Search-committee posts filled

The Professional Employees' Advisory Council (PEAC) at UMO is now trying to fill the position of director of the student health center. PEAC is seeking to attract a qualified candidate to fill the position, which was vacated by the resignation of the former director, Dr. John Melrose.

The position involves overseeing the operations of the health center, including budgeting, personnel management, and ensuring the provision of quality health care services to students. PEAC is looking for a candidate with a background in healthcare administration, preferably with experience in a college or university setting.

The ideal candidate will possess excellent interpersonal skills, the ability to lead a diverse team, and a commitment to the well-being of the student body. Experience in managing health-related budgets and regulatory compliance is also desirable.

Interested candidates should submit their applications, along with a cover letter and a resume, to the Office of the Dean of Students by January 31, 2023. The search committee will begin reviewing applications immediately.

Libby said to be 'extremely favorable'

Trustees may act on plan to fund PIRG this month

If the trustees approve the plan, the PIRG board will interview applicants for staff positions and choose priorities. Libby concludes that the plan is likely to be favorably received by the board, and the organization will have the resources needed to continue its work on behalf of the students.

The plan involves a multi-year strategy to expand PIRG's influence on campus and in the community. It includes the establishment of local PIRG chapters, increased funding for center-related programs, and the hiring of additional staff to support these initiatives.

The plan is expected to be discussed at the next meeting of the PIRG board, which is scheduled for February 2023. The trustees will have the opportunity to provide input and make decisions about the organization's future direction.

The Classified Employees Advisory Council: Anne E. Hathaway, executive housekeeper. Student members are: Donald C. McAlister, student member from Presque Isle; and Ronald E. Beard, graduate student in agricultural and resource economics from Southwest Harbor.
Recreation skills to be taught in eight workshops

A series of eight mini-workshops designed to teach skills in outdoor recreation begins tonight.

The workshops, which will include lectures and lab sessions, will be held at 7 p.m. in the Davis Yarrow Room of the Memorial Union or at a site to be announced.

They will be concerned with winter survival, cross-country skiing, do-it-yourself construction, first aid, knots and slings, wilderness photography, canoeing and sailing.

Laboratory sessions are planned for skiing, canoeing, and sailing. Instruction will be on campus personnel.

Workshop sessions and instructors include:

Feb. 13: Cross-country skiing, waxing, cleaning, technique, equipment selection, Philip "Bud" Follger.

March 6: Do-It-Yourself; sleeping bag construction, snowshoe construction, Tom Vigor, Dick McGeary.

March 20: First Aid, lecture and lab session, Bates History.

May 13: Canoeing, David Kent.

May 15: Sailing,  Gilbert Fishback.

The workshops are sponsored by the student activities office.

Those parking illegally top 1972 crime ticket

Seventy-six bicycles were reported stolen last year compared with 54 in 1971 for a 36 percent decrease. Ninety-eight were recovered during 1971 and 46 in 1972 for a recovery rate decrease of 53 percent.

The total number of man hours put in last year was nine percent less than the year before. During 1972, 31,526 man hours were reported compared with 34,711 in 1971, or an increase of 43 percent.

The total of called-for services in 1972 was 6,333 compared with 4,420 in 1971, for an increase of 43 percent.

There were 104 court summonses issued during 1972 and a conviction rate of almost 95 percent. Of the court summonses issued, 11 involved drugs, including six for the sale of LSD. Twenty-two were issued to those who failed to pay parking tickets and each was fined $10.

There were issued summonses for willful concealment of merchandise, three for robbery, three for theft, five for breaking, entering and larceny and three for breaking, entering and larceny.

The total of called-for services in 1972 was 6,333 compared with 4,420 in 1971, for an increase of 43 percent.

Full-time director hired for Hilltop Crafts Center

by Dave Primes

The Hilltop Crafts Center has a new full-time paid director, due to expansion in facilities.

Nan Aalberg has been working at her job as director of the center since Feb. 3, although the center was not re-opened until the following Thursday.

A full-time director was needed, Aalberg said, because the center became too big for the previous part-time director, Peter Simon, Student Senate co-president.

The new Crafts Center director was hired by the office of residences and dining halls.

Aalberg will hold her post as director for a trial period of four months, ending in May. The office of residences and dining halls will pay her a salary of $3,000 for the four months.

H. Ross Mortaney, director of residences and dining halls, said the center is being funded by the Student Senate for recreational, cultural and social activities for students. Domestic students' fees pay for the fund.

A proposed expansion for the Craft Center is the setting up of playpens in the center, Aalberg said, so mothers can bring their young children along while working with their crafts.

Aalberg and she is working with the Mrs. Maine Club and with Joyce DeNiro, assistant dean of student activity and organizations, in completing the playpens project.

The Craft Center is planning a craft fair in May. Students from all University of Maine campuses will display their wares outside the Hilltop Cafeteria building, while demonstrations of the various crafts will be held inside the center.

In addition, the Craft Center will begin daily classes on Feb. 19, on the various crafts available. Registrations for the classes are Feb. 12 to 16 and information on these classes will be distributed.

Four special workshops also have been scheduled for the spring semester, Aalberg said.

The workshops include: gold and silver jewelry, with Judy and Steve Brown in March; pottery, with Gail Hoag in April; film, with Jules Kranin from May 15 to 17; and a display of works by Sarah Taber on May 20 in the Totman Room at the Union.

The new crafts available at the Craft Center this semester include calligraphy (lettering) and paper making, Aalberg said.

She added that some crafts which were offered previously were not used because materials were stored out of sight of Craft-Center visitors. But this semester all of the available craft materials will be placed in open view so they may be utilized.

Aalberg graduated from Florida State University at Tallahassee in March, 1972 with an English degree.

After she came to Maine, she began using the Craft Center facilities every day, and came to know the staff and the workings of the center. Her husband is a UMO student.

Aalberg said that the craft center is open to everyone from the university or the Orono-Old Town area. Craftsmen of all levels of skill, from beginner to expert, are welcome.

Peace, now the home front

A wave of protest against the hostilities in Vietnam has been rippled by our withdrawal from that war-torn country. A system of conscription has been halted by the Administration. The Supreme Court has prohibited the states from making laws against women's right to have abortions. Protest has finally realized long-awaited results.

We commend the Nixon Administration for curtail our Southeast-Asian involvement to its success in ending conspiration. And we commend the Supreme Court's foresight and acknowledgement of reality in its reform to allow states to prohibit war abortions.

"Perhaps the times they are a-changing," or at least are beginning to change.

Nevertheless, much must be accomplished for our country to be proud to raise children in.

Social programs affecting millions are being dismantled in an effort to cut spending.

Little has been done during the Nixon Administration to further the cause of civil rights.

The nations in consternation over recent events is that of ancient critics.

Press freedom is being threatened.

The recent progressive accomplishments of the administration do deserve the attention and commendation of the American people.

But it is not time to sit back and relax, forgetting about the problems that still confront us.

The past few weeks have shown that the people can be listened to. Some success has been attained, but it is not time to quit plugging.

Riley: CAMPUS warped news

To the editor:

I wish to clarify numerous fallacies reported by the Jan. 18 Campus. I found the lead to be poorly researched and exceedingly biased. In fact, you failed to find fit to print any of the suggestions made by the grievance committee. Many of the facts are not known to me, and therefore, I will give no comments. However, I do believe the letter of Mr. Samuel Nesbitt, Jr., is a letter dated July 22, 1972. Mr. Paul Gauvreau and Vice-President Winthrop C. Libby two years ago implied that there are many needs for research, money and transportation to transport our troops to the front lines. In Washington it is to be expected that the actual facts are not entirely accurate. Although the specific facts are not entirely accurate, it would appear from the correspondence surrounding this matter, that the Nixon Administration is working toward the goal of reducing the hostilities in Vietnam. A system of draft has been halted by the Administration.

Free UMO students have been arrested in connection with an attempted kidnapping of Leon Caron, the director of Wells Commons. UMO Police Chief William W. S. Tyne said an anonymous phone call was received Monday night, alerting the police that an attempt would be made to grab Caron. "We received the call at 12:04 p.m. Tuesday night," Tyne said. "The caller simply stated, "Go to Wells Commons," there will be a bagging at 8:30 tonight." Two squad cars arrived at 8:30, initiated Caron's release. Two figures near Caron's car were arrested. Caron reported to be concerned in the Corbetti Hall laundry room and surrounded without a fight. They were barely armed with slate-board, baseball, and food haddock. One member had a .45 cal. shotgun but dog in possession. In signed confession, two of the five students involved said that they had waited outside of dorm, armed with range and dogs. One of the students said that the attempt had been planned for over a week. The student and the UMO had drafted a 'head' law for Caron in a brutal attempt to end food poisoning by the administration.

The leader of the group said that the sheet that set the mad plot in motion was the dinner menu on Saturday, January 15. "The more fact that the sheet, one of our suggestions made through the grievance committee, has been considered is bad enough," he said, "but when their actions go completely against the minimum daily requirements, what we are we supposed to do?"

UMO Police Chief William W. S. Tyne said the Food and Drug Administration has approved a complete investigation of the UMO Food Service by the F.D.A. He said, "Apparently the F.D.A. feels there is a sound reason to have food poisoning through negligence by the administration.

CAMPUS critic belongs on worst-of-the-year list

To the editor:

As an old movie-record reviewer for the Campus, and one who still follows the movies with great interest, Bill Gordon's best-of-the-year, worst-of-the-year columns made me feel slightly queasy in the stomach.

Mr. Gordon's style of reviewing is a bit simplistic and more than a bit odd.

A Churchill Change may have been the best movie of the year, but I doubt that its self-conscious depiction of violence or intellectual angst is any more telling than John Boorman's translation of James Dickey's Deliverance.

Mr. Gordon is also to be congratulated for his offbeat view that Maine is full of "distinct managers" and "meanest audiences with no sense." I find it difficult for any audience to come up to Mr. Gordon's fifty level of taste, but so many movie reviewers (I should know that Morley has knawly played this area, at Brewer Cinema 3, and I'll gladly bet him the price of a ticket at the theater of his choice that Sounder will be in the area by the first of March.

I find it tough to believe that such a well-informed student of the cinema as Bill Gordon could say that The Godfather is "the best gangster film from Hollywood since the Thirties when Edward G. Robinson was Public Enemy." The Godfather was filmed principally in New York, and Edward G. Robinson didn't star in Public Enemy, James Cagney did.

Maine-ly Right by Jeffrey Hollingsworth

Peace!...and the silence is deafening

For those many years now, the American people have witnessed a cacophony of protest, outrage, debate, and fervor over the war in Vietnam. An amalgam of war, incensed students, and dissent against the war, the Vietnam Syndrome, the new peace may turn out to be a shock they cannot cope with. Nevertheless, it is a profound disappointment not to see them treat to peace with as much fervor as they did in demanding it.

If you have been properly outraged or agreed by this column, then it has served its purpose. It is hoped that the views of one conservative area movie reviewer will not alter your taste. I realize it would be difficult for any audience to come up to Mr. Gordon's fifty level of taste. I find it tough to believe that such a well-informed student of the cinema as Bill Gordon could say that The Godfather is "the best..."

Film by Prof. Lewis to be shown Tuesday

"This We Do," a new color film by Michael Lewis, master's professor of art, will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. Tuesday in 100 Nutting Hall.
The Student Art League is presenting the program. The film was made with the help of a Faculty Summer Research Grant.
Admission charge will be 50 cents. The film stars Marge Evans, Steve Nichols, Shirley Howell and David Decker, all of Orono. Thomas Turner was in charge of sound.
Lewis says of the film, " 'This We Do' deals with the attempts of a black woman named Corinna Ector to reach a clearer and more total view of herself, to understand and discard patterns imposed on her mind from childhood and before, so as to achieve a greater, more creative, personal fulfillment.
'But also, I think the film is about anybody's struggle to see and feel more clearly to live in an authentically personal and creative way. It is about death and rebirth.

Concert earns $341

Norman Buck, chairman of the benefit committee, and $415 went for hospital aid and $200 for prisoners of war. UMO police department officers who attended donated their services for the event.

McGraw-Hill's Student-Railpass

So you plan to spend the summer in Europe this year. Great. Two things are mandatory. A ticket to Europe. And a Student-Railpass. The first gets you over there, the second gives you unlimited Second Class rail travel for two months for a modest $135. In Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland! All you need to qualify is to be a full-time student up to 25 years of age, registered at a North American school, college or university.
And the trains of Europe are a sensational way to travel. Over 100,000 miles of track links cities, towns and ports all over Europe. The trains are fast (some over 100 mph), frequent, modern, clean, convenient and very comfortable. They have to be. So you'll meet us on our trains. It really is the way to get to know Europeans in Europe.
But there's one catch. You must buy your Student-Railpass in North America before you go. They're not on sale in Europe because they are meant strictly for visitors to Europe—hence the incredibly low price. Of course if you're loaded you can buy a regular Eurailpass meant for visitors of all ages. It gives you First Class travel if that's what you want.
Either way if you're going to zip off to Europe, see a Travel Agent before you go, and in the meantime, rip off the coupon. It can't hurt and it'll get you a better time in Europe than you ever thought possible.
