Raymond S. Owen is the son of Fred Kamph Owen, the subject of this paper. Mr. Owen attended Colby College, Class of 1920, and graduated from the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Owen summers in Falmouth, Maine, and is a permanent resident of Stuart, Florida.

This essay, drawn from the author's unpublished full-length biography of his father, is largely based upon the personal papers of Fred Owen, and upon interviews with those who knew him.

The author especially wishes to thank Robert Beith, formerly with the Gannett Publishing Company, and Ernest C. Marriner, dean emeritus of Colby College, for the unselfish assistance they have given him.
