Biographical / Historical

The Bureau of Labor Education (BLE) at the University of Maine is a state-funded department of research and advocacy for Maine laborers and their issues. First established in 1966 by the Maine Legislature, the original aim of the Bureau was to foster education about the history and current issues of labor in today's techno-capitalist society, as well as advocate on behalf of labor. The Bureau teaches courses in Labor studies, contributes to and facilitates publications in labor studies and economics, and has retained robust relationships with some of Maine's most important labor allies, like Maine AFL-CIO. Some remains of this practice exist in the Bureau's current partnership with the Maine AFL-CIO in the form of the Summer Institute.

Several leaders within the Bureau have left a lasting mark on its institutional and archival footprint. One of these leaders is John Hanson, who was appointed director of the Bureau in 1972. In 1972, under the direction of Charles J. O'Leary the Bureau expanded its programming to include a range of labor related topics (such as collective bargaining, worker health and safety, and labor law) and developed several publications. Both Hanson and O'Leary were very active in regional, state, and national labor union and social action groups, which is reflected in the records included in this record group.

Another key player was the late Dr. Charles Scontras, professor and researcher emeritus, who worked for various labor organizations and the Bureau for almost a half century. His work at the Bureau was crucial in creating critical historiographies of Maine labor history, sketching a continuity of collective struggle against capital from the seventeenth century to the present day. His series in this record group documents the preparatory work for some of his scholarships, like "Time-Line of Selected Highlights of Maine Labor History: 1636-2015" and "Maine Labor in the Age of Deindustrialization and Global Markets". Scontras died in 2021.

In 2005, Assistant Director William (Bill) C. Murphy succeeded John Hanson as Director of the Bureau. Marc Cryer was appointed as Murphy's successor in 2013.

In 2023, the Bureau moved from the Division of Lifelong Learning to be part of the Cooperative Extension.

Scope and Contents

The record group mainly contains textual information created and curated by the University of Maine's Bureau of Labor Education.

The record series Administrative Records contains internal and external correspondence concerning the Bureau, records of programs organized by the Bureau. There are multiple entries for: fiscal progress reports, informational materials about the Bureau and its work during the twentieth century, weekly logs, and manuscripts from Bureau workers, like John Hanson and Charles Scontras.

The record series AFL-CIO Records contains items pertaining to collaboration between Bureau and the Maine AFL-CIO, as well as the national headquarters for the labor organization. Materials on the Summer Institute. AFL-CIO labor conferences in Maine; AFL-CIO intervention in labor advocacy in Maine; photographs of various Bureau employees at AFL-CIO labor conferences; Maine AFL-CIO yearly labor reports on conditions of organized labor in various sectors in Maine; materials from the 1988 Jay Maine International Paper strike; Maine AFL-CIO COPE Convention.

The record series Associated Committees and Organizations Records contains correspondence and materials concerning the Bureau's collaboration with other labor-adjacent organizations, those include: Agricultural Bargaining Committee; Maine Education Association; Maine State Federation of Labor, including photographs and printed materials; Maine Economic Growth Council; Maine State Employees Association; Southern Maine Building and Construction Trades Council; collaboration with organs within OSHA; ME Literacy Taskforce; Millenium Commission on Hunger and Food Security.

The record series Bolduc (Claire) Maine Paper Industry Papers contains miscellaneous publications curated by former University of Maine faculty member Claire Bolduc regarding the Maine paper industry, including a copy of a report to the Maine State Joint Select Committee on Forest Resources on Canadian Labor in the Maine Woods. The series also includes two video cassettes of a possibly unfinished film by Gloriana Davenport and Rachel Strickland about a Maine blueberry rakers' strike.

The record series Bronstein (Erica) Correspondence contains correspondence to and from Labor Education Specialist Erica Bronstein related to the operations of the Bureau of Labor Education during her tenure working for the Bureau.

The record series Carter (Valerie) Papers contains material created and curated by Valerie Carter during her tenure at the Bureau of Labor Educations, including from projects on women's employment issues and Gay, Bisexual, Lesbian, or Transgender policy in Maine and Maine AFL-CIO and Eastern Maine Labor Council material. The series also contains course materials for LST 101/102 Introduction to Labor Studies and material on the Taxpayer Bill of Rights (TABOR) referendums held in Maine in 2006 and 2009.

The record series Gender in Labor Relations contains materials on various Bureau of Labor Education initiatives to further the interests of women in the workplace, like equal pay, work safety, and paid time-off. AFL-CIO committees on Gender in Labor relations; Trade Union Women's Conference; and the Maine Women's Labor Institute.

The record series Hanson (John) Papers contains articles, depositions, correspondence, publications, and programs of John Hanson, from during his tenure as director of the Bureau of Labor Education.

The record series Jay, Maine Strikes and International Paper Withdrawal Records document the wider arc of the International Paper strikes that unfolded in Jay, ME during 1988-1989. It contains information about Bureau of Labor Education efforts to support striking workers.

The record series Labor History Records contains miscellaneous materials – photographs, monographs, publications, and visual communication pertaining to labor history in the United States, or Maine. Scholarly works on labor history in Maine, the rise and fall of textile industry in Maine, American Labor movements, the origins of Labor Day, histories of Maine labor; histories of various labor unions prominent in Maine; unlabeled cassette tapes; political posters; early 20th century books on socialism, Marxist theory, and labor history in America.

The record series Labor Law and Regulations contains a worker's guide to labor laws, yearly editions; source books on labor in various industries; principles of lobbying, arbitration, and others; worker safety regulations during the 1990s.

The record series Labor Response to Economic Restructuring contains Bureau of Labor Education material relevant to organized labor's response to the Neoliberal era, beginning in the 1970s. Responses documented include: scholarly works on NAFTA, privatization, the rising financial industry, informational materials on 'Right to Work' laws and lobbying; materials on minimum wage debates; Bureau of Labor Education responses to withdrawal of manufacturing industries from Maine starting in the 1980s; the Employment Transition Program started by the Bureau of Labor Education.

The record series Lane (David) Correspondence contains correspondence to and from David Lane regarding Bureau of Labor Education programs on collective bargaining and other subjects during his tenure as project coordinator at the Bureau.

The record series Lifelong Learning Division Records contains Bureau of Labor Education contributions, material, and staff, to the Lifelong Learning Division of the University of Maine.

The record series Logger Safety Program Records contains Bureau of Labor Education funded and staffed programs for logger safety and organizing in Maine; logging project bills drafted by Maine AFL-CIO and BLE; individual town meeting documents for Logging Project programs; OSHA materials for logger safety.

The record series Madawaska Program, 'La Maison Acadienne' contains materials from a joint Bureau of Labor Education and Maine AFL-CIO project called The Madawaska project.

This housing program sought to mobilize HUD funding to construct a low-income housing complex in Madawaska, ME, with culturally relevant architecture and planning according to the surrounding Acadian community. It contains correspondence between key stakeholders, planning with architectural and engineering firms, and negotiations for funding.

The record series Miscellaneous Reference Material contains various publications in Maine labor news and Maine Election times; education and informational pamphlets on effective organizing and bargaining; union officer guideline handbook; worker's disputes and third-party relations.

The record series Murphy (William C.) Correspondence contains correspondence to and from William C. Murphy during his tenure as first research and program associate and then director of the Bureau of Labor Education.

The record series O'Leary (Charles) Papers contains campaign photographs and correspondence and day-to-day correspondence.

The record series Scontras (Charles) Papers contains his correspondence with William M. Murphy; his various speeches at labor events; scholarly articles and labor histories written by Scontras.

The record series Summer Institute Records contains correspondence in planning of yearly summer training institutes; materials for actual events and programs; survey evaluation results for various seminars and talks hosted during summer institutes.

The record series Worker Education and Safety Programs contains materials related to educational programs, conferences, and seminars organized by the BLE, often in conjunction with other labor advocacy groups or unions. Some materials pertain to planning and correspondence for events, while others pertain to the content and concepts taught in these programs, like collective bargaining and arbitration. This series also includes details of assessments conducted by the BLE of different groups.
