Medford, Mass.; John Wight, Millis, Mass.

Dartmouth was the recipient of gifts totaling $1,440,000 during the last academic year. This included $121,130 contributed by alumni through the Alumni Fund.

Rifle Team Won Last 18 Matches After Bad Start

The following is a summary of the Boys' Varsity Rifle Teams activities for the year 1929-1930:

Twenty boys tried out for the team, fifteen qualified and participated in the matches. The team fired matches with thirty-three colleges located throughout the United States. The team got off with a bad start, losing practically all of the first fifteen matches, but wound up the season in a blaze of glory by winning the balance.

The total score of the team was improved in each succeeding match.

The five boys making the highest score in the greatest number of matches received a letter.

The team fired a match, and won by one point, against the Girls' Varsity Team, Girls' Freshman Team and Boys' Freshman Team of the U. of M., giving each in the order named, the following handicap, 85, 125, 125.

A sweater was awarded to J. E. Smith, for making the total high score for the season.

C. F. Daniels Jr. has been elected Captain, and R. M. Vickery, Manager of the 1930-1931 team.

Local Associations

Connecticut Alumni Meet

The Connecticut Alumni Association held a meeting April 29 at Hartford in the rooms of the City Club. President C. C. Elwell '78 presided and Alumni Secretary C. E. Crossland spoke. There were twelve present.

Alumni Teachers to Meet in Bangor, Oct. 23

Plans are well underway for the annual meeting of the Maine Alumni teachers who attend the State Teachers Convention to be held this year in Bangor, Oct. 23-24.

A desirable room on the first floor of Bangor High School is to be used for headquarters of Maine men and women. Representatives from the University will be in the room.

The banquet, followed by a meeting, will be held at 12:30 o'clock Thursday, October 23. John T. Gyger '20, Trustee of the University, will address the meeting. The place of meeting will be announced in the final program of the Convention and also by a special letter to Maine Alumni Teachers.

C. A. Robbins, 1900, principal of Mat-tanawcook Academy at Lincoln, is president of the Association; Gladys Gould '22, home economics teacher in Brewer, is treasurer, Charles E. Crossland is secretary. Miss Estelle Beaupre '14, teacher of French in Bangor, is chairman of local arrangements committee, assisted by John P. Downing '25, recently appointed teacher in Bangor High School, and Miss Gould.

Western Maine Alumni Honor Rudy Vallee

More than 200 alumni gave Rudy Vallee an enthusiastic reception when he appeared at the meeting July 19 at the Congress Square Hotel. It was the biggest alumni meeting ever held in Portland.

Rudy demonstrated that he is not only a fine musician but also an able speaker. He related something of his experiences at Maine and at Yale and explained why he felt the Stein Song has been so popular. As a climax to the evening's program he sang several numbers much to the delight of the crowd.

A. Lincoln King '14 was toastmaster. Ralph Ingalls '12 of Portland, spoke for the Western Maine Association, and Harry E. Sutton '09 of Boston, for the General Alumni Association, both paying high tribute in a most pleasing manner to the nationally famous radio star. Lincoln R. Colcord '05, of Searsport, author of the words of the Stein Song and Adelbert W. Sprague '05, of Bangor, who picked the tune and adapted it to Maine's use, both added their praise. It was the first time the three had met as a group. "Joe" McCusker '17 was up to his usual high standard as song and cheer leader.

As a conclusion to the program, George Dudley '28, president of the Western Maine Alumni Association presented Rudy with a loving cup as emblematic of the affection with which he was held by Maine men and women.

Dr. C. A. Dickinson, head of psychology department, has accepted appointment as chairman of a committee to formulate and put into operation a ten year program of mental hygiene for the state. This appointment is made by the Maine Public Health Association.

Colvin Hall Has a Homelike Atmosphere

are painted a cheerful cream color and the woodwork a bit darker. The last room on the first floor is the serving room, modernly equipped.

An effect of spaciousness is secured on this floor by the use of the two wide doorways on each side of the corridor and by the fact that one can see from the matron's living room through the reception room, the hall, and into the dining room.

On the second and third floors the rooms are arranged in a manner which does away with the old method of living, studying, and sleeping in one room. A suite consisting of one study room and two bedrooms accommodates four girls. The study room, of generous size, has four individual desks, each with a Windsor chair. The desks are very convenient, having several drawers at one side and a book shelf at the other. They are light enough to be moved about readily but nevertheless have plenty of room for study. Then there is a comfortable-looking cushioned wicker chair.

Each of the two bedrooms connected with the study room has two single beds, an attractive bedside table, a chiffonier, and two wardrobes which are quite up-to-date, being equipped with a sliding rod and even a shoe rack. Furniture in the suites is walnut finished.

Then on each floor is a marble encased shower (of course there are built-in tubs, too), a roomy linen closet, and a telephone for communication between floors. A trunk lift from top to bottom of the building and spacious trunk racks in the attic facilitate moving in and out.

In the basement is the convenient, up-to-date kitchen, storage room, servants' rest room, and also a laundry and kitchenette for the students. This is equipped not only with laundry tubs and built-in ironing boards, but also with a sink, workbench, cupboards, and shelves so that the girls may have some place of their own to use when giving teas or entertainments at the dormitory. This room will probably be equipped with dishes, hot plates, etc. by the girls themselves.

Furnishings for the dormitory, with the exception of the dining room, were chosen by Dean of Women Achsa Bean, Professor Rena Campbell of the Home Economics Department, and Treasurer F. S. Youngs. The dining room furnishings were selected by Miss Hazel Parks, Director of Dining Halls.

Colvin Hall, which accommodates a total of forty-eight students, is occupied by some girls from each class. Seniors are in the majority, juniors are next in number, sophomores next, and the freshmen number only four. The exact number of girls allowed from each class was determined before the drawing for rooms took place.

Mrs. Delia Sullivan has become matron of Colvin Hall while her former place at Balentine has been taken by Mrs. Madeleine J. Walenta from South China, Maine.

Have you bought a real Home?

ONE of the fundamental ideas of a home is that it is a place where you can always return safe in time of trouble. If you have bought a house on a mortgage, and that mortgage is unprotected by life insurance against the loss of your income by your death, you have not yet provided a real home for your family.

Protect your mortgage now with a John Hancock policy.

Giants out of the earth

An Advertisement of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company

NO AGE but ours has seen so swift and complete an application of natural forces to the doing of daily tasks. Man's leaping knowledge . . . embodied in industrial plants and laboratories, airplanes and electric locomotives . . . has won new power and freedom. Machines are the symbols of a new relationship with nature. They are the servants of this civilization . . . helping men to extend the limits of their opportunities, to change the character of their life.

Americans have been pre-eminent in this change, for in whatever they do they seek to utilize nature to the utmost. They have taken the power out of the earth and from the running streams. They have made it turn the wheels of their industry and move their products by rail and road. They have made color and variety out of chemistry. They have spun metal in slim wires to carry their voices anywhere with the speed of light . . . and make neighbors of the scattered millions of America.

Joining homes and work places, towns and distant cities, the Bell Telephone System has furnished a new communication for this new age. Forwarding the growth of the nation, giving better and more complete service in advance of the demand, its function has become the indispensable one of furnishing the means of social and business contacts in crowded cities and scattered villages over the length and breadth of a continent.

The Bell System is constantly improving the scope, speed and accuracy of its service.

Its work of contributing to the welfare and prosperity of American life goes on with increasing purpose and pace.

Most of America's Night Airports are G-E Lighted

BESIDES developing a complete system of airport illumination—flood-lights, boundary lights, and beacons—to facilitate and safeguard night air-travel, General Electric has given to the aeronautic industry:

The G-E magneto compass, which has been found by some of America's best-known pilots to be the most accurate and reliable compass they have ever used.

The G-E supercharger, with which 70 per cent of the American engines built in 1929 were equipped, and which has made possible all American altitude records to date.

Also the G-E engine-temperature indicator, engine-speed indicator, oil immersion heater, card compass, arc-welding equipment, radio equipment, and other pioneer developments.

The G-E monogram, on products used in the air, on land, and at sea, is everywhere the mark of quality and reliability.

FOR THE HOME Millions of American homes are made happier and more comfortable by electric appliances bearing the G-E monogram. These include refrigerators, radio sets, fans, vacuum cleaners; motors for many other electrically driven household devices, Mazda lamps, wiring systems, and Sunlamps; Hotpoint electric ranges and appliances.

FOR INDUSTRY G-E research and engineering have made important contributions to every basic industry, including apparatus for generating, transmitting, and applying electricity, electric furnaces and heating devices, street, traffic, airport, and Cooper Hewitt lights, Victor X-ray apparatus, equipment for railroad and marine electrification, and for street railways.
