A Bibliography for Katahdin: Supplement

By Edward S. C. Smith and Myron H. Avery

The titles here listed are supplementary to "A Bibliography for Mt. Ktaadn, Revised," published in Appalachia, Vol. 16, No. 1, December, 1924.¹

Many of the additions, of a scientific nature, for this supplement were very kindly furnished by Mr. Arthur H. Norton, of the Portland Society of Natural History, Portland, Maine.

The spelling "Ktaadn," appearing in the title of the earlier bibliography, was used by Briggs, Greenleaf, Hamlin, Harvey, Holley, Hubbard, Jackson, Lawrence, L. H. Merrill, C. E. Potter, Thoreau, and Trumbull. It was at one time in use by the Appalachian Mountain Club.² The spelling "Katahdin" is in common use in the State of Maine. It was officially adopted by the United States Geographic Board April 4, 1893,³ and by the Appalachian Mountain Club in 1925.⁴

Aroostook Pioneer. (County Court House, Houlton, Maine.) A Trip to Mt. Katahdin. August 30, 1870.

⁴ A manuscript combining the two, with comments on the titles, is deposited with the Maine State Library, Augusta, Maine. Much expanded copies of this Supplement, containing in addition titles of 64 contemporary newspaper articles, lists of paintings, photographs, and maps of Katahdin, a chronological list of notable Katahdin expeditions, and some references on place names in the region which have here been omitted for considerations of space, are deposited in the Maine State Library and the libraries of the Appalachian Mountain Club and the Portland Society of Natural History, Portland, Maine.

For other variations in spelling see Campbell, Chadwick, Keep, Larrabee, Turner, Whipple, and Williamson, and the title "Maps of the Katahdin Region" in the expanded manuscript noted above. For other names of the mountain see Chadwick, Giles, and Montresor.
