Greeks battle image with alcohol awareness

by Kelly Mullins
Staff Writer

This semester the UMO fraternities and sororities have implemented a mandatory alcohol awareness program for all their pledges.

This is the first coordinated program of its kind in the nation, said Libby Bizier, president of UMO's Panhellenic Council.

Libby Bizier

The program was developed two years ago by the University of Maine Fraternity Board and the Office of Student Activities and Organizations.

"We are trying to change the image of the greeks through alcohol education," Bizier said. "It's unfortunate, but a lot of incidents on campus involving drinking get blamed on fraternity members."

UMFB President Mark Morrison said the mandatory policy was voted on by both the UMFB and the Panhellenic Council.

"Any pledge who does not fulfill requirements will not be recognized as a UMO greek and will not be allowed to participate in any UMFB-sponsored events or any intramural activities," Morrison said.

Six consecutive sessions are offered, of which pledges must attend four. The programs are also videotaped for students who have time conflicts.

Although both the UMFB and Panhellenic Council voted to institute the program, it has not met with unanimous approval.

During a question-and-answer session Thursday night attended by 150 pledges, one fraternity pledge voiced his disapproval of the program, saying it was blackmail to require pledges to attend the program as a condition of initiation.

Bizier said a lot of people outside UMO and those who do not belong to Greek-letter organizations don't see the virtue of the fraternity system and neglect to see positive community projects sponsored by sororities and fraternities.

One of the most effective programs so far, Bizier said, was a fraternity member who spoke as a reformed alcoholic.

By making the program mandatory for all pledges, Bizier said, in four years almost everyone will have gone through the program.

Next semester, Dr. Robert Dana, UMO substance abuse coordinator, will design the program and act as adviser. He said the students will still be responsible for programming activities.

Dana will conduct tests before and after the sessions to evaluate the effectiveness of the program.

"Generally, people have an 'Animal House' perception of fraternity and greek members," Dana said. "Most people have a misunderstanding of the greek mission."

Bizier said that most sororities and fraternities have received national charter support for the program. She said the majority of the students were benefiting a great deal from the program.

During the session Thursday, one student asked that a lawyer be incorporated into the program to give legal advice.

A Phi Mu pledge, Jennifer Rideout, said, "There are some people that are here because they have to be here to be initiated, but there are probably people here that realize that they (speakers) are talking about them. This may be helping people question their own drinking habits."

Lane given life sentence

by Rick Lawes
Staff Writer

BANGOR — John Lane, convicted of murder in the oven-burning death of 4-year-old Angela Palmer, was sentenced to life imprisonment Friday by Superior Court Justice Bruce Chandler.

In a strongly-worded sentence, Chandler called the murder "premeditated," adding "the total terror and the intensity of the suffering over an extended period of time was beyond my capacity to comprehend."

Chandler said, "I hope, Mr. Lane, that God may have mercy upon you, because I simply cannot."

Chandler outlined several reasons for lengths of sentences imposed, saying often a sentence is given to protect the public from the criminal, while other times the sentence is imposed of a length simply to punish the individual.

The justice said there were two aggravating factors that led him to give the life sentence, but that the most important factor was "the murder of this 4-year-old child was the most cruel, (done) in the most inhuman manner that can be imagined."

Chandler said he was philosophically opposed to the death penalty, but added, "I am very grateful Maine does not allow the death penalty because this case tests the very outermost limits for which that penalty is a correct one."

During the sentencing, Lane remained seated with the same fixed, blank expression he had throughout the trial.

'Late-night Local' sees success

by John Strange
Staff Writer

An average of 110 students per weekend have used the Late-night Local — a Residential Life-sponsored bus — in the three weeks since the shuttle bus's first run, said the program's developer.

"I'm gratified," said Robert Dana, UMO's substance abuse educator and consultant. The shuttle's success "tells me that students are responsible and will use available sources," he said.

Dana said 330 people have used the bus since it started three weeks ago.

"We've had no problems," said Dana, director of Substance Abuse Services, which is funded by Residential Life. "We've had a lot of people, but the bus has not been so full that people have had to wait. The students have been very positive."

Dana said there has been only one incident involving a "severely intoxicated" student who needed to be helped into the dormitory.

The three bus drivers are trained in "emergency medical techniques," Dana said, and know how to handle intoxicated people.

Each driver is responsible for driving on an assigned night.

The Late-night Local runs through the campus and into Orono and Old Town every Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Dana said the shuttle service costs his office $60 to pay the drivers. However, the service is free for the passengers.

Residential Life provides the green 12-passenger van.

Dana said that although the service is meant primarily to keep drunken drivers off the road, "there has been a fair

Thomas Aceto, vice president for student and administrative services, said he is pleased with the shuttle's success. "It appears that we're meeting a need."

"It's a good idea whose time has come," Aceto said. "It needed someone like Robert to pull it together, and he's done a good job."

Students echoed Aceto's thoughts, noting that drunken driving should decrease as the bus is used more often.

Junior Mike Parker said the program

"definitely cuts down on drunken people out on the road."

Senior Kim Hardy said the shuttle is good because it "keeps people from driving drunk ... and it's free transportation."

Area business managers also approved of the shuttle, especially since the bus has apparently improved business. number of folks who are using it for safe transportation."

"It does seem to help," said Bob Pearsley, manager of Yianni's Pizza Pub and Seafood in Old Town. Pearsley said that anything that brings students to the town's businesses is bound to help.

Bruce Farnsworth, manager of Pat's Pizza in Orono, agreed. "I think it's helped," he said. "I've even had people come up and ask about the schedule."

●GUILTY

When Chandler asked him if he had anything to say, Lane replied, "It doesn't matter what sentence you give me. I've already prepared for my own death. It won't take much. I'll be going."

Assistant Attorney General Thomas Goodwin said in an opening statement deciding on an appropriate sentence would be difficult.

"It's a case that has virtually no redeeming feature, therefore it's difficult to talk about it," Goodwin said.

Goodwin said he did not see Lane as "an evil person" and as such should be punished to fullest extent, but added the overriding factors in determining the verdict were "the actual offense itself, the way it was committed and the age of the victim."

Lane's attorney, E. James Burke, said he agreed with Goodwin to a point, but said he arrived on a different result.

"If you give John Lane the maximum sentence what's left for people who consciously set out to do an evil act?" Burke said.

Kids see stars at planetarium

by Ken Brack
Staff Writer

"I liked how they showed the constellations and pictures made by Greeks and Romans watching the stars," 11-year-old Maurice Day said.

Maurice was one of a group of 15 fifth and sixth graders from the Glenburn Elementary School outside of Bangor who visited the UMO planetarium Thursday night. No one left disappointed.

Many of the pupils said they liked the presentation of comets and constellations.

"The story of how the comets get knocked out of place by stars was neat," Dorian LeBlanc said.

"They had stars on a wheel that went way up on the roof and showed us all the constellations," Casey Watts said.

"I liked Pegasus," Sherry Wakelin said.

The outing, the first visit to a planetarium for the pupils, was part of an eight-week unit on Halley's comet led by elementary teacher Bonnie Alpernder.

"We're putting together this unit for the other classes in the school to see," Alpernder said.

Jay Herbert said he liked how "they showed a special cloud holding all the comets."

Others said they learned about people such as Mark Twain predicting their deaths by the sighting of comets in the sky. Jeni Pellet said the laser show was exciting, but she "liked everything."

The students said part of the show involved projecting how constellations and Halley's comet look from other parts of the world such as Denmark and England. "At the end, it made you feel that everything was spinning around with the constellations," said 10-year-old Christine Campbell.

Crisis ends in carnage

Egyptian commandoes storm hijacked plane

VALLETTA, Malta (AP) — Egyptian commandoes stormed a hijacked Egyptian jetliner Sunday night, and an explosion and gunfire during the assault killed as many as 50 people aboard the Boeing 737, a government spokesman said.

"There are about 50 dead by bullet or fire," spokesman Paul Mifsud told reporters two hours after the assault. He said the hijackers hurled hand grenades at the passengers when they realized the plane was being stormed, and the resulting fire destroyed the inside of the jetliner. The victims "were trapped inside and couldn't get out," he added.

There were different reports on the number of hijackers, ranging from two to four. Malta's state-run television said about 80 people were on the jetliner when the commandoes attacked. It said 28 wounded people were taken to hospitals. Mifsud said Prime Minister Carmelo Mifsud Bonnici authorized the assault because "the situation was going out of hand." He added that it was totally an Egyptian operation.

Mifsud quoted the pilot, Capt. Hani Galal, as saying the hijack leader was "a madman" who sang and danced each time he shot a hostage and tossed the body from the plane onto the tarmac.

Galal earlier told authorities by radio ed after the commandoes blew open the two doors. He called that "fairly standard procedure."

Authorities issued a "full medical alert" calling for all assistance and emergency blood donations. The runway and most terminal lights had been turned off earlier in the evening and they came back on after the assault.

The jetliner was hijacked about 15 to 20 minutes after leaving Athens Saturday for Cairo, and in a radio conversation one of the sky pirates said they were members of the group "Egypt's Revolutionaries."

Greek security police said 97 people were aboard Egyptair MS648.

Colombia in state of social, economic peril

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — President Belisario Betancur declared a "state of social and economic emergency" Sunday because of the Nov. 13 volcano eruption that killed 25,000 people and the takeover of the Palace of Justice by guerrillas.

The decree, which is to remain in effect for 35 days, declares, "The economic and social order of the country has been disrupted." It empowers the president to take extraordinary measures without parliamentary approval.

A mudslide triggered by the eruption of the Nevada del Ruiz volcano buried towns in the Armero valley and caused an estimated $400 million in damage, according to the government.

A week before the eruption, on Nov. 6, about 40 left wing guerrillas seized the Palace of Justice. After a 28-hour siege and a fire, troops attacked and 97 people were killed including 11 of the nation's 24 Supreme Court justices and all of the guerrillas.

The emergency decree said such acts "constitute serious disturbances to the economic and social order."

Meanwhile, the Bogota daily newspaper El Tiempo reported Sunday that four more looters were shot to death by security forces in the city of Armero, now buried under a 15-foot sea of mud.

The newspaper said the men were wearing Red Cross armbands but refused to stop when ordered. It said five other looters had been killed earlier.

The fate of Armero is still undecided. Its new mayor, army Maj. Rafael Ruiz Navarro, said the decision to rebuild the city will be left to the people. He said he wants the area made into a national park.

El Tiempo also reported that an international team of geologists are considering using dynamite to blast the Las Nereida glacier on the side of Nevada del Ruiz, fearing the ice might break loose in another eruption.

Reagan must compromise on tax reforms to keep movement alive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, who has called tax reform the spark that will ignite a "second American Revolution," must decide whether to keep the movement alive by endorsing a House Ways and Means Committee tax bill that falls short of his demands.

Members of the committee from both parties say the voluminous bill has little chance of passing the House if Reagan criticizes it publicly.

Several said they expect the president to hail the measure as a good first step toward overhauling the income tax and to count on the Republican-controlled Senate to change it.

The bill would shift a significant portion of the tax burden from individuals to corporations. Over a five-year period, individual taxes would be cut in the range of $135 billion and corporate taxes would rise by the same amount.

West German car bomb injures 34 shoppers

FRANKFORT, West Germany (AP) — A powerful car bomb exploded outside a busy U.S. military shopping center Sunday, injuring 34 people, most of them Americans, authorities said.

The blast at 3:20 p.m. damaged 42 cars in the center's parking lot, shattered windows and blew a gaping hole in the back wall of one shop.

The terrorist Red Army Faction asserted responsibility for the August attack but there was no immediate claim of responsibility for Sunday's bombing. Frankfort police spokesman Kurt Kraus said the bomb was packed in a blue BMW sedan that was bought by a "Moroccan-looking man" Saturday at a second-hand car dealership near Frankfurt. He said police were looking for witnesses who may have seen the car or the man since Saturday.

Bill Swisher, a spokesman for the U.S. Army's 97th General Hospital in Frankfurt, said 34 injured people were treated at the hospital. He said 27 had been released by late evening. The injured included 19 U.S. military personnel, 11 American civilians, a West German civilian and a Filipino, Swisher said.

Regan says remark 'not intended as a put-down'

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Chief of Staff Donald T. Regan apologized Sunday to anyone offended by his remark that most women don't understand arms control or other summit issues, saying it was "not intended as a put-down."

Regan defended himself against the criticism he has received over the remark, saying, "That was one answer in a fairly lengthy interview ... given in mid-October." But he conceded, "I misspoke, very frankly, and when I misspoke, apparently it was a beaut." He said what he had meant by his remark was that women and men alike who don't understand arms control and other complex issues that would be discussed at the summit "will have an interest in the human side that was going at Geneva."

However, in further explaining his position, he said, "Women are more interested in peace and things of that nature. I don't think most women are interested in the nitty gritty in what is happening in the Geneva armaments talks." Regan apologized "to those who feel offended" by his published remark, but added, "My own wife wasn't offended, by the way."

NEWS BRIEFS

Waite 'optimistic' in negotiations

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Anglican envoy Terry Waite, in Athens after a high-speed car ride Sunday through combat in Beirut, said he was "optimistic" about his attempts to negotiate the release of American hostages in Lebanon.

Waite, the archbishop of Canterbury's envoy, is due to leave for New York early Monday to meet U.S. officials on his efforts to free the hostages.

The Anglican troubleshooter, a bulletproof vest under his tan safari shirt, told reporters at Beirut on Sunday that after his secret meetings with the kidnappers "we're making progress." He added that he expected "to be back soon."

Waite was trapped in west Beirut's Commodore Hotel with scores of journalists for three days while Druse and Shiite Moslem militias fought savage street battles around the seven-story building.

Experts questioning next summit's success

WASHINGTON (AP) — Less than a week after the Geneva summit, some experts are already questioning whether much if anything can be accomplished when President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev meet again next year in Washington.

"I just don't see what can be achieved," Vladimir Petrov, a professor of international affairs at George Washington University and an expert on U.S.-Soviet relations, said in an interview.

Paul Warnke, chief negotiator for the unratified SALT II agreement on nuclear arms, told reporters it was good news that the two leaders would meet again, but "the bad news is that not much will happen then, either."

Acquitted man may return to court

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — The Maine attorney general's office has "informally" approached a federal prosecutor about possible conspiracy charges against David Willoughby, who was acquitted in the murder of an Augusta store clerk.

U.S. Attorney Richard S. Cohen confirmed. Willoughby's brother, Philip Willoughby, was convicted in the 1983 slaying of 21-year-old Paula Roberts. She was kidnapped from the convenience store where she worked on Dec. 3, 1983 and her body was found several weeks later.

Since David Willoughby was found innocent of murder, he cannot be tried again for the same crime. The federal conspiracy charge, if brought, would allege that David Willoughby conspired with others to violate the civil rights of Ms. Roberts. Willoughby would face the same life sentence under the federal conspiracy charge that he faced under the state murder charge.

Armero is gone, but the name will live on ARMERO, Colombia (AP) — The once prosperous city of Armero, with its tree-lined streets, Sunday market in the plaza and children's zoo, has vanished forever.

Now survivors of the Nov. 13 volcano eruption and mudslides that buried the town are looking to the future. The mudslide, set off by an eruption of the Nevada del Ruiz volcano, killed about 25,000 people. As soon as the Red Cross declares it has stopped looking for survivors, the Colombian government will seal off all roads to Armero and fumigate the town, according to the new mayor, Maj. Rafael Ruiz Navarro.

Animals found in the zone will be shot, all bodies will be burned, and the sea of mud that was once Armero will be a national monument.

The name of Armero is expected to live on, affixed to a different community. About 7,000 refugees scattered around the region will be invited to congregate in two camps, near Armero, to meet and discuss about rebuilding elsewhere.

Men's basketball over Senegal 84-62 Sunday

by Roger Brown
Staff Writer

The University of Maine basketball team won its opening game of the 1985-86 season Sunday afternoon, defeating the Senegalese National Team, 84-62 at Memorial Gym.

The game was close for only seven minutes. With 13:07 remaining in the first half Maine led 14-12, but a baseline drive by guard Jim Boylen sparked the Black Bears as they ran off 11 unanswered points and broke the game open.

Maine coach Skip Chappelle was pleased with the game mainly because everyone saw a lot of playing time.

"It was obvious that this was our first game," Chappelle said. "Everyone played a lot of minutes and it got a little sloppy because we had guys playing out of position." Chappelle said.

Chappelle was extremely pleased with the performance of Bittermann, who was filling in for center Chip Bunker, who is out with a sprained ankle. Bittermann was the game's high scorer and rebounder. He had 17 points and nine rebounds.

Bulldogs power by Maine hockey in two-game sweep

by Jon Rummler
Staff Writer

Both coaches were contented upon conclusion of the two-game University of Maine-Minnesota-Duluth hockey series.

Maine's Shawn Walsh saw his team vindicate themselves from Friday night's 7-2 crumpling at the sticks of the Bulldog's powerplay with an emotion-packed performance Saturday. Meanwhile, Duluth's Mike Sertich watched his No. 8 nationally ranked squad sweep the Black Bears; with Saturday's 6-3 victory making it six straight for the Maroon and Gold.

The Bulldogs are 11-3 overall and 7-3 in Western Collegiate Hockey Association-Hockey East play. Maine is 1-9 in WCHA-HE action.

"We got beat by a better team," Walsh said after Saturday's game. "I'm very happy with the way we played. They weathered a great storm."

After Duluth's five-of-seven power play performance, topped off with a sluggish Black Bears' effort Friday, Maine's intensity struck its peak in the third period Saturday. Maine had killed three-of-four Duluth penalties, including a five-minute major by forward Bob Corkum. And trailing 3-2 after two periods, the Black Bears had to again stop the nation's top power play (46 percent efficient) for two minutes at the beginning of the third.

With Maine forward John McDonald urging the approximately 3,300 in attendance to its feet, a team that Walsh said usually can only be viewed on away games emerged. The Black Bears played the Bulldogs even during the power play and for 10 minutes, kept Duluth goalie John Hyduke (32 saves) extremely busy.

Maine outshot Duluth 10-1 during this onslaught with Hyduke rising to the occasion. It wasn't until Maine center Dave Wensley stole the puck and set up McDonald for a wrist-shot goal up close that the Black Bears hit paydirt with 8:54 left.

Duluth however, would not be silenced for long. And according to Walsh, it was the "best scorer in college hockey," forward Brad Hull, who ended Maine's upset bid. Hull's slap shot from the left circle caught the right post and ricocheted back into the net.

"I was coming across the center towards the defender," Hull said. "I poked for it and got it. I didn't have much time so I just wound up and let it go. I was just trying to get it on net."

Joe DeLisle wristed one passed Maine goalie Al Loring at 18:51 and Jim Sprenger had an empty net goal to close out the scoring.

After a rude introduction into the realm of college hockey, Loring proved to be a major factor in limiting the Bulldogs to one power play score, a first period shot by Brian Johnson Saturday. Loring had 25 saves in both games.

"I think we might have been a little lax on our power play," Hull said. "But, their goalie played well. He stopped us on a good number of shots. He stopped me on one in the second; I couldn't believe it."

MAYBE YOU'D GET MORE OUT OF NURSING IF YOU WORE A DIFFERENT UNIFORM.

When you become an Army nurse, you're immediately given the kind of responsibility most civilian nurses work years for.

Why? Because that uniform says you're more than a nurse. You're an Army officer, too.

Not only will you be responsible for providing patients with the best health care possible, you'll also be responsible for instructing others in how best to administer it.

That's what it means to be an officer in the Army Nurse Corps(ANC). To handle the position takes training. The kind you get in Army ROTC.

ROTC is the college program that trains you to become an officer. By helping you develop your leadership and management abilities.

Enrolling can benefit you in other ways. There are full-tuition scholarships available. And financial assistance. Up to $1,000 a year during your last two years in the program.

Enroll today. And step out of college and into the uniform of an Army nurse. You'll like the way it makes you look. And love the way it makes you feel.

Women's hoop drives passed UMass 76-66

by Jerry Tourigny
Staff Writer

The University of Massachusetts women's basketball team came to Orono and didn't have the one thing necessary to beat the Black Bears. And that was something or someone to stop Maine's Liz Coffin.

Coffin scored 18 of Maine's first 20 points in the second half to lead the Black Bears to a 76-66 victory Saturday afternoon at the Memorial Gym in the season-opener for both teams.

The sophomore center led all scorers with 34 points, 20 of which came in the second half. Maine coach Peter Gavett made an offensive adjustment at halftime in order to get the ball to Coffin more often.

"I didn't think they had anybody that could handle her," Gavett said.

Judging by Coffin's second-half efforts, UMass didn't have anyone to stop her. Coffin scored from underneath, from the free throw line, from the baseline and it seemed she scored almost at will.

"She's just a terrific player," UMass coach Barbara Stevens said of Coffin, who led Maine rebounding efforts with 11. "We don't have anybody that can cover her. I don't think she'll find many people she plays against who can."

It wasn't just a one woman show for the Bears however as the starting five played a solid game and, although the stat sheet won't show it, Gavett received a good performance from his inexperienced bench.

In particular was back-up guard Kathy Shorey, a junior transfer from the University of New Hampshire, who provided 18 strong minutes bringing the ball up the court against the tight UMass defense and chipping in four points.

But perhaps the biggest thorn in the side of the UMass team was itself. The Minutemen committed 26 turnovers and they occurred at the most inopportune times, especially in the first half, when UMass had chances to take or increase their lead.

"It was not a well-played game for us," said Stevens, who coached the Minutemen to a 13-15 record last season in the tough Atlantic 10 conference. "We drove our own nails into our coffin."

"They attacked us where we were weak. You can't turn the ball over that many times and expect to win," Stevens said.

Coffin's second-half explosion increased Maine's lead from five points at halftime, 41-36, to 12 points, 61-49, with 9:50 to play.

UMass did not get any closer than 10 points of the lead for the remainder of the game and the Black Bears made enough free throws down the stretch to clinch the 76-66 victory.

Gavett was pleased with the victory especially since he hasn't had enough players in practice recently to play 5-on-5 scrimmages.

"If we stay healthy, get our people back, we're going to give a lot of people trouble," Gavett said courtside after his team's first win of the year. "If this (Saturday's game) is an indication."

The first half was nip and tuck as the 650 in attendance saw eight lead changes.

Maine took the early lead and held onto it until UMass took an 18-17 lead with 10:45 left in the half. The lead changed hands seven more times until Maine scored nine unanswered points, to give the Black Bears a 32-24 lead with 6:30 left on the clock.

The Minutemen proceeded to go on a 6-0 spurt to cut the lead to 32-30 but Maine came right back, scoring seven of the next eight points, to take a 39-31 lead.

Junior (eligibility-wise) Lauree Gott played a strong game for Maine scoring 15 points, hauling down five rebounds (both second on team to Coffin) and dished off a game-high five assists.

Point-guard Kissy Walker added 10 points from the perimeter and had a game-high three steals.

"Mike's was one of the better opening game freshman performances I've seen since I've been here," Chappelle said. "We're going to need play like that in the middle this week."

With 9:53 left in the half, freshman center Mike Bittermann and sophomore forward T.J. Forester combined for four points apiece as the Black Bears hit a streak of eight unanswered and took a commanding 34-16 lead.

Outside shooting by Curt Hollmann and Matt Rossignol, plus fast break points by Todd Taylor and Mike LaPlante kept the lead safe. Maine had a 47-27 halftime advantage.

During the second half Maine head coach Skip Chappelle made sure the entire squad saw plenty of action. A Rich Henry fast break layup followed by a basket off a missed shot by Allyn Zanchi gave Maine a 29 point lead 76-47, their biggest of the night.

Senegal tried to cut into the lead with sharp outside shooting, but they could never get the number below twenty.

The crowd did come to life when Senegalese forward Soulemane Sene slammed one home on a fast break, but it was too little too late.

The Black Bears other leading performers were Boylen (14 points, four rebounds) and T.J. Forester (13 points, two rebounds).

Alpha Konte led the Senegalese team with 13.

Duluth

After a dismal one of 10 in the power play Friday with only a 5 percent success rate on the season, Maine went two for two Saturday with goals by Chris Cambio in the first and second periods.

Duluth received its other scores by Matt Christensen and Darin Illikainen.

On Friday, Loring, in his college debut as he had to sit out the first four weeks because of a hamstring injury, never saw the first shots taken against him. Norm Maciver had a power play score 47 seconds into the contest and Rob Alexander added another at 1:28 to shock Maine and the 3,300 fans in attendance.

Bob Corkum had a goal at 13:16 in the first, but two power play efforts by Duluth's Johnson and Dave Cowan put the game out of reach.

Walsh tried to give Maine a boost by calling attention to Duluth's use of illegal sticks. Mark Odnokon, Skeeter Moore and Christensen were tagged with the two-minute penalties and 10-minute misconduct penalties. Maine finally scored on a five-on-three advantage with Wensley making good with a goal at 12:34 in the second.

After retaping 16 sticks, Wayne Smith, Hull (power play) and Moore (power play) finished off the scoring in the third period.

NFL UPDATE: Week 12

by the Associated Press

The Chicago Bears, led by Walter Payton's 102 yards and the usual pressure defense, continued to roll over their opposition in the 12th week of the National Football League season. The undefeated Bears defeated the Atlanta Falcons at home 36-0 Sunday.

Payton sprinted 40 yards for a touchdown and matched the mark of O.J. Simpson and Earl Campbell for seven consecutive 100-yard games in the NFL.

This is the second week in a row that the Bears' defense held the opposition scoreless. Chicago beat the Dallas Cowboys 44-0 last week. The last time the Bears had consecutive shutouts was 1942.

Elsewhere Sunday it was the New York Giants 34, St. Louis 3; Dallas 34, Philadelphia 17; the Los Angeles

Rams 34, Green Bay 17; the Los Angeles Raiders 31, Denver 28 in overtime; Kansas City 20, Indianapolis 7; the New York Jets 16, New England 17 in overtime; Miami 23, Buffalo 14; Washington 30, Pittsburgh 23; Cleveland 24, Cincinnati 6; Tampa Bay 19, Detroit 16 in overtime; Houston 37, San Diego 35, and New Orleans 30, Minnesota 23.

In the AFC East, the Jets' victory over the Patriots pushed them atop the division with a 9-3 mark. The Patriots are tied with the Dolphins at 8-4 for second place.

In the AFC West, the Raiders and the Broncos are tied at 8-4. Seattle, which plays at San Francisco Monday night, is 6-5.

In the NFC East, Dallas and the Giants are locked atop the division with 8-4 marks. And the Redskins at 7-5 are within striking distance.

In the NFC West, the Rams, 9-3, have two losses to give to the 6-5 49ers.

Women's swim win

FREDERICTON, N.B. — The UMO women's swim team picked up its first win of the young season Friday night with a 104-35 victory over the University of New Brunswick at UNB.

UMO coach Jeff Wren's squad picked up double wins from Meg Briselden in the 100 backstroke and the 400 freestyle, Laura Negri (100 and 200 butterfly), and Lynn McPhail (100 and 200 breaststroke).

Also winning events for the Black Bears were Sally Bauman (200 freestyle), Cathy Leahy (50 freestyle), Cathy Sheehan (100 freestyle), Bridget Sullivan (3-meter diving), and the 400 free relay team of Kris Billington, Mary Wakeman, Lisa Clough, and Lynn Savage.

Men's swim lose

The UMO men's swim team opened its campaign with a 70-43 loss to Colgate University Saturday at Wallace Pool.

The perennially strong Red Raiders were led by double winners Rod Green (1000 freestyle, 200 butterfly), and Bill Noble (200 IM, 400 medley relay).

The Black Bears picked up wins from Brad Russell (1-meter diving), Dewey Wyatt (200 breaststroke), and the 400 freestyle relay team of Rick Desjardins, Mike Dillon, Andy Campbell, and Rodney Mason.

UMO Wrestlers 0-4

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — The UMO wrestling team came up winless Saturday as they competed in a meet held at Brown University. The Black Bears dropped decisions to Boston College, 32-19, Albany College, 33-13, Rhode Island College, 30-13, and Brown, 41-6, in a meet that was marred by injuries to two UMO grapplers.

One-hundred-fifty pounder Pat Kelly beat Rhode Island's Bob LePre 4-1, but injured his back in a match with Bob Hill of Brown. Also hurt was Heavyweight Ewen MacKennon, who damaged ligaments in his knee during his first match of the day.

Maine was keyed by the multiple wins of 167-pounder Jim Durfee and 177-pounder Carl Cullenberg.

Durfee defeated Carmine DiPietro of Rhode Island by a pin, came from behind with a throw in the last five seconds to beat Lance Minor of Brown 13-11. He also pinned BC's Tom McDevit and decisioned Albany's Mike Jimon, 15-5.

Cullenberg pinned BC's Brendan Mattemore, and defeated Rhode Island's Paul LaProcina 11-0.

Impressive in defeat was UMO's Dan McNamara, who battled impressively in three matches against nationally ranked competitors, one of whom was Albany's Shaun Sheldon. Sheldon recently was a fourth place finisher in the World Cup.
