ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Superintending School Committee

FELLOW TOWNSMEN:—In accordance with past custom, we submit our Report to your consideration, feeling assured that we have acted our part strictly from the obligation of duty imposed upon us.

The reader will observe that we have almost abandoned the report of each School in detail, but will notice in our general and conclusive remarks, allusions to certain Teachers or Schools, which will, we trust, be as creditable as if personality were more generally indulged.

Please notice in the statistical table, the negligence and indifference of Teachers to render a complete register of their several Schools. Some have not returned any; others have returned their's with the most essential requests unanswered. The blanks in the table give evidence of this fact. A register not fully answered is about worthless.

We would here remark, our summer terms of school were so poorly attended that the interest was not shown which should be, to make a school profitable. The order was quite good in most cases; especially in Dist. No. 3, where also parents were interested. That there was improvement in every School, we do not deny. Irregular attendance greatly impeded the progress of studies.

The winter terms of school do not admit of so good report, either in advancement in their studies or of good discipline; the latter hinderance has in some schools nearly destroyed all improvement. The Teachers in Nos. 2, 8, 11 and 7, maintained good order.

Boys from the age of 12 to 18 years control the discipline in many districts in town. In these small specimens of manhood, "Young America" is exhibited in its most terrific attitude, often seen viewing his clenched fist or the strong muscles of his huge arm, imagining what would our Master be, as an impediment, against the nerve and blows from such a momentous weapon; and am sorry to notice a disposition to sustain such conduct by inconsiderate parents. Our Teachers have shown a weak disposition in many cases, in allowing their rules to be trampled upon without resistance.

We don't wish to be understood that pugilistic performances are recommended in our school-rooms, but we do wish to be understood that much leniency is allowed children by parents and guardians, while they oppose the orders of the Teacher, who feels no aid from the parents to assist him in enforcing laws for the government of his School;—until this order is reversed, whereby the Scholar may know he has no one to sustain him in breaking the laws of School, and the Teacher, confidently, may know he is sustained in maintaining just laws, we shall witness the same detriment to good discipline. Some of our winter terms have been seriously injured by this very cause, and we have been called upon to discharge unpleasant duties, yet have acted cautiously and impartially, prompted by our sincere conviction and truly from a sense of duty.

A disposition has been evinced by unruly boys to injure the school-houses, which are none too good as they are; this breach of law is recommended to be punished by laws in all cases.

We have met at the examinations, but a few parents at No. 3, summer term, Nos. 7 and 11 winter terms, unless some cause of contention has arisen; furthermore but very little interest has been manifested in any direction for our common Schools. Does this evince the duty of the parent to his child? Does this show that our public schools are receiving the attention they demand? Does not this prove that our educational interest in this town will soon be in a state of retrogression, if not at the present time? When a few moments of reflection are employed by the thoughtful parent, a verification of these truths will appear, and a negative reply to the two former, and an affirmative to the latter, will be whispered.

The Committee thought it advisable to make a change in Geographies, resulting in much dissatisfaction in a few districts, where but little improvement has been made in this branch. In every district when it has been acceptably received, there has been more interest shown in its study than in any other branch; this is owing both to the aptness of the Teacher to interest, and its being a new method of teaching Geography; particularly has there been a striking interest in districts Nos. 2, 7, 8, 10 and 11. This branch has received but little attention of late, and but very few classes have, at our examinations, given any mark of distinction. Sincerely hoping this prejudice will soon cease, and the scholar and teacher will in consequence become conversant with the method, we confidently expect a decided improvement.

In conclusion, we will say, citizens of Falmouth:—You are an intellectual, a moral and religious people; you are also desirous of witnessing an advancement in the cause of these most essential and characteristic qualities; you are willing to exert the strong hand and heartfelt earnestness in the great cause which lies as the foundation of all other interests, and help move the mighty machine which is truly moving of our educational structure; the motion at times appears hardly perceptible, but with such ponderous force it still moves, although the bands of the connecting wheels may get broken or the shafts and cogs of propelling may get worn or melted, yet when we all stand ready to replace and urge, the cause goes forward steadily and the more swiftly, in proportion to our willingness to combine in every matter connected with its interests.

Let us join hands and unite our faith in the work, parent, teacher, scholar, and school-officers, forgetting the past and looking only to the future,—and see what evidence of good faith, earnestness and unity will accomplish, when prompted by higher motives than selfish design or indifference.

This great interest which should most concern us,—the education of youth—needs the support of all, in connection with our Worthy Benefactor who aids us in all our good works, and chides us in our licentiousness and negligence, and will return favors when the great good is done, “work for our childrens’ instruction.”
