MAINE ALUMNUS

OCTOBER, 1941

ON THE WHARVES of Liverpool and Singapore, in a freighter's hold halfway across the Atlantic, in a truck on the Burma Road, you will find them—three words stencilled on a thousand boxes and bales: "Made in U.S.A."

Yesterday, three big words to look for. But today they stand for more than the unequalled engineering and production that have made them familiar on every dock and pier in the world. They stand for the productive strength of a free people—a productive strength that cannot be matched; they stand for a determination to "deliver the goods"—a determination that will not be thwarted. And in the ports of the world's embattled democracies, where men are hourly risking their lives to take delivery, they stand for freedom itself!

To keep this great flood of goods moving is the most important job in the world today. Wherever it moves, General Electric helps to provide motors and propulsion equipment to keep it moving. In trains hauling ore to America's factories; in factories building guns and tanks and planes; in ships carrying oil to Britain and food to China, in destroyers and cruisers and battleships patrolling two oceans—the words "General Electric" stand beside "Made in U.S.A." General Electric Co., Schenectady, New York, U.S.A.

An Old Pine Tree

On a low hilltop on the campus, between Stevens Hall and the new Agricultural Engineering Building, stands an old pine tree. Many alumni will best recall the site by the reminder that near it stood in former days the stand-pipe of the campus water supply. Little else was there at that time, no buildings, not even the campus, in the accepted sense of the word.

Today buildings stand near, and on the rolling lawns of the campus the old tree throws its shadow. The stand-pipe is gone; old buildings have been moved; a new Library, symbol of the progress of the University, is rising a stone's throw from the tree. Only the old pine tree stands, unchanged, as it stood long before the little, struggling Maine State College first opened its doors. For experts estimate the age of the tree at more than 125 years.

The Pine Tree is the symbol of the State of Maine. It can also be the symbol of a state of mind, a type of character. This character has been called "rugged individualism"; it has also been called Americanism; it has been called other names, sneering or complimentary. Yet it remains a simple and elementary thing, a self-sufficiency and independence that refuses to alter and shift with every passing wind, growing in courage and strength.

As such a symbol, the old pine tree, emblem of the State of Maine, seems an appropriate token also of the University of Maine. Therefore this tree, standing much as it did when first the Maine State College opened, has been selected as a significant title page decoration for our magazine. For it expresses, we believe, the hope and confidence of all alumni that in spite of wars, depressions, good times, and passing disaster, the essential character of the University may not change. For these things have been and will be again and shall pass away; but the old pine tree, symbol of strength and courage, remains.

Alumni Sons and Daughters in the Class of Forty Five

The Class of 1945, entering the University this fall, enrolled the impressive total of 89 sons and daughters of alumni.

Second row Phyllis M. White (Charles M. '10), Barbara Moore (A. Scudder '10), Ruth R. Higgins (Thomas C. '14), Doris E. Emery (Newell W. '20), Barbara A. Higgins (Royal G. '17), Dorothy Ames (Ivan C. The OPENING DAYS

SEVENTY-THREE years ago, on September 21, 1868, twelve rather bewildered young men gazed at a cluster of rambling farm buildings and one new frame structure and wondered what the future would be like. They were the first freshman class to enter the Maine State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts.

Last month on September 10 a total of 530 young men and women gazed on the well-equipped buildings now comprising the University of Maine campus as they enrolled in the seventy-fourth freshman class. They, too, felt the bewilderment, the common property of freshmen since colleges began. They, too, facing a world of uncertainties and problems both public and private, wondered what the future would be like. In one vital respect, however, the prospects of the class of 1945 differed vastly from that of 1872, the span of years and the courageous efforts of many persons had built up from simple and humble beginnings a strong, mature University. And this tradition of faith and courage in the face of the unknown future, Maine prepared to hand on again to students as their heritage today.

Convocation

Chief speaker at the first assembly, the Opening Convocation, on September 18 was the Reverend G. Bromley Oxnam, resident Methodist Bishop of Boston. He spoke on "A Date with the World" and mentioned world problems and changes and the need for strength and faith.

It was on a similar note of courage that President of the Board of Trustees Edward E. Chase '13 spoke at the opening convocation on September 18. He said in part:

Optimism of the United States variety is a prime cause of the present mess. There prevailed in the United States an attitude of blithe optimism, evidenced by the disposition to look only on the bright side of things, by the notion that everything comes out all right in the end. This was almost a religion. It became so firmly fixed in our national faith that even when we know it to be false we can't get rid of it.

* For the third day of each college year.

It was a mistake, I think, to breed a nation of congenital optimists. The dark side of things deserves more examination. Problems ought to bring out the best in people, not the worst. The times cry for men and women who can face an uncertain future unafraid, who do not demand the promise of success before they will try—men and women who find strength within themselves, in a consciousness of individual character independent of environment; men and women who will do each his share, composed, serene, tolerant, even when others retuse, men and women who do not crave perfection—who will not shrink decision on a question just because it has two sides.

History is a record of cycles of progress and catastrophe. Greatest credit is due to the men and women who in the darkest periods found in individual character the strength to stand against the trend of their times. They saved many situations, because they were not afraid of the dark side. They did it by facing facts with determination, by their sense of personal responsibility.

Registration

Following the traditional Freshman Week program from September 10 to 15 under the experienced direction of Professor Walter J. Creamer, upperclass registration brought back students of the other three classes. When the final confusion and uncertainties of registration were through, the total enrollment stood at 1917. Detailed registration figures are given in the box on this page. The figure

After the men and women of 1945 were introduced to University life with the help of friendly upperclass advisers, the long lines of Registration Day signalled the opening of a new year for 1,917 students.

New Chemistry Annex Dedicated

Dedication ceremonies for the new wing on Aubert Hall housing offices, classrooms, and laboratories for Chemical Engineering and Pulp and Paper were the occasion for a joint meeting of the Maine Section of the American Chemical Society and the Maine-New Hampshire Section of TAPPI (Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry), September 26 and 27. Speakers included representatives from colleges and from business and industry.

One of the headline speakers for the two-day program was Dr. C. C. Furnas, associate professor of chemical engineering, Yale University, who addressed the guests at the banquet in Estabrooke Hall on Friday evening on the subject "The Storehouse or Civilization."

Other features of the Friday program included talks by W. J. Nolan, of the University, on research applications at the University and D. B. Demeritt '19, head of the forestry department on forestry resources for pulp and paper. Chairman of the TAPPI group was W. F. Brawn '17 of the Pejepscot Paper Company.

Dedicated: To more efficient work in Chemical Engineering and Pulp and Paper the new annex to Aubert Hall was dedicated last month.

Meanwhile the ACS heard A. Frank Ross of the Agricultural Experiment Station speak on chemical studies of potato diseases and talks by members from Colby and Bowdoin. Chairman of this group was F. T. Martin of the University.

Dedication of the new building took place at 4:30 on Friday and featured talks by E. E. Chase '13, president of the board of trustees, and Dean Paul Cloke, of the college of technology. President Hauck presided at the ceremony.

Saturday's program opened with group discussions on bleaching and raw materials, a business meeting, and a noon luncheon followed by attendance at the varsity football game with Rhode Island.

The new annex to Aubert Hall, traditional home of chemistry, chemical engineering, pulp and paper, and physics, fills this year a long felt need in these departments. With the development of modern requirements in industry for chemical trained students the former laboratories and classrooms have for some years been crowded and unsatisfactory for both students and faculty. As a result the preparation in both pulp and paper technology and chemical engineering has been severely handicapped.

Committee for the program included Chairman, Dean Paul Cloke, George D. Bearce '11, of Bucksport; Prof. Paul D. Bray, '14, W. E. Brawn, '17, of Brunswick; Prof. J. G. L. Caulfield, '24; C. E. Crossland, '17; H. L. Doten, '23; Prof. I. B. Douglass; Clifford Patch, '11, Bangor; and W. C. Wells, '31.

The Opening Days

was a cheering commentary on the desire of the student body to finish their courses in spite of the impact of industrial opportunities and military service. It was a far better registration than had been anticipated by most people during the summer.

With the beginning of classes on September 17 the familiar tones of Wingate bell set the regular pace of college life for the year. Few major changes awaited the students on their return. Among the most significant news of the fall was the appointment of alumnus Dr. Joseph M. Murray, '25, as acting dean of Arts and Sciences. The completion and occupation of the new wing of Aubert Hall for pulp and paper and chemical engineering courses opened expanding opportunities in these fields. And busy weeks of summer had seen a great advance in the construction of the new library with the foundations practically completed as college opened.

So it was on a note of courage and determination that the University opened in this year of uncertainty. President Arthur A. Hauck, watching once more the familiar pattern of college life unroll for the University's 74th year, spoke for all, students, faculty, and administration, in stating his determination to maintain the standards of progress and service to students and the state for which the University stands. And in requesting the sincere cooperation of all in these high aims he particularly sought, for this year and every year, the support and cooperation of alumni. For the progress of the University is in a very real sense as dependent on the continued interest, cooperation, and loyalty of the alumni as on the work of faculty and administration.

Trustee...

Frank Washburn Hussey '25 of Presque Isle, outstanding farmer, active alumnus, and president of Maine Potato Growers, Inc., was named last May as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University to succeed Thomas E. Houghton '11, of Fort Fairfield, who had just completed twenty-one years of service.

Mr. Hussey has been closely associated with the University for many years. He has served as the representative from the College of Agriculture on the Alumni Council and been active in his local alumni association. As treasurer for four years of his local Farm Bureau, a member of the Grange, a leading potato grower, and a founder and officer of the statewide co-operative, Maine Potato Growers, Inc., his councils and executive leadership have long carried great weight in agricultural circles.

A few weeks previous to his appointment he received the title "Outstanding Farmer" from the University at Farm and Home Week. His appointment to the Board of Trustees by Governor Sewall on the closing of Mr. Houghton's long term of service is designed, in the words of the Governor, "to continue able agricultural representation on the Board."

The U.S. MARINE CORPS

Men from Maine in the armed forces of our country during previous periods of national crisis have carried the name of the University into the far corners of the earth with honor and courage. They have established a tradition of service which is the proud heritage of Maine men everywhere.

The builders of this tradition were the 66 volunteers of the Spanish-American War of 1898, the men who followed Pershing through the sands of Mexico in 1915 and the more than 1700 of those who answered the call of duty in 1918.

Today alumni from the University are again upholding this tradition of service. In this national crisis Maine men in every branch of our armed forces are sharing the responsibilities of national defense. To pay tribute to those who are sacrificing today and who may be asked to sacrifice more tomorrow, "The Alumnus" presents in this and subsequent issues stories of Maine men in the various branches of our armed services.

To help the alumni office include all alumni who are today following the Flag in the Army, the Navy and the Marines, alumni are urged to send us the names and addresses of alumni they may know who are in the service.

A proud service is that of the U. S. Marine Corps, proud of its history and of its traditional place at the outposts of trouble in far corners of the world. And Maine men in the Marines, too, are proud of their Corps. A typical letter from one of these alumni wearing the globe and anchor insignia is the following:

In closing I would like to say for the sons of Maine alumni and others that in a four-year tour of duty in the Marines a youngster gets the best possible training and experience for the battle of life. It has always been my opinion that a cruise in the Marines is equal to, in many ways, and superior in many others to a college education.

This is from Captain Clayton Totman '35 whom many younger alumni will well remember for his football and weight-tossing ability on Maine teams some short years ago. He writes now from the Marine Barracks of the Naval Air Station Sitka, Alaska.

Officers: Highest ranking Maine men in active service with the U. S. Marine Corps are Lieutenant Colonel Norman E. True, '19, with the Fifth Artillery Group, Parris Island, N. C., at right; Captain Clayton O. Totman, '35, now at Sitka, Alaska, at left; and Captain James Bradley, '29, at Quantico, Va., of whom no photograph is available. Another ranking Maine alumnus, now retired, is Major Fred S. N. Erskine, '07.

Similar sentiments are expressed in a letter by one of the older alumni, Lieutenant Colonel Norman E. True '19, who writes that in his opinion "more University of Maine graduates should consider the U. S. Marine Corps for the most interesting duty of any of our armed services, and I would be glad to furnish any information on its many-sided life and various activities to any of our alumni who are interested."

A study of the alumni files shows nine Maine men listed in active service in the Corps and one retired. There is also the possibility that more members of recent classes are also enrolled and that the information has not yet come to the alumni office. The range of classes runs from Lt. Col. True of 1919 to 1941 with two members in the Third Candidates Class at Quantico, Va., and even to 1942, for the latest recruit to the wearers of the globe and anchor insignia is Robert Davis '42, of Old Town, just enrolled. A complete list of all alumni in the Corps, as far as alumni records reveal, is on this page.

LIBRARY DRIVE NEARS GOAL

ACTIVITY in the library campaign has been renewed with the opening of the fall semester with the aim of achieving complete success during an intensive 30-day clean-up campaign starting October 31. With a total amount of $204,000 now subscribed from faculty, friends, students, and over 3,000 alumni the campaign has but $46,000 still to be pledged. Under the able and tireless leadership of Chairman Norman H. Mayo '09, the library committee, area chairmen and workers are pledging their efforts to early success in the great endeavor.

During the summer the library committee has been actively at work making plans for the fall campaign program. Several of the area committees have been reorganized and renewed activity is already underway in some areas.

In the intensified campaign, the special gifts committee headed by Chairman R. H. Fogler '15 has agreed to take on the responsibility of securing $16,000 more, leaving a total of $30,000 to be achieved through the efforts of area chairmen and workers in the general campaign.

The intensified drive finds several new area chairmen: Southeastern United States, Richard B. Stuart '23 of Gilbertsville, Ky.; The Virginias, Ray C. Hopkins '19, Fredericksburg, Va.; Southern California, Edward M. Loftus '14, Los Angeles, California; Northern Oxford County, Harry J. Buncke '19, Rumford, Missouri; Vernon H. Wallingford '19, Ferguson, Mo.; and York County, Raymond Lovejoy '17, Sanford.

Aiming not only to raise the amount of money necessary but to enlist the support of the largest possible number of individuals the clean-up drive will seek contributions from hundreds of alumni who have not yet joined the great effort. It is being emphasized that the amount of a gift should not be a factor in preventing a pledge as alumni are asked to contribute what they feel they can.

In the near future the library committee will begin work on a book of library builders which will carry the name of every individual who has contributed to the library campaign. No amounts will be mentioned in the book but all persons who have helped in any way to make the building possible will be named therein. The volume will be given a permanent place in the new library building as a record of honor for those to whom honor is due.

Construction

Construction itself is showing encouraging progress. Excavation for the foundations went ahead rapidly during the summer months on the site. Rock ledges made considerable blasting necessary but by the time school opened the foundations were nearly complete. The size of the building and its importance on the campus is more apparent than ever as the shape of the structure takes form. Plans call for continuation of construction and completion of the outside shell immediately. Meanwhile it is hoped that additional pledges and continued payment on pledges previously received will enable the University to move rapidly forward with final completion of the structure so important to the life of the University.

As the campaign swings into the fall months the following classes lead in amounts subscribed, number of subscribers and the percentage of the total list (general campaign only):

Amt Subs.	No Subs.	List Subs.
1917—$3773.00	1933—140	1879—50.0%
1911— 3772.50	1938—139	1885—42.9
1922— 3435.00	1936—129	1893—38.4
1916— 3377.50	1934—124	1923—36.0
1909— 3262.00	1939—120	1910—35.8

The standing of the 59 areas finds 12 in the 100% list with several others very close to that goal. The following areas have achieved the quota:

Area and Chairman	% of Quota
California—North Raymond E. Davis '11	144.4
Western Pennsylvania J. Wilson Brown '99	128.1
Canada Edward N. Snow '10	125.0
Western New York Russell Look '29	122.7
White Mountain, N. H. Scott Lockyer '09	111.3
Eastern Pennsylvania Gertrude Peabody '20	108.8
Androscoggin Alumnae Mrs. Robert Pendleton '33	105.1
Androscoggin Alumni Thomas H. Murphy '22	103.5
Rhode Island Alfred B. Lingley '20	101.0
Lehigh Valley Edmund N. Woodsum '15	100.2
Western Mass. Myron C. Peabody '16	100.1
Lincoln County Thomas E. Gay '25	100.0

Three areas have reached 90% in their efforts:

Ohio Allen M. Knowles '04	93.5
Penobscot Alumnae Mrs. Edward Herlihy '16	93.3
Maryland Omar Tarr '16	90.7

CLASS GIFTS

The classes of 1916, 1911, and 1915 each made either initial or supplementary Class Gifts at the Alumni Banquet last Commencement.

In accordance with the established tradition, 1916 presented a twenty-fifth anniversary gift amounting to $1,000.

The Class of 1911 brought in a real surprise. In 1936 that class presented the University with $1,000. Quite unheralded at their June reunion they raised a supplementary gift which at that time amounted to $1,525 and which they requested should be added to their initial gift which was used to create a scholarship fund.

Not to be outdone, the treasurer of the Class of 1915 arose immediately after 1911 had surpassed their record-making gift of $2,500 presented in 1940, and added $36 to give them at least temporary claim to first place again.

Progress: Nearly completed as this picture was taken on September 16, the foundations of the New Library mark the outline of the splendid building and show construction progress made during the summer.

APPOINTMENTS and PROMOTIONS

Faculty Changes for the Coming Year

THE appointment of alumnus Joseph M. Murray, '25, to the position of acting dean of the College of Arts and Sciences highlighted the list of faculty changes this year. The list also included the retirement of three members of long and familiar service, Charles P. Weston, professor of mechanics, John H. Ashworth, professor of economics and Everett W. Davee, instructor in mechanical engineering. Tribute to Professor Weston is carried on this page, and subsequent issues will bring the homage of alumni to the other two long familiar teachers.

Two other new arrivals in prominent roles under present day conditions are those of Lieutenant Colonel Francis R. Fuller, professor of military science and tactics, and Lieutenant Colonel Reuben L. Perley, associate professor in charge of the coast artillery unit.

The appointment of Dr. Murray to the position of acting dean followed on the resignation of Dean Edward J. Allen who assumed similar duties at the University of Denver, Colorado. Dr. Murray has been head of the department of zoology of the college since 1934. He received his B.A. in zoology from the University in 1925, then went to the University of Michigan to receive his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees. He was instructor in anatomy at Michigan from 1927-30 from which time up to the time of his appointment at the University he was a research associate at the Jackson Memorial Laboratory at Bar Harbor.

The detailed list of faculty appointments and advancements follows:

College of Agriculture

George Wesley Crowther, Assistant Professor of Agricultural Engineering, B.S., New York State College of Agriculture, M.S., Cornell University, 1941.

Ada Viola Felch, Assistant Professor of Home Economics, B.S., Middlebury College, 1929, A.M., Teachers College, Columbia University, 1939. Has served as Assistant Dietitian, Memorial Hospital, Worcester, Mass., Dietitian, Childrens Convalescent Home, Wellesley Hills, Mass., and Assistant Dietitian and Instructor in Home Economics, Madison College, Harrisonburg, Virginia.

Doris Nesbitt, Assistant Professor of Home Economics, B.A., 1925, University of Oklahoma, M.S., Iowa State College, 1932. Experienced in general and vocational high school home economics teaching in Alabama and Nevada and as Home Economics Teacher, Trainer and Itinerant Adult Teacher at the University of Nevada.

Dean: Dr. Joseph M. Murray, '25 has been named Acting Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Emeritus...

Completing in June, 1941, a period of service to Maine covering forty-five years, Charles Partridge Weston, '96, assumed the honorary title of Professor Emeritus of Mechanics and stepped down from the familiar place he has occupied in the life of the campus and the memories of generations of former students.

Graduated from Maine in 1896, Prof. Weston received the degree of C.E. in 1899 and an M.A. degree from Columbia in 1902. He served as professor of mechanics since 1920.

On the eve of his retirement last June, his alma mater in tribute awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Science. No formal citation paying full homage to his place in the development of the University, however, could equal the lasting tribute of the friendship of the hundreds of students whom he taught and inspired during these years. To those who knew him, he remains always a part of all that the University has meant to them, to these he can never be retired.

NEWS and EVENTS of the SUMMER

Session—

The annual summer session of the University reported a total of 551 students from twenty-eight states. In out of state registration New York led with forty-five, closely followed by Massachusetts with forty-one. Students from Maine numbered 358. As usual the field of education was particularly well represented.

Among the many courses offered some of those which attracted particularly keen interest were courses in remedial reading, drawing, and crafts, visual education, and school administration. Courses in foreign languages were in unusual demand and it is reported

Among the visiting teachers Dr. Paul S. Miller, Miss L. K. Clarke, and Miss Matilda Deweys were again present. New teachers included Dr. Payson Smith, famous educator who was particularly well received by the students. A series of lectures by Dr. Sigmund Neumann on international affairs high-lighted the lecture program of the session supplemented by a talk on "Hawaii Today" by President Hauck and "Nutrition and National Defense" by Dr. Marion Sweetman of the Home Economics Department. Many outstanding entertainment programs and social events including trips to nearby points in Maine added to the enjoyment of the program.

Agricultural—

The College of Agriculture sponsored a number of programs on the campus during the summer months. Outstanding among these was that of August 25 by the Farm Security Administration featuring a series of talks and discussions groups on problems of rural rehabilitation. Homer F. Wooster, State Rural Rehabilitation Director, was the feature speaker and the meeting was attended by County Council members throughout the state.

A two-day poultry school was held August 21 and 22 sponsored by the College of Agriculture and the Maine Poultry Improvement Association. Prof. J. R. Smyth, head of the Poultry Department, and Frank Reed, Poultry Specialist for the Extension Service, presided at the session. It was widely attended by poultrymen from Maine and neighboring states.

More than 300 members of the Future Farmers of Maine representing forty-eight local chapters of the Association gathered in annual convention on the campus June 23. The young farmers attended lectures, conducted contests and listened to a program of talks and instruction.

The Penobscot Grange held its annual Field Day at the University on August 14, an outing enjoyed by some 350 local grange members.

Oldsters—

The seventeenth annual session of the Three Quarter Century Club met on the University campus on August 26 with an attendance of 1500 members and guests. Made up of persons of seventy-five years of age, the Club is an active and enthusiastic organization. During their one day session they elected President William E. Brewster, father of Senator Ralph O. Brewster.

Donation—

An attractive oil painting of Lt. Col. Albert W. Stevens, '17, world famous stratosphere flier, was presented to the University this summer. Painted by F. John Hilliard, well-known Boston portrait artist, the picture portrays Col. Stevens in army uniform against a deep blue background which the artist says was suggested by the color of the stratosphere as described by the flier.

Setting a world's record in 1935 by his stratosphere balloon flight to more than 72,000 feet, Lt. Col. Stevens achieved international fame at the height of a career which has been marked by continual aerial achievements in addition to his flight accomplishments he is outstanding in the field of photography and research.

Donated: A portrait by John Hilliard, Boston, presented to the University honors a great alumnus, Lt. Col. Albert W. Stevens, '17, world famous stratosphere flier.

Finance—

A three-day program on Education and Municipal Finance was held on the campus July 23 to 25. Opening the program was an address by Frederick G. Payne, State Commissioner of Finance, on "The Financial Situation of the State of Maine." Other speakers included Prof. Walter Chadbourne of the Economics Department, Lawrence L. Pelletier of the Department of Government, Ralph A. Ranger, Industrial Engineer from the Maine Development Commission, and Dr. Bertrand E. Packard, State Commissioner of Education.

Returned—

Administration members, faculty, and alumni were happy to learn of the return to duty in the treasurer's office this summer of Frederick S. Youngs '14, of Bangor, following an extended leave of absence due to illness.

Mr. Youngs was appointed Treasurer in August, 1923. He served regularly in that capacity until severe illness in the winter of 1940 compelled a leave of absence to recover his health. He has returned to duty this fall in excellent health once more.

Homecoming Plans

Plans for the annual Homecoming Program this fall, scheduled this year for the week-end of November 7 and 8 and centering around the home football game with Bowdoin, are already under consideration. A committee headed by Earle F. Bennett '28 as chairman is arranging the program details.

Following in general the outline of recent years, the program will feature a homecoming noon luncheon Saturday and various athletic and campus activities during the week-end. In addition some new program details are this year under consideration.

Interest in the program this year is expected to be heavier than ever; the double attractions of the Bowdoin game and the work of the new coach, George "Eck" Allen, are expected to arouse an even greater interest than normally in the program.

The committee representing alumni, faculty, and students, will consist of Albert D. Nutting '27, Arthur W. Hodges '38, Winthrop C. Libby '32, and Theodore S. Curtis '23, for the faculty; Earle F. Bennett '28, Wallace H. Elliott '26, John Stewart '27, and Miss Marion Rogers '30, for the students; Edward Barrows '42 and Eleanor Ward '42.

With the Teams

VARSITY FOOTBALL—

A scarcity of experienced linemen and the advent of a new coaching set-up led by Brice's successor Coach George "Eck" Allen adds up to some big question marks as Maine's varsity football team swings into action this fall. Alumni and other fans are sure to view with interest even keener than usual the performances of the team this fall. Following a real work-out during spring practice, forty-two gridsters returned to the University for pre-season action on Tuesday, September 2. During those early days they put in some real work with two practice sessions daily and a squad meeting in the evening for skill practice and discussion.

Practice, it is reported, has meant real work this fall with particular stress on blocking, tackling, and daily contact work. Scrimmage every day has been the order and the squad so far has reported only minor injuries as they round into shape for the season.

Of the group reporting for work nine are lettermen from last year's team. Of these, however, only William L. Irvine '42, of Framingham, Mass., at guard is in the line. Graduation has taken such outstanding veterans as Roger Stearns, end, Jim Harris, center, George Grant, Jake Serota, and Fred Briggs. Jake Stahl, last year end, has gone into the army this year.

To replace these gaps in the line Richard Morrill '44, of Farmington, from the Jayvees is looking good at tackle, Bob Dalrymple '42, of Newton, Mass., a letter man in 1940, is doing well at end, and Lowell Ward '43, of Brighton, has been converted from halfback to left end. At the center position Maurice Geneva '43, of South Portland, looks the best at present; a tackle prospect is Frank Squires '44, of Medford, Mass., from last year's frosh team. Plenty of other men, too, are fighting for these places.

The backfield is more nearly certain at the start. Big Ed Barrows '42, of Newport, is sure of the fullback slot and seems headed for a good year. Understudy to him will be Al Edlstein, of Sanford, who saw service last year. At quarter, best bet so far seems to be Jack Reitz '42, of Waltham, Mass., who stands out

Thomas Pollock '42, of Somerville, Mass., and Nat Crowley '42, of Dover-Foxcroft, who have both seen previous service with the varsity are fighting for regular positions with Emile King, of Orono, and Bob Nutter, of Sanford. Clarence McIntire '44, of Portland, Parker Small '42, of South Portland, and Al Hutchinson '44, of Danvers, Mass., are all in the running for backfield work.

As time nears for the opening whistle against Rhode Island, all interest is centered on the question of what kind of a team will emerge from the long practice sessions on Alumni Field. Coach Allen will use plays run mostly from a single wing back behind a balanced line. If the intensive drilling in fundamentals given all players in all positions during the

VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY—

Prospects for the long distance runners for Maine this fall seem to give promise of a team of about average ability with some prospect that it may surprise, according to Coach Chester A. Jenkins, in preliminary announcements. Five members are left this year from the famous national freshman championship team of two years ago. These are Dwight Moody, of Lincoln, Richard Martinez, of Albany, N. Y., Philip Hamm of Charlestown, Leo Estabrook, of East Corinth, and Stanley Frost, of Norway.

Seniors on the squad this year are Mark Ingraham, of Rockport, who was a consistent place winner last year and a very steady runner; Fred Kelso, of Portland, and Harold Garfinkle, of Mattapan, Mass.

Coming up from last year's freshman squad, Coach Jenkins has watched with particular interest the work of Albert Crockett, of Auburn, who is regarded as the most improved man on the squad. Last year he was troubled considerably by a lack of endurance at the end of races which hindered his excellent stride and courage from achieving the place he deserved. It is thought that his running will be much stronger this year.

The cross country season brings a dual meet with New Hampshire on October 11. The annual State Meet will be held at Augusta this year on October 31 followed on November 10 by a New England competition at Boston. On November 17 the squad will go to New York for the national I.C.A.A.A. meet.

early days—drilling in blocking, tackling, running, line-play, and other contact work—really pays off and enables a light and inexperienced line to make a way for the backs, that group of speedy and tricky ball carriers will cover the yards fast, it is conceded.

News from the Alumni Association

In accordance with the action taken by the Alumni Council and subsequently approved at the General Alumni Association annual meeting, the Alumni Activities Fund which now exceeds $5 500 has been deposited in trust with the University of Maine Foundation. This transfer was made by Dimon E. Merrill '11, chairman of the Trustees who upon completion of the transfer were relieved from further responsibility. The trust leaves complete control of the use of the income with the Association but places authority for investment of the funds entirely with the Foundation.

The purpose of the Alumni Activities Fund which was established in 1924 is "To establish a plan for securing a permanent annual income, with which to assist defraying the expenses of the general association and alumni activities and interests at the University of Maine, where and when the General Alumni Association may determine." Although created in 1924 it was not until 1929 that the Fund started to show substantial gains each year through the gifts made by reunion classes. Up to this time the Fund has consisted solely of a savings account deposit. However, the former trustees of the Fund felt that the time had arrived when consideration should be given to investment of the money and definite provision be made for the financial management of the Fund. Under the terms of the Alumni Activities Fund trust, the General Alumni Association retains full control of the use of the income.

Inasmuch as the University of Maine Foundation was sponsored by alumni for the specific purpose of receiving and managing trust funds for the University and all allied departments, it seemed logical that this Alumni Activities Fund should be placed with the Foundation. One of the established policies of that organization is pooling of all funds for investment purposes and prorating income back to each account. The Foundation now has some $35 000 of which it is Trustee.

Service Emblem

By vote of the Alumni Council last June the annual award of the Alumni Service Emblem, recognition of service to the University, will be made during the Commencement program in June this year instead of at the Homecoming luncheon on November 8.

The change in time of award is the result of two factors. It was deemed necessary for one thing to speed up the program of the Homecoming luncheon in order to meet the earlier starting hour of the football game. In the meantime it was felt that the service emblem award was of sufficient significance and value that it should be made before the largest possible number of alumni. These aims it was felt would be better served at the commencement program than at the more limited homecoming event.

Nominations for the current award therefore will be taken during the spring months in anticipation of the presentation on Alumni Day.

Council Members

One of the three new members named to the Alumni Council this year is Myron Peabody, '16, Assistant Treasurer of the Federal Land Bank of Springfield, Mass. His appointment brings recognition to a period of long and loyal service to the University and the Alumni Association. As a member of the Class of 1916, he has been active in class programs and served as marshal for the Commencement program on Alumni Day last June.

Council Member: Myron Peabody, '16, of Springfield, Mass., is one of three new members on the Alumni Council.

Outstanding among his alumni work has been his chairmanship of the Western Massachusetts area for the Library Campaign. This area, under his able and tireless leadership, reached their quota nearly a year ago being among the first eight areas in the country to attain 100% standing. He has also served as president and executive member of his local association.

Mr. Peabody has been associated with the Federal Land Bank for some time and is widely known in the fields of banking and agriculture. His election to the Alumni Council executive body of the General Alumni Association, brings to the deliberations of the group a loyal and interested alumnus whose friendly personality and clear thinking have made him a leader in many fields.

The other two new appointees to the Council are Alton T. Littlefield '21, of Augusta, and Frank W. Linnell '29, of Auburn. A picture and detailed information about each will introduce them to fellow alumni in subsequent issues.

George E. Lord, '24, Assistant Director of the Agricultural Extension Service and long active in alumni work, has been elected new clerk of the General Alumni Association, succeeding Maurice D. Jones, '14, who served in that capacity ten years.

Mr. Lord is a past president of the Penobscot County Alumni Association and has served as a chairman of the Dues Committee. As assistant director of the Extension Service, he has much responsibility in the administration of the important program of the Service to farmers throughout the state. He previously served as County Agent for Franklin County and as County Agent Leader at the University. He was appointed to his present position in 1934.

Military Service

Plans for establishing and maintaining a set of records of men in military and naval service are being formulated by an alumni committee appointed by George D. Bearce, '11, president of the Alumni Association. The committee consists of Lt. Leo J. Murphy, '36, Lt. Arthur W. Hodges, '38, and Lt. Richard W. Healy, '35.

Lt. Murphy, chairman of the committee, is adjutant at the Bangor Army Air Base, and Lts. Healy and Hodges are both instructors in Military Science at the University.

The purpose of the plan is to secure all information possible about alumni who are in any branch of the military and naval service and so far as possible to maintain a record of changes, transfers, and promotions. Alumni are invited to send the names and all possible information concerning men now in service. It is hoped also that a "camp file" may be developed so that it will be possible to furnish at any time a list of men in any camp. The success of this plan will depend in no small measure upon the cooperation of the men in service.

By vote of the Alumni Council Executive Committee it was voted to send a complimentary subscription of The Maine Alumnus to all non-commissioned men in service.

New Member Named To Dues Committee

Newest member of the important Dues Committee of the Association is Richard C Dolloff, '27, County Agent Leader of the Agricultural Extension Service. He takes up this year a three-year term to serve with Chairman Samuel Calderwood, '33, of Bangor, and Henry L. Doten, '23, Business Manager of the University.

Mr Dolloff has long been widely known in alumni work as well as in the field of agriculture. He served two years as instructor in vocational agriculture at Unity high school then became 4-H Club Agent for Cumberland County, followed by seven years as assistant county agent for Aroostook county. He was named County Agent Leader in 1936.

The Dues Committee this year in early meetings formulated a series of dues notices on a new type of approach featuring drawings of Bananas, the cub bear mascot, and emphasizing various phases of the work and service offered by the Alumni Association.

Again this year receipts in acknowledgment of dues payments will take the form of the useful calendar of campus events for the year, giving as complete a list as possible of academic, athletic, social, and cultural activities. The calendar will be mailed immediately on receipt of dues payments which will as usual include the years' issue of The Maine Alumnus.

Award—

The award of a fellowship of $720 to Beatrice A. Besse '41, of Brooks, and Frank Hanson '42, of Rumford, was announced in late June by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, commonly known as ASCAP. The award was in recognition of the outstanding student production Of Cabbages and Kings written by Miss Besse and Mr. Hanson, and presented last year by the Maine Masque. The comedy was named the regional winner in the second ASCAP fellowship competition for composers and authors of college musical plays. Placed in competition with musical plays written by students throughout New England, Of Cabbages and Kings was judged most successful on the basis of originality, continuity, and production problems.

Defense—

Defense training courses at the University were conducted during the summer months, enrolling among others some twenty-five soldiers from the Bangor Air Base. Elementary and advanced courses in engineering drafting, work in machine shop, internal combustion engines, and other technical subjects.

The Merrymeeting Bay Alumni put on a clambake and picnic on August 5 at the home of Lawrence Merriman '21 in Harpswell Center. Plans were made for the fall meeting the night before the Homecoming football game on November 7. Everyone present enjoyed the summer outing and complimented the committee in charge consisting of Mr. Merriman, Everett K. Adams '32, and Carl B. Swanton '17.

Vermont Alumni reported fourteen alumni and alumnae present at a meeting in Brattleboro June 19. Professor Walter D. Emerson '16, of Norwich University, conducted the business meeting. Plans were discussed for district social meetings to widen the acquaintance of alumni in Vermont. The entertainment feature of the evening was a showing of movies and a talk by Raymond C. Thompson, State Aeronautics Examiner on aeronautics work in the state.

Committee Member: Newest member of the important Dues Committee of the Association this year is Richard Dolloff, '27, of Orono.

Boston Alumni Association elected the following officers last May: for president, Warren Preble '21; first vice president, James Gulliver '15; second vice president, Leslie J. Wertheim '11. Treasurer for the group will be William Bailey '26, and Duncan Cotting '38 will serve as secretary. Richard Clark '27 was chosen chairman of the executive committee.

Alumni in the vicinity of Ithaca, N. Y. met on the Cornell campus July 22 for a social evening with Dean Arthur L. Deering '12, member of the Cornell Summer Session faculty, as guest of honor. Eighteen alumni were present, mostly members of the summer school or extension school.

Northern California Alumni gathered on July 18 to welcome President Arthur A. Hauck on his trip to Hawaii. Nineteen alumni and guests were present and greatly enjoyed Dr. Hauck's talk on University activities.

Portland Alumnae held their regular monthly meeting in May at the Columbia Hotel. A finance committee was chosen to consider the question of association dues. The group also voted to give an additional $100.00 to the Library Fund. New officers elected were Christine Elliott Stanford '35, president, Freida Weaver Prouty '29, vice president, Mary Carter Stiles '31, recording secretary, Mrs. William Murphy '33, corresponding secretary, and Virginia Nelson Sturgis '36, treasurer.

Southern California Alumni met on June 12. There were about twenty-five alumni and friends present to welcome President Hauck on the occasion of his visit to the Pacific Coast.

Northeastern New York Alumni picnic was held September 20 at Crooked Lake near Troy. A number of new people turned out to make the largest group for some time. Thirty-four alumni, guests, and families were present and fully enjoyed the excellent outing. Arrangements were under the direction of the officers with Conan Priest '22, president. The report was made by H. W. Chadbourne '02, secretary.

Vermont Alumni residing in the southern half of the state enjoyed a picnic outing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cassista. Eighteen were present. This was the first such gathering to be tried for this section. Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Hyde, of Ludlow, assisted the Cassistas with arrangements.

U. S. Marine Corps

That a Marine's life is seldom a monotonous one, at least after preliminary training, is shown by the histories of Lt. Col. True and Capt. Totman. Norman E. True joined the Corps which has been his life career by way of the first World War, "joining up" in 1917 and leaving the University in the midst of an electrical engineering course to do so. Commissioned a second lieutenant in October that year, he became First Lieutenant the following July. He saw overseas service in France with the 5th Marines from May, 1918, until that regiment returned in July, 1919.

The years between 1926 and 1928 saw him stationed at Port au Prince, Haiti, then in June, 1929, he sailed for China for duty with the Fourth Marines at Shanghai. There he stayed through the exciting and terrible days of the first Japanese invasion of Shanghai. He had been permanently commissioned to the rank of Captain in 1931, then in 1937 received the grade of Major. He commanded the Sea School, Marine Barracks, Norfolk, Virginia, from 1938 to 1941 and is at present at Parris Island, N. C., commanding a group of batteries of naval guns with Coast Artillery missions.

Life has not been so very different for Captain Totman. The narrative of his shorter but no less interesting career is best told in his own words. He writes:

The history of my service is typical of the Marine Corps since 1935. After receiving my commission I was ordered to the Basic School at Philadelphia for a course in military science and tactics. At the completion of the course I went to Charlestown Navy Yard, Boston.

One morning in September I received one of the most pleasant surprises in my life in the form of orders to the Fourth Marines stationed in Shanghai.

The duty in Shanghai was my best in many ways. The 4th Marines is a fine regiment, with picked men and officers.

The many interesting things that happened during the next six months, two months of which we were almost continually under fire from both the Chinese and Japanese, are too numerous to mention. The one lesson I learned during that time was that American men who have been properly trained are the most courageous, self-sacrificing, and dependable soldiers in the world.

I returned from Shanghai in August, 1938, to serve at Mare Island and San Clemente Island, Calif., where for one year I was Commanding Officer. I was then given a two months leave so that for the first time since 1937 I saw my folks in Massachusetts. Needless to say, I drove up to Orono to see all my friends "Wally," "Foxy Fred," "Dean Corbett," "Doc" Witter, and the Foresters were all the same and their presence made the school seem the same. I then went to visit an old girl friend whom I had met while at the University and the Maine girl looked so much better to me than those that I had seen in my travels that after some pretty fast talking on my part she decided to "Join the Marines and see the World." Since that time she crossed the country, spent seven months at the Marine Corps Base in San Diego with me, and now we are at Sitka, Alaska, the historic capital of old Russian Alaska. I have, of course, omitted all detail from the last two years of my service due to the existent world conditions.

Also Captain in the Corps is James V. Bradley, Jr., of Millinocket, Class of 1929. Now stationed at Quantico, Va., he has seen service in Cuba and San Diego, Cal., in his dozen years of service.

Those who think of the Marines as trim officers smartly dressed in blue uniforms with red stripes, or soldiers standing guard on the colorful posters at railway stations and recruiting offices, fail to realize that back of this adventurous atmosphere stands a tradition of stern discipline, hard work, and real fighting. It is in this great tradition that Maine alumni in the Marine Corps are carrying on today.

NECROLOGY

1886

JOSIAH M. AYER Josiah M. Ayer, of Portland, retired Boston engineer and former executive in a prominent hardware firm in Portland, died by drowning on July 22 at the age of 78. Born in Freedom, he was graduated from the University in 1886 in electrical engineering and was employed for 20 years by the Boston Elevated Railroad Company. Subsequently he was associated with the hardware firm of Talbot Brooks, and Ayer, in Portland.

FRANK E. WEYMOUTH Death brought an end to the engineering career of Frank E. Weymouth at the age of 67 on July 22. Death was attributed to a heart attack. As general manager and chief engineer of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, he had long been a leading engineer in many of the great developments in that part of the country. He was credited with a large share in the preliminary planning of Boulder Dam and served as director of construction of the Colorado River Aqueduct, longest domestic water supply facility in the world.

Prior to his association with the Water District, he was chief engineer for the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation in which capacity he prepared many of the early studies on the Boulder Dam project. A native of Medford, Maine, he followed his graduation from the University with work in Boston and Malden, Mass., later becoming assistant engineer for the City of Winnipeg, Manitoba. He was situated later with the Canal Commission in Nicaragua and as resident engineer for a railway in Ecuador. With the U. S. Reclamation Service he worked in Montana, North Dakota, Idaho, and Wyoming, being appointed chief construction engineer for the Service in the West in 1915, and chief engineer in 1924. He has for sometime been residing in San Marino, in the vicinity of Los Angeles, and his death occurred at his home in that place.

In recognition of his professional leadership he was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering in 1934 by the University.

Employed for several years by that company, Mr. Thurston held the position of foreman in the sodium hyposulphite department. He had resided in Chester. His death was extremely sudden and unexpected.

ROBERT F. WISHART Victim of a boating tragedy, Dr. Robert F. Wishart, a Rumford dentist, was one of 37 killed in the mysterious destruction of the excursion boat Don off Bailey's Island. Dr. Wishart, 28 years old, graduated from a dental school in Toronto following his attendance at the University. He had recently set up a successful dentist practice in Rumford where he lived with his father. Details of the sea tragedy are still shrouded in mystery. Apparently some swift catastrophe of the ocean following engine trouble on the excursion boat caused the disaster.

Another year is beginning, college is open and things are beginning to hum. I had hoped to see more of you and have a big column to begin with, we do have some very important news. Few classes can have the distinction of being represented on the Board of Trustees and have a member serve as Dean of the University. This honor has come to us during the last year. Joseph Murray has been announced as acting Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dean Edward Allen. "Joe" has been head of the Biology department for the last seven years. We are all glad to express our congratulations to our classmate

Henry G. Perkins, for seven years principal of Aroostook Central Institute at Mars Hill, will assume the principalship of Ellsworth High School this month

I feel as if I had been hibernating all summer as I haven't heard from or of anyone all summer—no, I'll have to take it back—I did stop in to see Clara Stuart Guhn up at Sebomook this summer. Clara, of course, spends most of her summers there at the State Forestry Camp which seemed to be a grand place.

Then, too, I did have lunch in Boston with Florence Gushie this summer but although we spoke of Marion Lord, who "Gushie" says goes from Kézar Falls to Washington, D. C., quite often I never do seem to hear from Marion.

I phoned Peggy Webster who sympathizes with me in my news gathering and she said that Marion Farrington Gero had been to Brewer this summer and Peggy had seen her. Marion lives in Cohoes, N. Y.

I spent a week at the Eastern Maine General Hospital the first of September and Annette Matthews who is Medical Technologist in Laboratory there, came in and made a little visit. She told me also that Amy Adams has the position of head of the English Department at Old Town High School this year.

Summer "Fat" Fifield moved the last of May from Staten Island, N. Y., to Norco, Louisiana (Box 125) where he is Engineer in charge for R. C. A.

The Alumni office sends me two items—Capt. Henry Howard who has been on duty with organized Reserves at Boston has gone to Fort Davis, Canal Zone, with the 14th Infantry, and I presume the Howards would appreciate hearing from some of you.

James Bradstreet is Associate Engineer, Constructing Quartermaster Corps at Camp Edwards, Falmouth, Mass., with residence at Bryantville, Mass.

And that is all, and I know some of us must have been somewhere and seen some of our class this summer—write in, and tell the rest of us what someone else is doing where they live, family, etc.

The beginning of a new school year has a way of catching up with people, no matter how much they'd like an extension of summer vacation. I spent most of mine at the University of New Hampshire summer session searching for the youth I lost at our tenth reunion. Quite a successful search it was, too. At least, I had a lot of fun.

As usual with the first issue for fall, a number of items have collected during the summer. Although some are quite old, the news may still be of interest.

Morton Dantforth was married June 14 to Miss Dorothy Peters, a graduate of Brewer High School. Morton is manager of Dantforth Brothers' Grocery in Brewer. Belated congratulations!

Lou Durgan Hammons is president for this year of the Greater Bangor Alumnae chapter of Pi Beta Phi. At the same meeting Charlotte Cleaves was named chairman of the magazine committee, and Ethel Sezak gave a report on the activities of the U. of M. chapter, where she is chairman of the advisory committee.

Jacob Holmes, of Belfast, is a director of the Belfast and Mooshead Lake Railroad Company.

Beryl Bryant was instructor and supervisor of medical nursing at a seven weeks' course given at the Maine General Hospital in Bangor through June and July. The course was given as a part of the national program for better defense preparations at home and was the first course of this type to be given in Maine. Beryl graduated from the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and was head nurse there before coming to Bangor in 1939. She is also treasurer of the Maine branch of the National League of Nursing Education.

Ken Lapworth is Commanding Officer of Company A 28th QM Regt., U. S. Army, at Camp Shelby, Miss. His home address is 7 Memorial Street, Baldwinville, Mass.

Roger Annis is a chemical engineer in the Research Department of the Diamond Alkali Company, Painesville, Ohio, and he lives at 11 W. South Street.

Seems to me the biggest trouble with this column is the advanced age of most of the items by the time they get to me from the Alumni office. Nobody can stir up much interest with stale news. A very simple remedy would be for you to send me some news direct. Red Farnsworth has started off with a card mailed the last of July in Cartagena, Colombia. "Swell trip," he says. It ought to be for anybody who travels as First Engineer of the S. S. Cape Town!

You may not be that far away or doing anything that exciting, but any news of yourself will be interesting to someone. A postcard doesn't take much time to write and will reach me at the usual address. How about it?

Well, another summer has passed by and once again its time to rummage through the trunk for those "long undies"! All summer long I've religiously perused the daily newspapers, clipping items here and there which I knew would interest you people. And now as I sort them all out, I find an assortment of weddings, births, and "chit-chat" about many of you.

Helen Nivison became the bride of Dr. Edward Lorraine Young, 3rd, on June 24th. Dr. Young was graduated from Harvard University and the Harvard University Medical School. Beginning in January he will serve his internship at the Massachusetts General Hospital. "Nivi" and her husband spent the summer at Lamoine and Boothbay Harbor.

Hazel Scully became the bride of Dr. Robert T. Henkle, of New London, Conn., on June 27th. Dr. Henkle was graduated from Cornell University and Cornell Medical School and is now practicing physician and surgeon in New London, Conn. The Henkles, for their wedding trip, cruised to the West Indies and Panama. They are now living at the Mohican Hotel, New London.

Dr. Kenneth F. Smith took as his bride this summer Miss Ida Vose Woodbury, of Portland. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Westbrook Junior College and is a medical technologist employed in the pathological laboratories of the Maine General Hospital. After a brief wedding trip "Ken," who is a member of the United States Naval Reserves, had to leave for the West Coast where he is assigned to the cruiser Richmond.

Dame Fortune has followed Edwin Giddings around this summer, I'd say. First—his engagement to Miss Mary Louise Bass of Wilton, Maine. Mary is a graduate of Wilton Academy, Bryn Mawr, and Wellesley. She is the Curator of Education at the Children's Museum of Hartford, Conn. Secondly, Ed received his Master's degree from the Yale School of Forestry, and lastly, a promotion to be District Forest Ranger in charge of the Davy Crockett National Forest in Texas. Ed's address is U. S. Forest Service, Crockett, Texas. (Incidentally, that was thoughtful of you, Ed, to write me, and how I appreciated it. Thanks, loads, and heaps of congratulations.) Edwin also writes that he has seen two former classmates during the past year, Dick Miller, who is with the U. S. Forest Service at Paris, Arkansas, and Bill McBrady, who is married and located in Lufkin, Texas.

Philip S. Friend is located in Jersey City, New Jersey, as assistant to manager, Engineer Research Dept., with the Air Reduction Sales Company, Welding and Cutting equipment. His residence is 210 East 9th St., Plainfield, N. J.

Charles Page, Jr., has accepted the superintendency of the Dover-Foxcroft school union.

"Peg" Davis was recently elected president of the State of Maine Alumnae chapter of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Two more future University of Maine students arrived this past summer, to Lieut. and Mrs. John P. Farnsworth, a son, Edward E. Farnsworth, 3rd. Jack, by the way, is stationed at Camp Wheeler, Ga. To Mr. and Mrs. Philip Yerxa (Eleanor West), a daughter, Dorothy Lorraine, born July 15th.

Charlie Bunker, or rather Lieut. Bunker, is stationed at Westover Field, Chicopee, Mass.

Bumped into Prescott and Emily Ward the other evening—both look just the same—Prescott insisted he has fewer strands of hair but I couldn't agree! The Wards live at 41 Adelbert St., South Portland.

Any of you reading "Berlin Diary" by William Shirer? If you are, did you notice Rose Cole Mowier's name mentioned on page 178?

1935 Next Reunion, 1943

After such a nice summer, it is hard to get back to work and to relaying the news to you but I have heard from or about so many '35ers and I know you are anxious to hear so—

Weddings take the foreground, of course. On July 21st, at Houlton, Otis T. Hanson was married to Miss Mildred Clark, formerly of Lowell, Massachusetts, a graduate of Patten Academy. Otis has been employed by the Maine Publicity Service Company at Presque Isle.

Flora Stone Sylvester was married at Macon, Georgia, to Lt. Benjamin S. Humphries on June 19th. Flora has been teaching and coaching at Hodgdon and Milo high schools, and has been home demonstration agent for Piscataquis County. Mr. Humphries was graduated from Washington State Normal School and the University of Maine. At present he is employed as instructor at Air Corps Basic Flying School, Macon, Georgia. Mr. and Mrs. Humphries are at home at 205 Berkley Drive, Macon, Georgia.

On Saturday, May 24th, Earl Dresser Brown was married to Olive C. Lathrop, of Thiello, New York.

On Saturday, June 14, Miss Margaret Goff Moore Smith became the bride of Horace Stanley Field. Mrs. Field was graduated from Anson Academy and Westbrook Junior College, and she has been employed by the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company. Horace is employed by the Shell Oil Company in Portland where Mr. and Mrs. Field will live.

Wallace W. Lord is resident engineer in charge of a half million dollar flood control project in Hoinell, N. Y. He lives at 345 Seneca Road, Hornell with Mrs. Lord and two daughters.

The marriage of Anne Cunningham Cooper to Gridley W. Tarbell took place on January 27th, in Charleston, South Carolina.

On June 29th Ella Rowe was married to N. Allen Savage. Ella has been technician at the Jackson Memorial Laboratory for Cancer Research in Bar Harbor. Mr. Savage is a member of the faculty of the Mount Desert High School.

And our congratulations and best wishes to you all, and, of course, to the engaged. Miss Marietta Pauline Welch's engagement to Ira J. Packard has been announced. Miss Welch, a graduate of Washington Academy and the Maine School of Commerce, taught at the Brooklyn High School and Machias High. Ira has taught vocational agriculture at Machias High and is now engaged in farming at Seasmont.

The marriage of Edith Bradley Hill to Everett Leighton Brewer has been announced. Edith completed a course in dietetics at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston. Mr. Brewer, who has a master of science degree in chemical engineering from the University of Cincinnati, is now instructor in chemistry at the University of Maine.

In June Eleanor G. Gowen became Miss Alden Jacobs, of Swampscott, Massachusetts. Eleanor had been teaching at Biddeford High School. Alden is now with the General Electric Company of Lynn, Massachusetts. El and Alden are living at 42 Redington Street, Swampscott, Massachusetts.

Among the sixteen Maine officers at Fort Blanding, Georgia, who have been promoted was Paul W. Bean, of Lewiston. Paul is now a First Lieutenant.

And Lieutenant Carl Honor was called to active duty at Camp Edwards, Mass., on June 2, 1941. Margie is at 928 Union Street, Bangor, Maine, while Carl is at camp.

In June, 1941, Carl Brooks Otis received his Ph.D. degree from Brown University. Carl's field of specialization is biology and his thesis was written on "The Effect of Certain Drugs and Ions on the Isolated and Perfused Ventricle of the Oyster."

George Stinchfield, who is now one of the leading decorators for Lord and Taylor, New York City, has been visiting in Orono of late.

At the Court House in Bridgton, New Jersey, is Spurgeon K. Benjamin. "Benmy" was formerly at Belfast as 4-H Club Agent. He is now County Agent.

Ashton P. Sawyer is now a draftsman for the Celanese Corporation of America and is located at Narrows, Virginia.

Phil Pendell has gone into government service and is no longer in charge of the Aroostook County office of the Bangor Daily News at Presque Isle. Phil is now Junior Field Civil Service Examiner and recently reported at Boston for assignment.

And some important news arrived with the stork on August 12th at the Maine General Hospital—it is Priscilla Homans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ashton P. Sawyer.

Fran Johnson is now secretary to the Red Cross in Berlin, New Hampshire.

And so, until next month—

Next Reunion, 1942

I am filling in for your class secretary in order that the Class of '37 will start the new college year on the right foot. Henny is at the present convalescing after presenting the Woodbury family with a boy, John Cliff Woodbury, born September 11.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison are announcing the birth of a daughter, Nancy Mower, born in June. The Morrises are living in Bradford, where Red is the new principal of the high school for the coming year.

Audrey Bishop Thibodeau also has a brand new daughter but I do not know the particulars.

Marion Larsen was married to Ted Chandler this summer at her home. Understand the Chandlers are to live in Massachusetts. Barbie Lancaster was one of the bridesmaids at the wedding.

Everett Brewer was recently married to Elinor Hill, daughter of Prof. A. S. Hill. Mrs. Brewer was a graduate of Maine in the class of '36. The Brewers will live in Orono, Everett being an instructor in chemistry.

Fred Parsons and Elizabeth Dill were united in marriage at the home of the bride's aunt in Hanover, Maine. The wedding took place in June. The Parsons are living in West Medford, Mass. Carol Stevens presided over the guest book.

Yvonne Gonya was married to Alfred A. Jenkins Saturday, June 28, in Millinocket. From all reports it was a very beautiful wedding.

Ralph Hawkes is engaged to marry Miss Jane Varrell. Miss Varrell is enrolled at Simmons College in the five-year nurses course. Ralph is associated with the Hartford College of Law from which he will be graduated in 1944.

On July 1, Dr. Winford Adams began his internship at the Eastern Maine General Hospital in Bangor. Dr. Adams completed his medical course at Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia on June 6. Nice going, "Doc."

The Class of '37 has two more of its members in the medical profession now. Walter Butterfield graduated from Harvard Medical in June and started his internship at the Hartford Conn. hospital. Bob Allen received his Doctor of Medicine degree from Johns Hopkins last June. Haven't heard where Bob is interning.

Libby Gardner received her Library of Science degree from Simmons last June and assumed duties as Assistant State Librarian at Augusta on June 1.

Charles Towle has been appointed teacher of English at the Garland Street Junior High in Bangor for the coming year. Charles plans to do graduate work at Maine along with his teaching duties.

Just received word that Marge Murch

Black and family are moving to California where Ken is to enter the bakery business.

The Alumni office sends along information on the whereabouts of a few '37ers. Edward Wood is located at the Naval Air Station in Jacksonville, Florida, as a cadet.

Phil Bower is a draftsman at the Oxford Paper Company in Rumford. Phil lives at 6 Erchles Street.

Class President Pat Hutchings was in Orono a week ago and reports that he is a Research Veterinarian for the U.S.D.A. Doctor Pat is still located at Michigan State. His residence address is Ardmore Ave., Okemos, Mich. Pat says it isn't too early to formulate plans for reunion in June.

Gerald Stoughton is an industrial engineer for the American Steel and Wire Co. in Trenton, N. J. He lives at 475 Greenwood Ave.

Jane Goldsmith is still with the Burroughs Adding Machine Co. in Portland. Jane lives at 39 Byfield Rd.

Lloyd Hathfield became a member of Uncle Sam's fighting forces in the September 5th draft.

Hope you '37ers can make something out of this report and if anyone has been left out that should be mentioned I am sure Henny will do you justice next month.

1940 Next Reunion, 1942

Hello again after a short eventful summer! A wealth of material has come to me either directly or through the Alumni office, so down to business without delay.

Betty Jones was married on the tenth of June to Roger Olney Benjamin in Rumford, Maine. They are living at 474 West Two Thirty-eighth Street, New York City.

On June 14 Marjorie Johnson and James A. Marr ('38) were married in Houlton, Maine. The Marrs are living at 44 Tremont Street, Campello, Mass.

Ruth Trickey and Robert Parker were married in the Universalist Church in Pittsfield, Maine, on the 28th of June. Rick and Bob will be in Fort Fairfield, Maine, this fall where Bob is teaching in the Junior High.

Announcement was made of the marriage of Kathleen Duplisse and Emil F. Hawes on May 20 in Old Town. They are at home in Southern Pines, N. C., where Emil is on active duty at Fort Bragg.

Caroline Reed was married on June 14 to Edward L. Kozicky in Portland, Maine. They will be at Pennsylvania State College this coming year where Ed is a graduate student.

Raymond R. Johnston and Helen E. Kelleher were married in Fort Fairfield, Maine, on the first day of July. John Mames was in the wedding party.

William Chandler and Anna Verrill '41 were married on July 19 in Westbrook, Maine. Bill and Anna will reside at 487 Spring Ave., Ridgewood, N. J.

Miss Rachel Kent and Kenneth E. Clark '39 were married in the First Universalist Church in Bangor on August 4. Ken and Rachel are living in Easton, Maine, where Ken has a teaching position. William Treat was best man and of course our class was well represented at the wedding. Miss Mary Upham became the bride of Thomas J. Craven at Biddeford, Maine, late in August. Mr. Craven graduated from Hebron and Bowdoin College and was a member of Theta Delta Chi.

Marion Fitzgerald and Paul F. Murphy were married in Newburgh, N. Y., on the 31st of September. The announcement just came and so I haven't the details of where they are to live. Paul teaches in New York state, I believe, and like many others was expecting to be called into the service.

William Hamilton—Bones—is a forest ranger at Grand Lake Ranger Station, Grand Lake, Colorado.

Franklyn I. Jones was awarded the gold wings of a Naval aviator and commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve. He is to be assigned to active duty as a pilot in the Navy.

The engagement of Doris E. Fowler and Wendell Eaton has been announced. Miss Fowler is a graduate of Farmington State Normal School. Mr. Eaton was principal of the grammar school in Union.

Donald Scanlin was ordained to the ministry on June 15. Dr. Harry Trust of the Bangor Seminary participated in the service which took place in Ellsworth.

Edith Hurley will teach mathematics in Madison High School this coming year.

Lucille Hall and Barbara Welch were counselors at Camp Tanglewood during the summer. Barbara Welch will teach in Millinocket this year.

The engagement of Philip Hinckley and Marion Andrews was announced on June 29. Miss Andrews graduated from Aurora College, Aurora, Ill., and is teaching in Franklin, N. H.

Miss Barbara Crocker was married on July 19 to Maison K. Goodrich in Fort Kent, Maine. Mr. Goodrich is associated with the Commercial Credit Corporation at Lewiston.

Fred Schoppee, Jr., is Assistant Dairy Inspector in the State Department of Agriculture, the Division of Dairy Inspection at Augusta, Maine.

Jane Holmes is at the Utica Memorial Hospital doing the laboratory technical work. Jane lives at home in West Winfield, New York.

Weddings seem to have monopolized this month's report but the announcement of the arrival of Harriet Leslie Nelson by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson is a very special item and a step in another direction.

Don't forget to send me news of your activities present and future!

Until next month,
Alice Ann Donovan
121 Main St.
Houlton, Maine

1941 Next Reunion, 1943

Well, it certainly didn't take you long to scatter! Only three months and you are writing from every state in the Union!

Of course a good many of the boys are wearing uniforms. Buzz Tracy, Bob Carlyle, Bob Irvine, Jim Harris, Rog Stearns, Harry Whitten and Fred Libby are stationed at Fort Devens. 'Way down south at Fort Benning are George Ellis, Charlie Smith and Ed Mutty. Charlie Adams and Hartley Banton have been assigned to the Coast Artillery School at Fort Monroe.

Bill St. Germaine is a Junior Engineer in the U. S. Army Air Corps and is living at 10401 East Jefferson Ave., Detroit, Michigan.

Avery Bond is an engineer with Pratt and Whitney in East Hartford. Don Blaisdell is taking an engineering training course with Allis-Chalmers in Pittsburgh.

Jake Serota is working for the Maine Fish and Game Dept. and is stationed at Katahdin State Park.

And what a list of marriages I have before me! Anna Verrill and Bill Chandler ('40) were married in July and are living at 487 Spring Ave., Ridgewood, N. J.

Betty Mosher and Clifton Whitney ('40) were married the day of graduation. He is associated with the Federal Milk Market Administration in Boston.

Glenna Johnson is now Mrs. Don Smith and the address of Easton, Maine, should reach them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kozicky (Carn Reed '40) are living in State College, Pa., where Ed is doing graduate work.

Kay Boyle and Norm Harris ('40)—my, how the classes of '40 and '41 got together!—were married in June and are living on Park St. in Orono.

Now, for a few of us single gals. Emmy Hopkins, Ruth White, Blanche Conlan and Alma Hansen are all with Actna in Hartford. Lib Peaslee is in Hartford also, on G. Fox's training squad. Hilda Rowe is doing the same type of work with Filene's in Boston. Charlene Perkins, Betty Reid, and myself are with Employers' Insurance Co. Helen Wormwood was with us this summer and is now teaching at Norway High School.

Some of the other school teachers which our class produced are: Calista Buzzell in Howland, Esther Drummond in Bucksport, Joyce Ramsey in Liberty, Bea Gleason at Castine, Jean Boyle at Clinton, and Mary Boone at Ellsworth.

Shirley Mitchell is a student dietitian at the Massachusetts General. Her address is 32 River St., Boston. Maddy Smart is another of our stylists, and she is with R. H. White, again here in Boston.

I imagine Ellie Look has had a grand time this summer, giving Rockland news over Station WGAN in Portland.

Francie Sawyer and Will Alford announced their engagement this summer. Is the date set, Francie? Will is a cartographic engineer for the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

George Grant is working for Liberty Mutual and has moved to Springfield, Mass.

Cam Doak, Tine Carver, and Mary Bates are Home Demonstration agents in Maine. Cam is driving trucks (so we hear) in Aroostook. Tine is in charge of Franklin County. How about an address from you, Mary?

Charlie Leining is located in Mount Vernon, New York. He is a private secretary for the Public Service Holding Corporation.

Winston Pullen has obtained an assistantship in Agricultural Marketing at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

Robert Goodwin has entered the ministry and will be preacher at Prospect Harbor, Gouldsboro, and East Sullivan.

'Haddie' Hamm has been taking a training course in Boston with Burroughs Adding Machine Co., and will soon be located in Bangor.

And you may as well start watching for the football scores of Orono High for Freddie Briggs is to be coach there.

Mr. Crossland warned me not to make this too long, so some of the news will have to keep until next month. Please, everyone, let me know where you are, and if you want anyone's address I will try to get it for you.

Bye now,

Barbara Ashworth
59 Beacon Street
Boston, Mass.

Not all Protection Wardens wear tin hats!

Green-grocers and bookkeepers by day . . . helmeted heroes at night . . . the men of Britain's Air Raid Precaution Service have made a magnificent contribution to their country's defense.

HERE in America, busy men with plain felt hats in place of tin ones provide protection day and night for countless homes.

They're not digging wounded children out of debris—but they are sending thousands of healthy children through school and college.

They're not snuffing out incendiaries on neighboring roofs—but they are helping the families under those roofs to carry on, after death has struck without a warning siren.

Who are they? They are the trained and experienced life insurance men and women of America, who are helping countless families to set up defenses that are certain in uncertain times.

From coast to coast, New England Mutual's group of Career Underwriters is eminently qualified to render intelligent counsel on personal insurance problems.

Representing the first mutual life insurance company chartered in this country, they are equipped with a variety of unusually liberal contracts that may be written to suit your particular needs.

A friendly consultation may be had without obligation on your part.

Call on these men for careful counsel on family defense

Below is a list of "protection wardens" from your own college.

They have chosen life insurance as a career because it means personal independence, and carries with it the satisfaction of rendering constructive service—freeing families from fear—selling investments that no buyer ever regrets.

They have chosen New England Mutual as a company because it is old in years but young in spirit. Because it's the first mutual life insurance company chartered in America, with modern policy contracts which are noted for their flexibility.

If you're not near enough to any of these fellow-alumni for a personal conference, look in the telephone directory for the New England Mutual office in your city. You will find carefully trained, experienced men, largely with college backgrounds, who will be glad to talk to you, whether or not you are in the market for insurance.

Because many of our capable younger fieldmen have gone into the nation's service, our organization has a number of opportunities available in various parts of the country.

If you are between 25 and 35, married, preferably with some sales experience, or if you know some one who fits these specifications and who may not be happy in his present work, why not write to our Director of Agencies, Wm. Eugene Hays (Stanford '26), for further information?

Address your letter to 87 Milk St., Boston, Mass. There will be no obligation involved.

1941 looks at 1916

THINGS have changed a lot in 25 years and yet there is much that is the same.

In 1916 it was Preparedness; in 1941, National Defense. But now the scale is bigger, the pace faster. There was pressure on the telephone business then. The pressure is infinitely greater now. New training camps; new aviation fields; new munitions plants—all need telephones. Every one is moving faster and when a Nation hurries it does it by telephone. The Bell System spent 94 millions on new construction in 1916. It is spending more than 420 millions in 1941.

The entire Bell System organization is giving "first call" to defense. We believe you would want it that way.
