"You can reach me by Telephone"

"You can reach me by telephone" . . . you say it casually, but there is assurance in your voice. For you can depend on telephone service. You call a number and a voice answers—across the street or across a continent. It's so easy to do—you have been doing it for years. Use has dimmed the wonder of the telephone.

Yet the wonder grows—there is no ending to telephone progress. Service is quicker, clearer and more accurate. Improvements are made each year. Things once thought impossible are now accomplished fact. Tomorrow will see still greater achievement.

That is the pioneering spirit of American enterprise. American initiative and American resourcefulness have given this country the best telephone service in the world.

Obviously this did not just happen. It has been brought about by the development of the Bell System over the past half-century. Time has proved the rightness of its plan of operation. Quick, dependable, universal service makes it possible for you to talk to almost every one, everywhere, and to say confidently—"You can reach me by telephone."

Rates to most points where the station-to-station day rate was more than $1.10 were reduced September 1, 1936. The reduction applies to both station-to-station and person-to-person rates—day, night, and all day Sunday—the seventh reduction in rates for Long Distance calls in ten years.

Through These Doors.

Front cover: The main entrance of Alumni Hall, the administration building. Through these doors last month passed a new generation of Maine students, those of 1940, the largest entering class since 1931.

And Once More the Old Bell Sounds . . .

In the academic world, the opening of college may be compared to the spring season of the year. Things start anew. The arrival of the several hundred new and former students with their spontaneity and happy greetings, their new and vigorous spirit, just naturally generates the enthusiasm so characteristic of universities each new year. Those of us who are so fortunate as to mingle with them, unless we are entirely hopeless, catch that spirit of eagerness and optimism. So we too are looking forward to a good year.

With this opening of the new college year comes a number of faculty changes. For the many alumni who desire to be informed about new faculty members, the list of appointments and their college affiliation which appear in this number will be particularly interesting. An examination of the list reveals that the new personnel comes from many leading colleges and from widely scattered points. This is the policy which the outstanding institutions of the country follow. The professional societies which investigate and evaluate the academic standing of departments and colleges look with much more favor upon those institutions whose faculties contain men from many different universities and areas. While it is true, we aim to preserve and inculcate the finest of Maine traditions, in which our alumni may share; it is also true that the undergraduates' outlook, thinking and viewpoints are broadened by studying under teachers of different training and experience.

Sticking to the news value of an event often fails to reflect the true situation. This is especially true of the short article in this number about the new scholarship which the Farm Bureaus of the State of Maine have just created. As valuable as the fund will be to the University and it will be of untold value over the long stretch of years, there is another point of even greater importance. This gift comes from hundreds of rural people of Maine, very few of whom have ever been registered at the college. They have, however, been indirectly in contact with the University through the fourteen county farm bureaus which work in cooperation with the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture. It is this group of people who have established the new fund. Although the individual gifts have been small as measured in dollars, they have been large when measured in ability to give. This reflects in a small degree the appreciation of the farmers and homemakers of the state for what the Agricultural Extension Service has meant to them, as well as a desire to help deserving young men and women. Such good will is of inestimable value to the University.

Registration Shows Marked Increase

WITH a total registration on the third day of the college year, September 24, of 1533 students, the University showed a sharp upturn in enrollment for the first time in several years. Welcoming the largest freshman class since 1931, and calling back to campus and classroom many members of the upper classes whom financial difficulties had temporarily withdrawn, the University opened its sixty-ninth year on a spirit of optimism and courage. A total increase of 168 students over last year on the third day makes this year's total the largest since the fall of 1932. It is encouraging also to note that the increased registration is well distributed throughout most of the four classes.

The accompanying table shows by classes the registration as recorded on September 24. In the sophomore class there is a slight decrease from last year; the junior class is conspicuously large, and a total of 38 in the enrollment for the Two-Year Agriculture course sets something of a record for this work.

Registration this year was on September 22, following, as usual, the preliminary events of Freshman Week, during which period the newcomer is initiated into some of the academic and extra-curricular mysteries of his new environment. On September 23 the first Assembly of the year was held in the Alumni Memorial Gymnasium. President Arthur A. Hauck, entering upon his third year at Maine, presided. Hon. Edward E. Chase '13, President of the Board of Trustees, greeted the assembled student body, and the main address was given by Prof. Charles William Knudsen, of George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee. Taking as his subject the title "Crises and Careers," Dr. Knudsen presented an inspiring, timely, and thoughtful address which was received enthusiastically by the students.

Some Campus Changes

Due to the increased registration, accommodations for students, particularly freshmen, were at a premium. The University has provided two temporary freshman dormitories during the construction of the new dormitory by remodelling the building formerly occupied by the Maine Christian Association and the former faculty residence of Doctor George Small. The former—old, historic Estabrook Hall—houses 33 of the newcomers. Mr. Fielder and the M.C.A. offices have taken up a temporary situation in South Stevens. The former Small residence, now known as The Pines, was for years occupied by the late Dr. Leon S. Merrill, dean of the College of Agriculture. Twenty students have taken up residence here, and the two structures have helped relieve a critical housing situation.

For the women students, North Hall, on the upper end of the campus, for several years used as a dormitory and practice house, has been converted into a cooperative dormitory on the same plan as South Hall in Orono, which will continue the cooperative scheme again this year.

Homecoming Committee Appointed

Alumni Homecoming this year, scheduled for the week-end of the Colby-Maine football game, October 31, will be under the direction of an able committee of alumni, headed by Professor Robert Drummond '05 as Chairman. The other members of the group are Miss Marion Rogers '30, Professor Weston Evans '18, Albert D. Nutting '27, Professor Winthrop C. Libby '32, Ted Curtis '23, and Alton Bell '37, president of the Athletic Association.

Plans are already underway for a larger and more enthusiastic turnout than ever before, and an attractive program featuring alumni and students everyone is interested in, is being arranged. Full details will be sent out in circular form shortly, and the November Alumnus scheduled for mailing Oct. 26 will carry the story.

Make your plans now for the sixth annual Alumni Homecoming, October 30-31.

This expansion of the cooperative idea in dormitory life is more than justified by the success of the plan last year, the girls in South Hall reduced living expenses notably through their own efforts and at the same time obtained a very satisfactory scholastic average. Many girls were enabled to continue in school through these decreased costs who otherwise would have been unable to finance living expenses.

The former residence of Professor H. S. Hill, one of the three faculty houses at the lower border of the campus, opposite the Phi Kappa Sigma House, has been converted into a Home Economics Practice House where the girls will have an opportunity to apply their studies under practical, home conditions.

New Courses

Some interesting and valuable new courses are being offered by the University for the first time this year. In connection with the Department of Forestry of the College of Agriculture, work will be offered both undergraduate and graduate students this year in a program of Wild Life Conservation involving research and instruction in the field of increasing fish and game resources of the state. Students will be trained for educational work in wild life management and nature study, and for programs of game improvement.

Students who wish to study instrumental or vocal music during their University course in addition to the work previously available in appreciation and theory, will be offered this year an opportunity for instruction in various instruments and in voice through cooperation with the Northern Conservatory of Music in Bangor.

In the field of general culture a new course will be offered by Professor Hud-dilston providing a survey of Chinese culture, including art, philosophy, and literature. An understanding of the Chinese cultural heritage will be used to contribute to a better understanding of contemporary developments in the Orient.

For 1936-37, Progress

The campus has come to life again, the University faces another year. In spite of difficulties, falling enrollments, reduced income, Maine has come through the trying years well, although handicapped by inadequate finances. With conditions improved as they are this year, it is reasonable to believe that we face a future of greater promise than ever before. Above all, with unabated popularity, President Hauck enters upon his third administrative year giving guidance and counsel and inspiration to those working with him.

Faculty Changes and Promotions

THE list of changes and promotions on the faculty for the coming school year is one of the longest for several years as a result of many resignations and leaves of absence. Outstanding are the appointment of a new Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences to fill the position left vacant by Dean James Muilenburg who resigned this summer to take up a position in the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, California. Dean Edward J. Allen, of the Seth Low Junior College at Brooklyn, has been appointed his successor. The appointment of a new Director of Admissions to take up the work of Dean Hart who is this fall on leave of absence, and the selection of Doctor Wilber E. Bradt to be Head of the Department of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering are other high points in the list. A number of alumni of Maine have been selected to continue their contacts with the University, a total of seven new members of the faculty having obtained one or more degrees from Maine.

Meet Dean Allen

A new Dean sits in the office at the right of the main entrance to Stevens Hall. His name is Edward Jones Allen and he is officially entitled to the letters B.A. and Ph.D., but Dean Allen does not choose to barricade himself behind a wall of degrees, titles, and honors, though he well might do so. Entering the office you will find a pleasantly smiling, friendly, and sympathetic human being, interested in yourself and your problems. The title of Dean itself means little to Dr. Allen, but the work means much.

What of the past record? Dean Allen's education was practically self-earned at Colorado College. Following his graduation in 1921 he entered immediately upon the career which he has followed with brilliant success ever since, a success not only in the scholastic sense but even more truly in the sense of personal relationship with his pupils. Entering the Columbia Graduate School in 1922, where he studied and taught in the field of Economics, he made a splendid record. In 1928 he went to Seth Low Junior College, Brooklyn, where he rose rapidly to the position of Acting Director, and in 1931 to Director. In addition, he has for fourteen years taught Economics in the New York Chapter of the Institute of Banking. He has always been actively interested in community activities and particularly in boys' work, being at present a member of the Boys' Work Committee of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A.

He loves the outdoors and is something of an amateur fisherman, but his deepest interest in life is his personal relationships with the young people under his care and their parents.

So much for the record. As for the man, it is necessary to meet him to appreciate fully his warm friendliness and his quick understanding. A visitor feels at once that here is an individual who is deeply and thoroughly interested in the plans, the endeavors, the strengths, and the weaknesses of his fellow human beings. The new Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences will be close to his students and should bring to the college a new relationship between students and faculty, a relationship of inestimable value.

Lewis O. Barrows '16

WITH a majority of over 42,000 votes—fourth largest in the state's history—an alumnus of the Class of 1916, Lewis O. Barrows, of Newport, was elected to the office of Governor in the September State election. Succeeding Governor Louis J. Brann and opposing for the executive position F. Harold Dubord, Democratic nominee, both also alumni of the University, Mr. Barrows campaigned on a completely Republican platform. His popularity is attested to by his exceptionally high majority, and his ability for the honor conferred upon him is indicated by his record of service to the state.

Climaxing a period of public service which began 29 years ago when he served as a page in the State Senate, "Lew" Barrows, as his friends know him, faces his new responsibilities with a background of excellent experience. He has been Secretary of State for nearly two years under Governor Brann, having been elected for that important office in 1935. Previous to that position he had served three terms on the governor's council where he estab-

Achievements

In Penobscot County, Lewis Barrows for years has been known as the man who, as a member of the Governor's Council, was able to obtain a fair apportionment of highway funds for badly needed road construction for the section of the state which he represented. This he accomplished by common sense tactics of proof and persuasion, and above all, by courageous tenacity in the face of opposition. There is a notable story told by his townspeople in connection with the road being constructed through Ellsworth, that Mr. Barrows, because he believed in his own convictions, voted for cement against the combined votes of other Council members, Governor, and Highway Commission. This ability to stand alone and not be swayed by opposition is held to be characteristic of Mr. Barrows. The townspeople of Newport point with pride to the recent highway from Bangor, including a new and improved overhead crossing at Carmel, elimination of many dangerous curves at Etna, a splendid new underpass at Northern Maine Junction, and the elimination of a most dangerous overhead bridge at Veazie. In the obtaining of these improvements, Mr. Barrows was largely instrumental. Nevertheless, he has always made it a point to be fairly convinced of the value and necessity of an expense before he supports it. He is outspoken in the support of proper and just economies in government and sensible and equitable improvements. As he says, "No cure-all remedies are to be expected from me but it will be my ambition and hope to undertake a sound and fair program of economy and assistance in relief to commercial and agricultural interests."

Governor

On the first of the year, the Honorable Lewis O. Barrows will be installed as Chief Executive of the State of Maine. He will go to Augusta to succeed an able and popular man under whom he has served for two years. He will go with the best wishes and the high hopes of a large majority of people in Maine. Alumni of the University, proud of the honor conferred on him, the third of their number, wish him a prosperous and successful administration and join in saying "Good Luck, 'Lew'."

HON. LEWIS O. BARROWS '16
By popular choice, Governor

lished a record for service, integrity, and fairness which stood him in good stead in his later campaigns. In 1932 he was a candidate for the Republican nomination as Governor. He served three terms as a member of the Republican State Committee. He is wise in the ways of politics, but always he has followed ideals of open-mindedness and fair-dealing which have given him a reputation for honesty and courage.

Early Years

"Lew" Barrows, now forty-three years of age, was born in Newport, Maine, and attended Hebron Academy and the University of Maine. He studied pharmacy at the University and graduated in the class of 1916. He was popular and active during his undergraduate days, being president of his class during the junior year, engaged in class athletics and served on various class committees. He was captain of his class baseball team, a member of the band, president of the Interfraternity Council his senior year, and a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

In few places would it be possible to find a man more popular with his townspeople than Mr. Barrows is at Newport. Not only has support been given him at the polls in an active campaign carried on by this and neighboring towns, but during many years of close acquaintance in business and personal affairs his townspeople almost unanimously love and admire him. He entered business with his father in 1917 in the large drug store in Newport, the name then being changed to Barrows & Barrows. Mr. Barrows was town treasurer for many years, starting in 1920, and he is a member of a number of fraternal organizations. In addition to his work in the pharmacy, he is vice president of the Newport Trust Company and a past president of the Maine Pharmaceutical Association.

During the brief but exciting chase for the Mexican bandit, Villa, in 1916, Mr. Barrows served on the border with the

BORN in England, entered the textile industry as a boy, rose to a position of prominence in business, community, and state, widely known as inventor of the famous "Palm Beach" cloth, and a man much admired and respected by his employees and associates—such in a few lines is a word picture of the new Trustee, William S. Nutter, of Sanford, appointed by Governor Brann just a day or two before last Commencement. His first official trip to the University was to attend the June meeting of the Board of Trustees and to participate in the Commencement Exercises, and, judging from his comments, he thoroughly enjoyed his baptism into the life and activity of the University.

During his early years, Mr. Nutter diligently applied himself to his job. He entered the Goodall Worsted Company in 1891. He worked in many departments of the mill but devoted much of his time in the weaving department until he became an executive of the company. It was his thorough knowledge of the operating phases of the business, together with his ability to visualize and develop products, which enabled him to originate the peculiar stitch that made possible the weaving of the flat mohair fabric resulting in the so-called "Palm Beach" cloth.

For twenty-five years Palm Beach cloth was sold to the leading summer clothing manufacturers and for the past five years Goodall has manufactured its own suits. This move has proved to be the outstanding success in the industry. Thorough research, new developments, improved constructions, new designs, and elegance in designing the garments make Palm Beach the outstanding summer suit. Much of this is due to the farsightedness, research ability and persistent application of Mr. Nutter, who today has risen to the position of vice president and a director of the Goodall Worsted Company.

In spite of the increased business responsibilities which have devolved upon Mr. Nutter, he has found time to participate in the affairs of the community and state. He is on the advisory board of Nason College of Springvale. He is prominently identified with the Boy Scout movement of York County, now a part of the Pine Tree Council. He has been active in the affairs of his local church, having for years carried a prominent part in the men's choir of that organization. He is a charter member and past president of the Sanford Rotary Club, and also a charter member of the prominent Town Club of Sanford and of several other clubs and lodes. He has been a member of and very active in the work of the state committee on Maine School Finances. He is a member of the committee which is studying flood control in Maine and has also served as an officer of the Associated Industries of Maine. He has represented the state also as a member of the New England Council and is a director of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers.

He has long been interested and active in educational matters. In Sanford he is at present chairman of a special advisory committee appointed to study the school building situation, which committee has been responsible for building what is thought to be one of the finest of small rural schools in the state. On behalf of the State Finance Committee already mentioned, he delivered a radio address outlining his views upon the necessity of giving the average boy and girl greater opportunity for vocational training during high school and pre-high school days. In cooperation with the local schools, Mr. Nutter has been instrumental in establishing vocational training for the youth of the town. Under this plan, the company of which he is an executive offers afternoon classes for high school students. He was called to speak before the National Education Association at Atlantic City last year on the subject of "Citizens' Responsibility for Safeguarding and Improving Public Relations."

Outside of the sphere of business and civic responsibility Mr. Nutter perhaps enjoys most good singing. Always an ardent singer himself and recognized as a fine tenor, he has been instrumental in promoting community singing and greatly enjoyed the first Commencement Sing which was held last June as a part of the Commencement program. His second hobby might be said to be raising apples, for he has a major interest in the development of a large orchard of ten thousand trees in York County.

Above all, in addition to being known for his success in business, he is known for his high standards and ideals, his sincere, genial disposition and his interest in his fellowmen.

Farm Bureau Gives Scholarship

A new scholarship fund of $3000 has been established at the University by the fourteen county farm bureaus of Maine. Juniors and seniors in the College of Agriculture are eligible for the award. Miss Lucinda Rich, of Charleston was recipient of the first scholarship which has just been announced.

About two years ago the state organization—Maine State Farm Bureau Federation—approved a plan for the creation of a fund at the University and recommended it to the several county organizations, starting the fund off with a generous gift from its treasury. The plan stipulated that on or before December 1, 1936, a total of $3000 should be raised. Already the State Federation has received and turned over to the University $2750, with every assurance that before December 1 the goal will be realized. Not only did the state and all the county organizations contribute but 248 local or town units of the county bureaus, 25 of the 4-H boys' and girls' clubs, 17 individuals and two independent organizations.

ATHLETICS

Varsity Football

When the University opened September 23, Coach Brice's football squad had been undergoing intensive practice since September 9, the longest pre-season practice the team has ever had, and from all indications, it is rounding into a conditioned, aggressive, and fast group of players. Practically a full squad of forty-two men reported for pre-season practice, thirteen of whom were letter men. As the first Alumnus goes to press, conditions look promising for a team which will give anybody in the state a keen battle. Coach Brice has made the most of the increased spring practice of last year and "Wally" Wallace sent every player during the summer a list of conditioning exercises. Few injuries have developed and the squad has rounded into shape far more rapidly than usual.

Line-up

One bright spot in the lineup is the return of Joe Hamlin, All-Maine end in 1934, who was out of college during the fall last year. Roddy Elliott, of Montreal, star of the Bowdoin game and all season a shifty, light-footed back, has returned in excellent condition.

Coach Brice has already started his usual pre-season shifting to sift out the most promising team. The outstanding backfield candidates to date, in addition to Elliott, are Red Mallett, of South Portland and John Minutti, of North Brunswick, who are being tried out in the full-back position, Jim Dow, of Houlton, one of last year's fullbacks, in one of the halfback positions, Francis Smith, of New Haven, last year's mid-season find, who throws passes where they ought to go.

Line posts are being fought for in a rather free-for-all manner, although Joe Hamlin, of Bar Harbor, and Seth Williams, of Augusta, look good on the wings. Other line men who look promising for positions are Roddy Roderick, of Augusta, and Ernie Reidman, Auburn, guards, Leslie Hutchins, Portland, center, Wally Gleason, of South Portland, and Nolan Jackson, of Norway, tackles.

The squad includes thirteen lettermen, a number of junior varsity players, and eight promising candidates from last year's freshmen.

Outlook

Although too early in the season to make safe prophecies, no sports writer is ever able to refrain. With a full and heavy schedule ahead of them, it is comforting to know that the team is showing, so far, excellent conditioning. The first game of the season on the 26th will have been played before this Alumnus reaches its readers. The game at Columbia on October 3rd will be a gruelling contest. Other teams in the state are expected to provide plenty of competition, particularly Bowdoin under Coach Adam Walsh's personal attention. Walsh, entering his second season for Bowdoin, will be anxious to continue his championship record and will, particularly, be out to revenge last year's tie. Colby still has Yadwinski and that statement should be a very important one. Bates is somewhat of an unknown quantity this year and has been saying little so far. Certainly the games will be worth watching. Coach Brice is counting heavily on the results of spring practice and certainly so far his hopes appear justified. He will put a shifty, keen, and aggressive team in the field and if Maine doesn't nail the State Title to the flagpole this year, it will not be from lack of trying.

Varsity Cross Country

With five lettermen available for the Hill-and-Dalers this fall, Coach Jenkins has the nucleus for another successful cross country varsity squad. Bill Hunnewell, veteran senior, winner of the varsity New England title last year and consistently outstanding performer all season, is expected to lead the pack home again, but if expectations are fulfilled he will be pressed closely by George Sawyer, of Old Town, captain of last year's freshman team, winner of the freshman New England title, and former Interscholastic Champion.

Other veteran runners who it is expected will help make up the team scores are Ralph Clifford, of Dexter, Charles Cam, of Portland, Alvin Hershey, of North Waterford, all junior lettermen, Robert Corbett, senior letterman, and Robert Ohler, a senior, who became an outstanding winter-sports competitor last year and should this year develop into a point-winner in the hill and dale meets. In addition, seven likely candidates for varsity runners will be trying out from last year's freshman squad.

Olympic Representation

The University of Maine is proud of having two Olympic representatives in Berlin during the 1936 games, Donald Favor, of Gray, class of 1934, who travelled with the Track and Field Events group in the hammer throw and scored a sixth place in the international competition in Germany, and Clarence Keegan, of Mars Hill, a senior at the University, who represented the United States on the baseball outfit. Donald Favor, popular and nationally known track star, who is coaching at Deering High School, is the first man from the University of Maine to score a point in the Olympics in many years. In capturing sixth place with a throw of over 167 feet, Don Favor has established the reputation of Maine's track men.

Keegan, an outstanding baseball player, travelled with the Olympic team which gave a series of exhibition games in Europe. Keegan played third base in excellent manner and came across with one home run during the trip. For membership on this exhibition baseball team, competition was very keen and it is a distinct honor to Keegan and his coaches at the University that he should have been selected. He was invited in the spring to elimination trials in Boston and finally in Baltimore where the final team was picked from nation-wide competition.

News and Events of The Summer

PROBABLY few alumni realize how many activities are carried on at the campus during the summer months when regular session is closed. In addition to the six weeks of Summer Session, many varied meetings, conferences, and entertainments are scheduled for the vacation months. This year, particularly, the campus has not been deserted, and a review of the more important events taking place during the summer makes a varied and interesting story.

Summer Session

Statistics on the 1936 Summer Session of the University as provided by its Director, Prof. Roy M. Peterson, show the largest enrollment ever recorded. The total of 526 students was 48 more than the previous high in 1931, and 53 more than last year. A registration of 364 from the State of Maine gave a gratifying increase in the percentage from within the state. Of these, 67 students were alumni of the University.

However, statistics indicate only a part of the story, and in other ways also the Session just completed was one to break former records. New courses of study attracted favorable attention, and an enjoyable program of social and recreational activities under the experienced direction of Miss Mildred A. Thompson encouraged friendships and provided opportunities to enjoy Maine's recreational possibilities. Several specially arranged institutes and lectures were highly successful, and an attractive program of assemblies, vespers, and special entertainments provided continual interest.

High School Institute

In 1935, Session students suggested a special program on lectures and discussions concerning educational problems in Maine high schools. A two-day High School Institute was this year inaugurated with good success. Featuring such speakers as Dr. Sidney B. Hall, Superintendent of Public Instruction in Virginia, Prof. P. W. L. Cox, of New York University, and Mr. H. G. Lewis, of Providence, from out of the state, and Commissioner Bertram E. Packard '101 and other Maine educators, the program proved full of interest and stimulated considerable discussion among the large number of students at the Session engaged in educational work.

The Faculty

In addition to thirty members of the regular University faculty, twelve instructors from outside were utilized.

Many of these were particularly helpful in maintaining the high quality of instruction offered at the Session. Three of the visiting faculty, Mr. Wilfred J. Hinton, of the British Institute of Bankers, London, Dean Karl C. Leebrick, of Syracuse University, and Dr. H. F. Williams, of Amherst College, participated also as lecturers in the Institute of World Affairs. Professor Hinton, who has twice served on the faculty of the Session, proved very popular as an outstanding teacher in the field of contemporary history.

Institute of World Affairs

The second annual meeting of the Maine Institute of World Affairs, a lecture and discussion forum on contemporary world situations and policies, an independent conference but in cooperation with the Summer Session, was held on the campus July 22 and 23. An exceptional opportunity to learn world conditions through the experience of men of national reputation was provided by the list of speakers: Prof. Wilfred J. Hinton, Director, Institute of Bankers, London; Dean Karl C. Leebrick, Syracuse University; T. Z. Koo, Travelling Representative of the World Student Christian Federation, Peiping, China; Stephen P. Duggan, Director, Institute of International Education, New York City; and Prof. H. Franklin Williams, of Amherst College, were the lecturers and discussion leaders obtained for the program.

A total of six sessions was held, covering such timely problems as The European Situation, Japanese Expansion, China's Cultural Heritage, The League of Nations, The Need for International Cooperation, and The Situation in the Far East. An excellent attendance of Summer Session members and people from Bangor and the vicinity attested to the interest in the program. Speeches of a most high order of merit and lively discussions on the problems gave great impetus to the consideration of different points of view.

Mary Ellen Chase '09, Authoress, Lectures at Summer Session

One of the outstanding features of the summer months was the visit of Dr. Mary Ellen Chase '09, noted authoress and English teacher at Smith College. Miss Chase, just returned from an extended visit to England, offered a series of lectures at the University on the subject of "The Reading and Writing of Literature" and likewise participated in some of the regular courses conducted by the English Department. The English course, entitled "Contemporary Maine Writers," in which Miss Chase participated was made most interesting and vivid because of her personal acquaintance with many of the writers under discussion.

Poultry Conference Held at Maine

On August 25-27 the University, cooperating with the Maine Poultry Improvement Association, was host to the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council for their sixth annual meeting. The council, commonly referred to as NEPPCO, is made up of poultrymen in the thirteen northeastern states.

The record-breaking attendance of 750 and the important conferences, committee meetings, and speakers scheduled made this affair one of the biggest of its kind ever held here. Poultrymen, hatcherymen, breeders, representatives of commercial companies, government and state officials, and their families attended from nineteen states.

4-H Club Camp

One hundred fifty-seven delegates and six chaperons registered at the University on August 19 for the sixth annual State 4-H Camp. A comprehensive and interesting as well as instructive program filled the four days for the boys and girls who attended from many different sections of the state. Sponsored by the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture, this summer camp at the University is one of the most popular features of the 4-H Club work in Maine.

Professor Harry D. Watson, '18, entering upon his third term on these committees, serves as chairman for the year. George E. Lord, '24, of the Extension Service, is serving his second year.

The Dues Committee this year is especially interested in developing an intensive campaign for early payment of dues. To decrease the necessity of continued solicitation throughout the year, the committee members are urging all alumni to pay their three dollar membership to the General Alumni Association at once. This will enable the Association to plan constructively and to continue its progressive program without the heavy expense incident to collecting funds, and with the assurance of a definite financial background for the year.

If you didn't throw your Manley and Rickett, Writing of English, in the wastebasket after your Freshman course in English, prepare to do it now. Virginia Chase Perkins, ex-'23, has just published a text that would make even a grasshopper creative. The Writing of Modern Prose. Henry Holt 1936, is one of the neatest high school textbooks we have seen, and if we are not mistaken it will have a large sale in secondary schools.

And this isn't all. Watch the current numbers of the Delineator for "Cap'n Pratt—Boarder," a short story by the same author. Previous to this the author has done a scattering of poetry and book review for the Commonweal. Virginia is back in Detroit, 13250 Mark Twain Ave., after a summer in Maine and attendance at the Bread Loaf Writers Conference, Vermont. Her husband is Wallace W. Perkins, U. of M. 1924, Research Engineer with the General Motors Corporation in Detroit, who, we understand, has achieved note as an inventor.

Bryant Patten has been promoted to Training Supervisor, New England Tel. and Tel. with headquarters in Boston, address 28 Parker Rd., Wellesley, Mass.

A mayor no less, Clarence Beckett. The city, Calais. Any more successful politicians in the class? We want to hear about them. Please return your questionnaire.

Doris Twitchell and Mildred Lombard were married this summer, the latter to Morton Conrad Welch. The particulars of neither we seem to have, the advantages of keeping your secretary informed. More about both later.

Doris Quinn, Bangor High School, and Doris Hunter Tasker attended the University Summer Session. Hazel Winslow walked into the University Library in August in company with "Paddy" Huddleston. Mabel and Arthur Wilson were in town too. Sorry to have missed them.

Remember Inez Bowler, reference librarian, when we were in college? She was in town not long ago, on vacation from her job in the library of the University of Michigan. She inquired for a number of 1923 people, including Catherine Cary Moses. That reminds us that Catherine's son, Walter Cary Moses, now a year old, has never been recorded here. Kay's husband, graduate of Harvard Law, is now practicing in New York City.

Please return your questionnaire. All will have been mailed by October first.

That same day we went to the Lamorne Biological Station to see Joe Murray but found that he was out fishing for the day. Easy life these Pros have, eh? Anyway the call wasn't a total failure for we saw Mrs. Murray, Frances Kent to you, and their young son and daughter.

On our way back home in August, we stopped in at Kennebunk Beach and called on Tete Ward—Mrs. Charles H. Goodnow. Met her Dartmouth husband—he's swell, too, and saw her two children, Charles and Mary. They live in Chevy Chase, Md.

If any of you have taken any interesting trips this summer, won't you write me so that I may share it with the class.

Remember—no letters—no news. No news—no '25 column! It's up to YOU.

Good Luck Everybody.

Charles Roberts and Priscilla Bohnson were married August 1 at the summer home of the bride's parents, at Little Sebago Lake. They are residing in Augusta where Charles is connected with a branch of the Beneficial Loan Co.

Ermo Scott seems to be a busy man nowadays. In addition to his regular job at Castine Normal, he's a roaring Lion! Perhaps that's what he's been practising for all these years leading songs. At any rate, he is president of the Castine Lions Club for the coming year. During the summer he was on the teaching staff of the Aroostook State Normal School.

In addition he finds time to be vice president of the Young Republicans of Mass. and to serve on committee at the conference of N. E. Young Republicans recently held in Boston. He tells of seeing Charlie Straffin at Grant's in Philadelphia and Joe Seltzer studying at Jefferson Medical College. Thanks for the news, Ed.

I've often mentioned the good work Sam Sezak has been doing in Rockland. This fall he is to start new in Rogers High School at Fairhaven, Mass. Rogers High is a million dollar structure with stadium in close proximity. Election as its physical director and coach of all teams is a distinct step forward for Sam. Best of luck to you and let's hear from you.

Sam's not our only outstanding coach. Linwood Brotee has been at Gorham High School six years as teacher of science, history, and agriculture. He has been highly successful as coach, having won five county league championships and that's sump'n. In addition his teams won the Gorham Normal tournament four of the five years and this spring his baseball team won 11 of their 12 games.

Me oh! my! I nearly forgot to announce the arrival of Charles Frederic Brown (our nephew, incidentally) to Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Brown, 117 So. Quaker Lane, West Hartford, Conn.

And now, so long until next month—

E. Cobb Camps in Denmark, Me. I did the buying for the camps and Tom did the Cash Accounting at the Main Office. We did have a wonderful summer and best of all—to be in Maine where we could see Maine graduates now and then was a real joy.

About twenty miles from us in Kezar Falls were "Skip" Goodwin and Betty Shurtleff Goodwin. They have a very pretty home there and "Skip" is about the main power line for the whole town's electricity.

Then, over in South Paris we saw Bunny Callaghan and Dot Rosen. They are living together in an apartment and the night that we dropped in, Bunny was experimenting—trying to see how radishes would taste after they had been cooked—with the prospect in view of canning them.

One Sunday just as we were going up to the Inn for dinner we met Louise Hill and Win Robbins. Louise is County 4-H Club Leader for Cumberland County. "Win" is foreman of a CCC Camp in the vicinity of Bridgeton. He says that he likes the country so well up there that he has purchased a farm. Don't blame him a bit either—it is certainly a beautiful section of Maine.

We had some trouble with the mimeograph in the office and so sent to Augusta to have a man come and look at it. When this man walked in to the office he looked rather familiar and so Tom and I inquired and found that it was none other than Norwood Mansur, S.A.E. '31. He is in business with his father in Augusta—Photography and Office Supplies.

Again—when I went to the post office to mail a letter one evening there sat Mavilla Randall. Well, I could hardly believe my eyes but "seeing is believing." Mavilla is married—I forget her last name—and is living in Portland.

I hope that my roommate, Dixie Dickson, will forgive me if I am incorrect here but "someone told me" that they saw an announcement of her engagement to Roger Heffler in the Portland papers. I asked over again to be sure and was told the same thing again. Gee, Dixie, you better write and confess. Congratulations and best wishes.

Ted Prescott is a salesman for the Scott Paper Co., 89 State Street, Boston, Mass., and is living at 14 Claflin Road, Brookline, Mass.

Another honor has come to a member of our class—Phil Gregory, who is now a Senior at the University of Maryland Medical School, has been appointed by the faculty to the Randolph Winslow Surgical Society. This is strictly an honorary appointment and is based on a student's standing in surgery and other studies during the course. He has won an appointment as an interne at the Bellevue Hospital in New York City.

Last May Muriel Holmes became the bride of Thomas Manes of Augusta—two more Maine graduates wedded. Tom is now employed in the Holmes-Swift Co. in Augusta. They will live in a newly constructed cottage at Three Cornered Pond, Augusta.

Howard Holman, who was a member of our class for three and a half years, was married in April to Miss Ella-Marie Katherine Brodersen, of Alameda, Calif. Miss Brodersen is the niece of the consul in Guatemala, formerly of Denmark, and was graduated from the Faucit School of Dramatic Art in Oakland, Calif. She has been prominent as the holder of several offices in the state council of Beta Sigma Phi, a national sorority. After leaving Maine, Howard went to the Boeing School of Aeronautics in Oakland and has just now been appointed, after his graduation on April 1, to a position with Continental Airways in Newark, N. J. He is a licensed transport pilot. Mr. and Mrs. Holman will live in Newark, N. J.

Donald Boyle has become a political aspirant for the Legislature as the Democratic Nominee from Bangor.

On June 27th the wedding of Elizabeth McGrath, of Bath, and Howard Bates took place. The bride was graduated from Bates College in 1933. Howard is in the employ of the Bath Iron Works Corporation.

Peg Denton became the bride of Elwood Newell Eaton, of Deer Isle, and Larchmont, N. Y., at New Rochelle, N. Y. on June 27th. For the past three years Peg has been teaching at McKinley High School in Deer Isle. Mr. Eaton is at present employed at Larchmont on the private yacht of W. D. Loucks. During the summer the newlyweds were at home at Revoncourt Court, Larchmont.

Goodness—marriages are taking place—last and furiously!!

June 12th Brice Jose and Miss Ruth Stetson Walker, of Wethersfield, Conn., were married in the Old North Congregational Church in Marblehead, Mass. The bride was graduated from Northfield Seminary and the Katherine Gibbs School. After spending the summer in Maine, Brice and his bride will go to Tucson, Ariz., where Brice is to be a member of the faculty of the Evans School.

Charles Ingalls and his bride, Miss Cecile Martin, of Waterville, who were married in the spring, are living on Michigan Avenue in Bar Harbor where Charlie is connected with the Acadia National Park.

Helen Findlay Cousens (Mrs. Lyman Cousens, Jr.) is now living at the Arden Apts., 314 Spring Street, Portland.

Leif Sorenson is now with the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., 230 E. Ohio St., Chicago, Ill. and he and Effie and little Tom Sorenson are living at 836 Galt Ave., Chicago.

We will be only too glad to have any of you stop to say "Hello" or to spend the night on our studio couch—any time. The latchstring is out to Maine folks.

Goodnight!

Next Reunion, June, 1938

Time Marches On—and with it many changes and additions. It would take one reporter with nothing else in the world to do, to keep up with this class. We are the most progressive people I have ever seen and the proof is here. There's so much news that I guess I'll have to begin and go from A to Z.

Del Ballard is instructor in mathematics in Worcester Academy, Worcester, Mass. Mary Bussell was engaged in June to Francis Merchant, of South Thomaston. By this time there may have been a wedding. Mr. Merchant attended N. Y. U. and M. I. T. and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. Miriam Brill is secretary in the Lewis Realty Co., Chicago, Ill. Don Corbett is assistant dairy specialist and has published his first bulletin—a twelve page booklet on Dairy Improvements. There just seems to be no end to some people's talent. Well, to get away from these earthly things—Hope Clark was engaged this Spring to George Spater, of N. Y. C. Mr. Spater was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1930 and received the degree of juris doctor from the Michigan Law School in 1933. He is a member of Cors honorary law society and is editor of the Michigan Law Review. He is now practising law with the firm of Chadbourne, Stanchfield and Levy in N. Y. The wedding was to take place in August, so probably that has happened, too.

Bill Crockett now signs his name Mr. and Mrs.—He was married to Miss Vera VanTassel in June and from all reports it was a beautiful wedding. The Crocketts are now living at 35 Holyoke St. Bill is now associated with the trust department of the Merrill Trust Co. in Bangor.

John Crosson and Enid have changed their address to 2918 N. Cicero Ave., Midwest Apts., Chicago.

The last time I saw Benny Caswell was in my own livingroom in Maine and now he turns up in Washington. I wish I knew the secret. Benny is now with the Hudson Air Conditioning Corp. From fish hatcheries to air conditioning in one year—and they wrote books about Horatio Alger.

Caroline Cousins was married in June to Dr. William Gauger, of Plainfield, N. Y. We remember Dr. Gauger as instructor of chemistry at Maine. Caroline also had a very lovely wedding at East Bluehill. Raymah and Emelyn Wright were two of the bridesmaids.

Who says college romances don't last? Al Dyer and Duke DeCourcy were engaged last May. Ed is now on the editorial staff of a printing magazine in New York City, and another one that couldn't let us down was the great team of Gifford and Straffin. Melba and Charlie were married in August and their announcement was a genuine thrill to me—but not a surprise—and while we're on the subject Merle Shubert and Jack Leddy are decidedly still that way—Merle even got way back from Asbury Park to Maine this summer—just for a vacation.

Gosh, I'm convinced of the truth of that statement—here's another. Maurice Dennison and wife, Barbara Edes Dennison, are living in Orlando, Florida, where Maurice is in the furniture business. Barbara signs her occupation "housewife"—maybe these careers are the bunk. The Dennisons were married in June.

While we're up in the clouds we can gently breathe Don Favor's name—is there no limit to his ability—not only once but twice does he take part in the Olympics. We're so proud that there just aren't words to express it.

Armand Giguere has jumped from Mexico to Hudson Falls, N. Y., and is now assistant engineer of the paper division of the Union Bag and Paper Co.

It looks as though June were the month alight—Edward Hildreth was also engaged in June to Miss Greene, of Pittsfield. Edward is now principal of Waldoboro Junior High School.

Mildred Hancy is service representative in the New England Tel. and Tel. Co. in Bangor.

Rita Lancto is now Mrs. W. K. Eberbach and is living at 4825 Cedar Ave., Philadelphia, Pa. Del Ballard's engagement was announced in June to Miss Frances Leighton, of Yarmouth. Miss Leighton was graduated from Miss Wheelock's Kindergarten School, Boston, and has been teaching in Yarmouth.

I'm realizing more and more that it does pay to know something. It really is an asset. Francis Lord sailed for Europe in June in connection with the Thorne Loomis Industrial, sponsored by the department of business and engineering administration of the Mass. Institute of Technology. He was to visit the principal industrial cities of France, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark, and England.

Don Nelder was married June 15 to Marjorie Turner, of Houlton. Don is credit manager of the Goodrich Rubber Co. in Waterville.

Milburn Richards transferred from U. of M. to the University of N. H. and there he received his degree of Bachelor of Science from the College of Technology. He is now architectural designer and draftsman for Huddleston and Hersey—architects in Durham, N. H.

Stan Searles is no longer with the Tel. Co. but is claims adjuster for the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. in Newark, N. J.

And now just three more weddings and I've actually run out of news. Ierdel Ward and Aline McMullen were married July 11. Ierdel is employed by the firm of E. B. Badger & Sons, in Cambridge—they are living in Arlington, Mass. Bill Thompson was married June 14 to Martha Baldwin of Bangor. Mrs. Thompson has degrees from Middlebury College and Columbia University. She is a registered nurse and has been a supervisor at the Eastern Maine General Hospital in Bangor.

Charles Webber was married June 22 to Favlene Hodges, of Winslow. Mrs. Webber graduated from Coburn Classical Institute and from the American Institute of Normal Methods, Auburndale, Mass. She has been supervisor of music in the schools of Oakland and Fairfield. Charlie graduated from Illinois College of Foot Surgery and Chiropody and has opened an office in Augusta—And that's all. My back is aching and I don't know who is married to whom after all that. Now I'm going to grab a street car for the nearest fortune teller in town and see what on earth is going to happen to me.

Next Reunion, June, 1938

Hello, Everybody.

How are you all after your vacations? Even after a whole year out, I haven't quite separated myself from the urge to return to Orono in September. I'm very anxious to hear from you all, telling how you spent the summer, whom you saw, etc., etc.

Wedding bells have been ringing all summer for the '35ers.—Margaret Young was married in June to Harold A. Carroll, of Rockport. Margaret was teaching in Rangeley High School, but she is to live in Portland now, where her husband is employed with the National Youth Administration. Mr. Carroll is a graduate of Boston University. Jean Stanley and Polly Budge were Margaret's attendants.

"Cy" Pressey, of Bangor, was married on June 27th to Thelma Theresa Anthony, of Bangor. Mrs. Pressey was graduated from Bangor High School and Gilman Commercial School. "Cy" is employed as a civil engineer in northern Maine.

In Winslow on June 27th Ken Kimball was married to Viola Lulene Blake. Mrs. Kimball attended Colby College and was graduated from Randolph Macon Women's College in Virginia. Since that time she has been teaching in Belfast, Lincoln, and Winslow. Ken is employed as chemist in the Maine Seaboard Paper Co. at Bucksport.

"Sid" Look announced his engagement at Commencement this June to Beth Gifford of the class of '36. Beth was very active on campus both during our years at Maine and during this past year. "Sid" is employed as engineer in flood control survey at Plymouth, N. H.

Our congratulations and best wishes to you all.

Since political questions are occupying so much newspaper space today and so much of our conversation, it is only right that we should be represented. Marion Martin is the Republican National Committeewoman from Maine. Marion stopped to see me in Biddeford, and even though she finds that political campaigning is a "full time job"—nevertheless she is enjoying her work immensely. In the local politics of Westbrook, Warren Pratt seems to be taking an active part. In a Republican parade, Warren was awarded the prize in the costume division. "Pratty" was dressed as "Alice the Goon."

"Al" Sisco, who was teaching in Machias last year, plans to teach in Vermont this year. Al is teaching English and Dramatics. And while speaking of the drama, George Stinchfield was at the summer theatre at Stony Creek, Conn. His company played "Merrily We Roll Along" as the opening play. George's career promises great success.

I met Prof. and Mrs. Mark Bailey at the Ogunquit Play House this summer and they wished to be remembered to the '35-ers.

"Jackie" Goode was at Old Orchard this summer working for "Freddie's Beano." Jackie plans to complete his college course this year. Paul McDonnell was visiting in Old Orchard several times this summer. Paul is still with the same firm, and he is also still in the company of Marie Archer.

I was handed a sample package of tobacco the other day as I rounded a corner, and when I looked up to see who the donor was, I found none other than Harry Saunders. Harry is now a tobacco salesman and he says that he likes this better than teaching school.

Carl Honer and Marge Church were visiting at Old Orchard Beach this summer. Carl is still with the Vermont Mutual Insurance Co. and Marge is in Corinna.

Phyl Johnson is planning to teach school again in LaTuque, Quebec, this winter—and Fran is to teach in a Nursery School in Montreal.

The news bureau of the class of '35 is open for another season, and may it be bigger and better than the last!

'Til next month,

Next Reunion, June, 1938

Dear Classmates,

I have been haunting '36-ers all summer to try to find news to tell you all and it seems that we're doing quite all right in the world. With the help of Mr. Crossland and the few people I saw I have succeeded in getting quite an earful for you.

Actor Abbott was one of the people whom I ran into. We had one of those "Did you know" kind of talks and I found out that Actor, Bill Brooks, Bud Woods, Red Wakefield, Phil Snow, Joe McEachern, Bus Heald and Ken Chute are all working for the state in the Bridge Division of the State Department of Civil Engineering.

Burt Mullen and John Coombs were with Actor (they'd been to an Alumni meeting already). Burt is working on the Boothbay Register and John is returning to Maine for graduate work.

Chester Bacheller is teaching agriculture at Greely Institute, Cumberland Center.

Junius Birchard is attending the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Medford, Mass.

Kay Buzzell is an assistant librarian in the children's room of the Portland Public Library. Do they read any German, Kay?

Al Crowell, Marg Litz, Elinor Hill, and Rosey Boardman are all salesgirls in B. Altman's, New York. Rosemary was operated on for appendicitis this summer, and also (the shame of it) had an attack of the mumps. I know that you'll all join me in hoping that she's much better now.

Fifth Dennett is doing graduate work at N. Y. State College of Forestry in Syracuse, N. Y.

Vivian Dow is teaching in Millbridge High.

Wilfred Flanagan is a Junior Engineering Aide in the Rural Electrification Administration.

Jim Hagggett is an Industrial Engineer in the General Electric Co., Bridgeport, Conn.

A letter from Margaret Hall tells us that Beth Gifford and Sid Look '35 announced their engagement on Baccalaureate Sunday. Best of luck, Beth, and congratulations to Sid. Margaret is studying Library Science at Simmons.

Clinton High School will have Ruth Hinckley as a new teacher. I guess that Freshman English Class was a good thing after all—practice makes perfect.

One always meets U. of M. people at the Old Orchard Pier. I saw Kay Hector there quite a bit the first of the summer, but then she deserted us for summer school at Maine where she was assistant matron at Colvin. I'll bet the girls had fun. Kay will be teaching in the Model School, Fort Kent, this winter.

Norton Keene is teaching at Easton High.

Carroll Parker is in the Technical Sales Dept. of the Kellogg Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

I went into the Maine Publicity Bureau this summer and there sitting at the desk looking very important, was none other than John Sealey—remember him? Of course when you hear the name Sealey you immediately think of Higgins (and vice versa). Clydie is County Agent of the 4-H Clubs. He is located in the Court House in Augusta (that's not the jail). I certainly should have liked to have witnessed Clydie judging those dressmaking and cooking contests, and also to have seen and heard him when his first check was lost in the mail.

Congratulations to Gordon Heath who was married to Marion Woodman of Bangor, on June 19, and to John Arno who married Norma Slater, of Dexter, June 22.

I'll be looking forward to hearing from all of you very soon. Please send your letters to Box 215, Northeast Harbor, Maine. I'm teaching in the Gilman High School there.

Bye now,

Phyl Hamilton

Is YOUR HOUSE Also a Museum Specimen?

NOT from the outside, perhaps—but what of the inside? You would not drive a 1920 automobile; it would be obsolete and inadequate for modern service. Houses become obsolete, too. Your house, if it is more than 15 years old, is probably almost as inconvenient inside, compared with “New American” standards, as this outmoded museum specimen.

Now, in 1936, your family should be living in a truly modern, a “New American,” home. Scientific planning of rooms saves steps and lightens housework. Electric servants work for better health and greater comfort for the whole family. “New American” living costs are even lower than in your present home. This is not a dream house, but a home you can own—one to be proud of. General Electric, by fostering “New American” demonstration homes, opens the door to new living comforts for you.

“New American” is not an architectural style—it is a new conception of living. For information on how to obtain “New American” comfort, convenience, and economy—in your present home or in a new house—write to the General Electric Home Bureau, 570 Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Labor-saving appliances, developed by General Electric research and engineering, are brightening the home life of America
