Maine History is published by the Maine Historical Society in cooperation with the Department of History at the University of Maine.

Editorial Office
Department of History
5774 Stevens Hall, University of Maine, Orono, Maine 04469

All correspondence and manuscripts for review should be sent to the editor electronically via journal@mainehistory.org or mailed to Editor, Maine History, 5574 Stevens Hall, University of Maine, Orono, ME. Two copies of manuscripts should be submitted in double-spaced typescript and should conform to The Chicago Manual of Style, 16th ed. Manuscripts accepted for publication in Maine History are typically 15–30 pages in length. Mailed manuscripts will not be returned unless accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The Maine Historical Society assumes no responsibility for the opinions and interpretations expressed by its contributors. The articles appearing in Maine History are abstracted in Historical Abstracts and America: History and Life.

Books for review should be sent to the book review editor,
Stanley R. Howe, P. O. Box 113, Bethel, ME 04217.

Errata

The MAINE HISTORICAL SOCIETY (MHS) would like to make a correction regarding two of the sources cited in “Slaves and Free Blacks in Mid-Eighteenth to Mid-Nineteenth-Century Cape Neddick, Maine,” by Bryan Weare, which appeared in Vol. 51, no. 2 of Maine History. The article mistakenly referred to the Joseph Weare diary (Coll. 377) as cryptic and 200 pages in length. Rather, it is a detailed, 932-page source. The article also misidentified Professor Sarah McMahan’s draft research notes as a transcription. Prof. McMahan’s notes were captured for a specific project; they were neither intended nor labeled as a transcription. The notes themselves do not reside at the MHS and are the intellectual property of Prof. McMahan.
