Pike's Peak to FUJIYAMA

IT takes a block-buster only a few seconds to fall from a high-flying U. S. bomber to its bull's-eye on Berlin or Naples or Tokio. But it took almost 25 years to get the plane up there to drop the bomb. For where

Production has kept pace with demand for high-flying planes some of our planes are flying today—on top of practically anything that flies—the air is so thin that a plane engine would lose about four-fifths of its rated sea-level horsepower if it weren't equipped with a turbosupercharger.

It was back in the days of World War I that the Army Air Corps first asked General Electric engineers to tackle the problem of feeding plane engines air under pressure to cure the loss of power at high altitudes. The result was the turbosupercharger—a device that scoops in 60-below-zero air and crams it down the engine's windpipe to provide the same amount of oxygen it would normally get at sea level. And since the turbosupercharger takes its power from the engine's own red-hot exhaust gases, it almost makes the plane lift itself by its own bootstraps.

The first success came in 1918, on Pike's Peak, where a supercharged Liberty engine, rated at 350 horsepower, actually delivered 356 horsepower at 14,000 feet. That was just the beginning. For 20-odd years G-E engineers worked to improve the device. When the present war broke out, it was ready—a potent, all-American weapon which the Axis, for all its years of war preparation, could not match. Today all of America's big bombers are equipped with turbosuperchargers. And all of these turbosuperchargers are built either by General Electric or in the plants of two other manufacturers from G-E designs.

The turbosupercharger is just one of many engineering near-miracles developed in industrial laboratories in time to put on a uniform and begin fighting for America. We have them because of the happy combination of ingenuity and perseverance which has always characterized American industry. It is a combination that will have a lot to do with winning the war, and with building the better world hereafter. For then the men who are

UNIVERSITY opens FALL TERM

Army Program, New Calendar Highlight Opening of Second University War Year

THE University opened the fall term of its second full war-time year on Tuesday, September 14. Previously planned for October 5, the September opening was the result of a basic change of the University calendar to establish a quarterly plan whereby the dates of civilian classes will coincide with those of the Army Specialized Training Program now in full operation on the campus.

The new calendar provides for four terms of twelve weeks each throughout the year with a period of one week of vacation between each term. Under the new plan graduation will normally require completion of twelve terms. Thus a student wishing to accelerate his program may complete graduation requirements in three years by constant attendance throughout the year, but under the new plan acceleration is not required.

The present term will be completed on December 4 at which time a large part of the present senior class will be graduated. The winter term, opening December 13, will be completed on March 4, and the spring term will run from March 13 to June 3. This will be followed again by a summer term from June to September.

A.S.T.P.

With the opening of the fall term nearly a thousand students attend classes under the Army Specialized Training Program in basic and advanced engineering. Of this number more than one hundred are 17-year-old members of the ASTP Reserve. These men, fresh from high school, are under Army supervision though not Army discipline. They take regular ROTC training with the civilian members of the freshman class. Otherwise the course of study is the same as that of the older Army students in specialized training.

Registration of civilian students took place on September 11 for freshmen and September 13 for upperclassmen. The first-year men numbered 240 at the opening of the term, total registered on the third day of classes was 861. The accompanying tabulation in this issue shows the registration by classes. Thus the total student attendance of those wearing Army uniforms and others together reached over 1,700.

Classification

Among the ASTP students, over 600 are registered in the basic engineering course, designated BE-1. These men, placed in term 1, 2, or 3 of Basic according to their previous educational background and ability, take the equivalent of freshman courses in preparation for later advanced courses in technical fields. Other Army students, qualified through previous technical training have been assigned to courses in advanced engineering, civil engineering, electrical engineering, and mechanical engineering. The assignment of nearly 150 Army students directly into advanced courses in Technology is a distinct recognition by Army authorities of the professional standing of the courses at Maine.

The Army Specialized Training Reserve men, 17-year-old youths direct from high school, are enrolled in BE-1. Like their uniformed fellow students of the Army, they study physics, chemistry, mathematics, English, history, and geography. All from New England, they were selected by competitive examinations given last April by the Army.

Other newcomers to the Maine campus are the regular men and women of the freshman class who supplement the 95 members of the class previously registered in June.

Among the newly arrived group are 40 claiming fathers or mothers or both as alumni of the University. The picture of these alumni sons and daughters is shown below on this page with the names and classes of their parents. In addition to the 40 new sons and daughters the total of 16 were listed among the freshmen who attended during the summer term. The picture and the names of these were printed in the June issue of The Alumnus.

NEWS of the SUMMER

HEADLINE news event of the summer this year was the continuation of the University's regular undergraduate program on which was superimposed the Summer Session for teachers and educators and the Army Specialized Training Program. As published in the June issue of The Alumnus, a total of 353 regular students attended the war-time extra term. In addition some 180 men and women registered for the regular Summer Session again under the experienced leadership of Dean Roy M. Peterson. The Session ran its usual six-weeks course from July 6 to August 13 with special emphasis on courses in the field of education.

Regular activities of the undergraduate classes were carried on during the summer as far as possible, supplemented by joint activities with the ASTP men. Following are some of the highlights of the summer period.

Scholarships—

Seventeen high school seniors throughout the state were named as winners of the competitive State Scholarship Contest conducted by the School of Education during the spring. The list included five state-wide winners and two winners from each of six districts. State-wide winners were John Ballou of Bangor, son of William R. Ballou '12, Robert Berry of Bangor, Walter Hatch of Old Town, son of Lynwood S. Hatch '22, Randolph E. Moores of Bangor, and Valerie Parkin of Portland.

The two winners in each of the state districts are as follows: District 1, William B. Mann of Portland and Marilyn Bowers of Yarmouth; District 2, Donald Packard, South Paris, William Gibson, South Paris; District 3, Florence L.

Palmer of Sabattus and Beverly Kemp of Auburn.

District 4, Nancy Chase of Augusta, Barbara Vaughn, daughter of William Vaughn '11, of Belfast; District 5, Lloyd Skiffington of Dover-Foxcroft and Shirley Castner of Bangor; District 6, John Wentworth of Presque Isle and Phyllis Pendleton of Caribou.

Drama—

The Maine Masque presented two stage performances and cooperated with the ASTP in staging a variety show during the summer. "Out of the Frying Pan," a three-act comedy, featured Betty Clough '44 of Auburn, Isabel Ansell '45 of Dexter, and Florice Dunham '44 of Portland in the feminine leads. Playing opposite them were freshmen Robert Ames of Dover-Foxcroft, Roger Thurrell of East Wolfeboro, New Hampshire, son of Robert F. Thurrell '15, and Robert Cool of Lynn, Massachusetts.

Midway of the summer season the students of the ASTP staged "The Army Comes to Maine." Privates "Doc" Kessler and Joe Thibeault led the field in devising and presenting a hilarious evening of mixed enjoyment.

Final performance of the season was a variety show called "Thumbs Up" combining the talents of civilian and Army students on August 28.

Honors—

The Dean's List for the spring term as announced by Registrar James A. Gannett included 367 names. Among the honor list were 13 students with the record of all A's.

Students with all "A" among the upper-classmen were Giulio Barbero '43, Mary Billings '44, Joyce Iveney '44, Dolly Lamoreau '44, Margaret D. Marston '43, James Moulton '43, Betty Price '43, and Paul Smith '43. Five freshmen achieving highest honors were Jean Heald, Marion Stone, Robert Hatch, Janice Campbell, Joan Greenwood.

Lectures—

The assembly committee of the University offered during the summer a series of lectures under the general title "Parade of the Nations" featuring representative speakers on various world powers of current significance.

Opening the series on July 15 was Dr. Wing-Tsit Chan, Professor of Chinese Culture at Dartmouth, who spoke on "Chinese Leaders." He was followed August 9 by T. A. Raman, noted Indian journalist, who discussed India's part in the war.

Outstanding event of the series during the summer was the five-day lecture program presented August 18 to 21 by Julien Bryan on South American countries. Mr. Bryan, one of America's leading camera correspondents, brought to the campus first-hand information on Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, and Venezuela.

Trustee . .

William F. Nutter of Sanford, vice president and manager of Goodall Worsted Company, was reappointed a member of the University Board of Trustees at the completion of his first seven-year term in June. He will again serve the University on the Board for a seven-year period.

Announcement of Mr. Nutter's reappointment by the governor and council assures the continued service on the Board of one of the outstanding industrial and business executives of the state. Mr. Nutter, associated with Goodall Worsted since 1891, is an acknowledged leader in the textile industry to which he has contributed technical knowledge, wide practical experience, and business vision.

Besides his many business responsibilities, Mr. Nutter has found time for numerous activities of a public nature. Especially has he been interested in the problems of education. He served as chairman of a Sanford committee which succeeded in constructing what is considered one of the finest small town schools in the state. He has served on the state committee on school finances. He has been on the advisory board of Nason College and Governor Dummer Academy. His service on the Board of Trustees of the University is one other evidence of his wide interest in the educational opportunities of the state.

NAVIGATOR

Air Service on Many Fronts Has Brought Responsibilities and Honors to Major L. C. Daigle '39

AIR CORPS Major Llewellyn Clifford Daigle '39 wears his decorations with modesty. From a background of combat experience over China, India, Burma, Syria, Egypt, North Africa, and Italy, he speaks about the war in his quiet way with first-hand knowledge. Trained as a navigator, one of the men in that branch of the Air Force to rise to the rank of major, he has accumulated 396 combat hours in the air and over 2,000 hours of total flying time. To him the blue miles of the Mediterranean are familiar and the brown, rolling wastes of the African desert an intimate memory. He recalls the terrible anti-aircraft fire encountered over Naples during the African campaign and the massed artillery turned against Rommel at El Alamein.

Operations Officer

Before his assignment to other duties in this country during the summer, Major Daigle was for about five months Group Operations Officer of a heavy bombardment group—long-range bombers that played their significant part in the hammer blows which crumbled the false facade of the Italian empire and defeated the best overseas troops of the German Army. His task was to plan the details of each mission of his group and to brief the pilots and crews before the start. As he explained it, "We are given from the higher-ups the target to be bombed and the time for our arrival there; the rest is up to Operations. We must consult the weather reports, plan such details as time, speed, altitude, bomb load, and so on, and then brief the plane crews so that they can carry out the mission assigned to us."

In spite of new lines of maturity on his face and a trace of shadow in his eyes from the remembrance of things not long past, Major Daigle looks still much like the young fellow who received his diploma in Memorial Gym in June of 1939, much too young and human to wear gold oak leaves with their accompanying burden of responsibility. But the insignia of his rank and the supporting ribbons of campaigns and decorations attest to the canny understanding of air warfare and the leadership he has assimilated in his brief career.

In spite of his operational responsibilities he continued to join the crews of his group for an occasional visit over the troubled waters and lands of the battle fronts. "We have to keep up on actual flights," he explained, "because if we keep telling the other pilots and crewmen all these things about their job, they begin to think it is funny after a while if we don't go along to show them we know what we're talking about. I always ride with anyone who objects to his instructions or kicks about anything.

"Sometimes we will have a new man with us who talks big and thinks he knows all the answers because he has had a few hundred hours of flying time and some shiny new bars for his shirt. But usually after the first trip out he will quiet down."

Daigle knows most of the important leaders of the African campaign. He vividly recalls General Montgomery who objected strenuously to the delay caused by air traffic rules at the airport where he landed briefly, expecting Major Daigle to see that the delay was of the briefest. Refusing a dinner invitation from the clustering officers, he turned with a sandwich in one hand, a cup of coffee in the other, to talk with a private soldier nearby, to the great embarrassment of the latter. Then when his plane was serviced, the general departed with as little official ceremony as he had arrived. "He is a strange, intense man who waits until he has everything he needs to win, then smashes through, hard," is the way Daigle characterized the genius of the Libyan victory. General Eisenhower he finds "a very interesting man to listen to." Air Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, supreme commander of the air forces and thus directly over Major Daigle's air group, he thinks "a fine officer, one who says very little, but whose every word means something when he speaks."

Honors

Embarrassed, Daigle will admit, when pressed, that he has received twice the award of the D.F.C. and three times the Air Medal. The first D.F.C., he explains, was only a routine award for two hundred combat hours, "the command figured that by the time we had completed two hundred in the early days of the war with so many handicaps we must have accomplished something worth the medal." The second cross came after a particularly trying mission over Tobruk when, he says, "nearly everyone in the plane had something the matter with them by the time we got back, except me. I seem to have been lucky." That much-bombed African port he recalls as an especially hot place—"lots of ack-ack and all of it accurate."

Like all air men he has his own preference among planes. Though he has flown both the Fortress, the B-17, and the Liberator, the B-24, he prefers the latter for its long range and hitting power. He accords warm praise to the Fortress for ease of handling, fire power, and protection, but he still likes the Liberator.

What is it like to be out on a bombing mission? we asked him. Some men try to take it as a joke, others talk of other things, most are admittedly nervous and keyed up, all are grimly determined to finish the job on hand. Afraid? Of course, every man is afraid, at least Major Daigle has never known one who wasn't. "I should like to know just what is the definition of courage," he laughed, rather grimly, "lots of medals are given for jobs done because they had to be done to save a man's skin and the rest of the crew or done simply as a regular part of the job at hand. Other deeds we think ought to be rewarded go unnoticed. Well, I suppose they pretty well cancel out evenly."

In the plane, flying high above enemy territory, the anti-aircraft fire "sounds like ram on a tin roof, only you know it's coming through," he says. He would much rather face fighter opposition. "With a gun in my hand I always feel better about it, knowing that at least I can shoot back. You can't do anything about ack-ack except take it. Sometimes it looks like a great hot cloud ahead, so thick you can't see planes that are in it and you have to go into it to do your job."

Following completion of the North African epic, Major Daigle was ordered back to this country for special training work in preparation for further combat duties. On his return he found time to visit the University briefly on the way to his wedding with Carolyn Calderwood '40. They are now at Uvalde, Texas, where the Major is again in training at Garner Field.

In all of his seventeen months of combat action, Major Daigle is really eager to talk only about one thrill. That thrill is the greatest thing he has ever experienced, or ever expects to, according to him. He says, "The only story I can give you is to have you write in really big letters, all over the page, 'Boy, am I glad to be back in the U.S.A.'"

FACULTY PROMOTIONS

Faculty Advancements Headed by Assistant Dean of Agriculture and Two Department Heads

TOP news in the annual listing of faculty promotions and new appointments was the naming of one assistant dean and two new department heads. In the College of Agriculture, Fred P. Loring '16 director of short courses since 1934, was appointed assistant to the dean of the college to work directly under Dean Arthur L. Deering '12. Also in Agriculture, Winthrop C. Libby '32 was named professor and head of the Department of Agronomy.

Professor Spofford Kimball, in the College of Arts and Sciences, was at the same time promoted to the position of acting head of the Department of Mathematics and Astronomy.

Mr. Loring, right-hand man to the Dean in the administrative work of Agriculture has been closely associated with that field since his graduation from the College in 1916. Serving as assistant principal of Aroostook State Normal School 1916-1918, and agricultural instructor, Presque Isle high school, 1918-1922, he learned first hand the problems of agricultural teaching in the secondary schools and the needs of the Aroostook farmers. In 1926 he worked for the State Department of Education, then in 1930 again taught agriculture at Presque Isle.

In the Department of Agronomy, Professor Winthrop Libby has served as faculty member since 1936 previously being assistant in farm management for the State Extension Service. He is a graduate of 1932 and has taken graduate study at Maine, Rutgers, and Cornell. He is currently serving his second term as treasurer of the Alumni Association.

Professor Spofford Kimball is a graduate of Denison University and holds graduate degrees from Pittsburgh and Harvard. Before coming to Maine in 1936 as instructor in mathematics, he taught at Pittsburgh, University of Pennsylvania, Rochester, and Harvard.

Other faculty promotions announced included the advancement of George F. Dow '27 to a full professorship in Agricultural Economics and Farm Management and Irving Prageman to a full professorship in Mechanical Engineering. Professor Dow has been associated with the Agricultural Experiment Station since 1927 and with the Department of Agricultural Economics since 1934 as assistant and associate professor. He holds graduate degrees from Maine and Cornell. Professor Prageman joined the staff of the Mechanical Engineering department in 1937 as assistant professor. He is a graduate of Yale and holds the M.S. degree also from that institution.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE:
James D. Curtis from assistant to associate professor of forestry.

COLLEGE OF TECHNOLOGY:
Seymour Ryckman from instructor to assistant professor in sanitary engineering; Ralph A. Sawyer from assistant professor to associate professor of engineering drafting; Frank M. Taylor from instructor to assistant professor of civil engineering.

Fred P. Loring '16 has been named assistant to the Dean of Agriculture.

New appointments to the teaching staff for the coming school year were also announced at the opening of the fall term.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE:
Dr. Kathryn G. Speicher, instructor in Bacteriology. Dr. Speicher, graduate of Iowa Wesleyan, holds the M.S. from University of Iowa. She received her Ph.D. in genetics at University of Pittsburgh, 1934, and was formerly on the faculty of Pennsylvania College for Women, Pittsburgh.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES: Ervin A. Arbo, instructor in physics. Mr. Arbo is a graduate of Maine, 1940, and was formerly principal at Cherryfield Academy. Victor H. Coffin, instructor in physics. A graduate of Maine, 1931. Mr. Coffin has taught in the Bucksport high school. He has been employed recently by the U. S. Civil Service Commission as ordnance inspector at Saco-Lowell Shops in Biddeford. Byron Fairchild, instructor in the department of history and government. He is a graduate of Princeton University and also received an M.A. from that University. Mr. Fairchild comes to Maine from King College, Bristol, Tennessee, where he served as professor of history during the summer term. Eugene B. Gordon, instructor in mathematics. A graduate of Bowdoin College, he has been principal of the Brewer high school for several years. He was recently associated with the State of Maine Aircraft School in Brewer as instructor in mathematics and supervisor. Dr. Flavia L. Richardson, instructor in mathematics. Dr. Richardson was graduated from Maine in 1920 and also received an M.A. degree at the University. She received a D.Sc. from Johns Hopkins University in 1934.

Mr. John B. Roberts, instructor of speech at the University from September, 1941, to May, 1943, is returning to a position in the department of speech this fall. Mr. Roberts is a graduate of New York University and has a Master of Arts degree from the State University of Iowa. He is associated with the Maine Broadcasting Company of Bangor. Dr. George W. Sanderlin, who was on the faculty at the University from 1938 to 1942, has been appointed instructor in English. Dr. Sanderlin is a graduate of American University and received a Doctor of Philosophy degree from Johns Hopkins University. Perry D. Westbrook, instructor in English. Mr. Westbrook was graduated from Columbia University and also received his Master's degree there. He taught English and did graduate work at the University of Kansas from 1938 to 1941 and during the past two years has been an instructor of English at the Georgia School of Technology. Hugh Edwin Young, instructor in economics. A graduate of Maine, 1940, Mr. Young received the Master of Arts degree in 1941. He was a graduate assistant in economics at the University from 1940 to 1942.

COLLEGE OF TECHNOLOGY:
Mr. Charles Preble, acting associate professor of geography. Professor Preble comes to the University on leave from the Farmington State Normal School where he is head of the department of geography. He is a graduate of Wesleyan University and has taken advanced courses at the graduate school of geography of Clark University. Professor Preble has been a member of the faculty at Farmington for twenty-two years. Mr. Frank R. Gethro, instructor in electrical engineering. Mr. Gethro's experience has included work in the electrical department of the Sanford Mills, and since 1923 with the Cumberland County Power and Light Company. Mr. Kenneth L. Parsons, instructor in electrical engineering. He is a graduate of Maine in 1934. During the past year he has taught at the University in connection with the Engineering, Science, Management, War Training program.

Samuel W. Smith has been appointed instructor in chemistry for the fall term. Mr. Smith is a graduate of Monmouth College, and during the past year has been graduate assistant in chemistry.

WITH the addition of 300 new names to the list of men and women in military service since the printing of the military directory in June, the total of alumni now in uniform stands at 2,493. Without doubt by the time these words are printed the number will be well over the 2,500 mark. At the conclusion of this article is the list of new alumni added to the military list since the June printing.

As the tempo of attack rises increasingly in all theaters of conflict the heartening word comes in more and more often from the distant places of Maine men cited for heroism. The increasing list of honors and decorations abundantly proves that the men from Maine are going about the unaccustomed task of war with competence.

According to alumni records top man of the decoration list for numbers is Air Corps Captain Bert S. Sanborn '41, pilot of a fighter plane and recently reported as Commanding Officer of his squadron. Sanborn has been awarded the Air Medal with a total of six oak leaf clusters for seven decorations.

Others among the top rank of the decorated are Army Air Corps Captain Harry W. Smith '38 of Bucksport and Army Air Corps Lieutenant Hulet C. Hornbeck, Jr., '42, of Royal Oak, Michigan, each with six awards.

Not all the alumni news from the fighting fronts is good news; the necessary casualties of war continue to add to the sad lists of missing, prisoners, and killed in action. During the summer the news of two new alumni taken prisoner of war has been reported. Captain Maynard W. Files '40 was reported a captive in Italy and no recent information on his status has been received. Army Air Corps Lieutenant Donald M. Marshall '40 has been listed as a prisoner of war in Germany following a bomber flight over the continent.

The names of two alumni have been added to those listed as missing in action. Army Air Corps Lieutenant Andrew G. Lindsay '40 has not yet been heard from following a flight over the European continent. Somewhere in the Pacific the Navy reported Navy Air Corps Lieutenant Alberto C. Emerson '31 missing in action.

MAJOR ROSCOE EVERETT STAPLES In the south Pacific, Major Roscoe E. Staples died of wounds in August according to a report received from the War Department on August 30. He had been on duty in the Pacific theatre for nearly a year, following his call to duty with the National Guard in 1941.

A native of Oxford, Major Staples was a graduate of Oxford high school and received the B.A. degree from Maine in 1928. Before entering Army service he resided in Welchville and was engaged in the lumber, real estate, and insurance business. He was 35 years old at the time of his death.

Entering the service with the rank of First Lieutenant, Major Staples trained at Camp Blanding, Fla., Camp Shelby, Miss., and Fort Benning, Ga., in officers' school.

AIR CADET HOWARD WARREN FORRESTALL As the result of the crash of a training plane at George Field, Lawrenceville, Ill., Howard W. Forrestall of Portland, Army Air Force Cadet, was killed May 3. Twenty-six years of age, a native of Portland, Cadet Forrestall was graduated from Deering high school, attended Portland Junior College, and received in 1938 the B.A. degree from the University. He was a member and officer of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity while at the University and played varsity baseball and golf. Before his enlistment in the Army Air Corps in September, 1942, he was employed by the Portland Lumber Company. He would have received his wings on June 1.

During his residence in Portland after graduation, Cadet Forrestall was an active leader in alumni and University affairs. He served as president of the Portland alumni association and was a leader in the Library Campaign there. His brother Arthur, also an alumnus of the University, is an Ensign in the Naval Reserve.

LIEUTENANT (JG) HOWARD THOMAS FEELEY One of eight fliers killed in the crash of a naval plane at Deland, Fla., July 6 was Lieut. (jg) Howard T. Feeley of Franklin, Mass. Lt. Feeley attended the University for one year with the Class of 1939 following preparation at Franklin high school and Dean Academy. He also studied at Boston University.

Lieut. Feeley, twenty-seven years old at the time of his death, enlisted in the Naval Reserve in 1941 and was in training as a naval aviator.

SECOND LIEUTENANT CLAYTON HINCKLEY PREBLE The death in a Japanese prison camp at Osaka, Japan, June 11 this year of Second Lieutenant Clayton H. Preble '41 of Addison, brought the first definite news of his fate since the surrender of Corregidor. Lieut. Preble had been stationed in the Philippine Islands in charge of electric control of submarine mines in October, 1941; he was an officer in the Coast Artillery. During the siege of Corregidor word was received from him that he was in good health. He was captured by the Japanese at the fall of the Islands.

A native of Addison, Lieut. Preble was graduated from North Yarmouth Academy and from the University where he majored in Mechanical Engineering. He was named twice to the Dean's List at the University and was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

CORPORAL EDWARD BUXTON WOODMAN Formerly reported as a prisoner of war of the Japanese after the capture of the Philippine Islands, Cpl. Edward B. Woodman of Stonington died in prison camp on July 9. A member of the Army Air Forces, Cpl. Woodman served with MacArthur's men on Bataan. He was taken prisoner by the Japanese on the fall of the Islands. Cpl. Woodman was graduated from Stonington high school and entered the University in 1939.

He enlisted in the Air Corps in December, 1940. He was sent to the Philippines in November, 1941, and fought throughout the epic defense of Bataan.

SERGEANT BENJAMIN WHITE In the European theatre Sgt. Benjamin F. White of Madison, an aerial gunner with the Army Air Forces, was killed in action March 8, 1943. The report of his death followed a previous report that he was missing in action. Following graduation from Madison high school, Sgt. White entered the University, then enlisted in the Air Corps in February, 1942. He was a native of Lawrence, Mass., and was twenty years old at the time of his death.

Following his enlistment, Sgt. White trained at Keesler Field, Miss., and at Lowry Field, Denver, Col., where he trained in aerial gunnery.

PRIVATE GEORGE ALLEN SALMON Victim of a bomber crash near Rosecrans Field, St. Joseph, Mo., Pfc. George A. Salmon was killed on July 15 as he neared completion of his training as a radio operator for service in the Ferry Transport Command. A native of Newton, Mass., where he was born in 1923, he graduated from Newton high school and entered the University of Maine in 1942. During his freshman year at Maine, he was a member of the freshman football team. He enlisted in the Army Air Forces in November, 1942. Following classification Private Salmon was sent for training at the radio school, Sioux Falls, S. D., in December. In April following graduation from radio school, he was assigned to the Air Transport Command.

FLIERS: Howard Forrestall '38, left, and George Salmon '46 of the Army Air Forces met death in air crashes. The record of each appears in this issue.

With the Teams

Football Prospects

As the fall season opens, alumni eyes are turned inquiringly toward the Memorial Gymnasium and Alumni Field with the query "What are the prospects of varsity football this year?"

At the moment it is impossible to give a complete and definite answer to this question. The biggest factor in uncertainty is that of a schedule with outside teams. Practice is being carried on under coaches Kenyon and Sezak with some forty-five candidates working out regularly. Material for a team appears to be available among the civilian students although, because of the Army ruling, no men of the Army program will participate in collegiate sports.

It is certain already, however, that there will be a number of intramural and intra-squad scrimmages and games.

The interest of the students themselves, it is reported, has been a large factor in promoting the present football program. Men from all classes, eager to learn the fundamentals of the game under good coaching, are supporting the modified program enthusiastically.

Men of all classes are working out on the squad as there will be no distinction this year between freshmen, varsity, and junior varsity in the group. Because of the University summer term and general conditions everywhere, no pre-season program of practice was considered this year, but according to the coaches the interested and eager group is already showing excellent progress and are looking forward hopefully to whatever contests can be arranged, either among themselves or with outside teams.

Cross Country

Word has been received that there will be at least a modified intercollegiate cross country program this year in which Maine will participate. Coach Chester Jenkins is working with prospective runners from both freshmen and upperclassmen, grooming them to form a team which can represent Maine in whatever intercollegiate contests can be scheduled.

At this time it is definitely known, according to Mr. Curtis, that the traditional New England Cross Country Meet will be held at Boston, and the date announced is Saturday, November 6. It is anticipated that a Maine team will be available to represent the University at that event.

General Prospects

About all that can be said at this writing on the entire athletic program of the University for this second war year is that it will be an informal program. Emphasis will be placed particularly on intramural sports and competition; the efforts of coaches and the training staff will be directed toward giving the largest possible number of students the benefits of proper instruction and supervision, physical exercise through a program of competition in the various sports.

The activities of the Army program are necessarily confined to intramural ath-

Dues Committee

Announces Plans

Members of the 1943-44 Dues Committee met last month to formulate detailed plans for raising the dues budget of the Alumni Association. Chairman of the Committee this year is Lynwood S. Hatch '22 of Old Town, serving his second term in the dues work. New members of the committee are Prof. George F. Dow '27, Professor of Agricultural Economics, and First Lieutenant Lawrence B. Kelley '41, assistant professor of Military Science and Tactics of the University R.O.T.C.

In planning for the annual dues solicitation of the Association, the Committee decided that continuation of the Association's services to alumni in the armed forces was essential and that for this reason an even more intensive effort than usual should be directed toward an increase in dues income. Pointing out that dues income for last year set a new record for the Association, Chairman Hatch emphasized that even more payments will be needed this year to maintain the work of the Association.

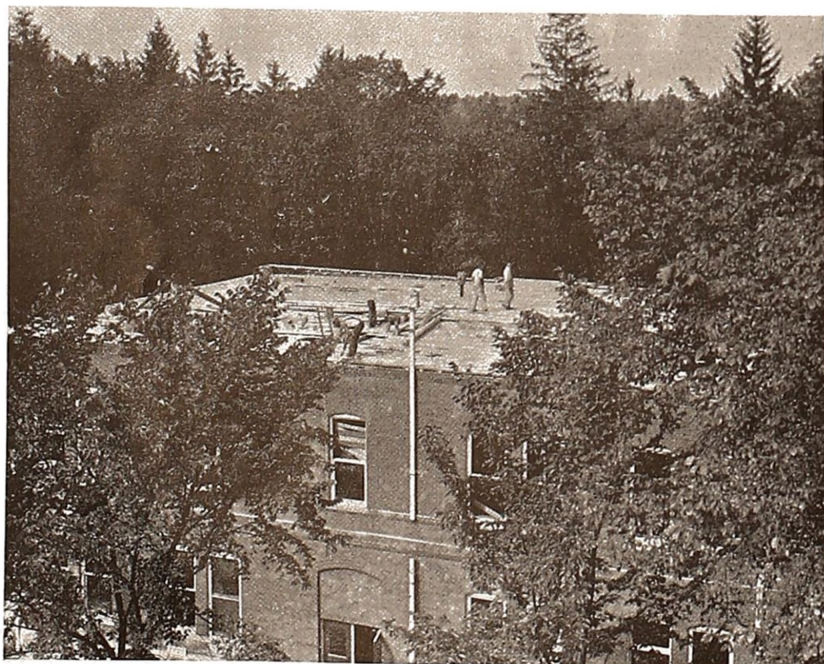

letics, but within that area they, too, will take their place in whatever competition is arranged. Information on regular scheduled competitions, either of the intercollegiate or intramural group, will be announced through the press and radio.

Summer Baseball

During the summer term student interest promoted the first regular University baseball team for summer competition in Maine history as far as known. Under the coaching of Bill Kenyon the group took on a schedule of six games and won all but the last one.

Competition was furnished by nearby town teams and the service men at Dow Field. Result of the season was the following list of scores: Maine 8, Dover-Foxcroft 3; Maine 4, Ellsworth 6; Maine 13, Dexter 1; Maine 18, Dexter 8; Maine 5, Dow Field Bombers 3; Maine 3, Dover-Foxcroft 10. All the games were played at Maine except the repeat games with Dexter and Dover.

High spot of the season was the victory over the able team from Dow Field, Bangor. With the one veteran letterman on the Maine team, Dick Palmer of Lisbon Falls, in the pitcher's box, the Maine players turned in an excellent performance. Palmer struck out 19 men, allowed 8 hits.

◀ RECONSTRUCTION: Wingate Hall, minus the familiar bell tower, has undergone reconstruction this summer after last year's fire. Refinished within and provided with a temporary roof, its remaining two stories will soon be in use again for offices and classrooms.

Local Associations

The Portland Club of University of Maine Women have made plans for the first meeting of the year on October 7 at a meeting of the executive board in September. Presiding over the group this year is Mrs. William J. Murphy '24 of South Portland. Other officers are Kathleen Wormwood '36, vice president; Hilda Scott '37, secretary; Helen Reiley '38, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Paul McDonnell '36, treasurer. In charge of programs for the year and co-chairmen are Mrs. A. K. Martin '07 and Betty McAlary '41.

Worcester, Massachusetts, Alumni welcomed Dr. Payson Smith at a meeting in April with 15 alumni and friends in attendance. At a business meeting it was planned to carry on some meetings during the coming year as far as conditions would make it possible, and plans were made for the annual picnic of the group June 5.

The scheduled outing was held as planned at the home of Asher Sylvester '36 on the outskirts of Worcester where about 25 members and their families much enjoyed the affair.

The Knox County Alumni Association held an informal dinner meeting Thursday, June 3. Guest of honor was President Arthur A. Hauck on the occasion of his serving as commencement speaker for the Rockland high school graduation exercises. There were 20 alumni and guests present to enjoy a brief description of recent campus activities by President Hauck and his description of the part the University is playing in the war effort. A business meeting followed with President Percy Keller '01 presiding. The officers elected for the coming year were president, Alan F. McAlary '13; vice president, Anna L. Simpson '40; secretary-treasurer, Katherine A. Veazie '30.

The Hartford Alumni Association welcomed the total of 60 alumni and guests to a meeting on April 30 at which Dean Payson Smith of the University School of Education was guest speaker. Officers elected for the coming year at the business meeting were the following: Bertram Ames '05, president; Harris Luther '15, vice president; Elizabeth Peaslee '41, secretary; and Marjorie Taylor '39, treasurer.

Gift—

The University was announced as the recipient of a $50,000 bequest during the summer from the estate of the late Dr. Thomas U. Coe of Bangor after the death of H. W. Coe in California brought technical termination of the estate under the terms of the original will. This gift was in addition to the earlier Coe bequest of $100,000 in 1920.

Alumni Personals

NECROLOGY

1886

SIDNEY SMITH TWOMBLY. Well-known agriculturist and former University teacher, Sidney Smith Twombly died at his home in Fullerton, California, in June. Mr. Twombly graduated in Chemistry from the University, held also the degree of Master of Science from Cornell in 1887, and D.V.S. from McGill University, Montreal, in 1890. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He taught chemistry and agriculture at the University of Arkansas, at Purdue and at Utah Agricultural College. In 1895 he made his home in southern California teaching in Fullerton High School and California Institute of Technology. Following his retirement from active teaching in 1912, he took over the operation of extensive citrus orchards in that area.

JOHN SUMNER WILLIAMS. At his home in Guilford on September 1, John Sumner Williams, one of the oldest and best-known lawyers in eastern Maine died after a protracted illness. Mr. Williams was always known as a loyal alumnus of the University from which he received his degree in Chemistry in 1887. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He was subsequently graduated from Boston University Law School in 1890 and commenced his practice of law in Guilford in 1891. He was always active in his community and profession. He served six years as Collector of Internal Revenue, was a member of the Board of Selectmen of the town several years, also Town Agent and Superintendent of Schools. For eight years he served as Postmaster in Guilford. He was 79 years old at the time of his death.

Following his fiftieth commencement anniversary at the University, he was an active member of the Senior Alumni and served as president of that group. He was active also in local alumni work. Five of Mr. Williams' six children are alumni of Maine.

ELMER ELLSWORTH GREENWOOD. On August 22 at the age of 82, Elmer Ellsworth Greenwood of Skowhegan died in a Bangor hospital from pneumonia. A member of the class of 1899, Mr. Greenwood received the degree of C.E. and B.C.E. from the University in 1897 and 1912 respectively. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He followed his profession of civil engineer most of his life.

1891

HENRY ELMER FERNALD. A practicing physician for fifty years in East Boothbay, Dr. Henry E. Fernald died September 15 at his home in that town. He was 77 years of age at the time of his death. Dr. Fernald attended Maine with the class of 1891, attended the University of Vermont, and graduated from Dartmouth with the M.D. degree in 1894.

WARREN EVANS HEALEY. The death of Warren E. Healey at the age of 73 occurred at his home in Weston, Massachusetts, July 28. He was a native of Rockland. Mr. Healey graduated from Maine in 1892 with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He served in the Army in the Spanish war, holding the rank of Major. For many years he was Boston representative of the Rockland-Rockport Lime Company and was also Secretary-Treasurer of the New England Lime Producers Association. He had served as secretary of the class of 1892.

WILFRED HAROLD CASWELL. Notice has been received of the death of Wilfred Harold Caswell at Phillips on September 4 following a long illness due to heart trouble. He received his Bachelor's degree in Electrical Engineering and was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. The last position held before his final illness was in the engineering department of the Bath Iron Works.

1903

VICTOR EDWIN ELLSTROM. In Sellersville, Pennsylvania, Victor E. Ellstrom, structural engineer and designer, for many years associated with the Bethlehem Steel Company, died at his home on May 22 following a four-year illness. He was 63 years of age. A native of Worcester, Massachusetts, he was graduated from Maine in Civil Engineering. He was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He entered the employ of the Bethlehem Steel Company in 1908 in the sales department. From 1917 to 1922 he was head of his own organization, the Ellstrom Manufacturing Company, in Chicago. Rejoining Bethlehem in 1922, he became structural sales engineer and associate in research.

1906

EBEN FRANK LITTLEFIELD. The death of Colonel Eben F. Littlefield of Brooks at the age of 62 after a brief illness has been reported to the Alumni Association. He died in a Belfast hospital last March. A native of Brooks and graduate of M.C.I., he received a law degree from the University in 1906, then practiced his profession in Brooks and Belfast. In 1911 he was appointed Judge Advocate General by the late Governor Plaisted with the rank of Colonel. In 1915 he was appointed Chairman of the Industrial Accident Commission of the state. For twenty years he served as the branch manager in Portland for the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company. He returned to make his home in Brooks in 1938 where he resided until his death.

1908

JOSHUA SWIFT IRISH. Word has just been received by the Alumni Association of the death in August, 1940, of Joshua Swift Irish. A graduate in Agriculture, Mr. Irish made his home in Gorham. No details of his passing are known at this time.

ORRA ERVIN UNDERHILL. Professor of science at Teachers College of Connecticut and widely known as a writer in his profession, Dr. Orra E. Underhill died at a New Britain hospital June 10 after about a year of ill health. Mr. Underhill was a native of Chelsea, Massachusetts, where he was born in 1898, he received a degree in Chemistry from the University in 1921 and subsequently two degrees from Columbia, the M A in 1927 and Ph D in 1940. Throughout his life he was a teacher and educator, teaching in high schools, private schools, and universities.

In 1934 he joined the faculty of Teachers College of Connecticut and became widely known for his work in science education. His Doctor's thesis, "Development of Science in the Elementary School," was published in book form and is considered an authoritative work in this field. He was active in professional organizations and wrote numerous articles in his field. He was actively engaged in his profession until a few days before his death.

JAMES AUSTIN FRISBIE The sudden death of James A. Frisbie occurred on August 9 at his home in Bridgton following a severe attack of asthma. A graduate in history from the University, Mr. Frisbie was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. He also took graduate work at the University the year following his graduation. He had made his home for several years in Bridgton and during the past year was a member of the faculty of Denmark high school.

EDWARD FITZGERALD STEENSTRA Victim of a fishing accident on September 2, Edward F. Steenstra, 35 years of age, was drowned on Rangeley Lake. Steenstra, fishing alone in a boat fitted with an outboard motor, was reported missing the evening of September 2 when his boat was found drifting without fuel and empty except for his fishing tackle. Following a search of several days the body was recovered and death pronounced as resulting from accidental drowning.

A graduate from the School of Education at the University, he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He had been teacher of English at Rumford high school before his death. During the summer he worked in the Rangeley region where he had a camp. Before his employment at Rumford he taught at Augusta and Millinocket.

Mrs. Lewis S. Libby, Milford, has been appointed director of the second district of the Maine Federation of Women's Clubs.

George J. Stobie of Augusta and Miss Barbara Caldwell, also of Augusta, were married in the Woodfords Congregational Church August 11. Mr. Stobie is State Commissioner of Inland Fisheries and Game. They will reside at Augusta.

The Hancock County War Chest announced the nomination of A. W. Patterson as second vice president and as a member of the board of directors.

Arthur G. Eaton has been named campaign chairman for the annual canvass for contributions by the Bangor-Brewer Community Chest at a meeting of the board of directors in June. Mr. Eaton's office this year is of unusual importance, as the goal of nearly $100,000 is the largest amount of any chest campaign.

Harold J. Shaw, Sanford, is the owner of a registered Holstein-Friesian cow which has recently completed a 365-day production record of 829 pounds of butterfat and 24,065 pounds of milk, according to an announcement by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This record is more than 4½ times the production of the average dairy cow in the Nation.

1915 Judge Harry M. Shaw has been appointed chairman of the Norway rationing board, according to an announcement by the OPA.

year's campaign. A native of Bath, Mr. Fitzgerald was graduated from Hebron Academy and attended Bowdoin College and the University of Maine Law School, leaving the latter in 1917 to enlist in the Bath Company, Maine National Guard.

The appointment of E. I. Newdick, Augusta, chief of the division of plant industry, Maine Department of Agriculture, as one of three technical consultants on the potato industry of Maine, was announced in June.

1919 Paul E. Hodgdon, president of the Deerfield Glassine Co., Monroeville Bridge, Mass., was recently appointed a member of a committee known as a Glassine and Greaseproof Paper Industry Advisory Committee.

Samuel W. Collins, Caribou, has been named a member of the Eastern Maine board of directors of the State War Chest for Aroostook County.

Stanwood L. Bailey, former manager of the James Bailey Company of Portland, was one of three Maine men promoted to captain in the Army Air Forces in September. Captain Bailey has been stationed at Brooklyn, New York, since last February.

1920 Appointment of Fred I. Jordan of South Portland as general chairman for the 1943 Welfare and Relief Campaign, scheduled for early fall, was announced in August by the Executive Committee of the United Community and War Chest of Greater Portland. Mr. Jordan, manager of the home office of the Union Mutual Life Insurance Co., headed the Industrial Division of the 1942 War Chest Campaign.

1921 Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Tapley are being congratulated on a baby daughter, born June 19, 1943. Sylvia Anne Tapley is the daughter's name, and her parents reside at 49 Beal St., Ellsworth.

Alton Littlefield of Augusta is serving on the advisory committee of the newly organized Maine War Finance Committee, having to do with Maine's Third War Loan Campaign.

Mrs. Leah Ramsdell Fuller of Rockland is one of the latest to join the ranks of Maine authors with her book, Flornel Fluff, which deals with the story of a trip to Florida from Maine taken by Mrs. Fuller and her husband with their snow-white kitten, Flornel Fluff, as the important passenger. The book, which is illustrated in black and white, tells of the many adventures of the kitten during her first long automobile trip.

1924 Maine Federation of Women's Club directors for the thirteen districts are announced and Mrs. Clarence Little, Bar Harbor, is director of the eighth district.

Howard L. Bowen, superintendent of schools in the Bingham Union, has been elected superintendent of schools of the Saco and Old Orchard Beach Union. His duties started July 1, 1943.

Bernard Mayo, who has been "lost" to us for some time, has turned up at the University of Virginia, Corcoran School of History, Charlottesville, Va. He is professor of history. His residence address is 808 Cabell Ave.

1925 Another year has begun. It does not seem possible that the summer has gone by. Orono has been very quiet in spite of college keeping the year around. There are a few news items and hope we can have more. Don't forget to send along any information you may have concerning the class of '25.

Robert N. Haskell, vice president and general manager of the Bangor Hydro-Electric Company, will be Bangor's new civilian defense commander. He has been assistant county coordinator of civilian defense in Penobscot County so is well qualified for the position. He is also a member of the executive committee of the Penobscot Chapter of the Red Cross.

Melville H. Johnson has been elected principal of Farmington High School. He began his duties the first of September. For the past four years he has been principal of Windham High School. Melville is married and has three children. The oldest daughter will enter the Home Economics Department of Farmington State Normal School and the two younger will attend Farmington schools.

Lt. Rudy Vallee of the U. S. Coast Guard and Bettyane Greer, young film player and former model, plan to marry at the conclusion of the war. Rudy now leads a Coast Guard band.

1926 The Hancock County War Chest announced the nomination of Maurice H. Burr, Northeast Harbor, to the board of directors.

The Oxford County War Chest has also announced officers, and Francis Buzzell, Fryeburg, is a vice president.

At the annual meeting of the trustees of Foxcroft Academy, Thompson L. Guernsey was elected vice president.

H. L. Ballo, who has been superintendent of schools at Sterling, Mass., is now superintendent of schools at Leicester, Mass.

1927 Philip Whitehouse, Winter Harbor, was nominated to the board of directors of the Hancock County War Chest in July.

Edgar R. Crozier of Stonington is the principal of Corinna Academy which opened Sept. 20. He has taught in the high schools of Brownville, Hermon, and Stonington.

Claude G. Lovely of North Fourth St., Old Town, attended the summer session at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa.

1928 Perhaps I should start the fall right by catching up on a lot of items left over from late spring. So here goes! Back in April, Ginny Smith Lamb and Norton announced the birth of a son, Norton Haskell, Jr., here in Portland. They live on the Old Falmouth Road, Falmouth, and Norton is a lieutenant in the Civil Coast Patrol.

Byron Kimball is in the insurance business in Portland, living at 268 Concord St. Fred Scribner was (last spring) residing at 131 Highland Ave., Springdale, Conn., and was teaching English at the Greenwich, Conn. High School.

Charles Parker, Jr., has left North Windham and is now living at Gorham.

Lt. Elmer Ward has been named Assistant Post Exchange Officer at Dodge City Army Air Field, Kansas. He recently graduated from the Army Exchange Service School at Princeton, N. J.

Dr. Frederick Chandler is on six months' leave of absence from the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University, and has gone to MIT for civilian research on a war project there, with Mrs. Chandler and their two daughters; he will make his home at 71 Bradford Road, Watertown, Mass.

Delmar Lovejoy has also left the University, where he was assistant soil surveyor, and has moved his family to South Penobscot, where he is in the lumber business. He and Mrs. Lovejoy have two children, Carol and Charles, and they will live at 36 Hamlin St., South Penobscot.

Erma Stairs' engagement to J. Henry Foley of Augusta was announced in May. The wedding was to have taken place in the early summer, so notice of it apparently escaped my attention. Erma has been head of the English department at Bar Harbor High School. Mr. Foley attended Winterport schools and is resident engineer for the Maine State Highway Commission.

Coming out of Union Station about a month ago, I ran smack into Pat Peakes. He was just off a boat and had about two minutes to catch a train, so we didn't have time for many words. Pat is a seaman in the Navy, and was heading for home on a three-day leave. He looked fine.

Dave Fuller spent Sunday with us a few weeks ago. He was in Portland for a short while but has since been transferred to Springfield, Mass. After a long stretch of rather dull work at Camp Devens, Dave was promoted to Sergeant and transferred to the Investigations Section under the Provost Marshal General. He is now living at the West Springfield Y.M.C.A. and his business address is 324 Post Office Building, Springfield, Mass.

A letter from Raynor Fitzhugh says he is now sectional supervisor for P. Ballentine & Sons, with Minnesota, North and South Dakota his territory. His home address is 2300 Stevens Ave., Minneapolis, Minn. He expected last fall to be going into the Army, but something must have gone wrong.

George Dudley started a new job a few weeks ago with the Bicknell Photo Company, whose store is at 15 Preble St., Portland, and there he'd be pleased to say "Hello" to any of you. He is having a grand time working with what has long been a hobby—cameras. He, Tinger Abbott ('25), Carroll Osgood and young Carroll Osgood, Jr., aged 4, went on a short fishing trip to Tim Pond, up above Rangeley, about two weeks ago. This past summer in addition to his position as Secretary of Travellers Insurance, Carroll has been working four hours daily at the Pratt Whitney plant in Hartford, Conn., working on war materials.

John Ross, since 1929 mathematics teacher and tennis coach at Stephens High School, Rumford, Me., tendered his resignation to accept an appointment as Deputy Collector in the Federal Internal Revenue Department, Augusta.

Eleanor Fitzherbert is employed in the Purchases Division, Army service forces, Washington, D. C.

That, I think, catches me up on all of the 1928 news, except perhaps to add that I am vice chairman of the Women's Division for the 1943 Community and War Chest Drive in Greater Portland.

Do let me hear from some of you this fall!

1930 Ruth T. Clough of Bangor was recently named a publicity chairman of the State War Chest, an organization through which Maine's share of the National War Fund for the support of seventeen war-related agencies will be raised this fall. A member of the State legislature, Miss Clough is widely known for her interest in progressive social legislation and philanthropic work. She is chairman of the clubs and organization division of the Bangor-Brewer Community Chest, is a post publicity chairman of the Penobscot County War Fund, and has long been associated with volunteer publicity work throughout the State.

In July Horace S. Estey, formerly general manager of the Bangor Gas Co., was elected city manager of Bangor.

Miss Frieda W. Hatch became the bride of Murdock Scribner Matheson on Sept. 1, at an attractive home ceremony in Castine. Mr. Matheson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Matheson of Leominster, Mass. He is a graduate of the Eastern State Normal School in Castine, and has a B.S. from Maine. He has taught in Lunenburg, Mass., and at present is head of the science department and basketball coach in Cohasset High School. Mrs. Matheson has her M.A. from Maine, and has taught in Castine High, Edward Little High in Auburn, and Cranston, R.I. High School. They are living on South Main Street, Cohasset, Mass. Mrs. Matheson is a direct descendant of Mark Hatch, one of the four original settlers of Castine prior to the Revolutionary War.

Capt. and Mrs. Everett C. Tary announce the birth of a daughter, Kathleen, June 1, 1943.

Asa Wasgatt was elected president of the Maine Press Association at a meeting in Waterville in July.

Hector Hebert is teaching at Wassookeag School in Dexter this year.

1931 Most of the news this time happened during the summer and may sound somewhat out of date, but I know everyone will be interested.

Mr. and Mrs. Ermo Scott have a new daughter, Martha Robinson Scott, born June 14 at Castine. Scotty is still running the normal school at Castleton, Vermont.

Beryl Bryant was married June 26 in Mendon, Mass., to Lt. George Hermann Derry, Jr., of the U. S. Army Medical Corps. Lt. Derry is a graduate of Holy Cross College and Wayne University College of Medicine. He served his internship at the Maine General Hospital in Portland, where Beryl has been medical training supervisor for some time.

Rev. Charlie Stipek has been commissioned a chaplain in the U. S. Army and is at Harvard University for training. He was granted a year's leave of absence from the First Congregational Church, Thomaston, Conn., where he has been pastor since Dec. 1, 1940.

Galen Veayo took office in July as governor of the 193rd district of Rotary International, administering 34 Rotary clubs in Quebec and Maine. He will be one of 135 district governors who will be supervising Rotary activities, now largely concerned with war service, in more than 50 countries throughout the world. Galen is supervising principal of Edward Little High in Auburn.

Many of you must have seen the write-up about Leslie Holdridge in the Bangor Daily early last June. Les was at that time just back from nine years in the jungle country of Central and South America, where a group of U. S. Foresters have been conducting surveys to locate balsa wood, rubber trees, and particularly trees from which quinine is made. This work, especially important now that Japan controls most of the world's quinine supply, means the saving of thousands of soldiers' lives daily and is a vital contribution toward winning the war.

Ethel Sezak spent the summer at Camp Zakelo, Harrison, Maine, where she was probably plenty busy keeping young Tommy out of mischief!

Me? I'm back on the job, teaching English at Arms Academy and reporting for '31. Items have to be brief in war time, but there's no law against lots of 'em. You like to read the news, why not send some in to 1932 Harry Paul is a supervisor at the Bethlehem-Hingham Shipyard, Inc., in the Time Study Department. His home address is still 15 Coliston Rd., Brighton, Mass.

Cornelius J. Sullivan, Bangor, is a member of the board of directors of the State War Chest of the National War Fund for Penobscot County, Maine.

Harold E. Bryant, Presque Isle, is one of the three Maine members of the potato industry advisory committee appointed for the nation to consult with OPA price officials on problems of the spud growers and handlers.

Mrs. Horace A. Croxford (Isabelle Robinson) was elected vice president of the Orono Woman's Club recently.

Ralph N. Prince of Kittery has been given a Textile Fellowship at the Engineering Experiment Station at the University of New Hampshire where he will spend the year doing research work in the field of textiles. Ralph has been employed by the Fort Orange Paper Company, Castleton-on-Hudson, N. Y.

Congratulations—Win Robbins and Louise Hill Robbins on the birth of a son, Winston Carl Robbins, on August 26. Win is now a Captain having been recently commissioned in the Army Engineering Corps. He has been with the New England Shipbuilding Corporation as plant engineer since the yard opened and has supervised 3,000 men. That must have been quite a job, Win. The Falmouth Hotel, Portland, was the scene of a party honoring the Captain upon his departure for active duty in Virginia. A wrist watch was presented to him as a farewell gift from his co-workers.

Roy H. McCray is now with the U.S.N.R. He has a rating of Carpenter's Mate First Class (CM 1/c) in the Seabees and is now stationed at Camp Endicott, Danisville, Rhode Island. Thanks, Mrs. McCray, for the welcome note. Mrs. McCray is living at 17 Castle St., Keene, N. H.

Cleve Hooper is a Lt. (j.g.) and has just graduated from the California Institute of Technology. Now he is taking a special course at the Lockheed Airplane Factory and is in the Aeronautical Engineering branch of the Navy. Sounds pretty complicated to me.

This next news is a bit dated but, believe it or not, I just received it. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hayter are the proud parents of a son, Lawrence Eyre, born Sept. 30, 1942. Congratulations, even though a year late. "Stan" is a mechanical engineer in the instrument division of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., Newark, N. J.

"Pete" Kuntz is training 2,700 Midshipmen at Columbia University (at least that is the way I read the note). He is teaching first aid and water safety training.

John T. Barry has moved to 203 West Broadway, Bangor.

bered will be the organization of the school band in 1935. His future plans have not been announced.

1934 No more frills on the columns, the editors say, so from now on you'll get your news unadulterated and free from prattle. It's going to be tough on us talkative gals but I guess we can do it. Here goes!

Harold Perkins has been Assistant Manager of the Merrill Trust Company's branch in Orono but has been named Acting Manager of the bank's branch of Jonesport.

Mrs. Donald Goode (Maxine Harding) has been visiting in Brewer. She was entertained by the Bangor Alliance of Delta Delta Delta. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Earle R. Webster.

Miss Frances Bartlett is replacing Miss Hope Jackman '40 in the Gailand Street Junior High School, Bangor.

Dick Alden visited the campus in July for the first time in about ten years. He is still in the sub-coating division of the Watervliet Paper Company, Watervliet, Michigan.

Miss Mary Gallagher, Bangor, became the bride of Lt. Richard Rise on August 10, at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Bangor. Lt. and Mrs. Rise left for Niceville, Florida, where they are at home to friends. Mrs. Rise was graduated from Bangor High and Gilman Commercial School. Lt. Rise received his commission March 3 at Miami Beach, Florida, and is now stationed at Eglin Field, Florida.

We were certainly pleased to see the announcement of Thomas Dyer, born May 20, to Ed and Alice DeCourcey.

In a recent home town paper I saw where Lt. J. Eldrid Smith is Flight Surgeon stationed in London, England. He has recently taken his flight surgeon training at Randolph Field, Texas. Smitty has two children now. A boy and a girl, and I believe I am right in saying the baby girl was born after Smitty left for overseas.

My address is still 37 George St., Springfield, Mass., if anyone is interested in sending any news.

Maddy Russ

1935 Another year has rolled around, and it certainly has been a busy one. So many changes here, there, and everywhere.

Guess we'd better start with the new arrivals of the class. Mary Stoddard Vaughn arrived in Rochester, New York, on July 21, 1943. Cav Bussell Vaughn and Red are fast becoming initiated to the serenade caroled in the wee hours. On September 14th Al Sisco Nord and Lt. (j.g.) Otto announced the arrival of a daughter, Nancy Jane Nord. Al is back in Portland after having spent the winter in San Francisco. Otto has gone overseas.

On June 25, Mrs. Pamela Thorne became the wife of Cecil A. Gilbert of Greene, Maine. Cecil is running the Gilbert Farm at Greene, Maine.

The engagement of Miss Ruth Wheeler to Lt. Elmore Wood has been announced. Elmore is now stationed at Drew Field, Florida.

Back in Maine, Hollis P. Ingalls has been elected Superintendent of Schools in the Bingham District. Hollis has partial credit toward his Master's degree at the University of Maine now. He has taught in Newport and Winthrop, and for four years was principal of Franklin High School. For the past year he has served as principal of Bingham High School. Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls are living in Bingham, Maine.

Mrs. Anne MacLellan Gipson will join the physical education staff at Morse High School this fall. In Bangor, Dan Barrett has resigned his position as coach at John Baptist.

George Carlisle was named a member of the executive committee of the Penobscot County Chapter of the Red Cross.

Charles D. Pressey is now engaged in the work of breeding mice, guinea pigs, 3,000 white mice and 20 rabbits.

Grace Blaisdell wrote that Frank is now at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where he is attending the Command and General Staff School for nine weeks. Thus far Grace has been with Frank at Camp Lee, Virginia, and at Camp Phillips, Kansas. Then Frank went to the Yukon Territory, was stationed in the Alcon Highway. Grace was able to visit Frank there this spring, at Edmonton, Alberta. Little Peggy, six and one-half year old daughter, is in kindergarten in Bangor, and she is making a collection of starred papers for Frank to see when he comes back. Grace and Peggy are living at 67 Otis Street, Bangor.

Lt. Bill Halpine is now in India. Bill likes the Army, but he can't feel comfortable with all the attention that his personal valets give. Bill was reared on the doctrine of every man for himself! Bill's address is now Lt. William C. Halpine, 0-649642, A.P.O. 884, c/o Postmaster, N. Y., N. Y.

In June, Betty Wilhelm was married in New Haven, Conn., to Newcomb Bascom. Newk is connected with a bank in New Haven. Betty is going to teach this fall in the New Haven High School. Betty and Newk have an apartment in town.

Eleanor Gowen Jacobs is in Biddetford with her son Robert. Alden is still in Ireland on a Civilian Engineering project, and he will be there for the duration.

And now for yours truly—on June 5th Tom McGuire and I were married in Biddetford. Tom is a lieutenant (j.g.) in the 91st U. S. Naval Reserve. We spent the summer in Oxnard, California, near Tom's camp at Hueneme. I came back to Biddetford to go back to Thornton Academy to teach when Tom left for the Pacific. We didn't happen to meet any alumni on the coast, but we did look up John McCaffrey at the Palladium in Hollywood. Guess the U. of M. is represented everywhere now.

Until next month, then—and do let me hear from you all.

Sincerely,

Agnes Crowley McGuire

1936 Because of the paper shortage, we class secretaries are asked to be brief and to the point, but I would like to say that I would like to hear from you all so that the boys in the service will be able to get news of 36ers. Let's try to do this little bit to help them out!

Alice and Harold Lord spent one night with us early this summer and it was grand to have them here. They gave me quite a bit of news, but things are changing so fast these days that it may be old by now. Anyway, here 'tis as I got it from them. Eleanor Merriman is an assistant manager of the Beneficial Loan Society in Portland, Maine. Harold Boardman is a Lieutenant in the Army and is somewhere in Australia. Al Worcester is employed in the South Portland shipyard. Ira Dole and his wife have two children, Nancy and Judy. He is working for the Chandler Barron Co. in Portland. Ralph Hayes is working in a Plastic Concern in Springfield, Mass. Dot (Nutt) and Vernon Packard have a daughter, Jane, and son, Robert, and are living in Houston, Texas. Vernon is a Major in the Army. Albert Verrill is with the S. D. Warren Co. in Westbrook and is married and has one child.

And that is the extent of the Lords' news except that Harold, himself, is a claim representative for the Connecticut General Life Ins. Co. and their home address is 15 Freemont Street, Reading, Mass.

I received three birth announcements this summer. The first from John Coombs and his wife whose daughter was born March 14. The baby's name is Mary Elizabeth.

The second was from Claire and Bruce Ashworth who had a son, William Bruce, Jr., on June 18. Their daughter, Nancy, starts school this fall. Time does fly, doesn't it?

The third was a notice of the arrival of Roger Wallace Burke, Jr., to Bee and Roger Burke on August 26. Congratulations to you all.

The rest of the news is from the Alumni Office.

Ensign John Wilfred Flanagan, U.S.N.R., is now with the fleet in the Pacific. He completed Radar courses at Harvard and M.I.T. and an indoctrination course at Notre Dame in 1942. In July, 1942, he married Miss Mildred Gamble of Oklahoma in South Bend, Indiana. Mrs. Flanagan was an instructor in math in Portland, Oregon. Ens. and Mrs. Flanagan are making their home at 1032 Menlo Oaks Drive, Menlo Park, California.

Lt. Charles A. Buck is in the Field Artillery at Fort Benning, Ga. His address is 1541 Hilton Ave., Columbus, Ga.

Lt. Thomas Johnson, officially listed as missing in action, has been awarded the Navy Gold Medal by President Roosevelt for "gallantry and intrepidity as a fighter pilot aboard the Hornet." Notification came from his wife, the former Beatrice Brock of Tallahassee, Fla., whom he married while training in Pensacola. The citation relates the story of a scout bomber attack on Japanese shipping, during which Lt. Johnson fought enemy fighter planes above the enemy fleet, enabling the bombers to complete their mission. His plane was riddled by machine gun bullets and crashed into the sea.

Ensign Dave Brown is engaged to Miss Evelyn Lovett, daughter of Robert A. Lovett, Asst. Sec. of War for Air, and Mrs. Lovett of Washington, D. C. Miss Lovett attended the Brearley School of New York, was graduated in 1942 from Vassar, and did research work last winter in the laboratory at Welfare Hospital in New York.

Major George Frame is with the Army Air Corps located at the Central Instructors School, Randolph Field, Texas. He is Assistant Commandant of Students. His mailing address is Box 136, Randolph Field, Texas.

Lt. Actor Abbott is still in Hawaii and is now acting as Assistant Division Signal Officer.

Ralph Corrigan is with the N. E. Tel. and Tel. located in Houlton.

Beth Schiro Baker wrote an article, "Every Woman's Primer of Home Repairs," which was featured in House and Garden Magazine. Beth is coordinator of home repair courses for the American Women's Voluntary Services.

Harold Woodbury is vice president of the Eastern Maine Board of Approved Basketball Officials.

David Russell is Asst. Dairy Inspector for the State of Maine Dept. of Agriculture at Houlton.

Willard Crane was married May 1 to Miss E'Lora Pease of South Portland. Their residence is 31 Haven Road, South Portland.

Please remember to send lots and lots of news to 1940 Another year away from dear old Maine has started and we are really getting to fill the ranks of venerables, aren't we? An added proof of that last statement is the rising rank of second generations as you will note.

First off, from way down in Trinidad, comes an announcement of the marriage of Margaret Gilkes of Hastings, Barbados, B.W.I., to John Frederick Dequene, Jack and Margaret were married on the 19th of June in Port of Spain, Trinidad, B.W.I.

Wallace Beardsell returned from Africa early last summer and is stationed at Camp Davis, N. C. He and Madeline Smart were married on May 29th in Weston, Mass. Their address was Lt. Wallace A. Beardsell, Advanced Course No. 20, Student Officers Group, AAS, Camp Davis, N. C. Can't guarantee how accurate that is now but perhaps the Beardsells could drop us a line and let me know.

Carolyn F. Calderwood and Major Llewellyn Daigle were married at Dow Field Chapel on August 16. Clit and Carolyn left for Uvalde, Texas, where Clit reports for pilot training at Garner Field. Major Daigle has just returned from seventeen months of combat duty in the Pacific and Middle Eastern Theaters of war. He received the DSC with oak leaf cluster and the air medal with three oak leaf clusters.

In Old Town High School, Virginia Barstow is succeeding Josephine Muttu as teacher of English and biology. Barbara Welch will teach history at Bangor High School and Lucille Maddocks was appointed to teach social studies at the Garland Street Junior High in Bangor.

Lt. Andrew J. Lindsay has been reported missing in action as of August 22nd. Lt. Lindsay enlisted February 6, 1941, received his wings at Blytheville, Ark., last January 14, and went overseas early in June. He was a pilot for the 8th Army Air Force stationed somewhere in England.

The Institute of Living

Formerly styled

The Neuro-Psychiatric Institute of the Hartford Retreat

An interesting opportunity is available to women and men with an interest in sociology and psychology.

The training and practical experience gained here is a valuable preparation for post-war time when the great work of reconstruction and social rehabilitation will require many workers experienced in this specialized field of psychological medicine.

Complete maintenance is furnished, plus $50 or $60 a month while learning and gaining experience with salary increases and promotional opportunities.

Send for booklet and information to

General Director of Nursing
The Institute of Living

Ensign and Mrs. Artemus Weatherbee are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Sue, at the Eastern Maine General Hospital in Bangor. George and Elnora Savage Grant have a daughter, Nancy, born August 30 at the Eastern Maine General Hospital, and Elnora and Polly have a double room there at the E.M.G. They should convalesce pleasantly!

Lt. Donald M. Marshall, AAC, previously reported as missing in action, is now a prisoner of war in a German Hospital and has lost a leg below the knee. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Marshall, learned this news from an English language broadcast from the Reich. Lt. Marshall's promotion to 1st Lt. and his assignment as element leader came contemporaneously with his capture while on a bombing mission over Germany.

During the summer some time, I received an announcement of Leon Breton's marriage. Leon is a captain in the Army and was married to Miss Elizabeth Steik in Montclair, N. J.

A card came from Lt. Bill Wells last spring too late to get in the last Alumnus. Bill wanted Herbie Peabody's and Red Lane's addresses. All of which reminds me that Herbie and Red certainly are separated after their inseparable college career. Herbie is in the Army in Australia and Red is in the Navy in the Mediterranean.

In June there came a very nice letter from Mrs. John Marsh who was Phyllis Morris '43. Phyl and John have been married almost three years and are living in Bridgeport, Conn., where John is a prospering dairy farmer. Their address is Acme Dairy, R.F.D. #1, Bridgeport, Conn.

Arlo Gilpatrick wrote V-mail to give us his address and make himself heard from. Arlo met a nurse from Newburg, N. Y., who was a friend of Marion Fitzgerald Murphy. Arlo also said Stan Holland went over with him and related his travels and news of his marriage one stormy night on a convoy. Arlo sees Dick Tremaine and Hank Hathaway who is a first pilot in the same bombardment group. Arlo's address is A.P.O. 922, San Francisco, Calif.

Donald Robert was born to Bob and Leona Benney on April 22, and the announcement came from 402 Peoria Ave., Peoria, Ill.

Two more weddings and I'll have to close for this month—please help me out with material. These are both Houlton weddings so here goes. Ensign Atwood Smart and Miss June Lawrence were married in Houlton the last part of August. Atwood graduated from the Naval Supply School at Harvard and the Smarts left by plane for Little Creek, Va., where Ensign Smart will receive an assignment.

Your secretary was married the 7th of August in Houlton to Capt. Vincent E. Poeppelmeier of Dayton, Ohio. Vin has been in Maine almost long enough to be converted, I'd say! He graduated from the University of Dayton and was a mechanical engineer with Frigidaire before being called into the service. He is now post engineer at Westover Field, Mass., and we are living at 289 Chicomansett Village, Willimansett, Mass. Would just like to say that we have an extra bedroom and would be only too happy to have company, so please do stop in to see us. We are about half way between Springfield and Holyoke, Mass., and I know many of you are going through Springfield these days.

Please remember me next month—we go to press the 14th—I don't have access to the Bangor Daily News any more.

Sincerely,

Alice Ann
Mrs. V. E. Poeppelmeier

1942 Greetings and glad to be back with you! My new address below will be my headquarters in the future for the continued (I hope) incoming mail from you. Right now I'm at home waiting to be called to "boot camp" (Camp Lejeune, N. C.) for training in the Marines. For six weeks I've been waiting, but restlessly, and expect to go soon. I'll try to do a good job in the column but will need your help more than ever. Now, where to begin to tell of all that's been happening this summer? Here goes!

For doing a "brilliant job" in the assault in Sicily, 223 members of the Army Air Force troop carrier command group have been commended by their commanding officer. The War Department stated that the group transported hundreds of U. S. parachute troops to the island the night of July 9, without a loss of a plane. Among those commended was Lt. Harry S. Boyle, Jr., navigator with the Army Air Corps; congratulations, Louie, from a proud class!

Bob Beaton writes a long and interesting letter. Wish I might include all he writes. Bob had met "Deke" Adams '40 down in the tropics. The detailed description of the primitive people and the lushness of the vegetation was fascinating. Thanks, Bob. Ensign Beaton's address is c/o Fleet Post Office, New York, N. Y.

Carol Nye writes in a nice letter that she and little Lincoln are living at Cocheco Ave., Indian Neck, Bramford, Conn., and that Dana is still in New Guinea.

A thoughtful post card came from Sgt. Malcolm Blodgett, Btry. A, 552nd AAA, AW Bn. (MBL), Camp Helen, Texas, to give us his address and tell of his "all too short" furlough at home in West Brooksville.

Edith Huntley and Lt. Howard Merrill were married in Old Town last May. Lots of happiness to you both! Howard is now at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, with the U. S. Army Air Forces.

Mary Burke has received her M.A. in education from Boston University where she studied last year, having received a government scholarship. Mary is now at the Eastern Maine General Hospital in Bangor and is a ward supervisor.

Lt. Paul Bartlett and Marie Allender of Dayton, Ohio, were married on May 1st in Dayton. Paul is stationed in that city now. Sorry I do not have his address.

Doris Dexter and Ensign Keith Thompson, USNR, were married in a lovely candlelight ceremony at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Lewiston on June 4th.

On June 2nd, Virginia Foss and Phil Libbey were married in Hampden. The Libbys are now living in Melrose and Phil is working with Stone & Webster in Boston.

The engagement of Mildred Kavanagh of Danvers, Mass., and John Bower was announced on June 8. John is now production engineer at the Bower Mill division, Lewiston, of the Nashua Manufacturing Co. Best wishes to you both!

Bob Davis writes V-mail from England. His address is c/o Fleet P. O., New York, N. Y. Sorry, but the Marine Corps ruling forbids publishing any part of his letter, but if you want to drop around and read it, it's very interesting. Bob cheerio, old Bean (I think that's good Limcy talk) and good luck.

Natalie Bridgham and A/C Clarence Nichols, Jr., were married on June 20, in New Haven. Clarence has been studying aeronautical engineering at Yale and will receive his commission in September. Congratulations and lots of happiness, you two!

And the same to Ruth Chase and Lt. Henry Gabe who were married on July 25. Henry is now stationed at Fort Heath, Boston.

Robert Dyer was married to Rhoda Turner in Paris, Texas, on July 28. Bob is now stationed at Camp Maxey, Texas, after being commissioned at Camp Barkley.

George Webber and Betty Knight were married on June 12 in New Haven. George has been commissioned second lieutenant and is now on active duty.

On June 12, Margaret Moore and Lt. Wally Francis were married at Hatland. They are now living in Wilmington, N. C., while Wally comes on as instructor at the officers' anti-aircraft school.

Another SAE, Lt. John Fink, and Frances Nelson were married on June 7, in Portland. And Ruth Virgie and Lt. Frederick Burpee's marriage took place in Orono on August 26. Fred is stationed at Camp Edwards, Mass., and serving with the Medical Administrative Corps. Again our best wishes for happiness to all of you; and how about hearing from you?

Engagements: Gladys Clark to Ensign Bob McLeary, Jr., announced on July 21. Sunny is now stationed as drill instructor at the Naval Training Station, Bainbridge, Md. Helen Caldwell to Lt. Ray Wilson, engaged during August. Ray was awarded a B.S. in meteorology at New York University and was stationed at Grenier Field, Manchester, N. H. He is now at Seymour Johnson Field, Goldsboro, N. C.

Maddy Banton and Lt. Carlton Brackett became engaged on August 30. Carlton has been stationed at Camp Lee, Va., and the wedding will take place soon.

Dorothy Brewer and Gordon Erikson were married on August 22 at Bar Harbor. Lots of happiness to you both! And to Susan Abbott and Corp. Paul Farris, U. S. Marines, who were married on July 15, in Augusta.

Careers: Ginny Weston is now teaching in the Orono High School. Nice going, Ginny. And also, Ellen Teague is now home demonstration agent in Franklin County.

It Leroy Ladner has recently been home on leave, and during that time Anna Kahill's engagement to him was announced. Roy was commissioned in the Quartermasters' O.C.S. at Camp Lee, Va.

Flossy and Dale Butterworth's new address is 4111 Caddo St., Route #3, Monroe, La. Flossy, Jo Blake, and I had a good time seeing each other one weekend while Flossy was home this summer. She looks wonderful, in spite of the heat in the south.

Margie and Lt. Dick Franz are to be congratulated on the birth of lovely Barbara Irene who was born in Lewiston on July 25. She's a fine girl, and Margie hopes to join Richie soon.

Twins! Yes, twins! Margaret and Lt. Arnold McKee are the proud parents of little Margaret and Arnold, born in Bangor on August 7. I've seen lots of the McKee family and it's quite a wonderful group.

On September 10, Geraldine Thorpe and John Houston were married in Bangor. They will be living in Brooklyn, Maine, where John will be principal of the Brooklyn High School. Our sincere best wishes!

And now I think I'll be wishing for a host writer for the next two months if "boot training" is as intensive as its reputation would have you believe.

1943 For four months the class of '43 has been seeking a firm footing out in the cold world and now as the football season rolls around once more the various members of our group are digging into their jobs with greater zest as they think back on those four "swell" years of preparation for these responsible positions.

From all reports we seem to be a versatile group and very scattered, although a few have managed to stick together. Down south, Baltimore way, Calverts' Company employs many of the recent graduates—Rachel Alden, Marie Rourke, Iva Henry and Harriett Furbish who live at 1821 Woodside Ave., Baltimore, Maryland. Also with the company are Barbara Bean, Rita Cassidy, Freda Landers, Becky Gould, and Rita Johnson.

Among the news about men in the service came the story of Lt. Dana Dudley who was a member of the Flying Fortress Crew that bagged six German planes and then returned safely though two motors were shot away.

The department of weddings and engagements is large. The list thus far includes the marriages of: Lt. James Girdwood, Co. E, 31st R.O.C., Quantico, Virginia, to Nancy Gascoigne '43.

Gordon Tooley to Jeanette Mason in Columbus, Ohio.

Dorothy Elizabeth Albert and Joseph Flannagan who are at home at 11 Albermarle Street, Springfield, Mass., where Joe is working for the Merrimac Division of the Moncanto Chemical Co. as a "Chem" Engineer—(Ralph Klucken is in the Research Lab at Moncanto. His address is 99 School Street, Springfield.)

Gordon Bearce Smith to Dorothy Taylor of Oakland. Gordon is teaching Math in the Sanford High School.

Waldo Burnham and Miss Priscilla Reed.

Priscilla Lois Hardy and Thomas Roden, who is pastor of the Hancock Union Congregational Church.

Huldah Pond and Frank L. Emerson. The Emersons are living in Lynn, Mass.

Lawrence Rollins and Bernice McCormack who are living in Boston where he works for Westinghouse.

Ruth Palmer who taught science in the Fifth Street High School before leaving for California after her marriage to Captain Charles Allen Stone.

Ruth McKay and Dean Pierce now in Biddeford.

Winona Cole and Waldron Sawyer. Winona has a position as Home Ec teacher in the Junior High School in Bangor. Ensign Richard Karl and Ruth Ann Myers.

Mary V. Hempstead and Robert E. Hemman. Address: 2152 Center Street, West Roxbury, Mass. Martha Page and Betty Bearce were bridesmaids at Mary's wedding (Betty is now 4-H Club agent for Cumberland county.)

Frances Nelson and Lt. John Fink '42. Frances is working for G.E. in Schenectady at the present as are Cecil Littlefield and Dorothy MacLeod. (Dot's address: 39 Front Street.)

Alice Bartlett and Pfc. Tom Easton who is stationed at Georgetown Univ. in Washington, D. C.

Fran Drew and Dwight Moody.
Helen Dyer and Dick Finkinson.
Anita Pooler and T. LaLiberty.

Helen Nancy "Moosie" Wright and Lt. Robert Dalrymple '42—51 Whitney Road, Newtonville, Mass.

Ensign Richard Youlden and Ellen Daggett '44. Dick's studying further at Annapolis having graduated from the U.S.N.R. Midshipman's school at Columbia.

As for the engagements announced since May. Congratulations are in order for:

Lt. Donald Harper and Betty Bachel-don. Don's stationed in Africa now.

Lois Ann Savage and Sumner Burgess '42.

Elinor Crowell and Lt. Donald Marshall, Jr. Elinor's with the Du Pont Company in Lowell, Mass.

Henry Fogler and Nancy Mognihan. Lt. Stephen Robbins and Barbara Mullan of Portsmouth.

Midshipman Harry Files and Natalie Curtiss '44. Harry's studying at U.S.N.R. Midshipman's School in Columbia Univ., N. Y.

Ensign David S. Caldwell and Eleanor Horne of Old Town. David and Bob Ingalls have been among those at U.S.N.R. Midshipman's School at Notre Dame this summer.

Jack Long and Clarence Gilman graduated from Midshipman's School at Columbia this summer. Also with the Navy, studying at N. Y. U. is Harry Wooster. Bob Lycette and Jay Lord have both been stationed on the "Prairie State" in New York. There are others of us in the New York vicinity. Bill Ellis and Dave Hempstead are working for Sperry Gyroscope. Bill is in Garden City and Dave in Brooklyn—address 32 Pierrepont Street, Brooklyn 2, N. Y. Willa Dudley is taking graduate work at N. Y. U., Washington Square, after spending the summer at Camp Natarawi as a Senior Councilor. Jean Patten was Recreation Councilor at the same camp.

Helen Mullen has taken up Aeronautical Engineering. Now, after studying at Columbia this summer, she is helping Grumman build bigger and better planes. Deep in research lab work to do with cattle, Bea Brown is now in Pearl River, N. Y., 219 Old Middletown Rd.

Not much farther north, in Bridgeport, Conn., Mary Parkhurst is working long hard hours at General Electric. You'll find the Class of '43 in Boston, too. She Still Has "The Voice With A Smile"

War traffic keeps her busier than ever but she manages to keep calm and pleasant.

She still has "The Voice With A Smile" even when the lights are thick on the Long Distance switchboard and the circuits are crowded. Even when she has to ask you to —

"Please limit your call to 5 minutes. Others are waiting."

That's to help everybody get better service and you couldn't ask for a better reason than that.
