Council of Colleges discuss five-year plan

by Melinda Lake
Staff Writer

The Council of Colleges disregarded most of its agenda at last week's meeting to continue discussions on the UMaine board of trustees' five-year plan and the BOT-appointed search committee for the new chancellor.

At its Nov. 18 meeting, the board of trustees was presented a "strategic framework" by BOT Chairperson Joseph Hakanson which the individual universities will use as a guideline for implementation of the five-year plan.

The major points of the plan are: to increase the state funding for the UMaine system from 8.4 percent to 15 percent over the five years; to increase UMO graduate student enrollment to 2500 and award 100 doctoral degrees each year (UMO currently gives under 100 per year); and to raise admission requirements and decrease undergraduate enrollment to 5000 at the UMO campus.

UMO President Arthur Johnson said, "The future of Orono is at stake, but there's no reason to panic. I believe the trustees want the strength in Orono."

BOT member Patricia Schroth said, "There was a feeling on the board that the university shouldn't have to try to be everything to everybody anymore."

Schroth said that the way the guidelines are worded, it is up to the university to make a place for itself, with the potential there to "make this (UMO) the centerpiece of the UMaine system."

Student government President Paul Conway said that a survey of students response to the BOT's decision will be conducted.

"I feel strongly that our response should agree with Arthur's and the board's so Orono presents a unified (front) to the BOT," Conway said.

Acting Dean of Arts and Sciences Stephen Norton, who is on the steering committee which will present the BOT with UMO's five-year implementation plan in April, said, "I urge you to voice your concerns on the five-year plan to us."

Another major discussion at the meeting was on the BOT's assignments to the chancellor search committee.

BOT Chairperson Hakanson, BOT members David Flanagan, Stanley Evans and Thomas Monaghan; University of Maine at Presque Isle faculty member Carol Ann Hall and a yet-to-be-chosen student were appointed to the search committee.

COC members expressed concerns that no faculty representatives from either UMO or the University of Southern Maine were chosen for the committee.

Professor Walter Schoenberger made a resolution that the board "protest the representation on the search committee to include faculty from at least UMO and USM." In a sub-motion it was agreed that COC Chairman William Soule would form a committee and send a letter to the BOT protesting the action.

Social, political themes to be focus of revue

by M.C. Davis
Staff Writer

A variety of musical talent and poetry focusing on political and social themes will be featured at a festival scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday at the Damn Yankee.

The World in Review, advertised as a project "to build freedom," is intended to be a political festival of worldwide issues, according to its organizers.

"We're trying to promote political and social awareness," said John Leahan, a festival organizer. "Also, we'd like to get local musicians of various musical styles together and let them perform."

Leahan said The World in Review is a non-profit event. There have not been any ticket sales for the event, but if admission is required, the festival will still be a non-profit event and admission prices should be reasonable, he said.

Leahan said the idea for the revue came when he was talking to another musician about putting a show together.

The difference between this revue and other talent shows is that each band will perform a set of songs that addresses a social or political issue concerning world peace.

Doug Cowan, another festival organizer, said the performers will possibly address apartheid, racism, sexism, nuclear disarmament, and civil war in Central America.

Participation in the festival is not restricted to UMO students. Cowan said that of the local poets who have agreed to speak, one is a university employee.

"I feel there are a lot of gaps where people who have similar political ideas have been kept apart," Cowan said. "We're trying to bring everyone together. We'd like to call for some rather conservative artists to perform, if there are any, because we'd like to have as wide a range as possible."

Women's issues being brought into classrooms

by Cathy Stanley
Staff Writer

UMO's Women in the Curriculum program, which incorporates the achievements of both men and women into the classrooms, is making steady improvements under a new director.

Jodi Wetzel took over the position of directing the program, which deals with women's past accomplishments and current research, on Oct. 15.

Teaching, in the past, has concentrated on men's accomplishments, she said, and students cannot get a good education if they only know of half the contributions that have been made to society. The program attempts to include research and achievements made by women in every field of the university, she said.

This is accomplished through balanced or bifocal courses in which a professor revises a course to include the contributions of women.

In addition to this method of incorporating women's achievements, new courses will be offered such as Women and Technology, which will be taught next semester by Wetzel.

Men, as well as women, are finding feminism exciting and are getting involved in the movement to eliminate old ideas where sex determines the role a person follows, said Jana Sawicki, assistant professor of philosophy.

Sawicki has been teaching a course on feminist theory for the past three years which she was able to develop through a grant from the Women in the Curriculum program. The course allows students to take a problem, such as housework, analyze it, and come up with a solution based on different theories. The theories range from the conservative viewpoint, where the status quo would be argued for, to the radical viewpoint where a housewife may get paid for doing the work. Marxist, Socialist, and Liberal viewpoints are also discussed.

The program has been important to her personal development in addition to the development of her students, Sawicki said.

"The fruits of the work the faculty has done through the support of WIC has become very apparent," she said, referring to the growth in the number of courses offered that directly relate women to the subject matter. To determine the strengths and weaknesses of the program, Wetzel said she has been talking to faculty, staff and students who were previously involved in the program.

One thing she found was that students wanted a more active role in the weekly presentations of women's issues at the Brown Bag luncheon series. The series includes speakers who are doing research on women, she said, but in the future research. The second improvement, students may be asked to present class Wetzel said, is the formation of a teaching and research colloquium where works on women's issues could be shared.

The program was supported by the Federal Government in its first two years but now gets money from areas within the university.

One thing Wetzel hopes to accomplish as soon as possible is developing some kind of an outside funding source for the program so it will be more stable.

The program currently receives funding on a year-to-year basis from various sources which change each year, she said.

UMO faculty, administration, and students have been very receptive to the program, she said.

The number of courses available stressing women's as well as men's achievements, has increased in the five years since the program began, said Nancy Macknight, chairman of the advisory committee on Women in the Curriculum.

Many faculty members have helped with the program, but there is room for many more to get involved, Macknight said.

Pope lauds synod's 'unity', some bishops disagree

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II on Sunday said a synod of bishops reviewing reforms of the Second Vatican Council reflects the unity of the Roman Catholic Church. But some bishops have voiced sharply divergent views.

The two-week synod, drawing 165 bishops from all over the world, was in recess Sunday after a week of addresses and was to resume Monday. John Paul called the synod to assess progress made in implementing the recommendations of the 1962-65 Second Vatican Council, which was begun by Pope John XXIII.

The council fashioned far-reaching changes, which included celebrating the Mass in local languages instead of in Latin and efforts to promote better understanding among different faiths.

Although the pope spoke of unity, conservatives and liberals have disagreed on some issues.

The synod heard pleas from some bishops that it was time to consider such controversial issues as admitting remarried Catholics into full participation in the church. Divorced Catholics who remarry are now forbidden from taking communion because the church does not permit divorce.

Bonner to leave Moscow for medical treatment

MOSCOW (AP) — Yelena Bonner, wife of dissident physicist Andrei Sakharov, is booked to leave Moscow Monday for medical treatment in Italy and the United States after a 19-month exile during which sources say she spent months isolated from her husband and friends.

Mrs. Bonner has promised Soviet authorities she will not meet the news media during her three-month stay in the West.

Uniformed guards have kept watch on her Moscow apartment since she returned to the Soviet capital Tuesday and refuse to let foreigners inside.

Sources, who spoke on condition they would not be identified, said the 62-year-old physician looked very tired and in poor health after she returned from internal exile in Gorky, 250 miles to the east.

Sakharov, 64, once one of the nation's most prominent and decorated scientists, has staged at least three hunger strikes, most recently last summer, to win permission for his wife to get medical treatment abroad.

Mrs. Bonner, who suffers from heart and eye ailments, had not been in Moscow since the spring of 1984, when she was held in Gorky on charges of anti-Soviet slander.

At least two U.S. officers went to Malta before raid

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least two American military officers traveled to Malta with Egyptian commandos who stormed a hijacked Egyptair jetliner, but they did not participate in the raid, a government source said Sunday.

The source, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the American officers who flew to Malta aboard an Egyptian C130 Hercules military transport plane were stationed in Cairo as part of the U.S. military aid mission to Egypt.

These officers were engaged in counterterrorism as part of their duties in the Egyptian capital, the official said.

A third U.S. officer may have traveled to Malta on the Egyptian plane, but none of the Americans participated in the raid, the source said.

Nearly 60 people died as a result of the hijacking and the Nov. 24 assault by about 25 Egyptian commandos, who blasted a hole in the plane to gain entrance to the cabin. There were 98 passengers and crew members aboard the Boeing 737 when it left Athens.

Florida drug trade booms despite government efforts

MIAMI (AP) — Nearly four years after the federal government mounted an unprecedented war on drug trafficking, cocaine is cheaper and dealers are more powerful than ever, the Miami Herald reported Sunday.

Since arriving in southern Florida in early 1982, the Vice President's Task Force on Drugs has made nearly 10,000 drug arrests, spent millions of dollars, and employed Coast Guard and Navy ships, spy satellites and F-15 planes to intercept drug shipments.

The past year was the best ever for federal drug agents, who seized 25 tons of cocaine in southern Florida and the Caribbean, more than double the 1983 total. And yet the price for a kilo of cocaine - 2.2 pounds - currently is $30,000, half its price before the task force arrived, the Herald reported.

Miami and Dade County remain the nerve center of the drug trade, officials say, but operations have become so numerous and diverse that major trafficking organizations are in almost every corner of southern Florida, from inner city neighborhoods to middle-class suburbs to exclusive enclaves.

"With all of the efforts - when you look at the bottom line - the price of coke is lower and it's more available than when we started," said Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla.

NEWS BRIEFS

Most crime cases go unreported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two-thirds of America's crime victims don't call the police and people are more likely to report car thefts than rapes or other types of assault, the Justice Department said Sunday.

In a report that sheds new light on how people react to being crime victims, the department's Bureau of Justice Statistics said only 35 percent of some 37.1 million crimes in 1983 were reported to police.

U.S. invests $1 billion in China

PEKING (AP) — U.S. investment in China, led by American involvement in China's offshore oil industry, has reached $1 billion, the official Xinhua news agency said Sunday.

Xinhua, citing the magazine Peking Review, said Americans have invested $150 million in joint ventures, $600 million in offshore oil exploration and development and the rest in other types of endeavor.

American businesses, which lead the world in investing in China, have set up joint ventures in machine-building, chemicals, petroleum, vehicles, textiles, food and tourist industries, Xinhua said.

Aquino may run for president

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Corazon Aquino, widow of Benigno Aquino, promised a cheering crowd of 15,000 Sunday that "you will hear what you want to hear" when she announces this week whether she will run for president.

Mrs. Aquino, who would oppose incumbent President Ferdinand E. Marcos, told the throng gathered at Santo Domingo Cathedral that she would make her "official announcement" next week.

Aquino, Marcos' chief rival, was assassinated at Manila Airport when he returned from three years of self-imposed exile in the United States.

Machinists strike, reject contract

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Machinists at three of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft's four plants on Sunday called their first strike in 25 years after rejecting a three-year contract offer from the giant engine manufacturer.

The members of three Connecticut locals of the International Association of Machinists voted to begin their walkout at 12:01 a.m. Monday. A vote by workers at a fourth plant, in East Hartford, fell short of the two-thirds majority required for a strike.

Masked gunmen rob cathedral

Israel apologizes in Pollard case

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel made a belated and conditional apology to the United States on Sunday over the Jonathan J. Pollard spy case. It promised to punish culprits and disband a secret intelligence unit if an investigation finds that the U.S. Navy analyst was recruited to spy for Israel.

The apology was issued in the name of Prime Minister Shimon Peres and delivered to U.S. Ambassador Thomas Pickering in hopes of defusing the controversy, officials said.

The announcement fell short of a full admission of guilt, but said that any Israeli espionage directed against the United States "was wrong, and the government of Israel apologizes for it."

It was Israel's first apology since the FBI arrested Pollard on Nov. 21 and accused the 31-year-old American Jew of selling military secrets to Israel for $50,000 over the last 18 months.

His wife, Anne Henderson-Pollard, 25, was arrested the next day and charged with unauthorized possession of national defense documents.

Secretary of State George Shultz said the United States was satisfied with the statement, according to State Department spokesman Pete Martinez.

"We have full confidence in Israel's determination and ability to pursue this case down to the last detail and to bring those responsible to account," Shultz said. The apology, released after a Cabinet meeting, pledged to punish those responsible and "completely and permanently dismantle" the unit involved if the charges against Pollard proved true.

The statement did not identify the unit. But Israeli officials who spoke on condition of anonymity said Pollard was working for a secret department of the Defense Ministry founded about 20 years ago to conduct industrial espionage, but which recently expanded to include military spying.

Program helps cutback cavities

BOSTON (AP) — Mothers coat children's teeth with plastic sealants and teachers hand out fluoride tablets in a campaign against cavities that in two years has reduced tooth decay by about 25 percent in two towns, researchers say.

In time, the program will virtually wipe out cavities, predicts Dr. I. Leon Dogon of Harvard University.

At a cost per pupil of $8 in the second year, far less than the price of a filling, "the benefits far exceed both the cost and the time the children are taken away from their classrooms," Dogon said last week.

About half of all Americans drink fluoridated water, and the additive has been credited with vastly reducing tooth decay.

The new program was intended to see whether schools could be used to eliminate the disease, even in towns that don't have fluoridation.

The program began in January 1983 in Holbrook and Randolph, two towns south of Boston without fluoridated water. So far, more than 4,000 pupils in grades one through 11 have been enrolled, and the experiment will probably continue through 1988.

New union opposed to apartheid

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's biggest union federation, one day old and claiming to represent 400,000 workers, allied itself with black anti-apartheid activities Sunday and demanded that restrictive pass laws be abandoned within six months.

In another development, South African and U.S. business executives were reported stepping up pressure on the government to end its system of racial segregation, under which five million whites dominate 24 million voteless blacks.

"The Congress of South African Trade Unions is giving President P.W. Botha six months to get rid of pass laws," Elijah Barayi, president of the new labor federation, told a rally of 5,000 people in a Durban rugby stadium. "Otherwise we will burn all the passes of the black man."

Pass laws require blacks to carry documents proving that they have permission to work or live in or near white areas. The laws result in tens of thousands of blacks being prosecuted each year, and are the foundation of apartheid. The laws also mean separation for many black families, with the husband working in an area where his family is not permitted to live.

The President's Council, an advisory body that excludes blacks, has recommended to Parliament that the laws be scrapped. Parliament reconvenes in January.

The federation was formed Saturday in Durban and claims 36 affiliated unions with more than 400,000 members - nearly 40 percent of South Africa's 1.4 million unionized workers.

The formation of COSATU is expected to unify and strengthen black workers' demands for social change.

GET TWO EDUCATIONS FROM ONE COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP: THESE UMO STUDENTS DID!

An education in your chosen major.
And an education in becoming an Army officer. You get both with an Army ROTC scholarship.

Army ROTC is the college program that trains you to become an officer, a leader and a manager.

You take ROTC along with your other studies, and graduate with both a degree and a second lieutenant's commission.

Best of all, you can put both of your educations to work right away. In today's modern high-tech Army, we need engineers, communications experts, computer specialists, and other professionals. Our scholarships cover full tuition and required fees. They also provide an amount for books, supplies and equipment, as well as up to $1000 each school year they're in effect.

So if you think all scholarships just provide you with a college degree, look into an Army ROTC scholarship. You'll be in for quite an education.

Rejuvenated UND dumps Maine hockey

by Jon Rummmler
Staff Writer

GRAND FORKS, N.D. — The running count is now eight-straight losses for the University of Maine hockey team. The Black Bears dropped a pair of contests to the University of North Dakota Friday and Saturday at UND's Winter Sports Center.

pulled out a 5-4 overtime win with his first goal of the season for the Fighting Sioux Friday. And Chris Jensen, who missed the six games prior to Friday because of a knee injury, had a hat trick Saturday to lead UND to a 6-3 win.

The Black Bears are 1-11 in Hockey East-Western Collegiate Hockey Association play. The Fighting Sioux are 7-7 in HE-WCHA play.

Maine coach Shawn Walsh said before the games that this might be one of the better chances for the Black Bears to get back on track. UND however, was also looking to rebound from a shaky start. The difference proved to be the players returning to the UND lineup after missing games due to injuries and sickness.

"We were playing much better with Jensen in," Lee

Bohnet, UND hockey sports information director, said Sunday in a telephone interview. "We also had freshman wing Grant Paronica back and a number of players that missed the Wisconsin games with the flu."

According to Bohnet and Maine Assistant SID, Drew Finnie, the only reason the Black Bears managed to stay in the game was Maine goalie Al Loring. The freshman turned away 60 shots, a school record. The old record was 59 saves by Jeff Nord in a Jan. 1, 1981 3-0 loss to Boston University.

UND took 102 shots with 65 of them on goal. Maine could only muster 34.

With a three-goal spurt in the second period provided by Maine's Jay Mazur, Chris Cambio and Bruce Major, the Black Bears had a 3-2 lead with 6:59 (see DAKOTA page 6)

Vikings come from behind to nip Eagles

by the Associated Press

The Minnesota Vikings played less than eight minutes of decent football Sunday. But it was enough.

Trailing the Eagles 23-0 at Philadelphia, the Vikings stormed back for four touchdowns, including three scoring passes by quarterback Wade Wilson, for a 28-23 National Football League triumph over the Eagles.

The Vikings, particularly QBs Wilson and Steve Bono, had been ineffective until the comeback was triggered by a pair of fumble recoveries. Minnesota gained only 67 yards rushing and was under 100 yards passing until the fourth period eruption.

"I can't remember going from 0 to 28 in one period," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant, a 28-year coaching veteran. "You can only get humiliated for so long and then you rise up."

Minnesota, which lost three straight, drove 58 yards on seven plays, with Wilson hitting Allen Rice for a 7-yard score, making it 23-7. The Vikings then cut it 23-14 with 6:01 left when cornerback Willie Teal picked up a Ron Jaworski fumble and raced 65 yards for the touchdown.

Tight end John Spagnola then fumbled at his 36 and Joey Browner recovered. On third down, Wilson, who earlier was benched in favor of Bono, threw 36 yards to Anthony Carter for the Vikings' third touchdown in 4:29 to make it a 23-21 with 3:58 remaining.

The Eagles were stopped and punted to Carter, who returned 22 yards to the Minnesota 40. On fourth-and-5 at the Eagles 42, Wilson threw the distance to Carter.

In another stirring comeback, Cleveland rallied from a 33-21 hole in the fourth quarter to edge the New York Giants 35-33. The victory lifted the Browns into sole possession of first place in the AFC Central, while the Giants fell to second in the NFC East.

Boston College powers by men's basket ball, 82-69

by Jon Rummmler
Staff Writer

The final score was no surprise. Boston College defeated the University of Maine men's basketball team 82-69 Saturday night at the Bangor Auditorium. But, the manner in which the Eagles had to do it, was.

The NCAA Final 16 participant three-of-the-last-four years usually wore its opponents down with a swarming full-court press and a quick-transition fast-break game. But with 5,000 fans to attest, a 1-0 Eagles' squad and Roger McCready took it to the 1-2 Black Bears from inside the paint.

"The middle was wide open," the 6-foot-5 forward McCready said, referring to the second half. "I was just taking what they were giving me."

Maine coach Skip Chappelle said of the senior, who was 11-of-20 from the floor with a game-high 30 points, "McCready created a lot of good situations all by himself. Though, I was disappointed by our defense."

Much of the Black Bears' defensive woes were the result of the early foul trouble to 6-foot-8 forward Mike Bittermann, who had three fouls after 3:59 of play, and the ankle injury to 6-foot-11 Chip Bunker. With the sore ankle, the senior center could only register 20 minutes, but still was Maine's No. 2 rebounder with six.

"We got chewed up inside," Chappelle said. "I don't think that will happen to us in the future."

BC tossed in the full-court and half-court press throughout the game, but Maine would only falter a couple of times.

"Their press didn't hurt us," Maine guard Jim Boylen said. "The coach has been telling us that pressure is just a gimmick. Gimmicks shouldn't affect a good team. And we have a good team."

Neither team was pleased with its first-half play. Williams felt his squad hurt itself with 12 fouls to Maine's eight. And Chappelle was hoping the team's zone offense would emerge after a sluggish nine-of-30 for 30-percent effort.

McCready opened the scoring with a pair of free throws and 6-foot-3 guard Dominic Pressley added a jump shot for a 4-0 lead. With freshman point guard Dana Barrows sinking 12 of his 17 points from the outside and center Troy Barros scoring 10 of his 12 points from underneath, BC slowly pulled away and never trailed. The Eagles had a 41-30 halftime edge.

"They pulled away in spurts," Maine forward Rich Henry said. "That's the mark of a good fast break team."

left in the period. UND tied it up when center Brian Williams added a goal 2:41 later.

Maine jumped to the lead with an unassisted goal by Scott Smith at 11:24. But UND countered with a goal by Parinica at 12:44. And with only 55 seconds left in OT, Claviter knocked in the game winner.

Maine could never get on track Saturday.

UND was leading 2-1 in the first period and Jensen scored his first goal of the evening on a power play at 15:59 to take a two-point lead. Maine could never get within two from that point on. Jensen also had scores in the second and third periods.

UND's other goals were scored by Perry Nakonechny, Scott Koberinski and Parinica.

Maine's goals came from Smith, Dave Wensley and Cambio.

UND goalie Greg Strone notched 26 saves while Loring had 35.

The victory sets the 10-2 Rams with 10-1 Furman (S.C.) Saturday.

Akron countered with the rushing of Mark Clark. Clark had 172 yards on 33 carries.

● Eagles

With the game never completely out of reach because of Boylen's 14-point first half — the junior point guard led the team with 23 points — the Black Bears found their zone offense.

"We wanted to get it inside and get behind their zone," Henry said. "Once we started to in the second half, we had some easy shots."

After 6-foot-8 BC forward Scott Tyrone added a free throw for the first points of the second half, Henry sneaked in a layup and Boylen hit a running-jumper from the lane to cut the lead to eight. BC called timeout at 17:14. Maine guard T.J. Forester (7 of 12 for 16 points) cut the lead to 42-36 with a short jumper.

The Eagles' halftime discussion then came into play. "We were letting them stay in the game with all our fouls," McCready said. "We had to reverse that in the second half."

After only going to the line seven times in the first half, making good on five, BC hit 15-of-19 in the second. Maine had 13 of its 21 fouls in the second half, which included five on Forester and Bunker.

McCready hit the tail end of a pair of three throws and Pressley added a layup on a steal to boost the Eagles to a 45-36 lead. Henry, who led the Black Bears with 10 rebounds, scored two of his 14 points on a strong-inside move. But, McCready added four more with a layup and two free throws to boost the lead to 11.

With a little more than six minutes left, BC had pushed the lead to 17. Maine however, whittled it down to the final 82-69 with jumpers by Boylen, Forester, Henry and guard Matt Rosignol overlapping BC scores.

Mich. St. beats men's hoop, Maine plays La Salle today

by Jon Rummler
Staff Writer

The University of Maine basketball team is optimistic going into Monday's 8 p.m. game against La Salle University in Philadelphia, Pa.

The Black Bears, after defeating the Senegalese National team, 84-72, in last Sunday's home opener, have watched their younger players gain confidence despite Tuesday's 89-58 Michigan St. loss and Saturday's 82-69 Boston College defeat.

"We're a better team than the one that started before the game," Maine coach Skip Chappelle said. "I think in the second half we learned our zone offense."

"We didn't have it against Michigan St. or in the first half against BC. We executed it much better in the second half."

The Black Bears offensive woes are the result of a team that plays six newcomers out of 11 and is still looking to gain cohesion in its offensive and defensive sets.

"We're still trying to get a feel for each other on the court," Maine guard Jim Boylen said Saturday. "We know we are a good team. We just have to be patient."

Against Michigan St., the Black Bears' forward Rich Henry (seven points) and center Mike Bittermann, (10 points) playing for the injured Chip Bunker, couldn't penetrate MSU's zone defenses.

The Big Ten school, which improved its record to 2-0 with the win, was led by 6-foot-1 senior guard Scott Skiles. Skiles was the high scorer with 29 points.

MSU had a 40-31 lead at the half. And with Maine going to the outside because of its inside troubles, the Spartans' guard tandem of Skiles and Darryl Johnson (21 points) buried Maine with quick-transition play.

Boylen and junior guard Jeff Holmes led the Black Bears with 12 points apiece.

In La Salle, the Black Bears will face a small-fastbreak squad that is 2-0 on the season. LU defeated Monmouth College 72-69 and Niagara University 92-75. LU is a member of the ECAC Metro Conference.

LU has four players in double figures this season. Larry Koretz, a 6-foot-8 junior who leads the team with 21 points per game and 8.5 rebounds per game, and Chip Greenberg, a 6-foot-4 senior who has 13.5 ppg and 4 rpg, are the starting forwards. While guards Rich Tarr, (6-0 sophomore) who has 12.2 ppg and 10 assists per game, and Leonard Robinson, (6-1 freshman) who has 13 ppg and 10 apg, round out the foursome.

LU's starting center is 6-foot-8 junior Ron Barnes.

MAYBE YOU'D GET MORE OUT OF NURSING IF YOU WORE A DIFFERENT UNIFORM.

When you become an Army nurse, you're immediately given the kind of responsibility most civilian nurses work years for.

Why? Because that uniform says you're more than a nurse. You're an Army officer, too.

Not only will you be responsible for providing patients with the best health care possible, you'll also be responsible for instructing others in how best to administer it.

That's what it means to be an officer in the Army Nurse Corps (ANC). To handle the position takes training. The kind you get in Army ROTC.

ROTC is the college program that trains you to become an officer. By helping you develop your leadership and management abilities.

Enrolling can benefit you in other ways. There are full-tuition scholarships available. And financial assistance. Up to $1,000 a year during your last two years in the program.

Enroll today. And step out of college and into the uniform of an Army nurse. You'll like the way it makes you look. And love the way it makes you feel.

For more information, contact your Professor of Military Science.

Browns 35, Giants 33

Gary Danielson led the Browns on drives of 65 and 80 yards in the final quarter at Giants stadium. Clarence Weathers caught a 25-yard pass from Danielson to cap the first march. Earnest Byner swept nine yards for the winning touchdown with 1:52 to go.

The Giants had a chance to win it, but Eric Schubert's 34-yard field goal try was foiled by a bad snap.

Denver 31, Steelers 23

Host Pittsburgh had taken a 23-17 lead on Mike Merriweather's 35-yard interception-return touchdown with 5:02 to play. But John Elway hit Steve Watson for 19 yards, Steve Sewell for six, and Clarence Kay for 27 on consecutive downs on a 58-yard drive ended by Sewell's 2-yard run with 1:45 to play.

The Broncos, who intercepted David Woodley four times and sacked him five times, added an insurance score when Mike Harden returned an interception 42 yards for a touchdown 21 seconds after Sewell's run.

Patriots 38, Colts 31

Quarterback Tony Eason passed for 293 yards and three touchdowns. Eason, who regained the starting spot when Steve Grogan was injured last week, hit seven straight passes at one point, including a 25-yard touchdown to Stanley Morgan early in the fourth quarter. He also had a 44-yard completion to Tony Collins.

New England defensive end Ken Sims broke his leg in the game. The host Colts got three rushing touchdowns by fullback Randy McMillan.

Saints 29, Rams 3

Morten Andersen connected on five field goals and the New Orleans' defense shut down Los Angeles. Johnnie Poe picked off a Dieter Brock pass to set up the first touchdown, a 43-yard pass from Bobby Hebert to Eric Martin. Later, linebacker James Haynes sacked Los Angeles quarterback Jeff Kemp, causing a fumble that Jack Del Rio returned 22 yards for a TD. Rocky Jackson then hit Los Angeles tight end David Hill, knocking him loose from the ball and Del Rio recovered to set up Andersen's fifth field goal.

Packers 21, Bucs 0

Packers QB Lynn Dickey said he couldn't worry about the 30-degree weather, winds gusting to 40 mph and ankle deep snow. While the Bucs couldn't handle the weather — they managed 65 total yards — the Packers had 512 yards of offense.

Dickey completed 22 of 36 passes for 299 yards and ran one yard for a touchdown.

Bengals 45, Oilers 27

At Cincinnati, fullback Larry Kinnebrew powered for three first-half touchdowns and Boomer Esiason passed for three more scores as the Bengals' offense went wild. The Bengal's hadn't scored a touchdown in losing their last two games, but stunned the Oilers with TDs on their first four possessions for a 28-0 lead.

Esiason was 18 for 24 for 320 yards without an interception. Kinnebrew ran for 75 yards and James Brooks accounted for 81 yards on 11 rushes and 85 yards on four interceptions.

Raiders 34, Falcons 24

Marcus Allen grabbed the league rushing lead with a 156-yard effort, his sixth consecutive 100-yard performance, and Marc Wilson threw three touchdown passes. The visiting Raiders trailed 17-13 at halftime. But Allen scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 4-yard pass from Wilson in the third quarter.

Allen's 156 yards gave him 1,392 yards for the year, moving ahead of Atlanta's Gerald Riggs, the previous leader who had 95 yards for 1,343 yards this season. It ended Riggs' string of consecutive 100-yard games at five.
