WEAK LUNGS.

We do not pretend that our medicines alone and unaided will immediately replace weak lungs with strong ones. It would be just as sensible to assert that a certain drug alone would take the place of food to a starving man. The drug might be quite needful, in such a case, to assist by degrees in restoring the strength, but unless some nourishing food can be supplied, the man must die in spite of a world full of medicines. So starving lungs need their proper food, which is pure, dry, invigorating air at as uniform temperature as possible. Nourishing, easily-digested diet is also necessary to keep up the strength and allay irritation of stomach, bowels, etc. These once obtained, we would say to all persons with weak lungs that we feel certain they will find our medicines of much needed assistance towards a perfect cure. The "King of the Blood" acts as a thorough blood-purifier and scrofula cure, and, as Consumption is generally of scrofulous origin, the "King of the Blood" is its greatest foe. This is to be taken internally. Its effect upon the liver, bowels, stomach, and other internal organs, is very beneficial and greatly assists the process of restoration. The "Magnetic Ointment" is to be applied externally. It has wonderful power to mitigate the usual suffering, allay inflammation, soothe irritation, remove the pressure upon the lungs, and thus enable the sufferer to breathe more easily and fully, and enjoy nights of rest and refreshing sleep. Thus Nature, relieved of her burden, and well aided, gains time and strength for recovery. We urge the use of these remedies in all cases of Weak Lungs, Asthma, or general debility. A Treatise on Diseases of the Blood, containing many certificates of cures and full directions for using, will be found with each bottle of King of the Blood.

For allaying the cough our Hive (Croup) Syrup and Tolu will be found a most valuable aid. It is prescribed throughout the country by physicians.

Back numbers of our Receipt Book for past 3 years will be sent on receipt of 6 cents in postage stamps, or 6 years for 12 cents. Previous years in same proportion. See index on 3d cover-page. This year's book free.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO.,
Buffalo, N.Y.
as well as the medicines named in this book are carefully prepared, and none but the best selected. We have confined them this year to soups, meats and meat sauces. They are all good, our housekeeping friends tell us. Realizing, therefore, that they may be used, like our remedies, with confidence, with the certain reputation we may modestly claim for them, we have taken the liberty of interspersing them (that you may be sure to read all) with

OUR MEDICINES.

Like our receipts, they are true and useful in their proper places. We do not claim that they are the only good ones in the world; that all others are "humbugs," and only ours are genuine; that others always fail while only ours succeed. There may be cases where they might fail and others succeed, for the conditions of the human system are so variable that what cures one person may not cure another, or what cures a person at one time may not at another; but we do know the medicines spoken of in this little book are honestly prepared, that they have done and are doing much good, effecting in many cases really remarkable cures; and that, so far as we have been able to learn, no family once trying them has afterwards been without them. They have been before the people many years—some for over half a century—and have not as yet "been found wanting." We can print in our limited space but a small number of the testimonials we have from grateful people of all classes—the medical profession not excepted—but we select a few as a sample of all.

See our PROOF OF FAITH, next page.
To prove our faith in the genuineness of all our claims, and the qualities of our medicines, we make the following propositions:

$1,000.

1st. For every certificate of cure published by us, which is not a genuine copy of, or extract from, a letter voluntarily written us by the person whose signature is attached, we will forfeit the sum of One Thousand Dollars, to be paid to any public hospital mutually agreed upon.

We would hereby respectfully ask all those who have experienced benefit from our medicines to state to us the facts, thus through us giving hope to other sufferers.

In case any should feel too diffident to let their names be used, they could not do us, or, perhaps, some suffering one, a greater favor than by kindly telling their friends of any benefits received. All we ask, is to "Tell the Truth." The medicine will do the rest.

What our medicines are made of.

2d. Upon a proper request, when we can be assured of the good faith of the inquirer, by personal reference or application, we will furnish a correct list, showing the names of all ingredients of our medicines.

Roast oysters on toast.—Wash and wipe some large fine oysters; spread as many as possible on slices of buttered toast; season with salt, pepper and bits of butter. Put in a hot oven until the edges of the oysters curl. Serve at once.

Rheumatism.

Manitowoc Daily Tribune Office, Manitowoc, Wis.
I cheerfully certify to the merit of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment, having recovered through its agency from a severe attack of acute rheumatism, which other remedies failed to remove. There is no humbug about it.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

See that you have

TRASK'S OINTMENT.

THE PREVALENCE OF IMITATIONS PROVES ITS POPULARITY.

Inflammation.

Trask's Magnetic Ointment is a purely vegetable preparation, and may be used with perfect safety and the best prospects of success in all cases where inflammation exists, and where an external remedy is applicable. The following are some of the disorders, the cure of which, in innumerable instances, has given this remedy its great popularity: Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Inflammation of Lungs and of Bowels, Pleurisy, Croup, Coughs, Rheumatism, Chilblains, Sprains, Lameness, Ear-ache, Back-ache, aches anywhere, Sores, Cuts, Burns, Salt Rheum, Skin Disorders, Scalp affections, Baldness and Falling out of Hair, Scald Head, Scrofula, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Erysipelas, Ague in Face or Breast, Affections of the Spine, Inflamed Eyes, Hemorrhoids or Piles, etc.

It is a most reliable specific in Inflammation of Bowels and Lungs. We have been repeatedly assured by physicians that they have saved lives by depending upon it alone in these diseases.

FINNAN HADDOCK.—Remove the skin from the Finnan Haddie by heating slightly. Put the fish in plenty of cold water and bring it slowly to a boil. Prepare a sauce with milk, butter and flour. When the fish has reached the boiling point, add it to the sauce. Cook it for a few minutes and it is ready.

Used it for Twenty-five Years.

LAPER, Mich., March 10, 1893.

D. Ransom, Son & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.:

"We have used Trask's Magnetic Ointment in our family for twenty-five years. Have raised three children—not one has ever had the Croup. We used it as a preventive and kept the Croup off. We used it for Colds and Burns with good results." Yours, etc.,

J. H. VINCENT.

TO COOK VENISON.—Broil as you would a beefsteak rare. Have ready a gravy of butter, pepper, salt and currant jelly melted. Heat the gravy without boiling it. Score the steak all over, put it in the gravy, cover tight; keep hot enough to steam the meat and send in a covered dish to table.

A Minister's Testimonial.

WHITE HALL, ILL., Feb. 15, 1892.

Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment is a household necessity with us. We find it a marvelous medicine for all that is claimed for it. It is especially effective in cases of Croup, Colds, Colic and Childbirth, for which we have used it very often.

Physicians Use and Recommend

TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

Many eminent physicians have introduced the Magnetic Ointment into their practice, and speak in the most enthusiastic terms of its success over a large class of diseases. The following have handed in their names for reference:

Drs. Geo. and Wm. Cleveland, Waterville, N. Y.  Dr. Bingham, Utica, N. Y.
Dr. Buckingham, Marshall, N. Y.  Dr. Bronson, Clinton, "
Dr. Preston, Sangerfield, N. Y.  Dr. Bissell, "

Devilled Crabs.—Mix one can of crabs, one-half cupful of cream, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one spoonful of Worcester sauce, pepper, salt, the yolks of two hard boiled eggs, one-half cupful of cracker-dust and a little wine. Bake in patties covered with cracker-dust and dotted with butter.

Helped Him in His Practice.

Dr. A. S. Pyle, New Galilee, Pa., says: "I am an old physician, having had an extensive practice up to within a few years, and with the greatest pleasure I am constrained to acknowledge that in all my practice of medicine for thirty years, I have not found the equal of your Trask's Magnetic Ointment, in cases for which it is recommended. I consider it the best combination of medicines for an ointment or embrocation that is known. I use it in every case of inflammation—Inflammation of Lungs, Affections of Liver, Rheumatism, Cancers, Tumors, White swellings, Ulceration of Bone, Croup, in short, every case where it is proper to apply an ointment."

Stewed Rabbit.—Skin and clean the rabbit, cut into pieces, put one-fourth of a pound of butter into a stew-pan and the pieces of rabbit about in it until nicely browned. Take out the meat, add one pint of boiling water to the butter, one tablespoonful of flour stirred to a paste in cold water, one teaspoonful of salt and a little grated onion if liked. Let this boil up while stirring slowly, add the meat. Stew slowly till the rabbit is tender. Serve hot with water cresses accompanying, dressed with vinegar, oil, salt and pepper.

Trask's Magnetic Ointment has been known over half a century.
STEAMED OYSTERS.—Drain some select oysters. Put in a pan and place in a steamer over boiling water. Steam until oysters begin to curl and then serve on a hot dish with butter, pepper and salt. Garnish with fancy pickles and slices of lemon.

A Sure Preventive.

LOWELL, MICH., March 15, 1898.

D. Ransom, Son & Co.:

DEAR SIRS: Myself and wife take great pleasure in recommending Trask’s Magnetic Ointment. We would not be without a bottle of it in our home for a great deal. for there is nothing that we have ever used that will give relief to a child who has a hard cold in the head or on the lungs, which interferes with their breathing, when well applied, as Trask’s Magnetic Ointment. It is also a great preventive for the croup. I have not, nor do I think I could, overrate the remedy for what it is intended. We have a boy coming five years old who is fat and strongly built, and all the sickness he has had is being troubled with the croup and hard colds. Whenever his mother thought necessary, she would, before going to bed, rub the ointment all over his body, using lots of it on his chest, rub some on his nose and back of his ears, which would always loosen up his lungs and head so that he could breathe easier. She has gotten up in the night from having our boy breathe very hard and, after applying the ointment on nose and chest, both have gone back to bed and slept soundly until morning. We have also found it good for sore throat by applying it on the throat and rubbing it in by warming the hand. Hoping that we shall be able to secure a bottle of Trask’s Magnetic Ointment in time of need, we remain,

H. N. STONE.

FRIED OYSTERS.—Wash and drain well; roll in egg, then in cracker crumbs seasoned with salt and pepper. Let stand a few minutes and then drop in hot lard or butter. Serve very hot with cabbage, salad and coffee.

Cures Earache Every Time.

D. Ransom, Son & Co.:

GENTLEMEN:—I have used Trask’s Ointment in my practice and received especial benefit. One case was of La Grippe, which settled in the head and throat. I used it in the ear and bathed in on the throat with happy results. Next was a babe one year of age, a case of scarlatina which settled in the head. After using every other means with no benefit, and after the ears gathered and discharged and the child became deaf. two bottles cured her in six weeks. She is now over two years of age and her head and ears have never troubled her. The next was a babe afflicted with scrofula in the head and discharge from the ears. The last one is getting better fast. I can say that it is the best medicine I ever used for the ear and I have practiced 20 years. I shall always recommend it to the afflicted and use it in my practice.

Sincerely your friend, MRS. DR. S. S. WALSH.

SMELTS.—One pound of smelts. To clean them make an opening at the gills, then draw them between thumb and finger, reminding at the tail. This will press out all the insides. Wash and wipe them. Sprinkle with salt, dip in egg and milk, equal parts, then in meal, and fry in boiling fat. Serve on a platter with bread croutons set thickly around the edge.

CURLED BY

TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

Daniel Johns, Liberty, Ind., says: "I have suffered from the Piles for ten years or more, and have tried many eminent physicians, but received no benefit until I was induced by your agent here, Dr. Beaver, to use Trask's Magnetic Ointment, and I can now say I am entirely cured with three bottles."

Inflammation of the Bowels.

D. Ransom, Son & Co.:

I take pleasure in informing you that we have used Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment for over thirty-two years, and find it one of the best medicines for inflammation. I believe it has saved my life when it was threatened by inflammation of the bowels. I can truly recommend it, as I always keep it in the house. Respectfully, Mrs. S. Raymond.

Omelets.—Make a plain omelet, and when nearly done sprinkle in three tablespoonfuls of grated cheese to four eggs. Ham, chicken or parsley may be added in the same way. When cooked fold together and serve hot.

Three Years of Pain!

W. M. Watson, La Clede, Mo., says: "My wife was afflicted with the Piles for about three years. We tried various remedies, yet no relief was afforded until I bought one bottle of your Trask's Magnetic Ointment, which entirely cured her."

Game Pie.—When several kinds of small game are brought in the best way to utilize them is to stew each kind tender, add them together with butter to make the gravy rich and make a game pie same as you would chicken pie.

Saratoga Couldn't Cure Him.

W. M. Watson, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., says: "I, the subscriber, being for fifty years a resident of the town of Saratoga, N. Y., do certify that I have for many years been afflicted with the Piles. On noticing an advertisement of Dr. A. Trask's Magnetic Ointment, I at once procured a twenty-five cent bottle, and used it as directed, and it has effected a perfect cure. I have not language to express my feelings of gratitude to the doctor for his invaluable ointment. I would say to those suffering with the same complaint, 'Try this remedy, and you will not be disappointed.'"

There is more suffering from PILES than from any other one disease in the world.
FISH BALLS.—One cup of cold, boiled fish, one tablespoonful of butter, one of flour and one-half cup of milk. Melt flour and butter together and let them cook a few seconds, pour to them the milk, stir well over the fire and then it is done. Mix the fish with it, add two well beaten eggs and fry in boiling lard.

For Sore Throat and Diphtheria.

DR. C. N. GIBBS, Oxford, O., says: "I have used Trask's Magnetic Ointment for fifteen years, and have never found anything equal to it to allay inflammation. Six or seven years ago we had Diphtheria in the neighborhood. All the rest of the physicians lost heavily, and I used the ointment and lost five out of one hundred and forty-five cases; so you see what it has done in my practice. I am troubled with inflammation of the bowels, or rather stricture of the bowels, and can't get along without the ointment. I would rather have the ointment in Sore Throat of any kind than all the physicians in the world, and there is nothing so good for Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Burns, Earache, Corns, in fact, where there was Inflammation of the Womb, I have seen it subside in twelve hours. It would be almost incredible should I state all its effects in every form of inflammation."

BAKED PICKEREL.—Select a large, fresh fish and lay it in a baking pan. Pour over it a cupful of boiling water, cover and bake slowly, basting with butter and water. The fish should be tender and firm. When done remove it carefully to a hot dish. Have a cupful of rich, drawn butter-sauce. Strain the gravy into it with minced parsley. Heat to a boil and pour over the fish.

“Worth Its Weight in Gold.

ARMADA, Mich., March 11, 1893.

D. Ransom, Son & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Sirs:—I cannot say enough in praise of your Trask’s Ointment, as it saved my child’s life after the doctors gave her up. She was sick with Inflammation of the Lungs. Also once afterward, a little boy with Inflammatory Croup, and the doctors said he could not live. He lives and is now sixteen years old. This was my first case with your ointment, and I have had a bottle of it in the house ever since. I cannot get along without it, and I praise it wherever I go. It is worth its weight in gold. I know it will cure Diphtheria if it is used in time. I have used it for twenty years, and have got others to use it with the same success. I have seven children and am my own doctor with good medicines like yours. MRS. G. GOLDSWORTHY.

If you cannot find any of our Medicines in your town, we will, on receipt of the price as per list on 2d page of cover, send them to you, no matter how small the order, with charges prepaid. And with such an order we will send a handsome colored picture eleven inches square.
INFLAMMATION OF THE BOWELS AND LUNGS

Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Etc., Cured by

TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT

The virtues of the Magnetic Ointment were most severely tested in the case of Mr. E. Stebbins, of Clinton, Oneida County, N. Y. Mr. Stebbins was violently attacked with Inflammation of the Bowels, and fearing some severe illness, had the benefit of the best medical attendance which Clinton affords. His medical attendant, finding all his efforts to relieve him vain, a council of physicians was called, and, as a last resort, a powerful dose of Croton Oil was administered, but with no better success, and he was pronounced to be beyond medical aid. Some even expressed the opinion that mortification had already taken place. At this critical period a friend, who had some knowledge of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment, recommended its use. A bottle was procured, and by the consent of the attending physician applied. In less than twelve hours all inflammation had subsided, and in a very few days the patient was pursuing his usual vocation, in the enjoyment of health. The grave was never cheated of his victim more unexpectedly.

For the truth of the above statement we would refer the doubting reader to Mr. S. himself, or Dr. Bronson, of Clinton, or to any other respectable resident of Clinton, acquainted with Mr. Stebbins.

EGG SALAD.—Boil hard one half dozen eggs. When cold chop rather fine with the stalks and tender leaves of a root of celery and a handful of green parsley. Pour over the mixture a sauce made by rubbing together a dessertspoonful of mustard with the same quantity of salt and two spoonfuls of granulated sugar, into which beat well five spoonfuls of olive oil and five of vinegar.

Doctors Fail, But Trask's Ointment Cures.

MOSES N. SMITH, Charlotte Center, N. Y., says: "I was severely afflicted for a number of years, with chronic difficulties of the Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Spine, etc. Suffered more than to die a hundred times. Was treated by Drs. Fitch and Hamilton, of New York City, and other eminent physicians, and tried various remedies without relief. Finally I was induced to try Trask's Magnetic Ointment, which afforded relief in a short time. I have a tendency to Chronic Inflammation of the Bowels, which nothing relieves but the ointment."

LOBSTER SALAD.—Boil the lobster and drain (or pick the canned over carefully with a silver fork), remove all the flesh from the shell and chop into dice, add lettuce chopped fine, season with salt, pepper, vinegar and a little oil. Then turn over a mayonnaise dressing.
FISH.—If the fish is fresh and good the eyes will appear bright, the gills of a bright red, the body firm and the bones elastic. If blue at the gills, the eyes dull and the flesh flabby, do not buy the fish. To clean fish the scales should be carefully removed, the fish should be opened and every particle of the entrails taken out. The blood should all be scraped and washed out. Great care should be taken that the gall be not broken. The fish should be well and carefully washed before being seasoned for cooking.

Once Stone Blind—Now Perfectly Well.

Messrs. D. Ransom, Son & Co.:

GENTLEMEN: We take pleasure in sending you the enclosed slip (see opposite page) which refers in most satisfactory terms to the merits of your Ointment. Perhaps I may as well quote her brother’s words: “Libbie came home from Rochester STONE BLIND after a three months’ course of treatment under a celebrated specialist who gave her no encouragement.” My item relates the rest. Libbie has so far recovered as to distinguish objects quite plainly, and what is more gratifying she is steadily improving.

I wrote this at Mr. Frank Flynn’s request, whose gratitude at the restoration of his sister’s eyesight, after a three months’ blindness, is overflowing with praise for your Ointment. He has thoroughly cleaned out our druggist’s supply, with the exception of one bottle. Hoping the Ointment may meet with a large sale throughout this country, I remain,

Very truly yours, FRANK W. PERRY,
Editor Enterprise.

WOODCHUCK.—In the fall it is very fat, when the flesh of the young is said to be quite palatable, tasting like pig. The old ones are tolerably good, but are much better after having been frozen for some time. Cook the young as directed for pig in 1894 Receipt Book.

“The Best Catarrh Remedy.”

D. Ransom, Son & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.:

SIRS: I purchased a twenty-five cent bottle of Trask’s Magnetic Ointment for a Bruise, and on reading the pamphlet I noticed that you claim to help Catarrh. I was a great sufferer with that disease for five years. I applied as directed, and with the first application I was relieved. I continued using it for a month, and now I am entirely cured. I tried a great many remedies, but they all failed to help me. I have recommended it to a number of sufferers, and they all pronounce it great. I should like to shake hands with the man who discovered the Best Catarrh Remedy. P. J. O’CONNELL.

MOCK TERRAPIN.—Boil one pound of calves’ liver, cool and cut into small pieces. Boil two eggs hard, mash yolks to a paste and stir in three spoonfuls of cream. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter with one of flour, add one-fourth of a pint of cream, yolks of eggs and liver, salt, white and red pepper. When it boils add a little sherry if liked.

For PILES alone TRASK’S OINTMENT is famous.
Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment. 11

Rheumatism, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, and Many Other Chronic Diseases, Cured by

TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

Mrs. E. Spaulding, Aurora N. Y., says: "This may certify that I have been troubled with Rheumatism so severely that for three months I could not sleep much nights. My hands swelled exceedingly, and my fingers were drawn out of shape. I tried most all the remedies I could hear of without any particular benefit, until I finally used Trask's Magnetic Ointment, which completely cured me. I used three bottles only."

Sturgeon.—Make a white sauce by stirring together over the fire one ounce each of butter and flour till they bubble; add half a pint of boiling water gradually, stirring till the sauce is smooth, then season with a teaspoonful of salt and quarter of a saltspoonful each of white pepper and grated nutmeg. Set the saucepan containing the sauce in a pan half full of boiling water to keep it from drying up while the fish is prepared. Chop a tablespoonful each of onion and parsley. Remove the skin and bones from one pound of cold, boiled sturgeon. Lay it in a buttered baking dish, which can be sent to table. Moisten with the white sauce. Sprinkle with the chopped onion and parsley. Dust thickly with sifted bread crumbs. Dot with a very little butter and brown quickly in a hot oven.

[Clipping from Shortsville Enterprise. See page 10.]

"Miss Libbie Flynn, who, it will be remembered, while a compositor on a journal in Auburn, lost her eyesight by receiving some news ink into them, and who has been treated by a prominent oculist of Rochester, returned to her home here last week, having received no apparent benefit after a six weeks' course of treatment. She was totally blind, and her physician gave no encouragement as to her improvement. It was some four or five days ago that her brother was advised to procure a bottle of Trask's Magnetic Ointment and use freely upon the young lady's eyes, which advice he acted upon, and in less than three days after the first application she could distinguish objects, and her condition is such as to warrant the restoration of her sight. After paying out $100 to the Rochester physician without a particle of benefit, Frank says for the small sum of 25 cents his sister is being cured, and his faith in the profession has therefore dwindled perceptibly. We earnestly hope the young lady may soon be gratified by completely returned eyesight."

The above was not a paid newspaper advertisement but a voluntary editorial, published without any request by us.—D. R., S & Co.

BRAISED WILD DUCK.—Prepare and stuff the ducks as for roasting. Have ready the butter, dripping hot in a large frying pan, and brown first one duck, then the other, turning several times. Then lay them in a large saucepan and pour the gravy previously heated in with them. Cover closely and stew gently for an hour or until the game is tender. Take out the duck to a hot dish and cover it to keep in the flavor while you strain and thicken the gravy. Send around currant jelly with them.

How to Cure Croup.

"I WISH to certify to the merits of the two articles, Ransom's Hive (Croup) Syrup and Trask's Magnetic Ointment. With both at hand there is no need of croup. We have used it in our family and never had a case of croup as yet, and have implicit confidence that we can cure, in a few minutes, the worst case of Croup ever heard of. "My wife spreads the ointment on flannel and lays on chest, and then gives the syrup in small doses. If we see that the child is likely to croup at any time after that is done, we give a larger dose of Syrup, and that produces nausea. After which the patient invariably goes into a quiet sleep, and the King of Terrors is defeated. The same remedies were used by our mothers with equal success. Very respectfully,

"J. H. DAVIS AND WIFE,"

Paris, Iowa.

CREAMED OYSTERS.—Take a pint of oysters, drain off the liquor and put it on to boil. When boiling add the oysters, let them come to a boil, then drain again. Boil three-fourths of a cup of milk, rub together one-half tablespoonful of butter and another of flour. Add this to the milk and let it boil. Pour over the oysters, season with salt and pepper and let it come nearly to the boiling point. Then serve.

Dr. Ransom's Hive (Croup) Syrup and Tolu.

THIS now celebrated remedy is the prescription of a distinguished, regular physician of over twenty years' constant practice, a graduate of Dartmouth Medical College, whose success in Croup was so remarkable that he was at last led to place this, his favorite formula, within reach of thousands of parents throughout the country to whom he could not give his personal services. It has now been before the public in this form for over thirty years, and is in general use as a Croup and Cough Cure throughout all the Northern States and Territories, and Canada. Families who once used it "can never get along without it in the house," as they tell us.

Among other ingredients it contains Balsam of Tolu, Squills, Seneca Root, Skunk Cabbage Root and Lobelia, and great care is used that all shall be of the purest and most potent quality. These are presented in the form of a syrup, so highly refined and concentrated that it is agreeable to children. In short, the syrup alone, without the aid of the roots, herbs, etc., is "rich" enough to cure a cough in many cases.

It is a good remedy for distressing attacks of Asthma, affording relief in a very short time.

Remember that Consumption is caused in most cases by neglecting a slight cough.

EGG CUTLETS.—Cut cold boiled eggs into rather thick slices with a sharp knife. Dip each slice into raw, beaten egg. Roll in bread crumbs which should be seasoned. Fry to a brown in butter, turning each piece as it is done on the under side. Do not let them lie in the frying pan an instant after they are cooked. Put them on a hot dish.

Remember that CONSUMPTION is caused in most cases by neglecting a slight cough.
CODFISH WITH OYSTERS.—Take three pounds of fresh codfish. Tie it in a cloth, put in cold water to cover it, add a tablespoonful of salt and let it boil half an hour. Take out, remove the cloth and let the fish drain. Serve on a folded napkin with fried oysters and parsley.

And Well He Deserved It.

Ishpeming, Mich., Sept. 27, 1885.
D. Ransom, Son & Co.:
GENTLEMEN:—I am handling a lot of Dr. Ransom's Hive (Croup) Syrup and Tolu. I recommend it from experience, having used it in my own family for the last five years. Three years ago I took care of a child with Croup that three doctors had given up. I used this medicine—the child recovered, and I got the credit for saving him.
Yours, etc.,

D. Ransom, Son & Co.:

What a Doctor Says.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov., 1884.
D. Ransom, Son & Co.:
I must say that your Hive (Croup) Syrup is an elegant preparation. I have had many cases of Croup, and always prescribed Syr. Squills Co. or Tar. Emetic; but a few days ago had a case of Croup, a child two years old—prescribed your Hive Syrup. I never had a medicine act so like a charm; it produced emesis readily without debility. The child recovered sooner than say I have ever treated with other Squill Syrups or Ipecac treatment.

HIVE (GROUP) SYRUP AND TOLU

CURES

CROUP and LUNG DISEASES.

AND RELIEVES

WHOOPING COUGH.

Dear to a Mother's Heart.

D. Ransom, Son & Co.,

One year ago I heard for the first time of your more than valuable medicine, Hive (Group) Syrup and Tolu. At the time, my two children were suffering from the Whooping Cough. I procured a bottle and used with the happiest result. My eldest boy was having the cough very hard, but the Hive Syrup and Tolu helped his cough and he was saved hours of suffering by its use. I think it one of the best, or the best cough medicine ever used. Last week my little son, four years of age, was taken in the night with that awful disease, Croup. I gave him the Hive Syrup immediately, and it gave the desired effect. He was suffering very much for breath, and I repeated the dose until he was relieved. In a few moments he was out of danger and breathing sweetly. I cannot say enough in its praise. I would not be without this valuable medicine, and I only wish I had known of it sooner. I recommend it to all my friends. You can use my name if you like, but I felt that my testimony might be the means of saving some little child’s life, dear to a mother's heart. Yours very gratefully, MRS. ELLEN MUZZY,

44 Charter St.

ORTOLAN PLOVER AND REEDBIRDS.—Clean and wash thoroughly in cold water. Spread some butter over them, inside and out. Put on a gridiron over a clear fire with the inner side down and broil till done, turning it over when one side is brown. Season with salt and pepper and serve on toast. It will take ten minutes to broil them.

Physicians' Testimony.

The undersigned, practicing Physicians and Surgeons, certify that they have used and prescribed the Hive Syrup and Tolu, prepared by D. Ransom, M. D., and find it an excellent remedy for Group, Coughs, Hoarseness, Bronchial and Lung Affections.

Grip.
LARCHLAND, Warren Co., Ill., April 11, 1891.

D. Ransom, Son & Co.: GENTLEMEN:—I have tried your Hive Syrup for Croup with my child and found it a perfect cure. I was taken with the Grip last December and coughed for four months so much that I could not rest nights. I spit blood for two months. I tried a number of remedies with no effect. The doctor said I was going into consumption. I thought I would try your Hive Syrup and Tolu. It cured me and I have no symptoms of the cough now. I can recommend it as a cure for Croup and Lung Trouble. Thank God for your medicine. I can't go a day without it in my house.

MRS. RENA GORDON.

SOUSED MACKEREL.—Put three mackerel in a dish, sprinkle over them a small teaspoonful of salt and pepper and several whole cloves. Mix vinegar and water in equal proportion and pour enough over to cover the fish. Put them in slow oven for three hours; by that time the liquor will have diminished until there is only enough to serve with the fish. These fish will keep well two weeks in cold weather.

A Grateful Mother.
EAST NODAWAN, Adams Co., Iowa, Nov. 20, 1890.

D. Ransom, Son & Co.: I have used your Hive (Croup) Syrup and Tolu, and cannot praise it enough, for I know it has saved my little boy's life a number of times. I would not go without it one night if it cost $5. Last spring we went to bed one night, our little boy seemingly as well as ever. At four o'clock in the morning he gave one hoarse bark, and it awoke us. He was just fighting for his breath, and became perfectly black. We thought there was no hope. We gave him a dose of Hive Syrup and repeated it until he took three doses, when he expelled it from his stomach. It gave immediate relief. I have tried it a number of times and I find it to be the only safe remedy, and would advise every mother to keep it on hand. I cannot praise it too highly.

MRS. E. C. GARDNER.

OYSTER FRITTERS.—Take your oysters out of their liquor and chop them. Have a batter of eggs, milk and flour; add to this a little of the oyster liquor strained. Let your hard boil and put your fritters in, one spoonful at a time. Fry them a yellow brown; very little salt is necessary.

It Doesn't Take Long.
WALSALL P. O., Pa., Feb. 9, 1893.

D. Ransom, Son & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.: SIRS:—I have cured three cases of croup with your Hive Syrup. All were cured within twenty-five minutes. I have two bottles on hand now, and if there was but one more bottle in town, I would pay $5 to get it.

LEVI LAPE.

There may be a testimonial in this book that strikes your case, so you had better read them all. These are only a few of the many we have on file.
What Some Druggists, Whom Perhaps You Know, Say:

Dr. W. B. Mott, of Benzieonia, Mich., says: "We keep your medicines in stock all the time, and are selling large quantities of your Hive Syrup."

Mrs. A. M. Wiede, of Reese, Mich., says: "I have used your goods, and am selling lots of them. I like to handle your goods because they sell. I use one to two gross of Ransom's Hive Syrup a year."

P. E. Hackett, of Wolverine, Mich., says: "I have sold your goods for the past twelve years. I myself have used your medicines with good effect."

J. H. Westendorf, of Mt. Clemens, Mich., says: "I have a very large sale on Dermador and Trask's Magnetic Ointment, fairly good on Hive Syrup. I have used them all in my own family for the past fifteen years, and cannot do without Trask's in case of Croup."

Hunter & Son, of Lowell, Mich., say: "We have been in business twenty-eight years, and hardly a day in that time but we have sold some one of your medicines. They have become regular household remedies in a great many families who keep them constantly on hand."

G. D. Burton, of Holton, Mich., says: "Your medicines are good sellers. They must do some good or the sale wouldn't be so great."

W. H. McQuarrie, of Luther, Mich., says: "I sell a great deal of Trask's Magnetic Ointment and a good deal of Ransom's Hive Syrup, and know they are good and give general satisfaction, and have heard several speak in their praise."

O. B. Dunning, of Vicksburg, Mich., says: "I have sold your remedies for years, and have especial confidence in them, and recommend them as reliable remedies."

Oyster Sauce.—Take a cupful of cream, the liquor from one-half pint of oysters, a tablespoonful of butter, a pinch each of nutmeg and cayenne. Bring to a boil, add a tablespoonful of flour mixed smooth in a little milk. Stir carefully so it will not be lumpy, put the oysters in a wire basket and hold them half a minute in boiling water. Put them in a sauce boat and pour the sauce over them. Serve with fish.

M. S. McNitt, of Byron Centre, Mich., says: "Your Hive Syrup is one of the best selling remedies I have in my store—staple as sugar."

F. S. Hopkins, of Benton Harbor, Mich., says: "I recommend the Hive Syrup to every one wanting a remedy for children."

M. Fordham & Co., of Elmira, Mich., say: "We have sold your Ransom's Hive Syrup and Tolu for the past nine years, and it gives the best satisfaction to our customers of any preparation which we carry. Our sales are constantly increasing, merely on its merit."

S. M. Snow, of Ludington, Mich., says: "People can't keep house here without your Trask's Ointment and Hive Syrup."

F. B. Jones, of Bessemer, Mich., says: "Have sold your medicines for a long time and they have given perfect satisfaction."

U. D. Bristol & Son, of Lapeer, Mich., say: "We have sold your medicines for nearly twenty-five years, and know them to be among the very best for the diseases for which they are recommended, and we always guarantee them to be just what they claim to be."

Shad. N. Vincent & Son, of Lapeer, Mich., say: "We have sold quantities of your remedies and for many years. I don't believe there are a dozen families in the city who do not use Trask's Ointment or Ransom's Hive Syrup, or both. Mrs. Vincent, wife of the senior member of this firm, would not think of going to sleep at night without knowing that there was a bottle of the ointment in the house. Would as soon be out of flour."

C. S. Keefer, of Middleton, Mich., says: "I have sold your remedies for a long time and I know them to be good."

Thousands of children have been cured of Croup by Dr. Ransom's Hive Syrup.
Brown Eggs.—One egg for each person broken into separate cups. These are dropped one at a time into smoking fat just as if it were water and they were to be poached. One minute is enough to brown each, and only one should be done at a time, because while one was being taken out the others would harden in the intense heat of the fat.

An Excellent Tonic for Spring and Fall.

As a remedy in the spring and fall of the year, to carry off the accumulation of thick bile from the Liver, and viscid secretions from the outer glands of the system, the King of the Blood is invaluable. One or two bottles will arouse all the functions of the body to a healthy action, restore the appetite, clear the brain, and carry off those symptoms of languor and heaviness everybody feels, more or less, when temperature changes.

Lobster Bisque.—Free a can of lobster from all bits of shell and cut up small, tearing as little as possible. Put one pint of water into a saucepan with salt and pepper. When boiling stir in the lobster and stew twenty minutes. Heat the milk in a double boiler, and when scalding stir in one-half cup rolled cracker. The lobster having cooked add one spoon of butter and simmer five minutes longer. Then pour in the milk, mix up altogether, set for five minutes in hot water and serve in a tureen with very thin slices of cut lemon in it.

The Third Bottle Did It.

Evart, Mich., March 17, 1883.

D. Ransom, Son & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.: Gentlemen:—Three years ago last Christmas I was taken down with the Grip. I stopped work for a few days and then went to work again, although I was not over it by a good deal. It seemed to go to my head, for I was never free from pain in my head and got no relief, although I took different kinds of medicine. I had catarrh at the time so badly that there were such ulcers in my nose, that it was all one sore from the end of my nose all the way back to my throat and it affected my hearing. Sometimes there would be gatherings in my head which were very painful. It also affected my mind so that I could not think of what I wanted to and I began to think my days were numbered. I got no relief until the following June, when I happened to pick up one of your Family Receipt Books and was looking through it and saw your King of the Blood advertised, and concluded to try it, so I got one bottle, and that only started my nose to running. I got another and that didn’t satisfy me, so I got the third, and when that was about half taken up, the pain left my head and I have not had any pain in my head since to amount to anything. I took it inwardly and snuffed it weakened with rainwater, and by the time I got so I could work, my nose was all healed up, and there has not been the least sore since. I do not hesitate to recommend it to any one who wants a good blood medicine. I am now as good a man for a day’s work as the average, and I think a little better.

For Scrofula.

GENTLEMEN:—At the present day there are so many preparations before the public (many that are positively harmful) that we consider it our duty when the merits of a standard and reliable article are known to us personally, to state so positively and clearly through the columns of our journal. Having used Dr. Ransom’s King of the Blood in a very obstinate case of Scrofula in our household with the most satisfactory results, we take great pleasure in recommending same to all suffering humanity, believing it to be the best blood medicine in existence.

Cancer Cured after Her Doctor said it was Incurable.

D. Ransom, Son & Co.: Cherry Creek, N.Y., March 19, 1890.

While in the drug business at South Dayton, N. Y., 18 years ago, I handled your medicines. I had a relative who had cancer on her breast. It had been growing two years. I advised her to try your King of the Blood, but owing to the advice of her family physician, “not to do anything for it, but take a little of his medicine to relieve her sufferings, as nothing could cure it,” she hesitated. I gave her two bottles, telling her it would do no harm anyway. I did not see her again for 10 months, and she was then the happiest woman alive. The cancer began to dry up and grow smaller shortly after she began using the “K. B.” and within three months it had entirely disappeared, and she was, and is to this day, as well as she ever was, and a picture of health. She cannot speak enough in the praise of the “K. B.,” but is sensitive about having her name in public print, and as I have no selfish motive in sending this, I cannot keep silent where suffering humanity is concerned.

PETER A. LEWIS.

Cured an Old Soldier.

Pentwater, Mich., March 14, 1893.

GENTLEMEN:—Your King of the Blood is one of the best blood medicines of the age. It will cure anything from a pimple to an ulcer. I had what the doctors called Chronic Ulcers which confined me to the bed most of the time. I had four doctors, but they could not do me any good. I took all kinds of blood medicines. Finally I got a bottle of your King of the Blood, and that one bottle performed the cure. I have recommended it to others with the best of results. There was an old soldier here with ulcers; the doctors said he could not live. They sent him to the Soldiers’ Home in Milwaukee for treatment. They said they could not do anything for him there and sent him back to die. I bought three bottles of the King of the Blood, and gave it to him, and to-day he is very nearly a well man. I can recommend the King of the Blood to any person, for I have tested its virtue.

KING OF THE BLOOD!

"Best One of Them All."

An Honest Physician is not ashamed to recommend the prescription of a brother physician, even if it IS put up in bottles and sold so that every man, woman or child, rich or poor, can get it.

Read What He Says.

DEAR SIRS:—I have attended Mrs. Krysher (see her letter below) previous to the time of taking the King of the Blood. I advised her to take your preparation, which she did, and it operated like magic. She is now perfectly relieved of all Dropsical symptoms; the King of the Blood receiving the entire credit of cure.

Mrs. Krysher’s Letter.

SIRS:—I will say for the benefit of suffering humanity that I had the Dropsy for two years, at times so bad that I thought I could not live more than a few weeks at the farthest. After trying our best physicians, and a great many other remedies, I found no relief, only momentary. I got hold of one of your pamphlets, and was induced to try your invaluable remedy, the King of the Blood. In January, 1875, I procured the first bottle, and before I had taken more than half I began to feel relief, and before I had taken the eighth bottle I felt as though I was entirely cured, although I have taken a few bottles at intervals since to make a permanent cure. I am well of the dreaded disease, and would recommend it to all persons having dropsy, if taken according to directions. I could say much more, but do not think it necessary.

Yours with respect,

MARY R. KRYSHER.

And it is just so with the other troubles that King of the Blood will cure, or with any other of our Remedies.

These letters, like all our others, were entirely voluntary, no inducement in way of medicine, money or any other means being offered, but were the out-pouring of gratitude for health restored. Moreover, if you are still skeptical, read our offer of which we make in Dr. Ransom’s “Treatise on the Blood,” which book will be sent free on application; it is full of just such letters.

TO POACH EGGS.—Do not let the water boil hard, and have it well salted. Break the eggs separately in a small bowl and slip carefully into the water. When nicely done remove with a skimmer; trim neatly and lay each egg on a thin slice of buttered toast, then sprinkle them with salt and pepper. Some persons prefer them poached, instead of fried, with ham, in which case substitute the ham for the toast.

Cholera Knows No Victim Where Miller’s Balm is Tried.

WHITE & NELSON, Kassan, Minn., say: “We are entirely out of your Magnetic Balm. This medicine gives universal satisfaction. We are informed that the Balm saved the lives of four women a few days ago, who were attacked by Cholera, or something like it. One woman who was taken in the same way, before the medicine was procured, died in twelve hours. A reliable man informed us of the facts and took all we had left. Please fill the enclosed order at once.”

BOILED WHITE FISH.—This is a delicate and much thought of dish. Place the fish (weight two pounds when dressed) in a fish kettle with strainer, cover with cold water, boil gently fifteen minutes, perhaps twenty. Take out carefully, serve with egg sauce, which is white sauce with a hard boiled egg chopped up in it; ten minutes to the pound is the rule for boiling.

Travelers Should Take a Bottle With Them.

CHRISTIAN HOUCK, Houck’s Hotel, 74 Washington Ave., Albany, N. Y., says: “I feel it my duty to recommend to the public at large your Universal Magnetic Balm, which I consider one of the most useful medicines of the age. I have used the same in my family, and likewise at my hotel, for different complaints, such as Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colds, Cholera Morbus, and Nervous and Sick Headache, etc., etc., and in all cases that I have used your Magnetic Balm, it proved successful in curing; and many are the thanks that I have received at my hotel from guests, for assistance that I rendered them with your most valuable medicine; so that I most cheerfully recommend its good qualities to the public in general.”

EGGS AND CHEESE.—Into a pie dish put five spoonfuls of cream, break into it six eggs without breaking the yolks, sprinkle over the whole some grated cheese and a little pepper. Bake in an oven without allowing the yolks to harden.

Will Allay an Attack of Cramps or Colic in 20 Minutes.

Solon, Ohio, Feb. 20, 1891.

Messrs. D. Ransom, Son & Co.: I have been greatly benefited by your Miller’s Magnetic Balm. I keep it in the house all the time; would not be without it for ten times the cost of it. I think it is about all the medicine a family needs. I use it for almost everything, Colds, Colic, Cramps in the Stomach and Bowels. I call it one of the best things in the world for a family medicine.

Respectfully,

L. MORRISON.

Miller’s Balm is good for COLIC in horses.
DR. J. R. MILLER'S

UNIVERSAL

Magnetic Balm

CURES NEURALGIA AND ALL PAIN.

It is a purely vegetable preparation. It has no superior as a remedy for Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, and all Bowel Complaints. Its timely use will cure Colds, Quinsy, and all throat affections attended with pain. When properly used, Fever and Ague, and other complaints incident to our western and southern climates, are easily broken up.

LOOK OUT FOR IMITATIONS.
THERE ARE MANY OF THEM.

ASPARAGUS OMELET.—One teacup of cold boiled asparagus chopped fine. Beat it with four eggs and season with salt and pepper. Fry as you would a plain omelet. Cooked mushrooms chopped and added instead of asparagus are nice.

COLIC, OR STOMACHACHE.—Miller's Balm will instantly relieve and cure it. We have given it in hundreds of cases with never failing success. It never misses. We will give a liberal reward for any case it fails to cure.

BOILED CODFISH.—Two pounds codfish, one teacup of cold water and vinegar, salt and pepper. Pour this on the fish, let stand one hour. Pour off the vinegar. Steam thirty minutes. Serve on napkin on a fish plate with parsley around it. Have drawn butter sauce in boat.

Miller's Balm will stop Chills and prevent Colds.
DRAWN BUTTER SAUCE.—To make a drawn butter sauce take a tablespoonful of flour, butter one-half the size of an egg, a little salt, white and red pepper, all mixed to a smooth paste. Then pour upon it, slowly stirring all the time, a large cupful of boiling water, keeping the dish in a warm place.

It Checks It Every Time.

ELSER, Mich., March 10, 1893.

Your Dr. Miller’s Magnetic Balm is a wonderfully good medicine. I have used it for the last fifteen years and can recommend it to the world. I must say it is the best thing for Chronic Diarrhoea that I ever saw. It checks it every time. I would rather have it in my family than bread.

WM. A., STAFFEE.

COOKED EGGS WITHOUT BOILING.—First put some boiling water into a large bowl or basin and let it remain for a few seconds. Then turn it out, lay in a couple of eggs and roll them over to take off the chill that they may not crack on application of heat, pour in upon the eggs boiling water from the kettle until they are completely covered. Put a plate over them instantly and let them remain upon the table for twelve minutes when they will be perfectly cooked, free from all flavor of rawness and yet so delicate as to suit even persons who cannot eat eggs when cooked in the usual way.

Cures Fever and Ague Very Quickly.

GEORGE GRAHAM, Syracuse, N. Y., says: “I hereby certify that I have been afflicted most of the time for three years past with Chills and Fever, and for the last three months every other day. I had resorted to every possible means to get rid of this tormenting disease, but could not. My physicians had given me so much quinine that my nervous system was seriously injured. I was advised to go ‘North’ for my health. My physicians said I would die if I remained in Florida, and I came to Syracuse. After I had been here one week, having the Ague as usual, every other day, I heard of Dr. Miller’s Universal Magnetic Balm. I called upon Dr. Miller, explained my case, and he recommended the Balm as excellent for me. I purchased a bottle, and I must confess, without following the directions (as I only took it upon my sick days, instead of every four hours, until broken up,) that two doses cured me of the Ague, and the third dose regulated my nerves, and I am restored to health, for which I am very thankful to God and Dr. Miller.”

SMOKED SALMON.—One-half pound smoked salmon cut into strips, two tablespoonfuls butter, juice of half a lemon and a little cayenne pepper. Parboil the salmon five minutes, lay in cold water for the same length of time. Wipe dry and broil over a clear fire. Season with cayenne, butter while hot, squeeze the lemon juice over it and pile upon a hot plate. Serve with dry toast.

CHOLERA MORBUS, CHOLERA, COLIC, OR BOWEL COMPLAINTS.—These troubles have been known to kill more people in less time, and right in the midst of health, than any other disease known. Miller’s Magnetic Balm will correct them instantly.

Try it and find out for yourself.
NEURALGIA, and PAINFUL MENSTRUATION.

ORIN FITCH, New Hartford, Ct., says: "You cannot advertise your Miller's Magnetic Balm too highly, for I will say it is an excellent medicine, and I would not be without it. It has not failed in anything for which I have applied it, either externally or internally. It is a splendid thing for Catarrh. My plan is to put from two to four drops in a glass of lukewarm water, add a teaspoonful of crushed or white sugar, and snuff it thoroughly up the nose at least twice a day, and if followed persistently will effect a cure. It will cure the worst case of Cold in the Head by using as above, and taking four to ten drops with a little sugar and water internally. Another thing I use it for is the teeth, and find it to be excellent for keeping the gums in a healthy condition, by saturating the brush with water and then dropping a few drops of the Balm upon it. It will drive off Cold Sores if they are thoroughly saturated with the Balm when they first appear. In fact, I will place it alongside of any other preventive or cure, and wager this Balm will outdo them all, and the best of all, leave the system in a better or as good condition as before."

APPLE OMELET.—Stew seven large apples and mash fine. Add one cup of sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, nutmeg, mace or cinnamon. When cold add four eggs, well beaten. Bake until brown, and eat while warm with cream if liked.

A Godsend to Woman.

PAINFUL MENSTRUATION.—The Balm is infallible in such cases. We have a multitude of letters from women in all parts of the country, whose relief from suffering they say is due to this medicine alone, and who hasten to express their gratitude.

We cannot publish these letters, as the delicacy of the subject forbids our giving the names of the authors, but an expression from one is the voice of all: "I am no more miserable from one end of the month to the other—first in dread, next in excruciating pain. The Balm has changed everything. It so soothes and warms the whole system that both pains and chills also are banished. One trial will convince any woman." See directions for using on pamphlet around bottle.
Veterans, Attention.

Barrack 6, Nat'l Military Home, Montgomery Co., Ohio, June 11, 1892.
D. Ransom, Son & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Gentlemen:—Enclosed please find P. O. order for another bottle of Halbert's Star Remedy. The medicine you sent me last month has proved itself everything that was claimed for it. Heretofore I have been troubled with my kidneys very much—the pain obliging me to use plasters and a red flannel belt given me by our doctors here, which only gave me ease for a little while, but that one bottle of Halbert's stopped the pain almost immediately. I have spent over $15 on medicines for the kidneys in the last year besides the medicines I got from our own doctors, but all were of no use. I shall always strongly recommend Halbert's. I am going to New York on furlough next month for probably four months or more, and believe I can get the medicine there, but when I get back I shall send direct for what I want.

Very respectfully yours,

THOMAS S. GAYNOR.

Clam Soup.—Take one dozen clams, chop them fine, add liquor and one quart of water, cook slowly two hours, add small cup of milk, one tablespoonful of flour, wet in a little water, season with pepper, butter and salt and boil a few minutes. Serve with toasted bread cut in squares.

A Prominent and Well-known Clergyman.

BUFFALO, N. Y., November 30, 1886.

S. Halbert:

Dear Sir:—Your Star Remedy has been fairly tried by both myself and wife, and I can cheerfully and heartily bear testimony to its excellence as a remedy for Torpidity of the Liver and for Dyspepsia. Of these two prevalent and annoying disorders we have been wonderfully helped and almost wholly cured by your admirable remedy.

J. B. WENTWORTH, [D. D.],
Presiding Elder of Buffalo District, M. E. Church.

Rabbit.—Cut in six pieces, boil in enough water to cover, and when tender fry in butter until brown. Serve with celery salad and mashed potatoes.

President of the Western Elevating Company.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

I have been troubled a great many years with Biliousness; have had several runs of Biliary Fever; lastly, I was taken with Pain in my Kidneys, and felt about used up. A small quantity of Halbert's Star Remedy entirely removed all my troubles, and I think saved me from a fit of sickness. I can't say too much in its favor. Its effect was wonderful.

C. A. BLOOMER.

To Keep Eggs.—Pour one gallon of boiling water on one quart of quicklime. When cold add one ounce of cream tartar. The eggs must be covered with the pickle.

Star Remedy is Sold in Two Sizes, 50c. and $1.00.
A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

Being personally acquainted with Mr. S. Halbert, the originator of Halbert’s Star Remedy, and also with many of the people who have been wonderfully benefited by its use, we became convinced that we could not fail in pleasing the public by placing it with our Standard Remedies upon the market, where it can be reached by our many thousand customers, knowing, as we do, that it is an honest medicine and made to cure rather than merely to sell; Mr. Halbert, himself, was a victim to the dread scourge, Kidney Disease, and was completely cured by the Remedy. We have, therefore, purchased all right and title to it.

N. B.—As it is comparatively new in some sections, difficulty may be experienced, for a short time, in finding it with dealers, but by insisting, they will order it for you; if not, send to us direct, and we will send it free of carriage for the price.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

MY OWN EXPERIENCE first led me to offer this remedy to the public. I had been tormented forty years with Constipation, Biliousness and Soreness of Stomach; these were the curse of my life; medicine seemed of no use. Lastly came Kidney Disease, which was so bad I could hardly walk. About four years ago, I had recourse to this remedy, and was surprised to find, in a short time, that every vestige of these troubles had disappeared. Such a remedy was thought worth recommending.

S. HALBERT.

FEARFUL CRAMPS IN THE STOMACH.

Persons who have suffered horribly in this way, every two or three weeks, have been taken right out of their trouble, and had nothing of the kind afterwards.

Some of this class have found it necessary, however, to take a little occasionally for some time.

CREATES A WONDERFUL APPETITE. CURES MALARIA LIKE A CHARM.

Salmon Croquettes.—One can salmon. Remove bones and skins. Three boiled potatoes mashed, two eggs, salt to taste, one teaspoonful butter, one-half teaspoonful mustard; pepper and salt to taste. Mix thoroughly and mold. Roll in egg and cracker crumbs and fry in hot lard.

Will Back It With Money. Horses and Men.

H. Tracy, Greytown, Ottawa Co., Ohio, says: "I have used Anderson's Dermador for man and horses for the last twenty-five years about, and know it to be the best Liniment in use. I have used three large bottles lately, and have performed several wonderful, quick cures. I recommend it to everyone and will back it with money."

Use the "Stable Size" for horses and cattle.

Salmon Soup.—Boil one small onion in one quart of milk five minutes; take it out and thicken with two tablespoonfuls of flour and one tablespoonful of butter rubbed together. Add one-half can of salmon picked over carefully, teaspoonful of salt, pepper. Rub through a strainer and serve.

Hoof-ail in Cattle.

J. M. Adams, Watertown, N. Y., says: "My father—who is an old experienced farmer—wishes me to write to you concerning the value of Anderson's Dermador in Hoof-ail of cattle. In early times—say 1840—he had much experience in curing the Hoof-ail mentioned, and in every case two or three washings cured it completely. No other remedy was known there or anywhere equal to it."

Would not be Without It in His Stables.

D. Ranson, Son & Co.,

Dear Sirs:—I have used your Dermador for three years with good success. I used it on my pacer Topsy S. for a very bad sprained tendon and completely cured her. I consider it one of the very best remedies I ever used. Would not be without it in my stables. Yours truly, T. F. STINCHCOMB.

A Hint for Ladies.

A lady entered a drug store in Broadway yesterday and called for this mixture: One quart of deodorized benzine, one dram of sulphuric ether, one dram of chloroform, two drams of alcohol, and just enough cologne to make it pleasant. When she had gone the clerk remarked to a spectator: "Do you know what she wanted that preparation for? You would not be far out of the way if you guessed that she was going to wash some soiled gloves. That is one of the best and cheapest preparations for cleansing that I know of. You pour a little of the mixture into a clean bowl and wash the gloves in it as you would wash anything with soap and water. When the dirt is about removed rinse the gloves in some clean fluid. Usually one rinsing is enough, but if the gloves are very much soiled rinse a second time. If the gloves are of a cheap kind it is best to dry them on the hand, but a fine glove, after having been rubbed with a soft cloth to smooth out the wrinkles, may be hung on a line to dry like an ordinary garment. The preparation is an excellent thing to have handy, not only for rejuvenating gloves, but for removing grease spots from clothing and carpets and for sponging coat collars and felt hats. The ladies in this town could save considerable money by following that one's example."—Ex.

USEFUL HINTS—SLOANE'S "FACTS WORTH KNOWING."

How to Clean Your Waste Pipes.—Pour into the pipe at night enough liquid potash (not soda) lye of 36 degrees strength to fill the trap. Be sure that no water runs into it till morning. During the night the lye will convert the offal in the pipe into a soft, pulpy mass which the first current of water in the morning will wash away.

To Preserve Fence Posts.—Wood can be made to last longer than iron in the ground for two cents an inch, and time and weather will have no effect on them by putting a coat of the following simple recipe on them:

- Take boiled linseed oil and stir in pulverized coal to the consistency of paint.

Eradicating Lawn Weeds.—After the first cutting in the spring put as much salt on each weed through the palm of the hand as will distinctly cover it. In two or three days they will turn brown. The weeds that have escaped can be distinctly seen and salted.

A Large Yield of Rich Milk can be had if you give your cows, every day, water slightly salted in which bran has been stirred at the rate of one quart to two gallons of water. Your cows will give 25 per cent. more milk immediately, and will become so accustomed to this diet that they will refuse to drink clear water unless very thirsty.

WINTER ASPARAGUS.—Place well corked wine bottles with the bottoms cut off over the asparagus head just as it is beginning to rise above the ground. The asparagus will grow fast and will be so tender that the whole of it may be eaten.

ANTERNS AT NIGHT when driving will be found to give the best results if placed on the horse’s collar. It should be firmly tied so that it can neither swing nor bump against the horse. It will be found that not only the driver but also the horse will see much plainer than by appending it to the dashboard, where it makes the darkness more intense by casting deep shadows.

TO CURE A KICKER.—If you have a horse that is in the habit of kicking put him in a narrow stall that has both sides well padded. Suspend a sack filled with hay or straw so that it will strike his heels, and let the horse and the sack fight it out. Be sure and have things arranged so that the horse cannot hurt himself. The sack will be victorious every time, and in the end the horse will absolutely refuse to kick the sack or anything else.

MICE-GIRDLED TREES can be remedied by making a connection of the bark above and below the bared part by inserting shoots. The shoots may be from a fourth to a half inch in diameter—the latter size will be the best if the tree is large enough to hold them. They are sharpened to a wedge at each end, and the opening in the bark to receive them can be made with a narrow chisel. The shoots are first bent like a bow for entering and then brought nearly straight when in place. It will be necessary to bind them to keep them firmly in place and cover the two points of insertion with grafting wax. It is best to do this in the spring before the buds open.

EXTRACTS FROM OUR “HORSE BOOK.”

HOW TO SELECT A SADDLE HORSE.—Select one over fifteen hands high, to correspond with your weight. Observe closely how he puts his foot to the ground. It should come down quite level. If the toe comes down first, the shoe will betray it by being worn away in front. The horse should neither raise the foot too high in trotting, nor shuffle too closely to the ground. The shoulder should be high, the chest deep, the legs and back short, the body full and round, the quarters muscular, the fore legs straight and not too narrow.

Careless riding or driving makes careless horses. Hold your bridle so that it is always available for a firm, powerful grasp in case of tripping or stumbling.

GROOMING.—Wet weather and the absence of a shed alone should be an excuse for ever cleaning a horse in his stable, as the scrapings from the horse are exceedingly irritating to every horse in the barn and, to some extent, are sure to float in the air. A horse can safely be groomed outside in cold weather, as the friction will promote the circulation of the blood and prevent taking cold. It is always best to groom a horse immediately or shortly after hard work, or when his coat is full of dust or mud, or matted by sweat.

TEMPERATURE.—In hot weather keep the stable as cool as possible. In cold or frosty weather keep it warm, for the horse when standing still will suffer more from cold than when he has a chance to move around. But, no matter whether warm or cold, a free circulation of air should always be secured, even at the sacrifice of heat, because foul atmosphere will hurt the horse more than would an abnormal temperature. To combine these points most advantageously is a matter subject to local circumstances and a problem for the intelligent horse owner to solve.

Miller’s Balm Cures HORSE COLIC.
DERMADOR
IS A LIQUID FOR EXTERNAL APPLICATION.

A Valuable Chemical Combination, Discovered by a Celebrated Chemist.

A HISTORY OF ITS DISCOVERY.

"The above-named article was discovered by me during my connection with the Clinton Liberal Institute, at Clinton, Oneida County, N. Y., as Professor of Chemistry, in attempting to form a certain acid by a quicker process than the ordinary way of uniting the independent gaseous bodies of which it is composed.

"This truly wonderful agent was used a long time by the students of said Institute for a wash after shaving, etc., before its superior excellence became known—said it made their faces smooth, cured their chapped hands, etc. I must here relate a little incident that took place at the institution, which caused me to introduce it to the public as a remedy for wounds, inflammation, etc.

"One of the students had his arm very severely bruised and lacerated by being accidentally caught in the machinery of the Observatory, and was brought to my room in a fainting condition. His arm was dressed, and the Dermador freely applied. The next morning the soreness was all gone, and the arm had not pained him any through the night. We were all greatly surprised at the happy result. I submitted the Dermador to various physicians for trial, who all pronounced it the best external remedy they had ever used. I was, therefore, induced to introduce it to the public.

"HOMER ANDERSON, A. M., Late Prof. Chemistry, Clinton Liberal Institute, N. Y."

ORANGE WRAPPER FOR FAMILY AND PHYSICIAN.

Owing to demand by families and by physicians who wish to prescribe it, we present our Dermador in a package of more elegant appearance than formerly. The quality of the Medicine therein is the same. The wrapper is orange-colored and without engraving of horse. Two sizes, 25c. and 50c. Dermador, WITH engraving of horse (cream-colored wrapper) is just as good as ever for man or beast.

TO LIVERYMEN AND HORSE OWNERS.

For the especial use of stables, we have put up a larger size of the Dermador, holding twice as much as the 50 cent size, for 75 cents, in pyramid-shaped bottles, not easily upset. Call for it. You should not be without this Dermador. It is a cheap, efficient and sure medicine, and knows no such thing as "Fail." It never blisters, but cools. Prices, 25, 50 and 75 cents. Sold by all druggists. See page 29.

EXTRACTS.—(CONCLUDED.)

BEDDING.—Cleanliness should be the rule. No accumulation of foul matter should be permitted. The horse in the stable should always have a quantity of litter under him. It gives him a sure footing, and he won't mind to stretch his legs backwards when passing water. A horse when standing on a slippery floor will hold himself with his toes, subjecting them to too great a strain.

FEEDING.—Regularity in feeding is of the greatest importance. The comparatively small dimensions of the horse's stomach prevent his taking much food at a time. A horse should therefore be fed at least three times a day, which is as often as is generally practicable. Theoretically, it would be better to feed a horse four or five times a day. It is all wrong to overfeed a horse in anticipation of a long journey or hard work; if the horse really eats an abnormal quantity he will only be less fit to work.

Stable Size Dermador is put up expressly for the stable.
