CHILDREN’S HOME,

BANGOR,

READ AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SOCIETY

JANUARY 3, 1871.

BANGOR:

PRINTED BY SAMUEL S. SMITH & SON.

1871.
SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Ladies:—Before entering upon the business for the new year, let me recall to your minds the leading events of the year that has just closed.

Though the Home had been occupied some three months in 1869, yet with 1870 you entered upon the first fiscal year, with a larger house to care for, a larger family to provide for than you had had before, with domestic arrangements still incomplete, and with no assured increase of your income with which to meet this greater demand upon your resources. But putting away all doubts and misgivings and trusting that when aid was needed, aid would be speedily given, you began the year with thirty-three children; six of them were boys and twenty-seven of them were girls. Whole number cared for during the year, 60; girls 45; boys 15. Number who entered during the year, 27; number who left during the year, 26; number of soldiers' orphans 20. One of the soldiers' orphans, George Strout from Corinth, who was deaf and dumb, was taken into the Home that he might be placed in a suitable asylum and was sent, upon application of your President to the Governor, to the Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Hartford, Conn. George Moore, having been legally given to the Home was adopted by his mother upon her second marriage. A similar case was that of Ella Payne, given to you in 1865 and adopted by her mother in February.

Early in February, Mrs. Hinds, the Matron, visited by request of Mr. Pitcher and the Managers, various charitable institutions in Boston and vicinity, that she might learn the different systems under which they were conducted. I think none of those who have visited the Home during the past year will think she needs to pay them another visit. It was found to be very inconvenient to have the sewing done in the nursery, which is also the hospital when there is sickness, and in March, a carpet having been given for the purpose, one of the small sleeping rooms was fitted up for a sewing room and I believe the change has proved a most excellent one. In June, Miss Gilman, the seamstress, whose health had been failing for some time, was obliged to leave her situation and Miss Orcutt was engaged in her place. On the 15th of July, Miss Longfellow, from the Lancaster Industrial School, came to try the experiment of keeping a school in the Home. It seemed necessary that the children should have more knowledge of sewing and housework than could be acquired while they attended the public schools, and this, Miss Longfellow hopes to accomplish, and at the same time, to instruct them in the common branches and morals. One of the large dormitories was arranged for a school room and the school prospered until the teacher was called away in October by the illness of her mother. After waiting some weeks and then learning that she could not return for the winter, steps were taken to procure one in her place. Mrs. Mary E. Haskell has been engaged and will soon be ready to enter upon her duties.—

One of the managers, Mrs. W. Staples, taught the school for two weeks. During its session of two and a half months, so much was accomplished that its friends feel very hopeful of its proving a grand success when fully under way. Beside their studies and housework, the children knit 22 pairs of mittens, 60 pairs of stockings and braided and sewed three large mats, beside doing much plain sewing.

In May, the Hibernian Benevolent Society offered to give a dramatic entertainment, the proceeds of which should go towards the purchase of a piano for the Home. Their offer was accepted and the sum of sixty-four dollars was received and placed in the hands of the Furnishing Committee as the beginning of a piano fund. From time to time, money was given to this fund by persons visiting the Home, till the sum was raised to seventy-five dollars. At the time the High School gave their concert to provide money to purchase a new piano, the old one was offered for sale for one hundred dollars, and Mr. Russell S. Morrison bought it and offered it to the Home for that price, though it was worth more. Mr. Charles Sanford learning that money was still wanting to raise your piano fund to that sum, gave twenty-five dollars towards it and the piano became the property of the Home, the gift of the Hibernians, Mr. Sanford, and a few other friends. On Sunday afternoon, Nov. 27th, Rev. Mr. Cudworth, of East Boston, addressed the children and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill with Mrs. Davenport and others, sang with the children, the piano adding greatly to the pleasure of all.

On Thanksgiving day, the usual donations having been sent in, the children enjoyed a hearty dinner, but the great day of the year for them was Christmas, for on Christmas Eve a beautiful tree was prepared for them through the kindness of Mrs. G. W. Merrill. As this was the 12th year that she has given them that pleasure, she determined to make it a very handsome one. The tree itself was very beautiful, and was trimmed with apples, candies, various gifts and ornamental designs, and with what seemed like glittering ice dropping from its branches and lighted with eighty tapers of different colors. Rev. Mr. Fay made a pleasing address and the children sang some carols and then enjoyed the distribution of the gifts, while the assembled friends enjoyed seeing them so happy.

In August occurred the death of Mrs. John Bradbury, a former Manager of the Asylum, one of the original members and always a great friend to the orphans. Of the original Managers, there remain only two who are still connected with the Home, Mrs. Hobbs, and Mrs. Merrill. In October, Mr. Cummings, from the Baldwin Place Home for Little Wanderers, visited this city, and at the request of the managers delivered addresses at the Universalist, Baptist and Methodist churches, and took up collections, giving half of the proceeds to the Home. Afterwards, collections were made in the Hammond St. and the First Parish churches.

Judging from the number of visitors recorded from day to day in the Journal, the Home has been a pleasant place to visit, twenty being no unusual number to have on one day, while an excursion party from Dexter numbering one hundred and sixty nearly filled the house at one time. Many leave gifts behind or send them afterward. To Mr. Dexter of Corinth, you are indebted for barrels of apples and potatoes, to Mr. Spaulding, of Brewer, for barrels of potatoes, turnips and carrots, and to Mr. Chandler of Corinth for apples, to people in Medway for yarn, to Mr. Thomas Bickford for fish and oysters sent at different times, to Rev. F. A. Robinson of Kent's Hill, to Mr. S. F. Hersey and the Hammond St. church for apples, to W. H. Strickland for potatoes, to Mr. Walter Brown for flour, to C. & F. Dwinel for cranberries and apples, to Mr. Coombs and Mr. Hanson for hats and trimmings, to W. S. Hellier for flour, to S. A. Stoddard for soap, and to Mr. J. C. Mitchell for a bountiful supply of strawberries. The Dexter Gazette has been received during the year and the Jeffersonian was sent as long as it was published. Mr. Albert Paine has sent the New Church Magazine and Mrs. Major Strickland the Children's Hour. Your thanks are due to Dr. Jefferds for attendance and medicines, and to Dr. Morison for services rendered in vaccinating the children. Early in the year Mr. Dale and Mr. C. P. Stetson gave each five dollars to Mrs. Hinds to procure for the children some pleasure they would not otherwise have. Later Mr. Hooper gave a like sum with the same provision. A portion was spent for a clock for the schoolroom; with the remainder a picture was purchased and with its handsome frame, the gift of Mr. Niebuhr and Mr. Hale, delighted the children at Christmas. Placed in the playroom, it is always with them, and lasting beyond the present moment will be a source of pleasure to all who shall become inmates of the Home for many years to come. The children have enjoyed donations of refreshments from the levees of the Masonic fraternity and from those of the Hammond St., Universalist, Unitarian and First Parish churches, a donation of meat and bread from Mr. Noyes, the result of an experiment in cooking, and the gifts of strawberries, blueberries and other fruits sent in by kind friends. All gifts of clothing, books and various useful articles have been most gratefully received and kindly remembered.

The close of the year finds you with 34 children under your care, your bills all paid and a small sum remaining in the treasury.

Respectfully submitted,

F. W. PLYMPTON, Secretary.
